The night superintendent has reached the colliery safely. A few minutes later Superintendent Thomas came out, and when about 300 yards from the breaker, he says, a number of men who were in ambush opened fire on the locomotive. Fortunately the engine was traveling rapidly, and it was soon out of range of fire. The officials say about ten shots were fired.

There were six persons on the locomotive—the engineer, fireman, conductor, two brakemen and Superintendent Thomas. As soon as the firing began the six men immediately dropped to the floor of the locomotive and its tender and in that way saved themselves. The window panes of the cab were broken, and the locomotive and tender were perforated with bullets and buckshot.

The mine workers' officials have been making a strong effort to have the strikers at Duryea and vicinity prevent any violence. Several men have been sent there to talk to the strikers, and in the afternoon District President T. D. Nichols went himself to see what he can do. It is likely that he will be able to put a stop to the demonstrations that have been going on there during this week.

The Wyoming valley is unusually quiet. Neither the strike leaders nor the mining superintendents have anything to say. They report the situation to be without change. President Mitchell has no news to give out regarding the soft coal strike in West Virginia.

Strikers Return to Work.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 13.—The strikers lost considerable ground in the Flat Top coal region yesterday. A good number of the strikers who have remained out since Saturday returned to work during the day, and, with the new labor imported Wednesday night, the operators were able to load almost twice as much coal as on the previous day. It is, however, an evident fact that at least 70 per cent of the men are still out. The agitators are making a hard fight.

President to Visit Boston.

BOSTON, June 13.—Word has been received that President Roosevelt will come here June 25. The president will stay at the Somerset. In the morning it is planned that he shall visit Cambridge to participate in the commencement exercises at Harvard university, staying there through the alumni dinner. Then he will return in time to go to the Algonquin club, where the Naval and Military Order of Spanish-American War Veterans will tender him a dinner. The speeches here will be short to enable the president to attend the dinner of the International League of Press Clubs.

Fourteen Yaqui Miners Shot.

TUCSON, Ariz., June 13.—A special from La Cananea tells of the shooting of fourteen Yaqui miners Tuesday by Mexican rurales. The miners had been working for the Green Consolidated Mining company and were camped two miles below the works. A squad of rurales marched to their tents, and the officers in command told them that there was a Mexican official two miles below their camp who was to register them, according to a recent order of the Mexican government. They marched down to a designated spot, where they were lined up and shot.

Fourteen Hundred to Be Decorated.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The navy department has completed its compilation of the names of the officers and men who are to be decorated with the West Indian campaign medal. The list totals in round numbers 800 officers and about 600 enlisted men. Of this number the engagement at Santiago bay, in which the greatest number of vessels took part, makes up the largest proportion. Admiral Schley and all the fleet officers and men will get medals, and the family of Admiral Sampson will be given the one intended for the deceased admiral.

Andover's Ninety-fourth.

ANDOVER, Mass., June 13.—The ninety-fourth anniversary exercises of the Andover Theological seminary, held yesterday, were marked by a spirit of rejoicing, due to the belief among the alumni that the controversy over the removal of the seminary from Andover had been settled, its retention at Andover being assured in their opinion by the starting of a movement to raise an endowment fund. Degrees of bachelor of divinity were conferred upon five young men.

Training Ship Ashore.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 13.—The United States training ship Chesapeake is ashore at Taylor's island, off Dorchester county, in the Chesapeake bay. The tug Standish, with a large squad of sailors aboard, has gone to her assistance. While cruising in the bay with part of the first, second and third classes aboard the vessel grounded on a bar. She is said to be in eighteen feet of water and, as she draws little more than that, is not thought to have sustained much damage.

No Corn In Market.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—To the surprise of every one on change yesterday there was not a solitary bushel of corn received in this city, and for the first time in many years in this exporting center the stock of corn was entirely bare. The cause for this condition of affairs was attributed to the shortness of the old corn crop and the high prices asked, as 70⅞ is now demanded for No. 2 mixed. A year ago this date corn was plentiful at 48¼ per bushel.

Mrs. Strickland Acquitted.

LITTLE VALLEY, N. Y., June 13.—Mrs. Channing Strickland, who shot Willie Hawkins, aged seventeen years, at Otto the night of Sept. 14, inflicting a wound from which he died Sept. 20, has been acquitted after a trial lasting four days. Hawkins went to Mrs. Strickland's house after some apples. She had retired, and it was claimed by the defense that Hawkins attempted to raise the window. She thought him a burglar and shot him.

Confederate Memorial Day.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 13.—Confederate Memorial day in this city was observed yesterday, and the new arch at the entrance to the Confederate cemetery was dedicated with imposing ceremonies. The orator was General A. M. Stewart, member of the Chickamauga National park commission.

Credit Men Select St. Louis.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 13.—The seventh annual convention of the National Credit Men's association has adjourned to meet in St. Louis next year. J. Harry Tregoe of Baltimore and George J. Pulfer of Detroit were unanimously elected president and vice president respectively.

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Union Avenue from North Avenue to Elizabeth Avenue; Elizabeth Avenue, from Union Avenue to Orange Avenue; and Orange Avenue, from Elizabeth Avenue to South Twelfth Street, all in the Township of Cranford, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, Nineteen Hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as estimated in advance, is as follows:

4,440 cubic Yards of Excavation.
7,783 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
2,390 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
405 square yards of Resurfacing Macadam, Two inches thick.
5 Culverts to be lowered.
8 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

THE STURGIS WAGER

A DETECTIVE STORY.

BY EDGAR MORETTE.

Copyright, 1898, by Frederick Stokes Co.

And the two men went up the dark stairway, Sprague remaining behind with the reporter.

"None so blind as those that won't see," said the latter, sententiously.

At the same time he placed his hand upon one of the shelves and gave it a lateral push. It responded slightly, and the entire shelving, with the door which it concealed, opened outward.

"I thought so," continued the reporter; "this looks as if it might lead somewhere. Will you come, Sprague?"

"How did you find the combination so quickly?" asked the artist, preparing to follow his friend.

"It is not a combination—only a concealed bolt. Our friends of the detective force might have discovered it themselves if they had taken the trouble. The first thing I noticed was that a truck had recently been wheeled through the cellar in the direction of this door, from under the grating on the street side. And this truck was not here; neither was a large case which we know was delivered here today. The trail extended clear up to the wall below the shelving; and yet no truck, even unloaded, could pass below that lowest shelf. The conclusion was evident. I sounded the back of the shelving and found that it covered an opening of some kind. After that, all that remained was to notice that one of the shelves was slightly soiled in just one spot, as though by the repeated contact of a hand. From this, I argued that the bolt must be attached to this board. And it was. That is all."

As he spoke, the reporter entered a dark and narrow passage.

"Don't shut the door," said he to his companion, who followed him.

At that moment, however, the artist stumbled; and, instinctively holding out his hands to save himself from falling, he released his hold of the door, which closed with a slam.

"That is unfortunate," said Sturgis; "we may have to lose some time in learning how to work the bolt from this side. Hold on; it will be prudent to keep open a line of retreat, in case of unforeseen emergencies. Hello! we are in luck. Nothing concealed on this side; the bolt in plain sight; works easily. All's well. Then let us go on; unless I am greatly mistaken, we shall find another exit on the other side."

After following the underground passage for some distance the men climbed some steps and reached a square chamber, on one side of which rose a stairway leading to a door above. The room was surmounted by a skylight, which was wide open, admitting a draught of cold air from the outside.

Sturgis set down his lighted candle and proceeded to examine his surroundings. In the middle of the room stood a truck, upon which lay a long pine box. A table and a chair constituted the only furniture of the place. At one side there was a long, low, lead-lined tank, filled to the depth of about two feet with a dark viscous liquid. Near it lay a few empty carboys. In the floor there was what seemed to be a hot-air register, of large size and of peculiar construction. The walls were bare, unbroken, save by the projection of the mouthpiece of a speaking tube, and by a set of shelves filled with flasks, crucibles, alembics and the other paraphernalia of a chemist's laboratory.

After the reporter had finished reconnoitering he sat down upon the long box in deep thought. Sprague observed him with silent curiosity for awhile, and then, with growing impatience:

"I say, old man," he ventured at last to ask, "did you bring me here, armed to the teeth, to see you go off into a trance?"

Sturgis started like a man suddenly awakened from a deep sleep.

"Eh? What? Oh, yes—those confidences. Well, you start in with yours. I am trying to find the denouement of my story. I feel that it is just within my grasp; and yet I cannot seem to see it yet. But I can listen to you while I am thinking. Go on."

"I have not any story to tell," said Sprague, somewhat offended at his friend's apparent indifference to what he had to say.

"Oh, yes, you have," retorted Sturgis, with a conciliatory smile; "you said you had news to tell me. Well, tell away. I am listening most respectfully, in spite of my apparent absorption."

"What a strange fellow you are, Sturgis," laughed Sprague, good-naturedly. "All I wanted to tell you—and you are the first to hear of it—is the, to me, rather important fact that I am engaged to be married."

"You are?" exclaimed Sturgis, with genuine pleasure. "I congratulate you, old fellow, from the bottom of my heart."

He seized the artist's hand and shook it in his hearty grasp.

"To the original of the picture you wanted to show me yesterday?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Then she was not betrothed to the other fellow, after all?"

"No; that seems to have been a mistake."

"I am glad of that, very glad," said the reporter. "By the way, you have not yet told me the young lady's name."

"I thought I had mentioned it yesterday morning. Didn't I? No? My fiancee is Miss Murdock."

At the sound of this name Sturgis started visibly, and a shadow crossed his features.

"Miss Murdock?" he echoed.

"Yes," said Sprague. "What is it? You do not seem pleased."

Then, as a sudden thought struck him:

"I hope I am not treading on your toes, old fellow," he said, putting his hand gently upon his friend's shoulder and trying to read his thought in his clear gray eyes. "But how absurd! Of course you cannot be a rival for Miss Murdock's affections, since you do not even know her—"

"No," laughed Sturgis, regaining his composure, "I am not your rival. As to the other point, while I can hardly claim an acquaintance with the young lady, I think I saw her not more than a couple of hours ago."

"A couple of hours ago!" exclaimed Sprague; "why, I was with her myself then."

"I know that now, although I was not aware of it at the time."

"What, were you at the Murdocks' at the same time as I was?" asked Sprague, surprised.

"I had just come from there when I met you. I was in Murdock's study while you were—er—busy in the parlor."

"In Murdock's study? How long were you there?"

"About half an hour, I should judge," replied Sturgis, "and perhaps 15 minutes more in the hall, while Murdock was engaged."

"I suppose Chatham was still with him?" mused Sprague.

Sturgis started at the name.

"Chatham!" he ejaculated; "what do you know about Chatham?"

"What, are you interested in Chatham?" asked the artist, curiously. "I know very little about him, only that he is one of my disappointed rivals."

BEGAN TO SEETHE AND BOIL.

And he thereupon related to the reporter what he knew of Chatham's suit.

Sturgis listened with deep attention to his friend's narrative, and ruminated in silence long after the artist had ceased speaking.

At last he started up with a sudden exclamation, and, walking over to the side of the tank, he looked into the depths of its oily contents, as if fascinated by some horrible thing he saw there.

Sprague came and stood beside him and gazed curiously into the viscous liquid. There was nothing there that he could see.

TO ALEXANDER D. FRAZEE, LULU FRAZEE, BESSIE FRAZEE, CAROLINE REIFF (formerly Frazee), WILLIAM H. REIFF and LILLIA F. MEIGS.

You are hereby notified that at a public sale made by the City Collector of the City of Plainfield on the twenty-fourth day of June, nineteen hundred and one, the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield purchased for the sum of four dollars and fifty-one cents all the land and real estate situate in the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, fronting on Rushmore avenue, which is laid down and designated as lot No. 232-238, in block No. 455, as shown on the official assessment maps of the City of Plainfield, on file in the office of the City Collector, said sale being made pursuant to the provisions of an act of the Legislature of New Jersey, passed March 30th, 1886, entitled "An Act concerning the settlement and collection of arrearages of unpaid taxes, assessments and water rates or water rents in cities of this State, and imposing and levying a tax, assessment and lien in lieu and instead of such arrearages, and to enforce the payment thereof, and to provide for the sale of lands subjected to future taxation and assessment," and the several supplements thereto and amendments thereof.

And the certificate of said sale was afterward assigned to me. And you are further notified that you appear to have an estate or interest in said land and real estate, and unless the said lands and real estate shall be redeemed as provided in said act before the expiration of one year from and after the service hereof, and when one year has elapsed from and after the time of said sale, a deed for the same will be given, conveying to me the fee simple of said land and real estate, according to the provisions of said act.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Fishermen Caught In a Net and Carried Down Before Relatives.

KITTANNING, Pa., June 13.—Two men lost their lives and a third was probably fatally injured at Rosston in one of the saddest drowning accidents known in this vicinity.

The Bailey and Hileman families, about sixteen in all, left their homes in Rosston and went to the banks of Crooked run, a short distance away, about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. They had a fishing net with them and began to fish for minnows with great success. The net, after being taken out several times and cast back, finally became entangled in a snag. The water at this point is about ten feet deep, the location being familiarly known as the "sink hole." After vainly endeavoring to release the net, young Kirk Bailey swam out to see what the trouble was.

As he approached the net he was suddenly perceived to become white and then called for help, saying that his feet had become entangled in the net. His struggles were terrible, and Andrew Hileman, seeing that the boy could not continue his struggle much longer, started to his rescue.

As Hileman was approaching the trapped boy he, too, was seen to throw up his hands and make desperate struggles to go forward. The fatal net had also wrapped around his feet, and he was caught in the same plight as the boy. Dwight Bailey, father of the struggling boy, now jumped into the water and started to release the imprisoned men.

When he neared the net, he was caught as his son and Mr. Hileman had been, and he yelled to the crowd on the bank that he was caught in the net and could do nothing more. Finally A. B. Bailey, brother of Dwight, who had been called to the scene, saw at a glance the direction in which the current had dragged the net. Keeping above the net, he succeeded in reaching his brother and getting him to the shore in an unconscious condition. He will probably die.

At the instant the elder Bailey was released from the net the son sank for the last time, and Mr. Hileman, seeming to make a final effort to help the youth, also drowned. During all the time the men were struggling in the water their wives and families were on the bank in agonized helplessness. All connected with the accident are prominent and of the oldest families in Armstrong county.

Four Men Drowned.

DUBUQUE, Ia., June 13.—A tornado overturned and sank the steamer Ravenna at Maquoketa, four miles up the river. The captain and three others were drowned. The steamer Teal rescued fifteen men who clung to the bottom of the Ravenna.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Crescent Athletic Association would like to arrange baseball games with teams averaging twelve to thirteen years. Clyde Doane, 452 La Grande avenue, is the manager.

It is said to be the intention of Manager Monahan, of St. Marys, to divide tomorrow's game with both Doyle and Keefe. The combination will undoubtedly keep the Hope batters guessing the entire game.

Harry Dreier has received the specially made dress suit case which he will give the League player stealing the most bases at the close of the season. It is a beauty, combining the best materials with the finest workmanship obtainable.

League games scheduled for tomorrow afternoon: Hope against St. Mary, on former's grounds, Umpires Brown and Townley; Safe Works against Y. M. C. A. on St. Mary grounds, Umpires Young and Bodine. Both games are scheduled to begin at 3:45.

Percy Hand, the former Hope player, is doing wonders with the Y. M. C. A.'s. In fact he is playing the game of his life and Manager Heywood is to be congratulated upon securing him. He is a splendid man at the bat and one point is that his hits always seem to be timely.

Joseph Barry, the St. Mary catcher, is holding down his end of the battery this season better than ever. His old failing of not being able to throw to second has been overcome and many players of opposing teams have been caught stealing. As a backstop—he can hold any pitcher in the city.

Betting on the League games has reached such proportions as to become almost a mania with some of the more enthusiastic local rooters. Large amounts of money have been placed on tomorrow's contests with Hopes and St. Mary's the favorites. Although their respective followers are confident of the result being in their favor, none of the teams' backers are offering odds.

GOLF.

"H. F. Baker, of Bound Brook," says The Chronicle, of that place, "is showing Plainfielders how to play golf." On the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course last Saturday he won first honors with a net score of 78, which places him far in the lead for the committee cup, with 8½ points.

PLEASANT PARTY.

Given by Mrs. A. Martin in Honor of Her Guests.

A pleasant party was given last evening at the residence of Mrs. A. Martin, of 661 East Sixth street, in honor of her niece, Miss Jennie Richmond and her sister, Mrs. Martha Richmond, of New York. Music was furnished by Miss Addie Giddis and her pupil, Miss Anna Martin. During the evening the game of ping-pong proved to be very enjoyable. Refreshments were served later in the evening.

THE NETHERWOOD TO OPEN

FORMAL OPENING OF THAT POPULAR HOSTELRY ON THE HILL TOMORROW.

Although Guests Have Been Received Since Memorial Day—

The Season's Plans.

Although there have been guests at the Hotel Netherwood since Memorial Day, that hostelry does not formally open until tomorrow night. Everything is in readiness for the opening and the summer career of the hotel will be started with seventy guests. The booking for the summer months has been exceptionally heavy and it is expected that the hotel will be taxed to its capacity during the months of July and August.

Manager Brown has been hard at work getting his corps of assistants in good working order and is now prepared to see that everything runs along in the smoothest possible manner. There is every prospect that the summer will be the best one that the hotel has ever experienced, breaking even last year's record.

Arrangements have been made for the hotel orchestra which will be at the hotel the last of the month. The first social event will be a formal hop on the Saturday evening preceding Independence Day. A series of Saturday evening hops will be given during the season for the hotel guests. A limited number of invitations will be sent to the Plainfield people.

Among the distinguished guests who have already booked rooms for later in the season are Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, commander of the United States Army, and Major General Schofield.

BIDS FOR SCOTT COLLECTION.

H. P. Scott Is Trying to Dispose of the Collection Entire.

Parties from Newark, Orange and elsewhere have recently examined the Scott collection of paintings and curios and H. P. Scott, who has the collection in charge, has been in communication with parties as far south as Georgia. The Field Institute, of Chicago, has made a bid for the entire collection, while the Museum of Natural History in New York has made a bid for a portion of it. Other bids have been received from parties in Boston and Philadelphia.

Mr. Scott is anxious to sell the collection entire if possible, but if he cannot it will be divided to suit the best interests of the estate.

Annual Inspection of Police.

The annual inspection of the local police department will take place in the Marsh building, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Chief Kiely will be in charge and will put them through the military manoeuvres in which they have become very proficient. Invitations have been issued to the members of the Common Council and city officials to be present.

Gone to the Front.

The last of the strangers, who have been living in cars on the side tracks at South Plainfield, left for the coal mines last night. A hurry order came and they were promptly rushed to the front. There were forty of them, the others having gone to the scene of action already. They will be utilized as engineers, firemen, pumpmen and watchmen.

Concert at Calvary.

One of the best concerts ever given in Calvary Baptist church, took place last evening. It was given under the direction of Mrs. T. J. Walker, who was assistedby the Freeman family, all artists of no mean ability. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the church.

Week at the Lake.

Harry G. DeMeza, Cliff Schorb, Lou Gardner, Hilaire Blatz and Harry Rogers will drive to Lake Hopatcong Sunday night, where they will remain for a week's camp.

NO STRIKE SETTLEMENT YET

BOSS PLUMBERS WILL CONFER WITH THE TRADES' COUNCIL.

Now That No Agreement Can be Reached With Journeymen Plumbers Alone.

At the meeting of the boss plumbers last evening the report of the committee that had met the journeymen on the previous evening was received and their action ratified. The committee will not be dissolved until a conference can be held with the Trades Council, in order to get that body to exercise some influence on the journeymen plumbers to return to work. The Trades' Council is made up of the plumbers, the tinners, and members of the building trades. The latter are indirectly affected by the strike.

The bosses say that no determined effort has been made thus far to bring non-union plumbers to the city, but that they will certainly be here in the near future, perhaps today or tomorrow. In that case it is up to the carpenters to act as mediators in the trouble, since that body has indicated its unwillingness to work on a building where non-union plumbers are employed. The bosses will make a last attempt at settlement when they meet the Trades' Council.

There is a pessimstic feeling at present in regard to an early adjustment of the difficulty. The serious aspect of the whole business is just now in view, since, if no adjustment is reached this week, it is probable there will be a general resort to non-union help in the plumbing line. Unless the journeymen are repudiated by the other trades interested, this would cause the usual complications.

Later:—Shortly after noon nine plumbers arrived here from New York. On learning the conditions they refused to work and were taken in tow by the striking journeymen.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

GONE TO RHODE ISLAND.

Mrs. A. H. Lewis Was Removed to Their Summer Cottage.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis and family, of West Seventh street, left today for Watch Hill, R. I., where they will remain for the summer. Manager E. W. Mills, of the United States Express Company, kindly furnished room in an express car for Mrs. Lewis and her attendants. At Elizabeth Mrs. Lewis was transferred to the Colonial Express on the Pennsylvania Railroad and taken to Westerley without change. At Westerley, a special trolley car will convey her from the railroad station to the Lewis cottage. Mrs. Lewis remains about the same in condition, but it is hoped that after a season at Westerly she will be improved.

CLASS DAY AT BOROUGH HIGH

The Principal Feature Was the Presentation of Sheridan's "School For Scandal."

SANG THE CLASS SONG.

Seniors of North Plainfield High School Presented Programme Last Evening—The Usual Nonsense of Class Day Was Omitted—Dramatic Effort Was a Success.

Seniors of North Plainfield High School held their class day exercises last evening with the brightness and vivacity incident to all such occasions. Although the usual happy nonsense and jests were absent, the jovial spirit of class day prevailed. In the class song, composed by Miss Alice Martin, one of the graduates, the audience were naively informed that "the light of nineteen-two will vanish when we from school have gone." The song told of wades in mathematical depths, immersions in seas of Latin verbs, soundings in the mid-ocean of science contained. At the close a parting fling for the juniors and in the opening stanza paid a tribute to the seniors in this wise:

Of all the fair and famous classes
That e'er did graduate
Of all the knowing lads and lasses
That ever crammed a pate
With weighty words of wondrous wisdom
And with rules that never stay,
The class that breaks all former records
Is the class you see today.

The main features of the evening's programme was the presentation of Richard Brinsley Sheridan's "School for Scandal." Suitable scenery had been arranged, and each member of the cast was arrayed in the formal costume that obtained in the days of Queen Anne and the Georges, not omitting the powdered wig, or even the snuff box. The obsolete dress is essential to the success of the play and each performer carried himself or herself as gracefully as if Beau Nash in person had conducted the rehearsals. Following was the dramatis personæ:

Sir Peter Teazle	Florence Lawson
Lady Teazle	Winifred Carroll
Lady Sneerwell	Adelaide Carney
Mrs. Candour	Harriet Messersmith
Maria	Elizabeth Davenport
Joseph Surface	Robert Hand
Charles Surface	Charles Windham
Sir Oliver Surface	Edward Overton
Rowley, (old servant)	Clyde Slater
Snake	Raymond Stevens
Servants	Nettie Bauersachs, Ella Pearson

Miss Florence Lawson gave a surpassing interpretation of the character of the hero, or more properly the husband of the heroine. She spoke her lines with clearness and put much animation into the part. Miss Adelaide Carney furnished a strong portrayal of the tea-sipping, gossipy and slandering Lady Sneerwell, well seconded by Miss Harriet Messersmith as the backbiting Mrs. Candour. Robert Hand was good as the mean plausible hypocritical Joseph Surface, affecting gravity and sentimentality, while Charles Surface, generous, extravagant, and fascinating, found an excellent fit in Charles Windham. Lady Teazle, innocent and imprudent, was well taken by Miss Winifred Carroll; there was little room for improvement in Miss Elizabeth Davenport as Maria, Sir Peter Teazle's ward; E. Overton is as much at home on the stage as on the diamond; Miss Clyde Slater as Rowley, the old family servant, and Raymond Stevens, as Snake, Lady Sneerwell's secretary, were typical of their parts; Nettie Bauersachs and Etta Pearson were two good servants of the stage variety.

The committee in charge of the programme was Miss Mabel Stevens, R. Hand, E. Overton, Miss Alice Martin; the scenery was arrayed by Ray Stevens, E. Powlinson and E. Overton; the Misses Alice Martin and Mabel Stevens were the stage managers; Miss Nellie Mantz was the prompter. During the evening Miss Alberta Waterbury presided at the piano.

Overcome by Heat.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon F. A. VanNess, the Park avenue restaurateur, became overcome by the heat and suffered a prostration. Dr. Zeglio was called in attendance and succeeded in reviving him.

Miss Blanche Miller, of Farview avenue, has gone to Yonkers, N. Y., to visit friends.

FUNERAL OF MISS GLENNEY.

Services Were Conducted at Home by Rev. McKelvey.

The funeral services of Miss Marian Glenney, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney, of Stelle avenue, were held yesterday afternoon from the home of the parents. Rev. J. O. McKelvey conducted the services in the absence of Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards. There were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends. The interment took place in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

FREE TROLLEY RIDES.

Fund Started to Give These Airings to the Tired Women and Children of Plainfield.

Last summer a fund was raised in Plainfield to give trolley rides to those in this city unable to indulge themselves in such recreation.

Under the direction of the Relief Association there were given 500 free trolley rides to women and little children, so cheering the lives of tired mothers and bringing recuperation to sick children.

While one may not compare the poorer parts of the city to the shuns of larger cities, yet the close quarters of the local tenements bring much suffering during the hot season. Discrimination is used in the distribution of these tickets, the intention being to give them to the aged and to women upon whom devolve the support of families.

A fund for the same purposes has again been started, to which contributions will be gladly received by Mrs. Struthers, superintendent of Relief Association, 544 West Front street, or The Daily Press. A small amount from each family leaving for the seashore or mountains will do great good.

MISS DEWEY'S MUSICALE

Her Pupils Made Their Annual Public Appearance Last Evening—Well Received.

Piano selections of a distinctively meritorious order were given by the young pupils of Miss Carolyn Dewey, at the annual musicale of her class, in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church, last evening. It was heard by a select audience which showered unstinted applause upon the young artists.

Miss Dewey's success as an instructor, particularly with the very young children, was plainly demonstrated. Every nubmer was rendered with a skill which reflected her painstaking methods and the result was most pleasing. During the evening Miss Marie Newman favored the audience with several vocal selections.

The members of the class who took part were the Misses Nettie Robinson, Marian Mortimer, Caroline Slauson, Caroline Lambert, Leslie Leland, Madeline Noonan, Ethel Newman, Barbara Fleming, Winifred Rappleje, Florence Smalley, Ellen Ulrich, Marion Lambert, Margaret Leggett, Nina Sampson and Leslie Leland, Edward Mosher, Lee Manning, Arthur Bingaman, Irwin Leland and Harold Fenno.

AUTO BURNED.

Wm. R. Stanbery's Machine and Barn Went Up in Smoke Last Night—Loss Was $1,500.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, June 14 — William R. Stanbery's steam automobile was totally destroyed in a fire which consumed his barn shortly before 12 o'clock, last night. The machine was valued at $1,200 and was insured for $900. The loss on the barn is $300 on which there is no insurance.

Just what caused the blaze cannot be determined, but it is thought the barn was struck by lightning and, if not, the fire was of incendiary origin. Mr. Stanbery took the auto out for a trial spin, yesterday afternoon after having some repairs made to it He placed it in the barn, which was a small affair built for the purpose, at 6:30, taking the usual precautions to see that the fires were completely extinguished. At 11:30 he was awakened by a neighbor, Charles Battell Loomis, whose wife had seen the flames breaking from all sides. The Fanwood department was called out but the building and machine were too far gone to be saved. William E. Hoar, another neighbor, passed the premises at 11:15 and at that time there was no sign of a fire.

Lookout for Horse Thief.

A telephone message was received at police headquarters, this morning, asking the officers to be on the lookout for a rig stolen late last night from a farmer at Kingston. The horse is described as a white mare, while the wagon is a colored buckboard.

CHILDREN'S CARNIVAL DAY AT ASBURY PARK

Baby Parade is to be Conducted on a Much Grander Scale Than Ever Before.

A REGULAR CARNIVAL.

THE EVENTS WILL CONTINUE FOR SEVERAL DAYS.

Famous Shore Resort is Making Elaborate Preparations for This Spectacle—The Plans for Day Announced in Detail.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, June 14—The great Asbury Park baby parade which is now an annual fixture sanctioned by the city Common Council, has so far outgrown its character that hereafter this important event will be known as Children's Carnival Day.

Harold B. Ayres has been reappointed president of this important commission and he is now not only working toward this season's big event, but is preparing a plan whereby a permanent commission will be effected to officially handle the details of the several functions, Fourth of July celebrations, lake carnivals, children's carnival days and such other events as the Asbury Park Common Council may hereafter desire to exploit.

Mr. Ayres fittingly demonstrated last year that he was the right man in the right place, for the 1901 baby parade was indeed one of the grandest pageants ever held in this country, an occasion when some seventy-five thousand people assembled and enjoyed the novel and artistic spectacle.

Mr. Ayres has with him this season Alfred Chasseaud, who is one of the best known managers of great public events in this country. Mr. Chasseaud will act as general manager of the commission, and already the machinery has been set in motion which Asbury Parkers believe will insure the greatest public outdoor function ever held in this State, or of its kind in the world.

This carnival of 1902 has been announced for Wednesday, August 13. It will be opened on Tuesday evening by a dinner from the queen to her maids of honor and a reception to the court and invited guests.

The baby parade will take place at 4 o'clock Wednesday, which will be viewed by the queen and court from her royal reviewing stand surrounded by her court and orchestra and guards.

The royal horsemen and court officers will conduct the queen to her position. The grand pageant of over six hundred children, whose ages are from one to twelve years, in beautiful floats, tableaux and magnificant decorated pony carts, minature express wagons, baby carriages, etc., will start from the Auditorium and parade for half a mile and return on Ocean avenue through victory columns forming arches of bright flags, banners and flowers, the floor of which will be carpeted the entire half mile in length.

In the evening the queen will entertain the children and their guests at Educational Hall with a series of magnificent living picture tableaux, illustrating "The Fairy Kingdom." At this fete she will bestow her favors upon those of her children who showed merit in the afternoon's pageant—these favors will consist of a collection of loving cups, diamond trophies, the baby parade spoons and other rich and valuable jewel plate and prizes of aggregate value exceeding $1,000.

Thursday evening will close the carnival with a great reception to the queen and her maids by the people of Asbury Park and vicinity. This new feature is already engaging the attention of society-folk along the entire coast line and promises under the direction of many prominent society people to be the most magnificent ball or the season. It will probably be held in the cool Auditorium on Ocean avenue directly by the sea shore. The committee is somewhat mysterious over this feature but says that startling developments in decoration, lighting, etc., may be looked for in the auditorium at the queen ball.

Already several large special railroad excursions from distant cities are being made up to visit Asbury Park during the carnival and President Ayres says that beautiful Asbury Park will feel the pressure but will welcome and amply care for the one hundred thousand people expected August 13.

To show the wide spread interest of this great event, inquiries are now coming in to the commission from all over the country from artists, decorators, magazines, newsgatherers, people wishing to secure choice reserved seats on the immense official grand stand, others offering prizes and even has the committee been asked for hotel rates and confidential advice concerning the boarding places.

All of which argues certain success to the committee appointed by the Common Council which comprises these well known men and women of Asbury Park's social and business affairs: Harold B. Ayres, president; J. E. Davis, treasurer; C. E. Hetrick, Hiram Walton, William H. Bannard, awards; A. R. Parsons, finance; Dr. H. C. Millar, J. B. Carton, Jessie Meeker, Mrs. T. F. Apleby, Miss L. Morgan, Mrs. Charles Kentzen, and Alfred Chasseaud, general mahager, who hold themselves ready at all times to send information and particulars to any one concerning the carnival or Asbury Park.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL GRADUATES

EXERCISES WILL BE HELD IN FRANKLIN HALL WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Programme for the Day and a List of Those Who Are to Graduate.

The graduation exercises of the Grammar School Department of the Plainfield Public Schools, will be held in Franklin School Assembly Hall, Wednesday, June 18, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The programme will include a prayer by Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, recitations, Miss Margaret Demarest, Miss Elizabeth Crane Winter and Arthur Stoddard Whitney.

There will also be chorus singing by members of the school and a piano solo by Miss Dorothy Waldo, and addresses will be made by Rev. Dr. Everett T. Tomlinson, of Elizabeth; Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of schools and Dr. J. B. Probasco, president of the Board of Education, will present diplomas to the graduation cass. The music will be under the direction of Charles L. Lewis.

There are sixty-six members of the graduating class as follows:

SUCCESS CONTINUED.

At Festival Given by the Men of Grace M. E. Church.

The strawberry and ice cream festival was continued in Grace M. E. church last evening with as much success as on the previous evening.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra rendered several selections, Rev. E. S. Earp gave two readings, the men sang a humorous chorus, and Miss Simpson gave two piano solos. The sale of fancy articles, the vending of cake, lemonade and candy was carried on with great success.

Pet Dog Killed.

A dog belonging te Former Mayor John H. VanWinkle, of Duer street, showed symptoms of madness Thursday, and although the dog was a much prized animal it was thought prudent to have him shot, which was done by one of the borough police officers.

A young daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hewitt, of Warren street, this morning.

PERSEVERANCE LODGE THIRTY YEARS OLD

That Event Was Properly Celebrated by Knights of Pythias Last Evening.

GAVE A PROGRAMME.

PERSEVERANCE AND ITS FRIENDS MADE AN EVENING OF IT.

Programme Lasted Until After Midnight and Then the Guests Were Served With Refreshments—Those Who Took Part.

Thirty years of existence as a fraternal organization were completed by Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., last evening. In honor of the event the good and welfare committee entertained 200 members and friends with a programme which continued without cessation from 9 o'clock until after midnight. It was one of the best entertainments Perseverance has yet conducted.

Under the auspices of Chancellor Commander William N. Runyon the numbers were given as follows: Banjo-mandolin selections by Joseph Loughead; violin duets by R. Wilson Derby and Ernest Higham; vocal selections, "I've a Longing in My Heart For You, Louise," by Thomas Muir and "Just Plain Folks" by Elmer D. Cutting, with illustrations; colored views of the Pan-American exposition by William Schorb; buck and wing and shuffle dancing by Tony Lusardi and Orra Bowers; and an Ethiopian sketch entitled, "Unappreciated Talent" by M. D. Sweeney and B. C. Firstbrook.

A special feature was the appearance of Joseph Butler and Theodore Owens, of Elizabeth, expert exponents of "rag time" ditties. Both artists are possessed of excellent voices which when blended in the popular "coon" style with guitar accompaniment, the melody was such as to call forth tumultuous applause.

On completion of the programme, Caterer W. W. Warnock served refreshments and during their disposal informal sociability reigned. The members of the lodge devoted themselves to discussing the years it has rounded out and to renewing old acquaintances.

Of the charter members when Perseverance was organized in 1872, but two are now living and unfortunately neither was able to be present last evening. They are John R. McCall, of Long Island City, a former well known engineer on the New Jersey Central, and Julius Cantorwitz, of Philadelphia. The lodge now embraces nearly 300 members making it the largest of any in the city. It also comprises Goodwill Lodge, of Scotch Plains, with which it was merged some time ago.

The committee in charge last evening consisted of Samuel Robinson, chairman, William N. Runyon, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Thomas Muir and Jacob Blimm, Jr.

NEW ICE CREAM DEPOT.

The Only One of the Kind Ever Established in Plainfield.

Geo. Weida, who formerly kept an ice cream and confectionery store on Somerset street and afterwards in the Compton building on West Front street, is in town again, this time with the New Jersey Ice Cream Company. This company is engaged in the manufacturing and wholesale ice cream business, and is the first of the kind ever established in this city. They are now shipping ice cream to Westfield, Cranford, Elizabeth, Rahway, Perth Amboy, South Amboy, South River, Bound Brook, Somerville, and all intermediate points. Their product is sold in nearly all the first class stores in Plainfield, and it is said that for purity and fineness of quality this cream has no equal, and that once sold in a town, all stores must have it. Attention is called to the advertisement in another column.

Special Feature.

The music at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock will be a special feature of the meeting. The Association String Quartette will render selections, and vocal solos will be sung by Mrs. John Manley. Wm. D. Murray will address the meeting.

Sermon to Masons.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell will preach a special sermon at Bethel chapel tomorrow evening before Stone Square Lodge, F. and A. M.

ALMOST LOST EYESIGHT.

Driver S. B. Frazee Bespattered Himself With Muriatic Acid.

Through the spattering of muriatic acid with which he was charging an extinguisher at fire headquarters, yesterday, Driver S. B. Frazee narrowly escaped with loss of eyesight. Drops of the fluid struck him in the face in close proximity to the eyes and burned deeply in the flesh. Fortunately none touched a vital spot and immediate applications of soda will prevent scars from forming where spots were made.

AFTER CLASS PRESIDENT

Juniors of Borough High School Tried to Capture Him Last Evening.

There has been the usual rivalry between the juniors and seniors at the North Plainfield High School as the school year draws to a close. Teddy Overton yesterday unearthed a plot to kidnap the president of the senior class, Robert Hand, and keep him in durance vile until after the performance last evening.

The juniors laid in wait for him at an opportune corner but Chief Campbell was too close to the scene of ambush to allow his capture. It was subsequently necessary for the chief to conduct Hand home to and from his meals, that he might not become a prisoner of the juniors.

Two of the juniors are responsible for part of the output of bogus tickets for the class day exercises that flooded the market yesterday and the day before. It was intended as a joke on the seniors. But from another source also, where the joke was not the motive, came bogus tickets in abundance, the juniors being in no way responsible.

STILL NO SETTLEMENT.

Boss and Journeymen Plumbers and Carpenters Unable to Settle It.

The carpenters and journeymen plumbers were to have held a conference last evening in regard to the strike situation. These two bodies are affiliated in the Trades' Council and it was the intention of the carpenters to bring some influence to bear on the plumbers, but the latter failed to show up for the meeting.

In regard to the plumbers who arrived here yesterday from New York, they were union men and it seems that the situation here had not been properly represented to them, hence their return to New York.

Unless a satisfactory agreement can be reached tonight the committee appointed by the boss plumbers to treat with the journeymen will be dissolved, and no further effort made to adjust the difficulty with the strikers. As to the carpenters there is some talk of them retiring from the Trades' Council and forming an independent union.

NO FLOATING DEBT.

Balance in City Treasury as Result of Martin Act Payments.

In redeeming his property under the provisions of the Martin Act, James E. Martine has up to today paid Collector F. H. Smith $15,323, and there is yet a balance of $3,500 to be paid to entirely liquidate his indebtedness to the city.

The money received by the city under the Martin Act has entirely taken care of Plainfield's floating debt and leaves a balance in the city treasury. For the first time in a long while Plainfield now has no floating debt.

FIGHTING DRINK EVIL.

A Prominent Temperance Worker Spoke to Endeavorers on Subject.

Miss Florence P. Lee, a noted temperance worker from Norwalk, Conn., made an address before the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church last evening. There was a good attendance and Miss Lee's remarks were interesting. Miss Lee has had a wide experience in temperance work and she told of the progress being made throughout the country. She urged those present to exert the best effort toward putting down the evil of drink.

Class Sets Good Example.

Class No. 25, of the Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, has contributed $4.16 through The Daily Press, to the King's Daughters baby camp fund, to be used in caring for the sick babies of those persons unable to send them away to the mountains this summer. This is an example that might very easily be taken up by other Sunday-school classes and a goodly sum realized for this very worthy object.

Start of Classes.

Prof. Franck's classes in elocution and voice culture will commence Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock in St. Mary's Hall.

CIRCUS TENT BLOWN DOWN

But Management Had Already Sent Audience Home—No One Seriously Hurt.

CIRCUS MEN BURIED.

Heavy Wind of Last Evening Put the Big Tent Out of Business—Performers and Canvasmen—Wreck Soon Cleared Away—Show Westfield Today.

But for the foresight of the management in clearing the audience from the Lowery Brothers' circus, last evening, the miniature tornado which struck this city at 10 o'clock would undoubtedly have left many seriously injured people in its wake.

The heavy wind tore the huge canvas, 240 by 80 feet, from its fastenings and hurled it with tangled mass of poles and ropes to the ground five minutes after the spectators had departed. The entire troupe of performers and most of the canvasmen were buried beneath the debris but fortunately none were seriously injured. Many sustained severe bruises.

Baby Irene, a ten-year-old girl, who was doing a contortionist turn when the audience was dismissed, was pinioned down and held a prisoner for some time. When released by employes she was found to have escaped with a number of severe scratches and abrasions. A rumor spread to the effect that her arm had been broken but this was denied by the management when quizzed by a reporter.

The employes worked all through the driving rain to straighten matters out, most of them unmindful of their hurts. At 3 o'clock the paraphernalia was gotten aboard the cars and it is possible the performance will be given today as usual minus the top part of the tent which was found to have rent to ribbons. The show is located today in Westfield.

THREE WHEELS TAKEN.

Small Boys Helped Themselves to the Bicycles Left in a School Yard Yesterday Afternoon.

Olive Peel, James Keiderling and Willie Bailey, three young boys, wandered into the yard of Leal's School, yesterday afternoon, and each appropriated a wheel belonging to pupils.

They rode to Metuchen, thence to Westfield. Coming home Keiderling threw his machine into a clump of bushes near Fanwood. Peel placed his on the Elm street bridge and Bailey took his back to the Leal School yard. Late last evening all three boys were arrested by Patrolmen McCarthy and Higgins.

All confessed to the thefts and will be arraigned before Justice Nash, this evening. The wheels belonged to pupils named Pomeroy, Fredericks and Averill.

PYTHIANS TO DECORATE.

Local Knights Will Observe the Decoration Day of That Order.

Decoration Day, not the National occasion, but that of the Knights of Pythias, will be observed by the local lodges tomorrow. It is the custom of this order to decorate the graves of all departed members the third Sunday in June, the lodges to which they belonged overseeing the work.

In this city the decorating is in charge of the uniformed rank but every knight participates. The start will be made from Perseverance's rooms at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and after visiting the nearby cemeteries, special cars will convey the decorators to Hillside and afterward Scotch Plains. The grave of one Perseverance member at Orange will be decorated by the lodge at that place.

ANOTHER DEAD DOG.

This One Strangled Itself—Owner Had Offer of $100 for Animal.

The enforcement of the dog ordinance relative to muzzles is responsible for the death of a very valuable terrier belonging to F. A. VanNess, of Park avenue. A wire cage was placed on it, yesterday morning, and the little animal objected very strongly. It made every effort to get it off and finally, when no one was around, the muzzle became twisted about its neck. Frantic attempts to release itself only tightened the pressure and when the owner appeared the dog was dead from strangulation. A few days ago Mr. VanNess refused an offer of $100 for the animal.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Speaking of a new thirty-foot ladder recently received by the Plainfield Fire Department the American Fireman says that "Although but half as heavy as the old one, it is much easier to handle." Twice two is one. Very peculiar, isn't it, that the lighter ladder should be less difficult to manipulate?

A Princetonian with a statistical mind, has gathered the following interesting information which recently appeared in a Princeton commencement publication regarding this year's graduating class: There are 258 men in the class. The average age at graduation is 22 years and 7 months, the average height 5 feet 9.7 inches, the average weight 154 pounds. Sixty-nine members of the class will study law, 48 will go into business, 23 will enter medical schools and 10 will study for the ministry. There are 185 Republicans in the class and 30 Democrats; three say that they are Anarchists. More than a hundred are Presbyterians, one is a Christian Scientist, one a Mohammedan, one a Latter-Day Saint, and one a Transcendentalist. Scott was voted the favorite author, with Dickens a close second. Longfellow is the favorite poet, with Burns next. History is the favorite study, baseball is the favorite sport, and Vassar the favorite woman's college. The brunette is the favorite type of beauty. Helen is the favorite name.

Eighty-five members of the class have blue eyes and 111 brown hair. Nineteen have supported themselves wholly during their college course. Seventy-two wear glasses, 12 have mustaches, 80 have pawned articles, 187 smoke, 29 chew tobacco, 201 dance, 134 drink intoxicating liquor, 94 of whom imbibed before entering college. The class has a total of 1,013 girl correspondents. Eleven are engaged to be married and 20 have been rejected. The class of '02 is, they say, the best class ever graduated because "it '02 be."

PERSONAL.

Charles McMurtry, of Grey Court, N. Y., is the guest of relatives in the West End.

Miss Louise Lawrence, of East Third street, has returned from a visit with relatives at Allentown, Pa.

Dr. and Mrs. Willard B. Force, of Jersey City, have been visiting Mrs. Force's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Force, of Carlton avenue.

Driver Frank Hart, of fire headquarters, spent yesterday in New York as the guest of Sergeant Mc Namara, of the Oak street station.

Hosts of Wild Strawberries.

The recent shower was very beneficial to the wild strawberries that grow in profusion in the fields on the outskirts of the borough, near West End avenue. Since the ripening of the fruit, scores of children come with baskets after school hours and return home with their various receptacles filled with the sweet berries.

Ready to Yield.

"I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for piles and found it a certain cure," says S. R. Meredith, Willow Grove, Del. Operations unnecessary to cure piles. They always yield to DeWitts Witch Hazel Salve. Cures skin diseases, all kinds of wounds. Accept no counterfeits. L. W. Randolph.

Quoit Tournament.

Commencing next week Tuesday evening Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will hold a quoit tournament. It will continue until fall.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

TO AID FIREMEN.

Annual Report of Firemen's Relief Association of the Borough.

The Firemen's Relief Association, of North Plainfield, has issued a neat folder containing the annual report of that organization.

The treasurer's report shows cash on hand last report, $2,529.51; received from agents and brokers, $120.32; received from commissioner banking and insurance, $93.86; received from interest from all sources, $100.70, making a grand total of $2,844.39. Loans on bond and mortgage amount to $2,000; disbursements, $117.02; making a total of $2,117.02, leaving a balance on the correct side of the ledger of $727.37. The money is deposited in the Dimes Savings Institution, of Plainfield.

The officers of the association for the ensuing year are: President, W. W. Demarest; vice president, J. J. Stahl; secretary, D. Bodine; treasurer and collector, J. M. Higgins; board of visitors, Geo. Schlereth, Chas. Kellar, J. J. Stahl, Louis Bimble, Jr.

The society meets every second Monday in May, August, November and February and was organized on October 15, 1889.

CLUB WOMEN MEET.

Made Plans for Biennial Session of State Federation of Clubs.

Preliminary plans for the biennial business meeting of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs were made at a meeting of the programme committee in the rooms of the Woman's Club, Newark, Monday. It was decided that the general subject of the meeting would be "Economic Conditions," and this will be treated by the clubwomen in addresses and papers, with particular reference to child labor and factory inspection.

The date for the meeting was set for October 30 and 31, and it will be held in Jersey City. The election of officers will take place on the morning of the second day, and will be announced late in the last session of the afternoon.

The programme committee is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mary B. Kinsley, of Arlington, and consists of Mrs. Charles J. Silvers, of Elizabeth, Miss Mary Holden, of Madison; Mrs. W. Hobart Houghton, of Bayonne, and Mrs. J. H. Wilkinson, of Merchantville.

Two August Tours to the Pacific Coast at Greatly Reduced Rates via Pennsylvania Railroad.

On account of the low rates authorized by the transcontinental lines to the Pacific coast during the summer, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run two high grade personally-conducted tours to the Pacific coast by special trains of the highest grade Pullman equipment. Both tours will leave New York August 2, visiting Chicago, Denver, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Del Monte (Monterey), Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Jose, and Portland on the going trip.

Returning, tour No 1 will run northward from Portland and eastward through the magnificent Canadian Rockies by leisurely daylight trips, with stops at Glacier, Banff Hot Springs, and other points, reaching New York and the East via St, Paul and Chicago on August 31.

Tour No. 2 will run eastbound from Portland over the Northern Pacific Railway to Cinnabar, where the special train will be sidetracked while the passengers make the usual six-day trip of the Yellowstone National Park. From the Park the route homeward will be via St. Paul and Chicago, arriving New York September 4.

Rates from New York, Philadelphia, Washington, or any point on the Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburg, including transportation, Pullman berth, and all meals on the tour except during the five days spent in San Francisco, when Pullman accommodations and meals are not provided:—

For tour No. 1, $200. Two persons occupying one berth, $180 each.

For tour No. 2, $250, including all expenses through Yellowstone Park. Two persons occupying one berth, $230 each.

A preliminary announcement outlining the various details is now in course of preparation and will be furnished as soon as ready upon application to Geo. W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Pennsylvania Railroad, Broad Street station, Philadelphia.

Miss Alta McConnell, of Park avenue, is entertaining Miss May Metcafe, of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Force and daughter, Miss Minnie Force, of Carlton avenue, will leave Monday for Hunterdon county, where they will remain for a week.

The Summer Season

is full of dangers particularly for the children, who not knowing the result of eating unripe fruit, indulge themselves, with the usual griping pains in the stomach as a consequence; mothers should have on hand at all times a bottle of Painkiller (Perry Davis) which will at once relieve the sufferer; it is a safe, simple remedy and it should be kept in every house. Hay's HAIR-HEALTH Keeps You Looking Young

Test Its Hair Growing Powers FREE

To prove what this great Hair Beautifier will do for you, every reader of this paper who is troubled with dandruff (or with the appearance of gray or faded hair or bald spots may have by mail a FREE sample bottle. (See Free Bottle Offer below.)

A BOTTLE FREE.

Don't Look Old.

A feeling of regret comes with the first gray hairs. They stand in the way of business and social advancement. Hay's Hair-Health affords a sure means of restoring to the hair the beauty of youth.

Stops Falling Hair.

"My hair is now restored to its youthful color. I have not a gray hair left. My husband says I look 20 years younger, and my hair ceases to fall, while before I was in danger of becoming bald."

A Public Boon.

Hay's Hair-Health has earned this title, and thousands are enjoying fine heads of hair produced by this preparation. It quickly cleanses the scalp, removes dandruff, stops falling and breaking of the hair, and changes it if gray to its youthful color and luxuriance.

Stains Nothing.

It is not greasy or sticky; not a dye; does not rub off. Never soils anything. It is made from absolutely pure ingredients and may be safely used by old or young. Hay's Hair-Health is a clean, creamy dressing, delicately perfumed and highly desirable in every way.

In 1900-1901 this preparation was tested to the extent of over five million bottles in the United States and British possessions. It is highly endorsed by the nobility.

H. H. H. is sold by leading druggists everywhere. A large 50c. bottle sent, prepaid, in plain sealed package by PHILO HAY SPECIALTIES CO., 231 Lafayette st., Newark, N. One Bottle Does It.

That is the expression of many who have had their gray hairs restored to youthful color and their bald spot covered with hair after using one bottle of Hay's Hair-Health.

No More Gray Hair,

should you live to advanced age, if you use a Hay's Hair-Health occasionally. It is a vital hair food.

Guaranteed

TO QUICKLY RESTORE FADED, BLEACHED or WHITE HAIR to youthful color without staining the skin. An occasional application keeps the hair soft, glossy, of silken texture and disposed to remain in any desired position. Every lady needs a bottle on her dresser.

Harfina Soap.

Nothing like it for keeping the scalp free from dandruff, the hair silken, and the skin clear and rosy. Dandruff causes baldness. To keep the hair, scalp and beard in healthy condition, make a strong lather of Harfina Soap and shampoo freely. If it is desired to restore gray hair to youthful color, apply Hay's Hair-Health after shampoo. The grayness will disappear and the hair grow forth in its youthful color and beauty.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Business Continues Brisk—Heavy Crops of Corn and Oats Indicated.

NEW YORK, June 14.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

No diminution in business is apparent from labor controversies, owing to the prosperous condition of the agricultural sections and the bright outlook for this year's crops. Nevertheless, it is only a question of time when the nation's progress will receive a severe check if the purchasing power of a vast army of wage earners continues to decrease. Iron workers at valley furnaces have received higher wages, and other settlements were made by various concessions, but the situation in the Pennsylvania coal region is unchanged.

According to the Iron Age, the total production of pig iron during May reached the unprecedented amount of 1,570,243 tons, yet furnace stocks declined 21,243 tons, indicating a wonderful rate of consumption.

Limited stocks are still the cause of steadiness in all branches of textiles. Holders are not urging sales, and buyers show a disposition to wait. The result is a quiet but firm market.

Grain markets have shown the effects of conflicting crop estimates and weather reports.

The corn outlook is very bright, according to correspondents of R. G. Dun & Co., acreage being largely increased and little injury experienced from weather or insects. A record breaking yield of oats is also indicated by the official return.

Failures for the week numbered 162 in the United States against 179 last year and 20 in Canada compared with 23 a year ago.

The German Atlantic Cable.

BERLIN, June 14.—The annual report of the German Atlantic Cable company, which has just been made public and which covers the first full year of the company's operations, shows that the number of words transmitted by the company between the United States and Germany and vice versa in 1901 was greater than the number of messages it was estimated would be sent between the two countries by all lines in 1898. The year of 1901 was the record year in transatlantic cable business.

Jockey Fatally Injured.

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—Yesterday's sport at the fair grounds was marred by an accident in the first race, as a result of which Jockey Donegan will lose his life. Balzac, upon whom Donegan had the mount, stumbled and fell as the field was rounding the stable turn. Pettijohn, the favorite, fell over Balzac and upon Donegan, who sustained a horrible fracture of the skull.

TROOPS KEEP PEACE

The Military Rules Pawtucket With Firm Grasp.

SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES WITHDRAWN.

Effort to Be Made Today to Reopen the City Railway System Under the Protection of Soldiers and Police.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 14.—Action which the authorities hope means the beginning of the end of the reign of lawlessness incident to the street railway strike was taken yesterday by High Sheriff Hunter C. White removing his deputy sheriffs from the street cars. He did this on representations made to him that the deputies accomplished no good purpose, but incited the crowds to acts of violence.

After the withdrawal of these men the city became quiet. The 1,500 troops ordered out by Governor Kimball Thursday are still on duty, but if conditions warrant they will be withdrawn gradually. There was no rioting during the day. Seven men were arrested for misdemeanors committed on Pawtucket avenue, the route of cars from Providence to this city. None of the lines of the Pawtucket city system of the United Traction company was in operation, and the lines in Central Falls, Cumberland and Albion, suburban towns, were tied up. Today it is proposed to reopen the city system under the protection of the police, assisted by the militia.

The military authorities, who at first were somewhat doubtful as to their authority in the premises, have grasped the situation with vigor. Orders have been issued to take notice of every infraction of the peace and to arrest all who refused to obey their commands. Persons found shouting, placing obstructions on the tracks or otherwise misbehaving are arrested at sight, and if any pronounced demonstration is made by a mob the orders are to warn the assemblage and then shoot if the injunctions are not heeded.

The promulgation of this vigorous policy has impressed all persons on the streets in the fighting zone that the troops are in earnest, and it has had the effect of keeping the city quiet.

The boy who was shot in the neck by a deputy Thursday is still alive.

Mayor Fitzgerald has ordered all the saloons closed in order to keep down any possible disturbances.

A Dinner to Taft.

ROME, June 14.—Francis Macnautt, an American, who is private chamberlain to the pope and who lives in the Pamphili palace, which belongs to Prince Doria, gave a dinner and reception last night to William H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippine Islands, and the members of his party. Among those present were Lewis Morris Iddings, secretary to the United States embassy at Rome; Cardinals Sanminiatelli, Satoli, Ferrata and Vannutelli and the Austrian, French and Russian embassadors to Italy. The plenary reunions between Judge Taft and the subcommission of cardinals began today.

Santos-Dumont Coming Back.

NEW YORK, June 14.—It is announced that M. Santos-Dumont will return to New York the latter part of this month and make flights in his airship now on its way to this country at Brighton Beach. Work will begin next Monday on a large building at the beach in which the airship will be housed and from which the Brazilian aeronaut will start on his overhead trips around Greater New York. The building will be located west of the Brighton Beach theater and will be 175 feet long, 125 feet wide and 60 feet high.

Government Aid For Exposition.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The New York members of the house of representatives have been before the house committee on appropriations to ask an appropriation of $600,000 to cover the deficit of the Buffalo exposition. Representative Alexander of Buffalo, who spoke for the delegation, said that the shooting of President McKinley had a depressing effect on the exposition toward its close, when there was the greatest expectation of large returns, and that under normal conditions there would have been a much larger income.

Trusted Treasurer Accused.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Charles S. Shivler, fifty-seven years old, of 581 Madison street, Brooklyn, ex-secretary and treasurer of the American District Telegraph company, has been arrested, charged with stealing between $16,000 and $17,000 from the company. For twenty-five years Shivler was secretary and treasurer of the company, and the utmost reliance was placed upon him. His books were never examined, and he was looked upon as above suspicion.

Death of Well Known Pastor.

UTICA, N. Y., June 14.—Rev. Samuel R. Ward is dead at Richfield Springs, aged seventy-three years. He was ordained in 1856 and had held the longest pastorate of any Universalist minister in the state. He had been at Richfield Springs thirty-six years.

Two Drowned.

CHESTER, Pa., June 14.—Captain Hannett Robbins of Port Norris, N. J., and Mrs. Pluma Haines of Camden, N. J., were drowned opposite this city by the capsizing of the sloop Henry S. Robbins, Port Norris for Philadelphia, laden with oyster shells.

An Advance For Iron Workers.

READING, Pa., June 14.—The Reading Iron company has advanced the wages of its puddlers from $4.25 to $4.50 per ton and the pay of many other employees in proportion.

THE PRESIDENT ACTS

Cuban Reciprocity Urged In Special Message.

SAYS REBATE WILL NOT ANSWER.

Congress Is Strongly Asked to Aid Cuba—Duty and Self Interest Demand Speedy Legislation—Mr. McKinley Is Quoted.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—After talking with a number of the leaders in congress regarding Cuban reciprocity President Roosevelt yesterday sent a message to congress reaffirming his attitude on the subject. The president has earnestly considered the matter for several days.

The reciprocity message has given senators a live topic of conversation, but so far as is yet apparent there is no change in the situation. There is a disposition on the part of the leaders on both sides of the controversy to claim when speaking publicly some advantage from the message. The straight reciprocity men urge that the effect will be to cause at least some of the beet sugar Republicans to abandon their opposition.

The beet sugar leaders declare that the message has caused no loss whatever to them and that all those senators who have hitherto stood with them are still with them. They also assert that the president's interposition in the matter had had the effect of causing to hesitate some senators who heretofore had not taken a positive stand against reduction because of the feeling that the president should leave congress to deal with the subject in its present stage.

The president's message is as follows:

I deem it important before the adjournment of the present session of congress to call attention to the following expressions in the message which, in the discharge of the duty imposed upon me by the constitution, I sent to congress on the first Tuesday of December last:

Elsewhere I have discussed the question of reciprocity. In the case of Cuba, however, there are weighty reasons of morality and of national interest why the policy should be held to have a peculiar application, and I most earnestly ask your attention to the wisdom—indeed, to the vital need—of providing for a substantial reduction in the tariff duties on Cuban imports into the United States. Cuba has in her constitution affirmed what we desired—that she should stand in international matters in closer and more friendly relations with us than with any other power—and we are bound by every consideration of honor and expediency to pass commercial measures in the interest of her material well being.

This recommendation was merely giving practical effect to President McKinley's words when, in his messages of Dec. 5, 1898, and Dec. 5, 1899, he wrote:

"It is important that our relations with this people (of Cuba) shall be of the most friendly character and our commercial relations close and reciprocal. We have accepted a trust, the fulfillment of which calls for the sternest integrity of purpose and the exercise of the highest wisdom. The new Cuba yet to arise from the ashes of the past must needs be bound to us by ties of singular intimacy and strength if its enduring welfare is to be assured. The greatest blessing which can come to Cuba is the restoration of her agricultural and industrial prosperity."

On June 12 I received by cable from the American minister in Cuba a most earnest appeal from President Palma for "legislative relief before it is too late and (his) country financially ruined."

The granting of reciprocity with Cuba is a proposition which stands entirely alone. The reasons for it far outweigh those for granting reciprocity with any other nation and are entirely consistent with preserving intact the protective system under which this country has thriven so marvelously. The present tariff law was designed to promote the adoption of such a reciprocity treaty and expressly provided for a reduction not to exceed 20 per cent upon goods coming from a particular country, leaving the tariff rates on the same articles unchanged as regards all other countries. Objection has been made to the granting of the reduction on the ground that the substantial benefit would not go to the agricultural producer of sugar, but would inure to the American sugar refiners. In my judgment provision can and should be made which will guarantee us against this possibility without having recourse to a measure of doubtful policy, such as a bounty in the form of a rebate.

The question as to which, if any, of the different schedules of the tariff ought most properly to be revised does not enter into this matter in any way or shape. We are concerned with getting a friendly reciprocal arrangement with Cuba. This arrangement applies to all the articles that Cuba grows or produces. It is not in our power to determine what these articles shall be, and any discussion of the tariff as it affects special schedules or countries other than Cuba is wholly aside from the subject matter to which I call your attention.

Some of our citizens oppose the lowering of the tariff on Cuban products, just as three years ago they opposed the admission of the Hawaiian Islands, lest free trade with them might ruin certain of our interests here. In the actual event their fears proved baseless as regards Hawaii, and their apprehensions as to the damage to any industry of our own because of the proposed measure of reciprocity with Cuba seem to me equally baseless. In my judgment no American industry will be hurt, and many American industries will be benefited by the proposed action. It is to our advantage as a nation that the growing Cuban market should be controlled by American producers.

The events following the war with Spain and the prospective building of the isthmian canal render it certain that we must take in the future a far greater interest than hitherto in what happens throughout the West Indies, Central America and the adjacent coasts and waters. We expect Cuba to treat us on an exceptional footing politically, and we should put her in the same exceptional position economically. The proposed action is in line with the course we have pursued as regards all the islands with which we have been brought into relations of varying intimacy by the Spanish war. Porto Rico and Hawaii have been included within our tariff lines to their great benefit as well as ours and without any of the feared detriment to our own industries. The Philippines, which stand in a different relation, have been granted substantial tariff concessions.

Cuba is an independent republic, but a republic which has assumed certain special obligations as regards her international position in compliance with our request. I ask for her certain special economic concessions in return, these economic concessions to benefit us as well as her. There are few brighter pages in American history than the page which tells of our dealings with Cuba during the past four years. On her behalf we waged a war of which the mainspring was generous indignation against oppression, and we have kept faith absolutely. It is earnestly to be hoped that we will complete in the same spirit the record so well begun and show in our dealings with Cuba that steady continuity of policy which it is essential for our nation to establish in foreign affairs if we desire to play well our part as a world power.

We are a wealthy and powerful nation. Cuba is a young republic, still weak, who owes to us her birth, whose whole future, whose very life, must depend on our attitude toward her. I ask that we help her as she struggles upward along the painful and difficult road of self governing independence. I ask this aid for her because she is weak, because she needs it, because we have already aided her. I ask that open handed help of a kind which a self respecting people can accept be given to Cuba for the very reason that we have given her such help in the past. Our soldiers fought to give her freedom, and for three years our representatives, civil and military, have toiled unceasingly, facing disease of a peculiarly sinister and fatal type with patient and uncomplaining fortitude, to teach her how to use aright her new freedom. Never in history has any alien country been thus administered with such high integrity of purpose, such wise judgment and such a single minded devotion to the country's interest. Now I ask that the Cubans be given all possible chance to use to the best advantage the freedom of which Americans have such right to be proud and for which so many American lives have been sacrificed.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

Senate Discusses Crozier's Nomination—House Passes Irrigation Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—During the greater part of yesterday the senate was in executive session, the nomination of Captain Crozier to be chief of ordnance of the army being the particular subject under consideration. The president's message urging the establishment of reciprocal relations between the United States and Cuba was received after the senate had gone into secret session. The doors were opened, the message was read, and then the secret session was resumed.

The house passed the irrigation bill by a vote of 146 to 55. Many amendments were offered, but only one, except those offered by the committee was adopted. It was of a minor character. The bill already has passed the senate. The friends of the measure greeted the announcement of its passage with a round of applause. The bill as passed creates a reclamation fund from the sale of public lands in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, less the amount paid to local land officers and 5 per cent due the state under existing laws for educational purposes, the reclamation fund to be used for the construction and maintenance of irrigation works in the states and territories enumerated.

Mosquitoes Cause Strike.

MARINETTE, Wis., June 14.—Mosquitoes, large in size, pugnacious in temperament and unlimited in number, have forced 100 Italian laborers to strike for their pay and leave for their homes in Chicago. They were employed in the construction of the Iron Range extention of the Wisconsin and Michigan railway. They refused to longer fight the pest, and, worn from lack of sleep and well nigh eaten up, they gave up the battle. The contractor, fearing he would have to cancel his contract, tried persuasion, made threats and offered flattering inducements for the men to remain at work, but all to no avail.

Long Hunt Ends In Arrest.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 14.—After being hunted by detectives for a week and finally located in this city, Arthur J. Kahn was arrested last night on a capias issued by Justice Gummere of the supreme court at Trenton and was held in $50,670 bail by Judge Endicott, acting as a commissioner. While a friend who was with him when he was arrested was hunting for bail Kahn was taken to the city jail and locked in a cell. The prisoner did business under the name of Arthur J. Kahn & Co., at 37 and 39 Maiden Lane, New York, and a few weeks ago he failed, with liabilities of nearly $400,000.

Typographical Union's Officers.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 14.—The canvassing board of the International Typographical union has completed the count of the vote for national officers of the organization cast in the biennial election. The total number of votes cast was nearly 29,000, about 70 per cent of the entire strength of the union. Following are the officers chosen for the ensuing two years: President, James M. Lynch, Syracuse, N. Y.; first vice president, C. E. Hawkes, Chicago; third vice president, James Mulcahy, St. Louis; fourth vice president, J. F. O'Sullivan, Boston; secretary treasurer, J. W. Bramwood, Denver.

Chinese Shut Out of Cuba.

HAVANA, June 14.—The board of immigration has decided that the forty-three Chinese laborers who came to Havana on board the Ward line steamer Monterey from New York and reached here last Wednesday would have to be returned to New York by the steamship company. Heretofore Chinamen have been allowed to enter Havana without restriction, and thousands have landed here in the course of the last three years. An immigration law, however, similar to the one enforced in the United States went into force in Cuba last May.

Miss Hecker No Longer Champion.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Miss Genevieve Hecker of New York, who has twice won the Women's Metropolitan golf championship, has been beaten by Mrs. E. A. Manice, also of New York, in the semifinal round of the third annual tournament of the Women's Metropolitan Golf association on the links of the Essex County Country club. The defeat of the champion came as a surprise to all who had followed her play.

Kirkover Won Trophy.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 14.—H. D. Kirkover, Jr., of Fredonia, N. Y., becomes the possessor for the ensuing year of the New York city cup as a result of his work in the state events of the forty-fourth annual state shoot which closed here yesterday. The Dean Richmond trophy, emblematic of the club championship of the state, was won by the Fulton Gun club by one bird, the local club's team second.

Severe Electrical Storm.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., June 14.—A severe electrical storm occurred yesterday in eastern New York. Thunder and lightning with a continuous rain that came like a deluge, were accompanied by destructive high winds.

A PHILADELPHIA BLAZE.

A Dozen Passengers Injured—Loss Estimated at Over $150,000.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Fire has destroyed the novelty manufactory of H. M. Rosenblatt & Co., a four story brick structure at Second and Oxford streets, and resulted in severe injuries to a dozen persons. The John Moffet public school, opposite the leather works, was damaged, three dwelling houses adjoining the factory were destroyed, and nine others were slightly damaged.

The rapid spread of the flames gave rise to rumors that a number of the employees had met death in the burning factory, but these reports proved to be erroneous. A member of the firm of Rosenblatt & Co. states that all of the employees have been accounted for.

There were many sensational and narrow escapes, most of the 400 men and women employed in the factory saving their lives by leaping from the windows into nets held by firemen.

The fire originated in a small annex known as the celluloid room. It is believed a spark from crossed electric wires fell into a quantity of celluloid. The fire caused a panic among the employees, especially those on the upper floors, and for a time the wildest excitement prevailed. Firemen and policemen, however, prevented the panic stricken workers from leaping until nets had been spread to receive them.

Mr. Rosenblatt estimates his loss at $150,000, partly covered by insurance, and the loss on the other properties is estimated at $15,000.

CHOLERA IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Surgeon General's Report Presents a Somewhat Alarming Situation.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—A rather alarming situation with regard to the epidemic of cholera in the Philippines is set out in a report received by Surgeon General Forwood from Lieutenant Colonel Heizeman, at present in charge of the medical department of the army in the islands.

The appearance of the disease at Manila in March is attributed in some quarters to vegetables coming into the islands from infected Chinese ports and in others to the drinking of Pasig river water, foul with the sewage of the city.

Lieutenant Colonel Heizeman says that the number of different points attacked by the epidemic and the consequent infection of many streams which are universally used for drinking and bathing and into which all foul material and garbage find their way makes probable a large number of deaths before the rains, which ended two great epidemics in the eighties, occur. The army, he says, is much better protected than the native population or than civilian Americans in the islands because of the care which is exercised in supplying good food and water.

In Manila alone a total of 275 cases, with 215 deaths, had occurred up to the date of the report, with 453 cases and 308 deaths outside the city.

AFTER FIRE BOSSES.

Striking Miners Urging Them to Quit Work.

EXPULSION FOR "UNFAIR" WORKMEN

All of Those Who Do Not Obey the Strike Order Are to Be Cut Off From the Union. The Boycott.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 14.—The work of the strikers in attempting to bring out those who are still in the employ of the coal companies goes steadily on. Their campaigns against the engineers, firemen and pumpmen is nearly over, most of these men being out, and the union is now paying more attention to the fire bosses, clerks and others who have taken the places of those who quit. Pressure is being brought to bear on them in every possible way. Quite a number of the fire bosses throughout the region have already stopped work because they had been asked to take the strikers' places, and at a meeting held here yesterday afternoon about a dozen more consented to join the strikers. The labor leaders hope to have more out by Monday. The company officials are aware of the attack on the fire bosses, and they are making every effort to hold them.

The miners' union is now planning to expel from the organization all engineers, firemen and pumpmen who have not yet obeyed the strike order. They have been given until tonight to join the strikers, and if they do not quit they will be expelled and their names published "throughout the region as "unfair" workmen.

The miners' leaders as a rule will not talk on the matter of boycotting, but the rank and file of the strikers openly admit that they try to boycott all men whom they look upon as being "unfair" workers. Tradesmen are induced not to supply food to the families of those men, and they are also subjected to other annoyances.

Nothing has developed here which in any way changes the strike situation. President Mitchell had nothing to give out regarding the West Virginia situation.

Illinois Miners May Strike.

CHICAGO, June 14.—W. D. Ryan, secretary and treasurer of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, accompanied by other state officials, has left for Wilkesbarre, Pa., where they will confer with officers of the anthracite district. What the mission to the striking field is they refuse to divulge, and Mr. Ryan refuses to confirm or deny the report that the miners of Illinois will strike in sympathy with the Pennsylvania men. It is generally believed that the Illinois officials are going to confer with President Mitchell regarding a sympathetic strike in the Illinois coalfields.

Strikers Losing Ground.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 14.—In the Flat Top region the striking miners are steadily losing ground, and the operators predict that within a week the strike will be a thing of the past. A large percentage of the men has returned to work, and the loading throughout the field has almost doubled. In the Tug river district it is different. But little coal is being delivered there. The output of this district is small compared with the Elkhorn or Flat Top regions proper. The march of the strikers through the field amounted to comparatively nothing.

Workmen Sent to the Mines.

READING, Pa., June 14.—Another carload of workmen went through here for the coal regions yesterday. Thus far, it is said, the Philadelphia and Reading company has secured more than 1,000 men, mostly firemen, engineers and pumpmen. It was stated by an official that there is not a colliery in the Reading company's territory where the pumps are not being manned where desired. The provisions for the men are being secured in the large cities and distributed by the company to the different operations.

Strikers Go Back to Work.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 14.—The strikers along the Norfolk and Western are losing ground rapidly. At Algoma, Indian Ridge and Coopers probably 1,000 miners who had been out on strike since Monday returned to work yesterday against the pleadings of the agitators. The indications are that more than this number will break away from the strikers' ranks.

Paper Mill Employees Strike.

SANDY HILL, N. Y., June 14.—One thousand men, employees of the International Paper Mill company, have struck at Fort Edward and Glens Falls, N. Y. Some time ago the company granted an increase in wages of 5 per cent and later a further increase of 10 per cent. The men demand pay for Saturday night when they do not work, which was refused. This strike affects mills at Palmers Falls, N. Y., and Bellows Falls, Vt., all owned by the International company.

Marconi Announces New Invention.

LONDON, June 14.—In the course of a lecture before the Royal Institution of Great Britain William Marconi announced that he had invented a highly sensitive magnetic detector of electric waves by which it was possible to read about thirty words per minute in wireless telegraphy.

Jockeys Take a Fall.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Two horses fell in the steeplechase at Harlem, and Jockeys Brodie and Lyons were painfully, the former seriously, injured. Brodie had the mount on Glissando, and Lyons was on Red Will. Both horses fell at the first fence.

PLAINFIELD'S CHARITIES.

In another column will be found some facts concerning Plainfield's charities, prepared by Miss S. M. VanBoskerck, general secretary of the Organized Aid Association. They will be of interest to every citizen of Plainfield who is at all interested in any movement in behalf of charity.

For most Plainfield people, the winter has been a prosperous one. There has been plenty of work, many business houses have had more than they could possibly do and prosperity has been the rule rather than the exception. The rise in the price of commodities has made it more expensive to live and enjoy the luxuries of life. Nevertheless, the people have had more money to spend and more to give to charity.

While there is by no means as much real poverty in Plainfield today as there was a few years ago, the summer begins with more varied demands on the charitable pocketbook than for some seasons past. There are the regularly established charities, which must always be cared for month after month and which have long ago demonstrated their usefulness to the community. Included in this list is the Muhlenberg Hospital, the Plainfield Relief Association and the Children's Home. Now that the summer season is here, the babies' camp of the City Union of King's Duaghters demands attention. Of a somewhat similar nature are the free trolley rides arranged by the Relief Association. Then there is the new fresh air camp at Netherwood under the charge of Miss Sarah Curry. The Westfield Fresh Air camp still continues and will probably look to Plainfield for some assistance.

All these charities are good ones and deserving of assistance. Of course, the local ones should be given the first attention and the older institutions should receive their regular support, not allowing the interest in the new ones to reduce the size of the contributions to the old. There is wealth enough in Plainfield, if properly divided, to support them all.

Again the teams in the City Baseball League line up this afternoon. The two clubs, which are now tied for first place, meet this afternoon, and it is necessary that somebody is to be defeated. The game promises to be exciting and a great crowd will gather, despite the heat.

The first of the happenings of commencement season was held last evening when the graduating class of the North Plainfield High School give its class day entertainment. It proved exceptionally clever and reflected much credit on the young people who arranged it.

June promises to furnish the extremes of temperature this year. It was only a few days ago that the nights were so cool that a blanket became a necessity and now the man who even suggests that it is a warm day is in danger of his life.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will elect officers Thursday evening, June 26.

—The members of the police department will hold their last drill for the season this afternoon.

—Miss Abbie Trimmer, of Annandale, is at Muhlenberg Hospital under treatment for appendicitis.

—At the meeting of Wetumpkah Tribe, Improved Order Red Men, next week there will be several adoptions.

FACTS ABOUT CITY CHARITIES

GIVEN BY GENERAL SECRETARY OF ORGANIZED AID ASSOCIATION.

What It Has Done and What is Still to be Done by the Association.

For years the private charities of Plainfield have done much to uphold the material and moral standards of Plainfield, and have kept the city comparatively free from pauperism.

From an economical standpoint they have been of great benefit to the taxpayers of Plainfield yet they are supported by a very small proportion of Plainfield's well-to-do citizens.

The Children's Home needs more support to meet the demands made upon it, an addition being necessary to accommodate the children whom the managers are obliged to turn away from lack of room.

Muhlenberg Hospital needs and should have a much longer annual subscription list and more financial backing to erect the new hospital buildings. The work done by the hospital for the good of the city speaks for itself.

The Relief Association has an annual subscription list of barely one hundred, and the burden of support of the Organized Aid Association falls on a few also. Yet the poor tax rate has been kept very low by the practical work of both these associations in co-operation with each other and were heartily endorsed as most useful to the community by the alms committee in their last report presented to the Common Council of Plainfield in 1901.

The Baby's Camp on the mountain for the benefit of our own poor children during the summer is doing a fine work, but has too little backing.

While it is well to expend charitable effort as far as possible beyond our own community, and not to become too self centered either in charitable or in missionary work, it is well to remember that charity begins at home and to study and meet home needs first.

Plainfield is a suburb of New York, and naturally New York charities appeal powerfully to the sympathies of the people in Plainfield, especially the fresh air work for the children of New York tenements and it is absolutely right that it should be so.

What is given for one chairty does not detract from the welfare of others. People give to what appeals to their interest and sympathy or not at all. All that can be done for the children of New York tenements should be heartily encouraged, but at the same time, Plainfield needs should not be neglected.

It is not the large amount given, but the numerous small contributions that make great results possible.

Sarah Manton VanBoskerck,
Gen. Sec. Organized Aid Association.

ABREAST OF TIMES.

New York Painting and Decorating Company Ready to Serve All.

The New York Painting and Decorating Company is abreast with the times in the painters' supplies and decorating business. A large force of expert mechanics, skilled in their particular branches, are constantly kept busy painting and decorating different residences in this city and vicinity. The store at the corner of East Second street and Park avenue, under the able management of Ralph W. Chrystie, is a model one, where a large and carefully selected stock of wall papers, etc., is always displayed. You can there purchase the most luxurious or the plainest designed artistic wall covering, and have the assistance of the well experienced clerks to aid you in your selections without any additional cost.

They have well appointed parlors where one can take comfort in making selections of wall papers from any numbers of designs. A postal or telephone will bring their experienced foreman to your house, who will advise you in regard to interior and exterior decorations.

Was Overcome by the Heat.

Thursday afternoon, while Peter Emery, the nine-year-old son of Adolphus Emery, of Watchung avenue, was out riding on his wheel with a number of other boys he became so overheated that in returning to his home he suffered a slight prostration. Up to the present he has not been able to leave bed.

Baptist Membership.

At the recent Baptist convention held in St. Paul it was reported that the membership of that denomination in the United States is 44,453 churches. There are 30,561 ministers.

A Large Shipment.

A few days ago sixteen carloads of strawberries were shipped to New York from Cedarville, Hunterdon county.

—J. B. Higgins, 15 Stone street, has improved the appearance of his little home by painting the exterior of his house. Mr. Higgins did the work himself.

—Miss Etta Raybert, of North avenue, has resigned her position as soprano soloist in the Reformed church at New Brunswick. She will sing at the Congregational church, this city.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 15—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Why total abstinence is best.—Rom. xiv. 13-23. (Temperance meeting.)

There is one of three attitudes we may take toward intoxicating drinks as a beverage—we may totally abstain, drink moderately or drink to excess. No one will argue that drinking to excess is the best attitude to take. Drunkenness would find few open advocates even among those who decry most savagely all temperance efforts or movements. The question, therefore, narrows down to a choice between total abstinence and moderate drinking, and it certainly should not take long for any Christian Endeavorer to decide that total abstinence is preferable to moderate drinking, even supposing that one could drink to moderation without drinking to excess.

Total abstinence is best because drinking even in moderation is unnecessary. Intoxicating drinks in no form are necessary to health or to powers of physical endurance. They are all stimulants, and, while stimulants invigorate for a time, the stimulation is only temporary, and the reaction is always in proportion to the stimulation. As a medicine, at proper times, no one can question the usefulness of alcohol in its various forms, but as a beverage it is absolutely unnecessary for health or for physical endurance. It is, rather, positively injurious and should be absolutely avoided.

Total abstinence is best because it is safest for ourselves. Who knows that he can drink in moderation and not go on to excess? Every drunkard at one time thought he could. No man ever deliberately intended to become a drunkard. He expected to be only a moderate drinker; but, alas, how many millions have had their hopes of moderation blasted to the ruination of body, mind, soul, character, position, home and everything! And how do we know but this would be our experience? Every man has in him an appetite for drink that, if awakened, will lead to his destruction, or else he has no such natural appetite. Until we test it we cannot tell which it is; hence why test it at all? Why should we unnecessarily run the risk of awakening a devouring beast within us or of developing within us a ruinous appetite that we do not naturally possess? Safety lies in total abstinence alone. The man who never drinks is in no danger, but the man who drinks even ever so moderately knows not what awful consequences may result from such a course.

Total abstinence is best because it is safest for others. We should always consider our example in deciding upon any course. We are our brother's keeper and must not put "a stumbling block an occasion to fall in our brother's way." Suppose we could drink in moderation, but that our example would lead another to drinking who would go down to a drunkard's grave and eternal destruction. Would it pay us to do so? Would it not be infinitely better to abridge our personal liberty and to sacrifice the supposed enjoyment of moderate drinking for the eternal welfare of our brother's soul?

The only wise course in relation to intoxicating drinks as a beverage is total abstinence. It alone is safe for ourselves and for those who come under our influence. How can one who sees the awful, damning consequences of intemperance put even one glass to his lips? It should be impossible, and as Christian Endeavorers let us advocate and practice total abstinence.

BIBLE READINGS.

Lev. x, 8-11; Num. vi, 1-4; Deut. xxi, 18-21; Prov. xx, 1; xxiii, 29-35; Isa. v, 11; Luke xii, 45, 46; I. Cor. v, 11; Gal. v, 19-26.

Words of Wisdom.

More men are injured by having things made easy for them than by having their path beset with difficulties, for it encourages them to stay themselves on circumstances, whereas their supreme reliance needs to be on their own personal stuff.

Every man will count for all he is worth.

There is as much a science of success as there is a science of hydraulics.

We are more likely to find a good destiny by going afoot than by riding.

The man whose entire capital is one of enthusiasm will be conspicuous for his abundance of torch, at the same time lacking the timber which the torch exists primarily to enkindle.—Dr. Parkhurst.

As the Love of God Rules the Soul.

Sin or righteousness does not consist in an act or a series of acts, but in the heart condition of the actor. In this sense a good tree cannot produce evil fruit. The fruit does not redeem the tree, but the tree redeems it. We judge men by what we see and hear. Our limited knowledge shuts out all else. There are no human scales in which to weigh the heart. Religion goes deeper than that. It is false or true in proportion as the love of God rules the soul.—Presbyterian Journal.

Making the Most of Ourselves.

It is a solemn duty devolving on all to make the utmost possible out of themselves. Men seek the highest development of their flocks and herds and grain and flowers. The result is the improved flora and fauna of these days over those of prior ones. But should this evolution cease with the lower order? Should the body of creation improve and not the head, which is man?—Christian Standard.

A Prayer of Gifts.

Give us no other art
Than knowing to be kind;
Give us the thankful heart,
Light where we walk so blind.

Give us to think no ill;
Forgive as we're forgiven,
With earth and Thy dear will Sweet as a dream of heaven.
—Christian Endeavor World.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 15. "Why Total Abstinence Is Best"—Text, Rom. xiv. 13-23.

Alcoholic beverages are not necessary for the highest condition of bodily health. The constant use of wines, beers or distilled spirits with meals and at other times is customary with great numbers of people, many of whom, because they have formed the habit of use and acquired an appetite for them, believe such indulgence necessary to maintain vigorous health. Aside from all theories of the physiological effect of alcoholics on living tissues and allowing for the proper medicinal use of such liquors, common observation, re-enforced by medical practice, makes it certain that vigorous health is not promoted by drinking any variety of intoxicants, but that unnatural conditions are produced, which in case of an attack of disease make the chances of recovery much less than ordinary. Derangements of many bodily functions are liable from the liquor habit. Health requires abstinence. Total abstinence is best for intellectual strength and clearness of thought. However brilliantly some genius may have written or spoken when under the stimulating effect of alcohol, steady work and sober thought, which run the world, require its disuse.

All this is so well known that no athlete is allowed the use of such liquors while in training. The great railroad corporations and many other branches of business where clear judgment and caution are essential to safety require entire abstinence in their employees.

The moral debasement resulting from the drink habit may be glossed over by social customs, concealed under learned phrases and medical terms, winked at because of family connection and tolerated because of wealth; but, in spite of all falsities, the fact remains the same, that the drink habit does lower the moral tone of whoever acquires it, be he millionaire or pauper. Its blight on the soul cannot be escaped. No high spiritual attainment is possible to one who is the victim of appetite.

The waste of wealth in alcoholic drinks can find no reasonable defense. However great may be one's possessions, no one has any right to misuse any part of them. Power to do as he pleases never releases a man from the duty to do as he ought. Every one should use his money in such a manner as to reach the best results for all affected by its use. Most of that expended for liquor drinking is wasted and produces misery and injury.

The social welfare of the community is best served by sobriety. The drinking customs of society are a blight upon happiness, true culture and refinement of manners, material betterment of homes, efficient management of industries and the recognition of ethical obligations.

In a certain country community in New England under the blighting influence of saloons the farms were run down, houses unpainted, walls and fences broken and rotted, cattle rough coated and ill fed and nearly every farmer in debt. In ten years' time, under the example and influence of one man, a great change was effected. Walls and fences were repaired, roads put in order, buildings repaired and painted, wagons and tools housed, land fertilized, drained and highly cultivated, stock improved and cared for and debts paid. The secret of all was that the men had become total abstainers and the saloons closed for lack of trade.

Wayside Ministry.

The wayside ministry is far more effectual than the ministry of the pulpit. Most preaching is done to those who need it least and reaches the really needy only as it is distilled through the first hearers into lives which others see. If the people would only realize that at best the preacher can only place in their hands his sublime message; they must carry it out into the world; they must so interpret it by the beauty and sincerity and cheerfulness and kindliness of word and act that he who runs may read! A really Christian man going about his daily life as a constant ministry reaches every week a larger congregation than the most popular preacher.—Universalist Leader.

Character.

A man who lives right and is right has more power in his silence than another has by his words. Character is like bells which ring out sweet music and which, when touched, accidentally even, resound with sweet music.—Phillips Brooks.

The Wheel of Life.

Life is a wheel, and natures move in circles, passing the same points again and again, the points being distant or near to the sense as the courses of life have influenced the nature.—"The Right of Way," by Gilbert Parker.

Open the Door.

Open the door; let in the air;
The winds are sweet and the flowers are fair.
Joy is abroad in the world today;
If our door is wide, it may come this way.
Open the door!

Open the door; let in the sun;
He hath a smile for every one;
He hath made of the raindrops gold and gems;
He may change our tears to diadems;
Open the door!

Open the door of the soul; let in Strong, pure thoughts which shall banish sin.
They will grow and bloom with a grace divine,
And their fruit shall be sweeter than that of the vine;
Open the door!

Open the door of the heart; let in Sympathy sweet for the stranger and kin.
It will make the halls of the heart so fair
That angels may enter unaware;
Open the door!

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Union Avenue from North Avenue to Elizabeth Avenue; Elizabeth Avenue, from Union Avenue to Orange Avenue; and Orange Avenue, from Elizabeth Avenue to South Twelfth Street, all in the Township of Cranford, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, Nineteen Hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee, enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as estimated in advance, is as follows:

4,440 cubic Yards of Excavation.
7,783 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
2,390 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
405 square yards of Resurfacing Macadam, Two inches thick.
5 Culverts to be lowered.
8 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

Plans and Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of the Township Engineer, 25 Dix Building, Elizabeth, N. J.

New Woman Happenings

THE strangest episode in the United States in years, perhaps ever, is that which began the meat boycott in New York. In this free country, the land of plenty, in a year of almost unparalleled prosperity, that there should be meat riots at all is scarcely believable; that they should be started by women, and by Jewish women, the most conservative of their sex, looks on the face of it impossible; yet it is a fact. What the future Herbert Spencers will deduce from it concerning a republic where meat food is more abundant than in any other country of civilization it would be interesting to know. Jewish mothers, Russians and Poles mostly, on the famous east side of New York city, saw the price of meat go beyond where they could buy it for their children. Enraged, a number of them, perhaps a hundred in all, determined that no butcher in their neighborhood should sell meat to anybody, and they executed their resolve. The rage increased, and they rioted. The police of New York city were unable to stop the movement, which carried all before it. A woman's antibeef association was formed to boycott the dealers. The women's husbands grumbled at first, but yielded and at length were drawn into the current too. The women called great mass meetings, but as they were unaccustomed to public speaking they were shrewd enough to get eloquent labor orators to do the talking for them. Higher and higher the antibeef current rose. It is a most curious feature of the affair that the rioting women were all orthodox Jews, and when Saturday came, their Sabbath, all was quiet, but at the going down of the sun that day the fight was on again. It was continued until the women had closed every beef shop in their part of New York. Sometimes they poured kerosene over the stock of a dealer who tried to oppose them. If this is not like the French revolution, what is?

You cannot pick up a newspaper that has not a scene—no matter what, if there is a woman in it—in which the gifted reporter does not ascribe "hysteria" or the "verge of hysteria" to the woman. Man has reached that point apparently where he can't tell hysteria from just a plain cry.

It has been frequently decided that a drunken man is not responsible for his actions, and therefore he is sometimes let off where a woman under the like circumstances would surely be put into a police cell. Perhaps a man may not be responsible for his actions after he is drunk, but he is certainly responsible for getting drunk.

None of the fashionable women's clubs seem to have yet discovered that working and striving and speaking up for universal peace among the nations is a task peculiarly feminine and fitted to the most conservative of the sex. It has been left for the strongminded woman suffrage societies to take the initiative in this glorious work and aspiration.

Mrs. Ella Roberge has been elected president of the Lacrosse (Wis.) Lumber company.

The long, flowing ecclesiastical robes, whether Mohammedan, Greek, Roman Catholic or Protestant Episcopal, are undoubtedly women's garments, captured and appropriated by men. There is therefore an impudence that approaches the sublime in the recent declaration of a certain bishop that the women singers in the vested choirs of his diocese shall not wear surplice and cassock, because—of all reasons in the world—those things belong to men! What are we coming to? After appropriating our time honored long skirts to themselves are men, clerical or otherwise, now to set up and tell women they shan't wear their own clothes in a church choir? The most impressive choir I ever beheld was that of St. James, the church of the gifted, eloquent and world famous Rev. H. R. Haweis, in London, and it consisted of surpliced and cassocked women, whose sweet and thrilling voices sounded like the music of angels. Rev. Mr. Haweis himself established this surpliced choir of women, and it was the pride and joy of his life. And now comes an American bishop, unknown to fame except as he will get it in a manner not enviable through this mediæval ruling, and says women shan't wear the regulation choir garments in his part of the world, just because they are women. Dear, dear! I am interested now to know how many women will have sufficient spirit and respect for the dignity of their womanhood to leave his church altogether.

THE STURGIS WAGER

A DETECTIVE STORY.

By EDGAR MORETTE.

Copyright, 1899, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

"What is it?" he asked.

Without replying, Sturgis took from his pocket a bone-handled knife and carefully dipped one end of the handle into the fluid in the leaden tank. At once the liquid began to seethe and boil, giving out dark, pungent fumes.

"I thought so," muttered the reporter, under his breath; "that man is truly a genius—the genius of evil."

"Who?" asked Sprague.

Sturgis made no reply. His eyes were wandering about the room, as if in search of something.

"Hand me a couple of those long glass tubes from that shelf yonder," he said, earnestly.

The artist complied with the request. Dipping these tubes into the oily liquid, Sturgis, after considerable difficulty, managed to seize with them a small dark object which lay at the bottom of the tank. With infinite precaution he brought it to the surface. It had the appearance of a flattened leaden bullet.

"What is it?" inquired Sprague.

"Sit down," answered Sturgis, in a low, tense voice. "I have just found the last link which completes my chain of evidence; I am now prepared to tell you such a story as you will scarcely credit, even with the absolute proofs before your eyes."

CHAPTER XX.

THE LEAD-LINED VAT.

Sprague seated himself upon the long pine box; and Sturgis, dropping into the only chair, began his narrative. As he talked, he carelessly whittled the cover of the wooden box with the knife which he still held in his hand. He began with an account of his investigation at the Knickerbocker bank, and explained the result of his observations and inferences down to the time of his visit to Murdock's house, omitting, however, to mention any of the names of the actors in the reconstructed drama.

"So you see," he concluded, "we have established the identity of the body in the cab, and of the young man who disappeared after the cab was upset. But one of the most salient features of the case, from the start, was the fact that neither of these two men had derived much, if any, pecuniary profit from his crime. The bookkeeper, as we have seen, was a mere cat's-paw in the control of the accountant, and his posthumous confession has given us the explanation of the power exerted over him by his accomplice. It was not so easy to establish the motive which controlled the actions of the accountant, who was himself only a tool in the hands of a higher intelligence. The deus ex machina of this crime is a man of genius who has hardly appeared upon the scene at all, but whose traces I have found at every turn. He was the brains of the whole scheme; the other men in his hands were mere puppets. Through the accountant, this master spirit managed the bookkeeper; and the accountant himself was controlled by him more directly, but no less surely. If he held the former through his fear of exposure and consequent ruin, he influenced the latter through even more potent motives. He is the father of a beautiful girl, whom he did not scruple to use as a decoy. The price agreed upon for the accountant's assistance was the hand of this daughter, for whom the young man had doubtless conceived a passionate love. Whether or not the leader would have had the power to carry out his part of the contract matters little; for it is highly probable that he never had the slightest intention of so doing. He evidently realized very early in the game that the bookkeeper could not long escape the clutches of the law. But as he had taken every precaution to prevent him from knowing anything of his very existence, the fate of the unfortunate bookkeeper would have mattered little to this heartless villain, had not the probability remained that, when brought to bay, the bookkeeper would denounce the accountant's connection with the crime. This would have been extremely awkward, since the accountant was very likely in possession of some dangerous secrets. The safest way out of the difficulty was to quietly suppress the now useless bookkeeper. This plan was decided upon, and would doubtless have been carried into execution, had not fate otherwise decreed. After the bookkeeper's death, under the circumstances which I have related, it became quite probable that the accountant's connection with the case would be discovered; for luck had been against him from the start, and he became more and more entangled in the chain of circumstantial evidence of whose existence his leader was soon fully aware. In the first place, the accountant was wounded; and thus not only partially disabled, but also—what is far worse—conspicuously marked. A man who carries his arm in a sling can hardly fail to attract attention, especially when this distinguishing mark is accompanied by another equally glaring one in the form of a head of brilliant red hair—"

"Hold on, Sturgis!" interrupted Sprague, who had been listening with growing interest; "don't you know the accountant's name?"

"Yes," replied the reporter; "his name is Thomas Chatham."

"Thomas Chatham!" exclaimed Sprague, as the image of the miserable young man came to his mind.

"Yes," replied Sturgis, answering his thought, "the man you met only a few hours ago."

There was a brief silence, broken at last by Sprague, who asked:

"Has he escaped?"

Sturgis hesitated.

"That depends upon how we look at it," he said, gravely, at length; "he has paid the penalty of his crimes."

"What do you mean?"

"He is dead," answered the reporter.

"Dead? But I tell you I saw him—"

"I know; but he has died since."

"Suicide?"

"No;" the reporter's voice sank to a whisper; "murder."

"Murder?" repeated the artist, startled. "But how do you know that?"

"This lump of lead tells the story," said Sturgis, holding up the shapeless piece of metal which he had taken out of the vat.

"What is it? A bullet?"

"Yes; the bullet which Chatham carried in his arm from the time that he was wounded by Arbogast, the bullet which has enabled me to trace him step by step, from his flight from the overturned cab to Dr. Thurston's and finally to his death in this very room; the bullet whose peculiar shape is recorded in this shadow picture taken by Thurston by means of the Roentgen rays."

So saying, he handed Sprague the photograph. But the artist had ceased to listen.

"In this very room?" he mused aloud, looking about him with awe.

"Yes. The story is simple enough. The man whose instrument Chatham was is not one who would care to be lumbered up with tools, which become positively dangerous as soon as they cease to be useful. This man, totally unhampered by pity, gratitude or fear, determined to destroy the accountant, whose discovery might have imperiled his own welfare. What mattered a human life or two, when weighed against the possible loss of his own life or liberty, or of his high social standing and his enormous wealth; for this man is both renowned and rich, and he appears to have brought wholesale murder to a science."

"Do you mean to say that wholesale murder can be indulged in with impunity in a city like New York, at the end of the nineteenth century?" asked Sprague, aghast.

"Yes; when it is done in the systematic and scientific manner that has been employed here. For this murderer is the most remarkable criminal of modern times. He has not been satisfied with killing his victims; he has succeeded in completely wiping them out of existence. Criminals have often attempted to destroy the bodies of their victims, but they have never before succeeded as this man has. He is a chemist of remarkable talent, and he has discovered a compound in which bone as well as human tissue is rapidly and totally dissolved. There it is in yonder tank. See how completely the liquid has destroyed the bone handle of this knife."

Sturgis, after showing the damaged knife to his companion, resumed his whittling upon the cover of the box on which the artist was seated.

"Chatham's body has been dissolved in that tank within a very short time. It has entirely disappeared; this flattened bullet alone is left, lead being one of the few substances which are not soluble in the contents of the tank. Fortunately he overlooked that fact. Genius has its lapses."

Presently Sprague ventured to say:

"If numerous crimes have been committed here, as you intimate, I do not understand how it is that suspicion has never rested on this house before."

"The author of these crimes has taken every precaution to render the chance of discovery quite remote. His dwelling-house on one street, and the bogus Chemical company on the other, are in communication through this underground passage, while apparently having no connection with each other. Moreover, he is too shrewd to make frequent use of this death chamber. That does well enough as a last resort, when he is obliged to commit the murders with his own hands; but I suspect that this man has other agents like Chatham, who do the dirty work for him and then quietly ship the bodies here for annihilation, as it was intended should be done with Arbogast's. Ah! yes; I thought so. You are sitting upon one of these bodies now."

Sprague started to his feet; and, following the direction in which Sturgis was pointing with his open knife, he vaguely discerned, through the opening which the reporter had whittled, a small surface of what had once been the features of a human being.

After gazing for some minutes in horror-stricken silence at the distorted face, the artist asked in a low voice:

"How did Chatham meet his death?"

"I don't know yet," answered Sturgis, gravely; "this man is no ordinary criminal. His work is clean and leaves no blood-stains and no disorder to tell of its accomplishment. He takes life with his own hands, only when he is forced to do so; but, when he does, his method is masterly. It was easier to make away with Chatham than to pay him the price agreed upon for his complicity in the Knickerbocker bank embezzlement; and so his life was taken. I hope to discover how before I leave here."

Sprague started as the reporter ceased speaking.

"The price of his complicity?" he claimed, laying his hand upon Sturgis' arm and looking earnestly into his eyes.

"Yes," replied the reporter, steadily meeting his friend's gaze, "his daughter's hand."

Sprague looked away from the honest eyes of the reporter, as if he dreaded to read in them the answer to his next question.

"Who is this fiend incarnate, who is willing to traffic in his own flesh and blood, and with whom murder is a science?"

Proposals for Schoolhouse.

NEW BOUND BROOK.

Separate, sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education of the township of Piscataway, at the public school building, New Market, Middlesex county, on Thursday, June 19, at three o'clock, for the purpose of building a schoolhouse at New Bound Brook, in said township.

Beginning at a point opposite the south side of Third street; thence running two hundred and thirty (230) feet deep on a line with south side of Third street; thence southerly one hundred and seventy (170) feet parallel with Raritan avenue; thence two hundred and thirty (230) feet easterly, parallel with Third street; thence one hundred and seventy (170) feet northerly on Raritan avenue to the place of beginning.

1—The plans and specifications for said building may be seen at the postoffice building, Lincoln, in said township.

2—Bids must be submitted for the entire work, including materials, carpenter work, mason work, plumbing work and painting.

3—Bidders are requested to enclose in the sealed envelope above mentioned the names of two persons whom they propose to present as bondsmen for the proper fulfilment of the contract, should the same be awarded to the bidder.

4—The sealed envelopes containing the bids will only be received by the Board at the time above mentioned.

5—The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Guardian Microbes.

A writer in Knowledge thus denominates certain wandering cells found in the healthy human body, which destroy harmful microbes introduced into the system. "The tonsils, for example, are crowded with these guardian cells." The scene under the microscope when protective cells are introduced into a lively culture of typhoid bacilli is described as very striking, irresistibly bringing before the imagination "the fierce struggle which goes on when disease germs invade the body."

White Under the Black.

The owner of a tannery in which human skins are sometimes tanned as a matter of accommodation states that in tanning the skin of a negro a very delicate cuticle peels off, leaving the skin identical with that of a white man. This refutes the assertion that the negro's color is even "skin deep."

A HISTORIC TOWN.

Varied and Picturesque History of Carlisle in the State of Pennsylvania.

Metternich's statement that no room is so small but honor may enter, applies to the recent modest celebration in Carlisle, Pa., of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of its foundation.

Carlisle was the first settlement made under charter from the Penns, and as the farthest outpost of Quakerism served as a notable barrier of defense against the savages of the western wilderness.

Later it became the base of Washington's operations for the suppression of the whisky insurrection; its military experience as a regular army post ended only the night preceding the great battle of Gettysburg; Benjamin Franklin drew there a treaty of friendship with the western Indians; "Molly Pitcher" went thence with the volunteers raised by Carlisle in 1776, and her body was brought back to a Carlisle graveyard; Andre was for a short time detained there in captivity; and Washington and Hamilton gathered at Carlisle 40,000 troops for the arduous march toward Pittsburg.

Few towns have so picturesque and varied a history; and its inhabitants might well adopt that couplet of old Pindar which Plutarch liked to quote, of those who

Do match their noble ancestors in prowess of their own,
And by their fruits commend the stock whence they themselves are grown.

A CRUSOE COINCIDENCE.

Which Accounts for the Duration of Robinson's Exile on His Lonely Island.

Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale calls attention to some quaint and curious features in connection with Robinson Crusoe, which, says the Albany Argus, have not hitherto been pointed out. He writes:

"Readers who are curious in English history must not fail to observe that Robinson Crusoe was shipwrecked on his island on the 30th of September, 1659. It was in that month that the English commonwealth ended, and Richard Cromwell left the palace at Whitehall. Robinson lived in this island home for 28 years. These 28 years covered the exact period of the second Stuart reign in England. Robinson Crusoe returned to England in June, 1687; the convention parliament, which established William III., met in London at the same time. All this could not be an accidental coincidence. Defoe must have meant that the 'Trueborn Englishman' could not live in England during the years while the Stuarts reigned. Robinson Crusoe was a ruler himself on his own island, and was never the subject of Charles II. or James II. He was not a 'man without a country,' because he had a little country of his own; but he was a man in a country where there was no king but himself."

CAT FISHED FOR TROUT.

Fisherman Put Half a Dozen in His Bathtub and Tabby Quickly Caught Them.

A member of the Sullivan club caught half a dozen trout one day last summer and carried them alive to his cottage, intending to take them to the city. He turned the water into his bathtub and the trout seemed to thrive as well there as they had done in the streams.

That afternoon one of the fish disappeared. The man, thinking it had jumped out, looked all around the room, but no trout was to be seen.

Next morning two more were gone and the servant was closely questioned. Then two more disappeared and the fisherman was so much concerned that he took a place outside the bathroom window and proceeded to watch.

Pretty soon the family cat entered, says the New York Times, perched on the edge of the tub and, waiting its chance, struck viciously into the water with one paw, and brought up the remaining trout.

QUICK SALE LITERATURE.

One Poet Who Finds That It Pays to Carry His Productions About with Him.

"Demands for a certain class of literature are more frequent than people generally imagine," said a poet, according to the New York Sun. "I make it a point to carry some of this class ready for the printer, in my pocket, for I meet a good many publishers and they usually want something right away.

"I sold two of these last week in an elevated train. One of my purchasers wanted verses for a particular page.

"I dug up a six-verse production. As soon as he had read it he said it was shy one verse; he must have seven.

"Crowded as the car was, I ground out another stanza, writing it while I stood. He paid me the cash for the whole lot before he left the car.

"There is no use talking. If you have the right brand, literature has a quick commercial value."

On the New "Buffalo Bill."

The portrait of a suicide is on the new ten-dollar bill, which is known also as the "buffalo bill," because of a rampant bison picture in the center of it. The suicide was Meriwether Lewis, the famous explorer. Lewis was also private secretary to President Jefferson, who afterward made him governor of Missouri territory. In a fit of melancholy—he was a man of moods—he killed himself, when only 35 years of age.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Albert Grieb has joined forces with Hoppy Wall's Essex Streeters. For the present he will pitch, completing the battery of which Captain Walls is on the rear end.

Michael Sullivan, the all round player who was recently signed by Manager Monahan, has left this city. It is unfortunate for the team that he could not remain with it as he is at home in any position but the pitcher's box.

In addition to the two grandstands on the Hope grounds, the management had erected yesterday, a long line of benches parallelling the stretches between home plate, first and third bases. Beside affording much more seating room it will assist in keeping overly anxious spectators back from the foul line.

Daily practice games are being held by the Newspapermen's nine for their coming contest with the local police aggregation. Captain Hacquer has selected Tommy Muir and "Teddy" McGowan for the battery and they have been showing up decidedly well. While in the box Thursday night, Muir struck out four of seven men, all of whom were good batters. Firstbrook who originally was slated for short has been placed in right field.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mary Wells, of Washington avenue, has gone to Northampton, Mass., to attend the commencement exercises of Smith College, of which she is a graduate.

Miss Marion Henderson, of New York, formerly of Plainfield, who has just been graduated from the Teachers' College, New York, is visiting at the home of A. E. Faber, of Rockview avenue.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

Asbury Park finds it no easy task to get Sunday trains because of the determined stand taken against them by the Ocean Grove Association. Most probably the latter body does not fear the stoppage of the Sunday trains so much as the after consequences. If there should be a Sunday deluge of city excursionists into Asbury Park it might not be long before the merry-go-rounds, toboggan slides and other amusements of the place would be going full tilt. Then the Prohibition wall might be battered down, once the enemy were permitted to gain an entrance. The Ocean Grove people look upon Sunday excursionists as the embodiment of much that is evil, and from their point of view their stand is undoubtedly right. But it is hard to understand why a board of a dozen or so of men should have the power to legislate for a city whose interests are dissimilar from theirs. Asbury Park might be today even greater than Atlantic City but for the unprogressiveness of its neighbor.—New Brunswick Home News.

The Teachers' Retirement Fund is the product of contributions made by school teachers from their salaries. It was created for the purpose of providing pensions for disabled or superannuated teachers.

In 1896, in accordance with an act of the Legislature, the State Treasurer was made custodian of this fund. This act has been re-enacted as part of the general school law.

When the State Treasurer took charge of the fund originally he appointed a clerk to do the clerical work and charged the clerk hire and sundry expenses to the fund paid in by the teachers.

The language of the statute is plain. It imposed an extra duty upon the State Treasurer, and if that involved an additional expense that should have been met as other office expenses in the Treasurer's department are met. The amount taken out of the fund has been about $2,000 a year, and by the end of this month the gross amount thus taken will have amounted to about $10,000.

The teachers' salaries are small as a rule, and the one per cent. which they contribute to form the fund is a sensible diminution of their income, and it is unreasonable for the State to levy a contribution on the fund.

The teachers have appealed to the State Treasurer to have this levy cease, and he has promised to look into the matter. It is to be hoped that he will see that the statute does not provide for deductions from the teachers' savings.

The fund is intended to benefit the aged and infirm teachers, and New Jersey is too large a State to be in need of such a contribution.—Jersey City Journal.

DEATH OF MISS DIETRICH.

Died at Her Home on Grove Street This Morning.

Miss Angie Deitrich, the eldest of two sisters who have lived on Grove street for a number of years, died this morning at 10 o'clock at her home following a paralytic stroke. Ever since the stroke Miss Dietrich has been very low. She was a devoted Christian and a faithful member of the First Presbyterian church. She leaves one sister, Miss Addie Dietrich.

The funeral services will be held from the house, 58 Grove street, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment at Hillside cemetery.

Hearing on Forgery Charge.

Florence Tuttle, the young girl charged with forging her employer's name to a check for $18 was released yesterday under bonds. She will be given a hearing before Justice Nash at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Unless the State takes the matter in hand, the charge against her will not be pressed.

Mrs. Belknap, nee Marion Dumont, of Louivisville, Ky., is visiting her father, John B. Dumont, of East Seventh street.

PINGRY OUT.

Elizabeth's Crack School Has Withdrawn From State Interscholastic Association.

Pingry has withdrawn from membership in the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association. This was decided upon at a meeting of the Pingry Athletic Association held last week.

Seven schools are represented in the association. They are Pingry, Newark High, Newark Academy, Montclair High, Montclair Military Academy, East Orange High and Stevens Prep.

A Pingry official, who has much to do in formulating the athletic policy of Pingry, says:

"This step was decided upon only after mature consideration. It is proper to say that in severing relations with her old-time rivals, Pingry loses none of her individuality. It is not the athletic policy of the Pingry Athletic Association to protest, to bicker, or to discuss. The Pingry position is simply that her opponents are honorable and square, and sportsmen. When they cease to be all these things, then Pingry will look for opponents who are or try to be, all these same things.

"The Pingry School has not protested nor attempted the office of a reformer. Pingry belives her opponents know what they want and do what seems to them to be right. Just now it is impossible to feel that all the schools in the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association agree with Pingry in athletic views. Pingry retires from the league, but not we hope, from atheletic rivalry with such chivalrous opponents as those who uphold the atheletic honor of Newark Academy."

NORTHFIELD'S ATTRACTIONS.

Number of Plainfielders Will Probably Visit That Camp This Year.

Last year a number of Plainfielders, on their summer vacation took advantages of the excellent opportunities for a pleasant outing offered by Camp Northfield, an institution founded by the famous evangelist, D. L. Moody, seven years ago. Many will be glad to learn that the camp will be open again this season from June 26 to September 1 for the reception of young men on their vacation.

The camp is situated on the outskirts of Northfield, Mass., overlooking the city at an elevation of thirteen hundred feet above the sea level. The site commands a beautiful view of the Connecticut Valley, the Green and White Mountains, and many places of historic interest are in close proximity. Every year students from colleges, young men from business houses and members of the Y. M. C. A. have repaired thither and thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

The main feature of the camp is recreation, baseball and golf being included in the sports. Educational opportunities are also offered, and campers are invited to attend conference sessions, if they choose.

Big Figures.

100,000,000 bottles of Perry Davis' Painkiller sold in 60 years. Just think! Nearly enough placed end to end to reach around the world. What other remedy can boast such a record of services to humanity in curing stomach and bowel complaints and the many other ailments and accidents constantly occurring even in the most careful homes. There is only one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. Beware of imitations.

HOPES SCORED WINNING RUN IN LAST INNING WITH TWO OUT

Question of Leadership in City Baseball League Settled in Game Between Hope Y. M. A. and St. Marys.

Y. M. C. A. DEFEATED SAFE WORKS.

NEARLY THREE THOUSAND PEOPLE WITNESSED THE HOPE-ST. MARYS' GAME AND WENT WILD WITH ENTHUSIASM.

Fine Game Between Y. M. C. A. and Safe Works Which Remained Undecided Until Y. M. C. A. Boys Scored Winning Run in the Last Inning—Hope Y. M. A. Now Leads in League With St. Marys and Y. M. C. A. Tied for Second Place—The Games in Detail.

NEXT SATURDAY'S GAMES.
St. Marys vs. Y. M. C. A. on St. Marys Grounds.
Hope Y. M. A. vs. Safe Works on Hope Common.

Two spectacular games, replete with exciting features, marked the passage of Saturday in the City Baseball League. Before nearly three thousand people, Hope Y. M. A. took the lead from St. Marys in a game that stirred the heart of the most emotionless. An equally exciting game landed Y. M. C. A. tie for second place and dropped the Safe Works back to the bottom of the list. It was baseball from start to finish with the winning run made in both cases in the last inning. Talk about the National game being dead in Plainfield. The enthusiasm of Saturday equalled that of the palmest days of the old Crescents. But to go into details.

HOPES GREAT DAY.

With two men out and the score standing 4 to 4 in the last inning, the Hope Y. M. A. team secured a run which won for it the game played with the St. Mary team on the formers' grounds, Saturday afternoon. From the first to the last inning it was one of the cleanest, snappiest games ever seen on a local diamond, the ultimate result being in doubt until the finish. A crowd of 3,000 people witnessed the contest.

The St. Mary team took the bat first and was retired with a cipher. Roseberry reached first on a sharp slam, stole second and third and reached home on Overton's hit. Overton reached third by stealing and came home on a sacrifice. Neither side scored until the third when Casey was hit and given his first. Lederer was also hit and advanced Casey to second; reached third on a steal and scored on a hit. The side was retired before any more circled the bases.

The fourth and fifth innings passed quickly, mainly through strike-outs without a run, but in the sixth Casey and Lederer followed each other with singles and Taylor smashed out a three bagger, bringing both home and making the score 3 to 2 in St. Mary's favor. Mack and Keefe flied to Martin and Barry was put out a first, ending the inning with Taylor still on third.

Beginning with Gordon when Hope took the bat, four hits in succession advanced him and Montross around until Gordon scored. A fifth hit by Munro sent Montross across the plate, but the former started for second which Hardfelder had not left. He was caught by a quick throw from Barry to Winn before he could get back. The other two died on bases. Casey got to first in the eighth on balls and stole second. Lederer drove a difficult grounder to Martin, who got it but threw wild to Feiring and sent Casey home. Lederer failed to score as Taylor, Mack and Keefe were retired without making a hit. The eighth ended with the score a tie and in the ninth with Lederer on third, the St. Mary's would have gone ahead but for Martin's phenomenal one-hand catch of Barry's hot fly. Sullivan was caught between second and third ending St. Mary's chances.

With a determination to break the tie, Munro took the bat in the ninth but died at first. Roseberry took his base on balls, stole second and reached third on Overton's single. Martin drove a grounder to Mack who fumbled but sent it to Winn, only to have the latter drop it, giving Martin his base and letting Roseberry in with the winning run.

Barring the few errors made at intervals, every member of both teams played faultlessly, not a shade of superiority being displayed by either. Montross and Keefe both pitched their "heads off," each striking six men out and allowing six hits, only one of which was more than a single. Martin's error in the eighth was a bad play, but he more than made up for it by his catch in the ninth, having to leap in the air for it and bringing it down with his left hand. Other good plays were made by Munro, Montross, Lederer and Casey.

Y. M. C. A.'S WIN.

Y. M. C. A. fattened its percentage column Saturday when the association team defeated Safe Works on St. Marys rgounds, by the score of 7 to 6. It was anybody's game up to the very close, the winning run having been made in the last half of the ninth.

Y. M. C. A. made a brilliant attempt to make a presentation of the game to their opponents in the first half of the ninth and almost succeeded. This was probably in return for the generosity of the Safe

PYTHIAN KNIGHTS AT GRAVES OF BROTHERS

Yesterday Was Observed as Decoration Day by Members of That Order.

SERVICES WERE HELD.

THE KNIGHTS VISITED THE DIFFERENT LOCAL CEMETERIES.

Decorated Graves in Morning and Held Services in Afternoon—Members of Newark and Brooklyn Lodges Were Present.

According to the custom of the order, 175 Knights of Pythias, the majority of them members of Crescent Division and Perseverance Lodge, of this city, spent yesterday decorating the graves of departed brothers.

The graves were decorated in the morning by details as follows: North Plainfield cemetery, Jacob Blimm and Asa Pope; Methodist cemetery, Thomas Osment and William Young; Hillside, Joseph Blimm, William Ulmer and J. B. Higgins; Scotch Plains, George W. Clark and J. E. Flannery.

The Knights met in Perseverance Hall at 1 o'clock, with Captain J. E. Flannery in charge. At the North Avenue station delegations were met from Rathbone Division, of Brooklyn, Black Prince and Calanthe, of Newark, all of which have brothers buried in this city. The march was then resumed to the North Plainfield cemetery where the service was performed by Captain Flannery, assisted by Joseph Blimm, William Young, Charles McGinley and David Bowden. At the Plainfield Avenue cemetery, Captain Hale, of Rathbone division, assumed charge, but retired at Hillside in favor of Captain Flannery. Two special cars then carried them to Scotch Plains, completing the day's observance.

As is the custom, the Knights did not return home but marched to Excelsior Hall, where a repast was awaiting them.

Among the visitors were Colonels Shanley and Cohen and Major Manley, of the First Regiment, of Jersey City, and Captain Howe, of the Second Regiment from Newark. The return home was made shortly before 8 o'clock.

The committee of arrangements in charge during the day consisted of Joseph C. Blimm, Samuel Robinson and George W. Clark.

MEMORIAL TABLETS UNVEILED.

At All Souls Church Yesterday Morning With Appropriate Exercises.

At the close of the morning service at All Souls' church yesterday two handsome bronze memorial tablets were unveiled. One was in memory of Job Male, a former Mayor of Plainfield, and his sister, Mrs. Sarah Stout and the other Rev. F. D. Tildon, the first pastor of the church.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, the pastor of the church, conducted the service. He referred to the faithful and valiant service of the first pastor and to the generous and noble spirit of Mr. Male and his sister in maintaining and assisting the church.

The tablets are of bronze and neatly inscribed. One has been placed on either side of the church.

FUNERAL OF MISS PHILLIPS.

Services Were Conducted at the Late Home Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral services of the late Frances Phillips were held yesterday afternoon from the home of the parents, 11 Rockview avenue. There were many floral tributes.

The services were conducted by Rev. William Montgomery Downey, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross. The interment took place in Hillside cemetery. The pall-bearers were Dr. Albert Pittis, Henry Curtis, Charles Dupee, G. W. Faber, Bert Keys and T. Kirby Dwight.

Death of Mrs. Terry.

Mrs. Terry, a sister of Mrs. Rand, of Watchung avenue, died yesterday morning at 5 o'clock at her home in Peconic, L. I., after a long illness. The remains have been brought to this city, where the funeral services will be held from the parlor of A. M. Runyon & Son, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Torrey Will Speak.

D. M. Torrey, of New York, a banker and broker, will be present at the Christian Endeavor Society meeting in Trinity Reformed church tonight and address the society on the evils of intemperance.

HELD LAWN FETE IN SUNDAY-SCHOOL ROOM

Threatening Weather Necessitated Change, But Did Not Interfere With Its Success.

A BIG CROWD PRESENT.

THE MOST POPULAR FEATURE WAS THE AUTOMOBILE TRIPS.

An Art Exhibition and a Soap-Bubble Were Also Successful Features of the Fete—Those in Charge of the Different Departments.

Despite the fact that the weather on Saturday afternoon and evening was disagreeable, the lawn fete given at the Park Avenue Baptist church was a success. It was found necessary early in the afternoon to move the tables and booths into the Sunday-school room of the church, but this did not interfere with the pleasure of the large number of people who attended the affair. The fete was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of which Mrs. Frank T. Ostrom is the president. The Christian Endeavor Society assisted.

Japanese lanterns were suspended about. Mrs. E. Frank Vail was chairman of the candy table and assisting her were Mrs. F. S. Osgood, Miss Anna Wyckoff and Miss Bessie Giles. At the lemonade well Miss Percie B. Emmons and Miss Emily Runyon were in charge. The cake table was presided over by Mrs. Theodore I. Runyon, chairman, Mrs. John H. Doane, Mrs. VanWinkle and Mrs. A. D. Thompson. These cakes were sold readily at good prices.

Among the attractions was an art exhibition and the "Marriage of the Flowers," under the auspices of Miss Marguerite Ostrom and Miss Grace Weekes. Another feature was the soap-bubble party conducted by the Junior Endeavor Society under the direction of the superintendent, Mrs. W. S. Lowery. Soap-bubbles were blown and on whichever package they alighted the one making the bubble received that package.

Probably one of the most popular features of the fete were the automobile trips given by George Macintyre. This automobile did a thriving business.

The refreshment booth was in charge of Mrs. J. W. Johnson, assisted by Frank Smalley and Hervey Doane. Those who acted as waitresses were the Misses Lillian Frey, Helen Fulton, Adelaide Runyon, Mabel Hand, Viola Hellyer, Florence Cuming, Cora Brokaw, Charlotte Suydam, Helen Cuming, Jennie Giles and Nellie Giles. In the afternoon, Miss Julia Wyckoff was the cashier and in the evening Frank T. Ostrom acted in this capacity.

There was the ping pong which many enoyed playing. This game was in charge of the Misses May and Charlotte Tennant.

Miss Julia Wevkoff, Frank T. Ostrom and A. D. Thompson, Jr., composed the decorating committee which attractively arranged the grounds. The great success of the affair was due to Mrs. Ostrom and those assisting her. Throughout the afternoon and evening the rooms were crowded with patrons and a goodly sum was realized.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Appropriate Exercises Held at the Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

Children's Day exercises were held at the Mt. Olive Baptist church yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Sunday-school, of which M. C. Dobbins is the superintendent. The school sang a number of appropriate hymns and there were two addresses, one by L. H. Biglow, Jr., and another by Mr. Carey, the engineer evangelist, both of which were very interesting.

Drawing to be Held.

The drawing for the hand painted tapestry and some fancy articles recently on exhibition at the bazaar held at St. Joseph's Academy, will take place this evening in the academy building, corner Watchung and Jackson avenues. All interested are invited to attend.

Change in Hours.

Hereafter the service at the First M. E. church will be held at 11 o'clock and the Sunday-school session at 10 o'clock. The evening service will be held at 7:45 o'clock. This schedule is for the summer.

Sunday-School Closed.

The Sunday-school of the Unitarian church in Park avenue is closed until the second Sunday of September.

CEDAR BROOK WON RETURN CLUB MATCH

Good Tennis by Teams of the Cedar Brook and Park Clubs on Courts of Former Club.

THE SOCIAL FEATURES.

HOME CLUB WON ALL DOUBLES AND A MAJORITY OF SINGLES.

Each Club Was Represented by Three Teams at Doubles—Cedar Brooks Won Them All—The Weather Kept Many Away.

Interclub tennis was a drawing attraction at the courts of the Cedar Brook Tennis Club on LaGrande avenue, Saturday afternoon. The Park Club sent over three teams for a return match with the Cedar Brook cracks. At doubles, the Cedar Brook teams won all three matches while the singles showed three victories for the Cedar Brooks, two for the Parks and one tie. Some very good tennis was seen during the course of the afternoon. The social features of the occasion were not forgotten and while the threatening weather kept many away, the hundred guests who assembled were pleasantly entertained.

In the doubles, Fred M. Letson and Charles H. Hall, Cedar Brook, defeated Clifford M. McGee and Wallace Guilford, Park, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5; A. H. Chamberlain and Dr. W. K. Browning, Cedar Brook, defeated Samuel Townsend and J. I. Taylor, Park, 6-4, 6-3; Lindsey Best and A. Willis West, Cedar Brook, defeated William A. Townsend and Langdon Howard, Park, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4. Of these, the hottest match was the first one.

In the singles, Wallace Guilford, Park Club, and Lindsey Best, Cedar Brook Club, met again and, as in the first meeting of the clubs on the Park Club courts, failed to finish. Mr. Guilford won the first set 6-3, and Mr. Best the second set 6-2. Afterwards it was agreed that one set should decide the matches, owing to the lateness of the hour, and under this arrangement, J. I. Taylor, Park Club, defeated Charles H. Hall, Cedar Brook Club, 6-2. The scores of the other matches, which were fully completed, were: Clifford M. McGee, Park, defeated A. Willis West, Cedar Brook, 6-2, 6-4; A. H. Chamberlain, Cedar Brook, defeated Samuel Townsend, Park, 6-0, 6-0; Fred M. Letson, Cedar Brook, defeated W. A. Townsend, Park, 6-2, 6-2; Fred VanAuken, Cedar Brook, defeated Langdon Howard, Park, 7-5, 6-3.

At the tea, which was held on the lawn adjoining the courts, those receiving were Mrs. J. Hervey Doane, Mrs. John H. Doane, Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. E. Morse and Mrs. Lindsey Best. Those assisting in the serving of refreshments were Mrs. James A. Stafford, Mrs. Fred M. Letson, Miss Agnes B. Freeman, Miss M. G. Morse, and Miss Powell.

BY THE CHILDREN.

Children's Day Exercises at Seventh-Day Baptist Church Saturday.

Children's Day exercises were held Saturday morning at the Seventh-Day Baptist church. A feature of the exercisps was the children's choir under the direction of David E. Titsworth.

There were recitations by the following: The Misses Evalois St. John, Helen Rogers, Ethel Rogers, Grace Stillman, and Jeanette Wadsworth, and LeRoy Titsworth, Phillip Mosher.

Those who had charge of the affair were Dr. Martha Stillman, Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, Mrs. Ira West, Miss Ida Spicer, Miss Mabel Maxson and David E. Titsworth.

REV. DR. YERKES HAS RESIGNED

He Voluntarily Tendered His Resignation at Yesterday Morning's Service.

OLDEST PASTOR IN CITY.

Has Been Pastor of the First Baptist Church for Thirty-Nine Years Resignation Will be Acted on at Meeting to be Held June 25—Sketch of Dr. Yerkes' Career.

Following closely upon the retirement of Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, as rector of Grace Episcopal church after a long service, came the sudden announcement yesterday that Rev. Dr. David J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church for thirty-nine years, would do likewise. The announcement was known to only a very few persons and it came as a great surprise to the large congregation present and not a few were deeply affected.

The announcement was made at the close of the morning service, when Dr. Yerkes said that he had something to say to his people. He stated that since coming home from the south he had felt improved in health and he believed that he would continue to regain his strength it allowed to retire from an active ministry. He said that for thirty-nine years he had served the church as pastor and during that time there had never come to him an unkind word. He loved the church and its people, where unity had been so prominent between pastor and people.

The pastor expressed the earnest desire that all would stand by the church. He said that oftentime a change was beneficial. "Many in the church have known no other pastor than myself," said Dr. Yerkes, "and they have grown up from childhood to labor in the work of Christ for His kingdom. I trust that the grace and spirit of Christ will continue and that you may all abound in peace and love for Christ's sake. I shall withdraw from the pastorate of the church, but shall continue so far as I am able to help you all."

Dr. Yerkes stated that he intended to remain in Plainfield and that he believed in living a life of retirement the rest of his days would be days of strength, happiness and pleasure.

Dr. Yerkes is the oldest pastor in the city and he has served as a pastor the longest of any. Several weeks ago he and Mrs. Yerkes went south for his health. While mentally as strong as ever, there is a physical weakness that will hardly allow Dr. Yerkes to continue his active work as before. There have been many expressions of regret regarding the pastor's retirement for in his long service the church has grown to be a strong and influential one.

Rev. Dr. David J. Yerkes was born in Philadelphia, Pa., in January, 1825, and at an early age went to Hatboro, Pa., fourteen miles from his birth place. There he spent his boyhood days. It was while attending a revival meeting that he was converted and decided to study for the ministry. He entered an academy at Hatboro, and after completing his course entered Columbian University at Washington. Dr. Ide, now dead, but once a prominent Baptist, assisted Dr. Yerkes in his preparation for the ministry.

He graduated from Columbian University in 1848 and his first call was to the Baptist church at Holidaysburg, Pa., where he was ordained. He remained there a few years and then accepted a call to the First Baptist church at Pittsburg, Pa., where he remained until 1856. In the latter year he accepted a call to the First Baptist church of Brooklyn, then located at the corner of Nassau and Liberty streets. He remained in that pastorate three years when he accepted the call to the First Baptist church of this city. He came to Plainfield in the summer of 1863 and since then he has continued as a pastor of the First Baptist church. A few years after coming to this city the present handsome edifice was erected at a cost of $75,000 and was dedicated in November, 1869.

March 15, 1900, Dr. and Mrs. Yerkes celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, when the entire church united in the happy event. At the celebration the pastor and his wife were presented with a purse of $1,000 in gold, while another purse of $250

WEEKLY PLAY FOR TROPHIES

But Threatening Rain Kept Some Away From the Local Golf Links Saturday.

NO VERY LOW SCORES.

A Group of Competitions at the Hillside Saw Winners in A. L. Wills, Miss E. Tracy, Evarts Tracy, Miss G. Kaufman and D. H. Barrows—Nichols and Wells at Park.

With a promise of rain, that was never kept, Saturday was not an ideal day for the local golfiacs. The result was that none of the competitions at the local clubs were crowded. Several other events, scheduled for the afternoon, also served to keep away a number. Those who did turn out did nothing remarkable as the scores turned in bear evidence. Both courses were a trifle slow while the damp east wind seemed to affect the players.

Up at the Hillside Club, honors went to Arthur L. Wills, Miss Edith Tracy, Evarts Tracy, Miss Gladys Kaufman and B. H. Barrows. Over on the Park links, Charles L. Nichols and Henry C. Wells divided the initial honors.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

A fair field braved the threatening rain and turned out for the weekly competition for the President's cup on the links of the Park Golf Club, Saturday afternoon. None of the scored, but Charles L. Nichols, who divided first honors for the afternoon with Henry C. Wells, became an important factor in the contest. He is now third. W. de la R. Anderson played good golf and scored a 96 gross.

The scores for the day, better than 100, were:

	G	H	N
Chas. L. Nichols	114	30	84
Henry C. Wells	114	30	84
W. de la R. Anderson	96	10	86
S. St. John McCutchen	106	17	89
N. A. Miller	119	29	90
Charles E. Murray	123	29	94
Ralph Hallock	124	30	94
Leslie Hallock	115	19	96

The standing for the President's cup is:

	Points.
S. St. J. McCutchen	8
Charles B. Morse	7½
Charles L. Nichols	5½
Charles W. McCutchen	5
Charles A. Reed	4
Dr. A. W. Anderson	3

Charles E. Murray	½

HILLSIDE CLUB.

The threatening weather Saturday had a tendency to keep many golf enthusiasts away from the Hillside Tennis Golf Club course, but there were several interesting events that attracted a goodly number of entries which combined to make up a programme of pleasure and profit.

In the morning there were two events, the weekly competition for the Boys' cup and the second play for the Ackerman cup for women. Arthur L. Wills won first honors for the Boys' cup, while Arthur D. Peterson, who with Gordon Abbott was tied for first position, finished second thereby giving him the lead.

The scores for the Boys' cup are as follows: Arthur L. Wills, 103, 30—73; Arthur D. Peterson, 99, 18—81; Kerro Knox, 99, 11—88; Harold Brown, 120, 30—90; Howard G. Lapsley, 115, 22—93; J. C. Martin, 152, 36—116.

The standing for the Boys' cup is as follows:

	Points.
Arthur Peterson	8
Gordon Abbott	6
Kerro Knox	6
N. P. Rogers, Jr	5
W. T. Glenney	5
Wickham Corwin	4½
Arthur L. Wills	3

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Miss Garretson, of Somerville, has been spending a few days with relatives.

Miss Florence Dodge, of this city, has entirely recovered from a recent illness.

Mrs. Dubois, of Park avenue, has returned from a visit with relatives at Whitehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of West Seventh street, will sail this week for Europe.

Mrs. S. B. Joseph, of Willow avenue, has returned from a visit with New York relatives.

Miss Edna Bowers, of Basking Ridge, has been spending several days with Plainfield friends.

Nimrod Horton, of West Second street, is quite ill at his home with a complication of diseases.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rushmore, of Grant avenue, have returned from a two weeks' pleasure trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moon, of Grandview avenue, has returned from a visit with Newark friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Warnock, of Craig place, have been entertaining Justin H. Green, of Englewood.

Miss Perry, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a visit with Miss Edith Lacey, of LaGrande avenue.

Miss Schorb, of the borough, has recovered from the effect of the injuries recently received in a runaway.

Mrs. VanDuyne, of this city, has returned home from Somerville, where she has been spending several days.

Miss Kate Barry, of New York, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. James Barry, of South Second street.

Clarence Hillman, a former resident of Plainfield but now of Troy, N. Y., is spending a few days with friends in town.

Mrs. S. C. Peck, of West Front street, has returned from Milford, Conn., where she has been visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Force and daughter, Miss Minnie Force, of Somerset place, left for Hunterdon county today, where they will remain for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McVoy, of Hoboken, have been spending a few days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. McVoy, of East Front street.

Charles Leighs, a former resident of this city who has been spending the past two years in England, has returned and is now stopping with his brother, George Leighs, of West Fourth street.

Ready to Yield.

"I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for piles and found it a certain cure," says S. R. Meredith, Willow Grove, Del. Operations unnecessary to cure piles. They always yield to DeWitts Witch Hazel Salve. Cures skin diseases, all kinds of wounds. Accept no counterfeits. L. W. Randolph.

A Cool Plunge.

To keep cool these hot days, the Y. M. C. A. is suggesting a plunge in its swimming pool or a most refreshing shower bath. These are among the privileges offered in the special membership as advertised in another column.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

RIOTS IN PAWTUCKET.

Troops Unable to Protect the Street Car Service.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 16.—The presence of 700 armed men sent by Governor Kimball to restore order had little influence except in the central parts of this city yesterday, where the soldiers formed an invincible guard, and this afternoon rioting broke out anew in suburbs and spread to the neighboring city of Central Falls. The resumption of the electric service, which had been abandoned since Thursday, was the signal for demonstrations at the points where neither soldiers nor police were stationed, and the character of the attacks grew worse until the traction company was forced to abandon the car service.

The disorders extended over so great an area that the troops available were unable to handle the situation, and it is thought that before the usual car traffic can be resumed it will be necessary to place the city of Central Falls and parts of Cumberland, Lincoln and North Providence under military control. To do this an increase in the number of troops will be necessary. It was demonstrated that the cars could not be operated in safety under the present condition. The tracks were obstructed, and cars were pelted with stones by the mobs not only in the suburbs, but in Central Falls. Missiles struck many of the employees, some of whom were injured, and rolling stock was damaged.

About 3,000 people gathered around one car in Central Falls, and their attitude was so threatening that a machine gun was loaded and two companies of marines were ordered to charge the crowd. The car proceeded, but the line was later abandoned. The marines then marched through the city, and at another point the machine gun was made ready for action when it became apparent that an outburst was imminent. Mayor Fales of Central Falls, not having requested military protection from the governor, asked that the troops be withdrawn, and this was done after two hours of service.

The attacks on the men were even more determined in Central Falls than in Pawtucket, and in one instance a torpedo was placed on the track and exploded under a car with such force that the forward trucks were raised from the rails.

A Hero Laid to Rest.

BALTIMORE, June 16.—The remains of Hamlet Jarvis, Jr., formerly a member of the Thirty-fifth volunteer infantry in the Philippines, who was murdered two years ago by insurgents, have been buried with military honors here. In October, 1900, Jarvis was one of several American soldiers who left Balinag as an escort to Jose Buencamino, presidente of San Miguel de Mayumo. The whole party was captured, taken into a swamp and assassinated with daggers. Subsequently two of the insurgent murderers, Timoteo Dhalan and Manuel Gonzales, were executed for the crime, but they refused to tell where the bodies were hidden. Dr. Hamlet Jarvis, the father of young Jarvis, who resides near this city, undertook a search for the body of his son, employing scouts and spending a great deal of money to that end. A few months ago he succeeded in finding his son's skeleton in a swamp, and it was brought here for interment.

Undertakers' Convention.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 16.—The third annual convention of the New York State Undertakers' association will be held in this city on June 17, 18 and 19. The convention will be called to order at 9:30 tomorrow morning by State Treasurer William J. Phillips of Albany. Mayor Charles H. Gaus will welcome the delegates on behalf of the city. The response will be by Fred Hulberg, president of the National Funeral Directors' association. The chief feature of Tuesday's session will be President Phillips' annual address.

A Big Mortgage.

BALLSTON, N. Y., June 16.—A mortgage for $2,000,000, executed by the Union Mills company, a corporation organized under the laws of Maine, to the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust company to cover the issue of $2,000,000 in 5 per cent gold bonds, has been recorded in the Saratoga county clerk's office. The mortgage covers the Saga more knitting mill property at Mechanicsville and other mill property in the city of Hudson.

New Telegraphers' Union.

CHICAGO, June 16.—The commercial telegraphers of Chicago, who for several years have been without a union, have been organized by the American Federation of Labor. The new organization will be known as the International Union of Commercial Telegraphers. Between 300 and 400 men enrolled their names on the books of the new organization.

A New Oklahoma Railroad.

GUTHRIE, Okla., June 16.—The Rock Island has secured from the government the right to construct a line west from Enid, Okla., through the military reservation of Fort Supply, in western Oklahoma. This extension will connect Beaver county, 200 miles distant, with the Liberal line of the Rock Island to El Paso, Tex.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; variable winds.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The new first twenty hour service between New York and Chicago was inaugurated on the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

The Susquehanna Iron company has yielded to the demands of striking puddlers after six weeks' delay. The price per ton will be $4.50 instead of $4.25, as heretofore.

SOFT COAL MEN'S AID

President Gilday Says Little Bituminous Is Going Out.

MINERS AWAIT MITCHELL'S ORDER.

Strikers Will Win Because of Ruin Which Is Sure to Follow Abandonment of Mines—Quiet In Anthracite Region.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 16.—Patrick Gilday, president of the central Pennsylvania bituminous district of the United Mine Workers of America, who came here to consult President Mitchell on a matter local to his district, in a talk with a press correspondent gives an insight as to what the soft coal miners in his territory are doing to help their brother workmen in the anthracite field.

Mr. Gilday said there are 42,000 soft coal miners in this district, and every one of them is taking a deep interest in the struggle now going on in this region. On the second day of the strike Mr. Gilday sent out instructions to every check weighman and pit committeeman at the mines in his district to prevent the shipment of soft coal into anthracite territory, and thus far, he said, very little coal from his district has taken the place of anthracite.

"There have been only four attempts by unionized mines to send soft coal to the anthracite markets," he said. "One order was intended for Mount Carmel, Pa.; two for Philadelphia and one for New York. As soon as our men at the mines learned the intended destination of the coal we requested the mine owners not to send it, and they complied with the request. We are not interfering with the normal shipment of soft coal."

President Gilday said he had no personal knowledge that the other bituminous district presidents were doing the same as himself, but he felt sure they were. There is some soft coal coming into the anthracite market from central Pennsylvania and West Virginia, but it is mostly of nonunion production.

When asked regarding the feeling in his territory as to a general strike to help the hard coal miners, Mr. Gilday said:

"Our men will do whatever President Mitchell says. They can have our financial support, and if Mr. Mitchell sees fit to ask our men to lay down their picks they will do it promptly. I do not believe, however, there will be a general strike of the soft coal miners, because the anthracite men are going to win without it."

Asked as to how the miners expected to win in view of the fact that they have practically reached the limit of their resources in this region in pressing the operators and the latter still stand out firmly, he replied:

"By the slow destruction of mine property. By that I mean that if they do not give the men the hours and pay they ask for they will not consent to go into the mines and preserve the operations. The collieries will fill if the strike is not soon ended, and the mines will begin to squeeze or cave in. All the timbermen are out, and the timber which holds up the roofs of mines will soon begin to give way. These squeezes will cost thousands of dollars to repair and probably be the cause of the abandonment of many costly operations. When the investors' pockets begin to feel it, a change in the attitude of the operators will come, and the miners can wait for the change."

President Gilday's mission here was to get President Mitchell's consent to strike against the Sonman Shaft Coal company near Portage, Pa., and also the financial support of the national organization. He received both. The strike at that place was inaugurated on April 16 because the company would not recognize the union and sign the wage scale. About 150 men are involved.

The strike at the Bloomington mines near Phillipsburg, Pa., has been settled, and the men will return to work. Five hundred men struck there last Tuesday because four men would not join the union. The four men have quit work.

There are no developments here. President Mitchell is in frequent telegraphic communication with his men in the west on general organization work. He has no information to impart on either the strike in this region or the West Virginia suspension.

The Virginia Strike.

ROANOKE, Va., June 16.—At the general offices of the Norfolk and Western Railway company it is said there are no new developments in the Pocahontas coalfields. It is exceedingly quiet throughout the mining districts, and no rowdyism is reported. Complete reports from the fields show that many of the striking union men have returned to work, and gradual gains in the working forces are expected.

Excursion Steamer Aground.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The excursion boat General Slocum while approaching Rockaway Beach on her last trip down yesterday afternoon went aground about 500 feet from the dock. The accident was due to the Slocum's captain having to sheer off to avoid crashing into a large yacht which crossed the steamer's bow. Another steamer took off the passengers.

Three Drowned In Lake Huron.

PORT HURON, Mich., June 16.—During a gale Arthur Martin, aged twenty-one; Beatrice Abraham, aged fourteen, and Norma Abraham, aged seven, were drowned in Lake Huron by the overturning of a rowboat off Edison Beach. The accident was witnessed by a number of people, but the storm was so fierce that no help could reach the young people.

CIVIL RULE IN SAMAR

Commission Sent to the Island For That Purpose.

GENERAL AMNESTY ON JULY 4.

This Will Give Freedom to Filipino Prisoners on Guam—Peace Prospects in Leyte Bright—A Defense of West Pointers.

MANILA, June 16.—Friendly natives in Manila say a report is current among their countrymen that the five soldiers of the Fifth cavalry who were captured by the insurgents May 30 have been boloed to death near Teresa, in Morong province, Luzon. This report has not been confirmed by the American authorities of that district.

Twenty-five members of a band of insurgents who were captured while fighting with General Lukban in Samar took the oath of allegiance to the United States and were subsequently released. Four members of the band were killed in the engagement which resulted in the capture of their companions. The twenty-five who have sworn allegiance have seen General Chaffee and have promised to give him all the assistance in their power in the work of maintaining the present peace conditions in Samar.

A commission has been sent to Samar to appoint Senor Llorentes governor of the island and to establish civil government there.

It is expected that a general amnesty will be declared July 4. This amnesty will result in the release of the Filipino prisoners now on the island of Guam.

The prospects in the island of Leyte for a speedy termination of the armed resistance there are bright. Since the ports of the island were closed surrenders of insurgents to the native constabulary have occurred daily.

Speaking at the West Point centennial dinner which was held here last week Acting Civil Governor Wright said he did not think "the strife now being waged in congress on the Philippine government bill is as fierce and as irreconcilable as it appears to be," that the sober second thoughts of the American people were always right and that they would in time do justice to the Americans in the Philippine Islands.

Speaking at the same dinner, Colonel Charles A. Woodruff, head of the subsistence department at Manila, said: "The graduates of West Point may be 'charity boys,' but in the Mexican war these boys saved the nation in money alone more than the military school has cost since its foundation. The same boys led 2,000,000 men to victory in the greatest of modern wars. The 'charity boys' have all repaid their board and keep a thousandfold. They can glory in the fact that wherever 27,000 American troops have faced an enemy the commander of these men was a West Point graduate. The established reputation of the boys from West Point has become a synonym for honor, integrity and the highest credit in the country. They have saved the country millions of dollars and thousands of lives, and the 'charity boys' will no doubt uphold in the present the proud supremacy of the United States."

The chamber of commerce has presented to General Chaffee a set of resolutions which express the regard with which General Chaffee and the army in the Philippines are held by the business men of Manila.

An American sentry belonging to the engineers was badly cut up with a bolo in the hands of a Moro while on duty near Vicars.

Several dattos under the sultan of Mindanao have called upon Colonel Frank D. Baldwin of the Twenty-seventh infantry and have asked him for American flags. This action on the part of the dattos is considered equivalent to taking the oath of allegiance to the United States.

Counterfeiters Captured.

BALTIMORE, June 16. — United States secret service men, aided by local police, have captured eight Italians, supposed to be members of a gang of counterfeiters who have operated in several parts of the country during the past few months. The prisoners are Dominic De Marco, Frank De Marco, Tony De Marco and Martin De Marco, father and sons, and Cato Rocesse, Louis Zimma and two women named Martil. Secret Service Men Foster and Burns have been working on the case for several weeks.

Convicted Murderers Escape.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., June 16.—Charles Grether and Benjamin Aiello, convicted murderers, have escaped from the Monroe county jail here. A posse is in pursuit. It is believed the men separated, as Grether has been traced as far as the woods at North Water Gap. The cell doors, it is said, were faulty, and while the watchman was in another part of the building the men walked out of their cells and, unbolting the outside iron door, passed out of the building.

Earthquake In Sicily.

SYRACUSE, Sicily, June 16.—Strong earthquake shocks, accompanied by a sound of underground rumbling, have been experienced here. The inhabitants of Syracuse became panic stricken. The disturbances did not effect any damage. For several days past the sky over Sicily has been overcast, and the heat has been overwhelming. Shocks of earthquake are reported from other parts of the island of Sicily.

President Pardons Many.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The president has acted on forty-nine applications for pardon, denying twenty-eight and granting pardons and commutations in twenty-one. Many of the convicts are serving sentences for minor offenses.

SURRENDER OF BOERS.

Sixteen Thousand Five Hundred Have Already Disbanded.

LONDON, June 16.—A dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Saturday, June 14, says that 2,594 Boers have surrendered since Friday, June 13, and that everything is proceeding most satisfactorily.

Dispatches received here from South Africa show that the surrenders of Boers are proceeding with the greatest good will. The total number is 16,500, and the British are extending every possible kindness to the men who come in.

The appearance of General De Wet at the camp at Winburg was the signal for a great display of enthusiasm. When he arrived at the camp, General De Wet was at once surrounded by thousands of Boer men, women and children, who struggled and clamored to shake the hand of their hero. General De Wet mounted a table and delivered an address. He warmly applauded the stanch support the women had given the burghers during the war, which, he said, had greatly encouraged the men in the field. Continuing, General De Wet recommended his hearers to be loyal to the new government and said:

"Perhaps it is hard for you to hear this from my mouth, but God has decided thus. I fought until there was no more hope of upholding our cause, and, however bitter it may be, the time has now come to lay down our arms. As a Christian people God now demands that we be faithful to our new government. Let us submit to his decision."

Neither General De Wet nor Mr. Steyn, former president of the old Orange Free State, was ever wounded during the war. General De Wet has not seen his wife for two years.

The repatriation committee which has been formed to assist the Boers in returning to their farms has a gigantic task before it. The concentration camps will be converted into supply depots to provide the returning burghers with the means to rebuild and restock their farms. The wives and families of the Boers will if desired be maintained at the expense of the government while the burghers are preparing the farms for their reception. Two thousand of the national scouts who fought upon the British side during the war will immediately be disbanded, and each scout will be provided with a pony and enabled to return to his farm.

The Paris Grand Prix.

PARIS, June 16.—The Grand Prix de Paris of 200,000 francs, distance about one mile and seven furlongs, was won by M. E. de St. Alary's chestnut filly Kizil-Kourgan. Camille Blanc's bay colt Retz and Baron Leonino's bay colt Maximum ran a dead heat for second place, while M. E. de St. Alary's bay colt Arizona was fourth. Eleven horses ran, and the race was won by a head. American jockeys were not successful in the contest for the Grand Prix. Six had mounts, but not one of them even secured a place. Americans at Longchamps lost considerable money on the horses ridden by J. Reiff and Henry. The former jockey was mounted on Lognes, which was the third favorite at odds of 8 to 1 and which finished last. Throughout the day, however, the American riders rode three winners, five seconds and two thirds.

Noted Physician Dead.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 16.—Dr. Selden H. Talcott, superintendent of the State Homeopathic hospital here, is dead. Dr. Talcott had been the head of the institution for twenty-five years. He was born in Rome, N. Y., sixty years ago and was widely known as an alienist and leading authority on nervous diseases. He had been ill for three weeks with stomach and bowel trouble. His last public appearance was at a dinner given by the homeopathic physicians of this state on the evening of May 14 in honor of his twenty-five years' service as superintendent of the state hospital.

Dewey to Command.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Admiral Dewey is to go to sea again, flying his flag with the four stars in command of the greatest fleet in numbers the United States has ever got together. Secretary Moody has conceived the idea, and after consulting the pleasure of Admiral Dewey it has been arranged that he shall be placed in supreme command of the fleet, comprising the north Atlantic, the European and the south Atlantic squadrons, which is to assemble near Culebra island, in the West Indies, next December for the winter maneuvers.

Had Her Obituary Ready.

OSWEGO, N. Y., June 16.—Anna Goit had such a dislike for the ordinary obituary notices in the newspapers that she recently wrote what she considered necessary to be said on the occasion of her own death and requested that nothing else should be printed when it occurred. She has been found sitting in a chair in her room dead. She was eighty-three years old and the widow of a prominent lumber merchant.

Japan Accepts Indemnity Reduction.

PEKING, June 16.—The Japanese minister to China received instructions from his government to accept the pro rata reduction of Japan's war claims against China which was proposed in order to effect a settlement of the questions in dispute regarding the indemnity. The ministers of the foreign powers here held a meeting and are engaged in completing their arrangements for the allotment of the indemnity.

Mail Carrier Under Arrest.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 16.—Frederick B Farrington of Stillwater, the mail carrier between Stillwater and Bemis Heights, has been arrested on a charge of robbing the United Sttaes mails. He is held for examination.

STEEL PLANT BOUGHT.

New Shipbuilding Trust Absorbs the Bethlehem Plant.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Official announcement that the new shipbuilding trust had purchased the Bethlehem Steel company has caused considerable surprise here in financial circles. The deal is regarded as the most important steel and shipbuilding negotiation that has been brought to a successful issue since the formation of the United States Steel corporation and since the purchase by the Pennsylvania Railroad company of the Pennsylvania Steel company.

The Bethlehem Steel company was organized in 1888, with a capital stock of $15,000,000, all common, par value $50, upon which a dollar per share was paid. Later the company leased the Bethlehem Iron company, the capital stock of the latter concern being $7,500,000. In August, 1901, the combined companies were purchased ostensibly by Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel corporation, the purchase price being $25 a share for the 300,000 shares.

Japan's Cordial Welcome to Barrett.

TACOMA, Wash., June 16.—Latest advices from the orient state that upon the arrival in Japan on May 27 of John Barrett, commissioner general, to arrange for St. Louis world's fair exhibits, he was met and accorded an impressive welcome by a large committee of the leading Japanese manufacturers and merchants, representing all the principal chambers of commerce of the empire. The following morning he was presented by the American minister to the Japanese minister of foreign affairs. A few days later he was the guest of honor at a banquet in Tokyo given by the principal business men of that city and Yokohama. Mr. Barrett stated after several conferences with members of the imperial government that he believed the Japanese would make an exhibit at St. Louis which would surpass all previous efforts and rival what will be done by any European nation.

Tippecanoe Celebration.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 16.—The Tippecanoe Battlefield association held its annual exercises in the tabernacle at the battleground yesterday. Special trains on all roads were run, and an immense crowd attended. The graves of the men who fell at the battle of Tippecanoe were beautifully decorated. An address was delivered by Hon. Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, his subject being "Heroes In Homespun." Mr. Watterson was accompanied to the battleground by a committee of fifty prominent citizens. At the conclusion of the ceremonies on the battlefield the party returned to the city, where Mr. Watterson was banqueted at the Lafayette club, and a reception was held.

Christian Science Celebrates.

BOSTON, June 16.—The annual communion services of the mother church of the Christian Science denomination in Mechanics' hall yesterday were attended by about 13,000 people, 7,000 at the morning service and 6,000 during the afternoon. The principal feature of the service was a message from the pastor emeritus, the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy. The reading of the message required seventy minutes. Another important feature was a telegram expressing gratitude and appreciation to Mrs. Eddy, which was put in the form of a motion and unanimously adopted by the audience rising in their places.

How the Cardinals Stand.

LONDON, June 16.—A dispatch to the Central News from Rome says it is understood there that, with the exception of Cardinal Vannutelli, the other four members of the subcommission of cardinals which will examine the propositions presented to the Vatican by William H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippine Islands, in connection with ecclesiastical affairs in the archipelago are in favor of the regulation of the church in the Philippines in the same manner as obtained when the islands were under Spanish sovereignty.

A Double Tragedy.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—Mrs. Rachel Sahlor, a widow, was shot and instantly killed at Coatesville, Pa., forty miles west of here, by Harry N. Ricer of Newcastle, Pa., who was also killed by a bullet from his revolver while struggling with another woman for possession of the weapon. The tragedy, it is said, was the result of a quarrel. Ricer was employed by a Pittsburg firm of contractors who are building a new steel plant at Coatesville.

Men Who Shot Jailers Traced.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 16.—Word has just been received from Vancouver, Wash., that two men supposed to be Tracey and Merrill have crossed the Columbia river and landed five miles above Vancouver on the Washington side. They told a farmer who rowed them across the river that they were fugitives. Detectives Day and Weiner of this city and Sheriff J. L. Marsh of Clark county, with about twenty men, have started in pursuit.

Yale Defeated Princeton.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Yale defeated Princeton in the final game of the series for the intercollegiate baseball championship of 1902 at the Polo grounds by a score of 5 to 4. It was a well played game throughout, although it took two hours and fifty minutes to finish the nine innings. Five thousand people journeyed to the field to see the game.

KING EDWARD VII. ILL

A Chill Brings on an Attack of Lumbago.

PHYSICIAN SUMMONED TO ALDERSHOT

His Majesty's Condition the Result of Undue Exposure While Witnessing Military Maneuvers. Case Is Not Alarming.

LONDON, June 16.—King Edward is suffering from a chill. It prevented his majesty from attending yesterday's church parade of the Aldershot garrison.

King Edward's chill came as a result of his prolonged stay out of doors Saturday night upon the occasion of the torchlight tattoo at Aldershot. His majesty's chill is a slight one, accompanied by symptoms of lumbago.

The weather was extremely cold, and it rained at intervals before their majesties left the brigade recreation ground. King Edward returned to his apartments chilled from the unwonted exposure.

These reports of his majesty's illness have naturally caused apprehension, but there is apparently no reason to anticipate serious results.

Sir Francis Laking, physician in ordinary to his majesty, was summoned to Aldershot early in the morning. He prescribed for the king and recommended that the day be spent in perfect quietude. Queen Alexandra and the other members of the royal party attended the service at church, but remained in the royal apartments for the rest of the day.

It has been learned that the king arose in the afternoon. This is considered a good reason for hoping that his indisposition is only temporary.

The Court Circular late last night published the following official announcement:

"King Edward was unable to leave his room today owing to an attack of lumbago caused by a chill."

King Edward's indisposition was announced too late to become generally known in London yesterday; but, considering the near approach of the coronation, it is bound to cause extreme anxiety.

It is understood that his majesty is "run down" to some extent as a result of his constant attention during the past few weeks to numerous state duties and obligations.

Sudden Death of Nebraska Lawyer.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Genio M. Lambertson, one of the leading lawyers of Lincoln, Neb., died early yesterday morning at the Palmer House of heart disease. Mr. Lambertson came to Chicago Saturday and in the afternoon witnessed the Chicago-Northwestern university baseball game at Marshall field and in the evening attended a banquet at the University of Chicago and responded to a toast. In company with his wife he returned to the hotel and retired shortly before midnight. Upon arising yesterday morning Mrs. Lambertson discovered that her husband was unconscious. Dr. I. H. Rea was summoned and after an examination declared Mr. Lambertson was dead. The remains will be taken to Lincoln for interment.

Pennsylvania's Commencement.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—Commencement week at the University of Pennsylvania was inaugurated with the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating classes delivered in St Stephen's church by the Rev. Dr. Elwood Worcester. In speaking on the material advantage of education Dr. Worcester said: "I have read with interest the charge recently made by one of our most successful business men that the people of this country are overeducated, and I remember that a wiser and a greater man than he said, 'He that increaseth knowledge increaseth sorrow.' Educate the poor, and poverty, of which before they were hardly conscious, becomes an oppressive burden."

Commencement at Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 16.—The chapel of Cornell university was packed to overflowing, the occasion being the baccalaureate sermon to the senior class delivered by the Rev. Henry Van Dyke, LL. D., of Princeton. The ceremony was an imposing one, President Schurman and several of the faculty appearing for the first time on such an occasion in their honorary robes. All the members of the outgoing class were arrayed in baccalaureate caps and gowns and marched two by two into the chapel, the faculty leading. Dr. Van Dyke chose as the subject of his sermon a lesson from the life of Christ.

Sixteen Crews at Poughkeepsie.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 16.—With the arrival here of the Wisconsin varsity and freshmen crews all of the college oarsmen who are to take part in the regatta on the Hudson next Saturday afternoon are now on the ground, and that day will witness the largest concourse of college crews that has ever gathered in this country at one place. All told there will be sixteen crews on the river, representing six different colleges.

Well Known Educator Dead.

COMING EVENTS.

June 16—Meeting of North Plainfield Board of Education.

THE TAX RATE.

Despite all that has been said regarding the chances of an increase in the city tax rate this year, we are able to state with authority that the tax rate in Plainfield for the coming year will not be over 2.50. At present, the rate is 2.46, and it may not be necessary to advance it even a single point.

While the regular running expenses of the city have seen no appreciable increase, there have been several emergency appropriations, including that for the small-pox campaign, which were not counted on but which, it was feared, would run up the tax rate. Thanks, however, to the workings of the Martin act, the city has been able to collect certain delinquent taxes, which have helped to swell the city treasury and which were not anticipated. These collections will, in a large measure, meet any additional appropriations and so the tax rate will be able to remain where it is.

With all this talk about consolidation, it is pleasant to note this satisfactory state of affairs in the city of Plainfield. It will have its effect in strengthening the confidence of certain boroughites in the men who are at the head of the city government.

The average tax-payer, who does not stop to think on the subject, has an idea that the city should give all possible municipal advantages without any increase in the tax rate. When the people want the good things of life, they must pay for them. It is best, however, to see that the price paid is not outrageous and that the return made is equivalent. Plainfield taxes are by no means high, when all the advantages offered are taken into consideration. Plainfield possesses one of the best city governments in New Jersey and the actual amount of taxes paid is small when compared with cities of its size and advantages.

There were some disappointed people on local baseball diamonds Saturday afternoon but that was to be expected. Two teams cannot win the same game. The City League has just begun and there is still lots of time to completely upset the present standing.

After a period of drought when no rain fell for days together, it has now become wonderfully easy to start a shower and no one is exactly sure when he is going out into a pour-down, no matter how blue the sky may be for a time.

Readers of The Daily Press will kindly note that hereafter the Christian Endeavor and Epworth League columns will be published in The Daily Press Thursday instead of Friday of each week.

in gold was received at the home.

The question of selecting a successor to Dr. Yerkes will be left entirely to the members of the church. A meeting will be held June 25 to act upon the resignation. The present membership of the church is nearly nine hundred.

Confirmed Six.

Bishop Scarborough visited St. Stephen's church, Netherwood, on Saturday and confirmed a class of six. He also preached a strong and impressive sermon.

UNION COUNTY BUDGET FIXED BY FREEHOLDERS

County Will Raise $218,000 by Taxation During the Coming Year.

THE ACTUAL INCREASE,

AMOUNTS APPROPRIATED FOR THE VARIOUS COUNTY DEPARTMENTS.

Total Appropriation is $230,000 Which Includes $12,000 of the County Assets—Last Year's Appropriation Was $228,000.

At a recent meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders the budget for the coming year was completed. The sum to be raised by tax for the use of the county during the next year is $218,000, to be appropriated together with $12,000 of the uncollected taxes and assets of the county. The general appropriation this year is an actual increase of $2,000 over last year, the sum last year being $228,000. There is an increase of $2,000 for the hospitals in the county and an increase of $3,000 for lunatics and epileptics. The total amount of last year's appropriation was $228,000, while this year it is $203,000, but with the assets of the county, $12,000, the total amount is just an increase of $2,000.

The various amounts appropriated are as follows:

Current expenses — Courts, $37,000; county jail, $6,000; lunatics, $43,000; compensations and lawful expenses of freeholders, committees, and salaries of officers, $12,000; fees of coroner, $500; elections, $14,000; stationery, $2,000; advertising, publishing and printing, $2,000; incidental expenses, schools, burial of soldiers and monuments, $22,000; children's guardian account, $1,000.

Debt and interest — Payment of principal of bonded debt, $5,000; payment of interest on bonded debt, $15,000; payment on bank interest in temporary loans, $2,000.

Public works—Permanent improvements of public building and grounds, $6,000; erection and repairs of culverts and bridges, $35,000; repairs to county roads, $17,500; hospitals, $10,000.

At the beginning of the past year the balance was $28,000, which shows a decrease of $16,000, while the appropriations are $18,000 more than last year. The balance is decreasing each year; 10 years ago it was $66,000, this year $12,000. This decrease is due, the authorities claim, to Elizabeth and Rahway.

The following standing committees were then announced:

Collector's bond—Connolly, Miller, McCandless.

Publication—Adams, Robison, Gerstung.

Discharge of prisoners—Wahl, Robison, Connolly.

Settle with collector—Krouse, King, Brucklacher

Audit accounts—King, Cady, Woodruff.

Lunacy—Miller, Adams, Swain.

Public grounds and building—Farrell, Cady, Woodruff.

Jail inspection — Westphal, Wahl, McCandless.

Stationery — King, Wahl, McCandless.

Settle with sheriff—Robison, Tillman, Swain.

Miscellaneous accounts and agreements—Tillman, Connolly, Gerstung.

Legal questions — Cady, Tillman, Bonnell.

Appropriations—Farrell, Westphal, Krouse, Brucklacher, Woodruff.

County roads — King, Adams, Krouse, Brucklacher, Swain.

Elizabeth drawbridges — Miller, Westphal, Gerstung.

Rahway drawbridges—Farrell, Tillman, Robison.

Trip in Balloon on Wager.

To win a wager and show that he was possessed of strong nerves, Geo. Wilcox, a musician living in this city, made a balloon ascension at the pleasure grounds, near Westfield, last evening. He went half as high again as the ordinary aeronaut, at one time being 4,000 feet up. He descended safely in his parachute, landing in the top boughs of a tree near Springfield.

Unveiling of Dr. Mack's Statue.

The many friends of the late Dr. William Mack will be interested to know that Wednesday will take place the unveiling of his statue at Elizabeth. Dr. Mack, at the time of his death, was mayor of Elizabeth and the citizens have erected this statue to the memory of his noble life.

A Dramatic Oath-Taking.

At a memorable gathering, attended by Henry III. the prelates and barons of England each bearing a lighted taper, encircled the king while the curse of Heaven was invoked by the archbishop of Canterbury on those who in future should in any respect violate the two charters (the Magna Charta and the Charta de Foresta). Hands were lifted in air and brows bared, and "the tapers were then extinguished, and thrown, stinking and smoking, on the ground, and the dire malediction uttered that souls of every one who infringed the charters 'might thus be extinguished and stink and smoke in hell.'" Weirdly impressive in its rude fervor, the episode was made additionally striking by the action of the king, who closed the ceremony by declaiming these words: "So may God help me, I will inviolably observe all these things as I am a man and a Christian, a knight and a crowned and anointed king."—London Parliament Past and Present.

Electrically Fattened.

Experiments at the University of Michigan are reported as indicating that a galvanic current tends to promote the growth of animal tissue. The fact that electricity promotes plant growth appears to have suggested these experiments. Guinea-pigs, confined in a cage through which an electric current was constantly passing, gained ten per cent. more weight in a given time than other pigs of the same age, fed with the same food, but confined in a non-electric cage.—Science.

Pity is Akin to Love.

He—I believe you cared for me the first time we ever met.

She—Why, what makes you think so?

"Because you kept looking at me so steadily. Every time I glanced in your direction your gaze was rivited upon me."

"O, but it wasn't because I had fallen in love with you. I was thinking what a pity it was you had no one near and dear to you who could tell you what wretched taste you had in neckties."—Stray Stories.

RECEPTION TO PUPILS.

Charming Affair Given by Miss Anna H. Prescott, Retiring Member of City High School Faculty.

Miss Anna H. Prescott gave a reception, Saturday evening, to her pupils of the Plainfield High School at her home on Watchung avenue. Miss Prescott will not return to the City High School in the fall as she is to be married this summer. She selected this means of saying good-bye to the young people who have been under her charge.

Miss Prescott and her mother, Mrs. Prescott, of Boston, received the guests in the parlor. A number of the young people assisted in serving the refreshments. The piazzas were gaily decorated with Japanese lanterns and there many of the guests gathered. Besides many of the young people there were present Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. H. M. Maxson, Principal I. W. Travell and the other members of the High School faculty.

DUNELLEN.

The Raritan second team journeyed to Dunellen Saturday and defeated the Y. M. C. team by a score of 9 to 7 in a close and exciting game. Fisher pitched a good game for Dunellen but errors lost the game. All of Raritan team played well and batted in good style. Dealaman in left field for Dunellen and made a good catch after a hard run.

M. J. Boyle, of North avenue, while doctoring a sick calf Thursday, had his hand badly bitten while in the animal's mouth. The calf exhibited symptoms of hydrophobia so Mr. Boyle hurried to Dr. Brakeley's office and had his wound cauterized.

Strenuous efforts were made yesterday at the Methodist church to get the money required to raise the mortgage. It is not yet known whether the effort was fully successful or not.

The Dunellen juniors were defeated in an interesting game of ball Saturday morning on the local diamond by "Maneater" Mullens' team from Plainfield.

The local bass season opened yesterday and some good sport was enjoyed by all who went. Albert Giddes was the only one who caught more than one.

Miss Carlotta Williams, a former teacher in Whittier School, has been spending a few days with friends in town.

Mr. Schenck, of Front street, entertained a number of out of town friends yesterday.

Clarence Sofield spent Saturday in Plainfield.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The graves of the deceased brothers of the Knights of Pythias, buried in the Baptist cemetery, were decorated yesterday by the members of the Plainfield lodges, it being the annual day observed by the order as a Memorial Day. After the service at the cemetery the lodge members and their visitors partook of a collation at Excelsior Hall.

The festival and cake sale held Saturday afternoon and evening at the fire house, Fanwood, was a financial success and the Guild of All Saints' church will be enabled to turn a neat little sum into the church treasury.

The Republican primary to elect two delegaets to the Congressional convention, which meets at Belvidere, Saturday, will be held in Excelsior Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

Tickets for the baseball club's strawberry festival at the hall tomorrow night are going fast and the club will no doubt have a neat balance left after paying expenses.

"Why Total Abstainance is Best," was the temperance subject discussed by the Baptist Young People at their weekly meeting in the church parlors last night.

A number of the followers of Izaak Walton took advantage of the opening of the bass season yesterday and enjoyed a day's fishing at the Passaic river.

Miss Helen Boice, of Plainfield, has been visiting with friends in town.

Mrs. Fred LaTourette is entertaining visitors from Jersey City.

COAL FAMINE.

Somerville Is Threatened With Trouble If the Coal Supply Is Not Soon Replenished.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 16—This town is seriously threatened with a coal famine and if the strike in the coal fields is not soon settled the worst fears of those who use the anthracite coal will be realized. Black smoke floats from the factory chimneys and locomotives, which denotes that bituminous coal is already much in use.

It was rumored that the gas supply of the place would be discontinued, owing to the shortage of anthracite coal, but Mr. Lewis, of the lighting company, says he has enough hard coal to keep up the gas supply for about two weeks. As soft coal cannot be used in the manufacture of gas the conditions are becoming most alarming.

All the dealers of the town are practically without coal.

INCREASED MEMBERSHIP.

Limit to Active List of Hillside Club Raised to Three Hundred.

At a meeting of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, held Saturday, the active list was increased from 275 to 300. At a meeting of the trustees afterward the following active members were elected: Leightorn Calkins, W. T. Maxwell, Julius E. Erickson, Walter E. Leaman, Augustus V. Heely. Non-resident, H. Duncan Bulkley; associate, Mrs. Leighton Calkins and Miss Helen Cruikshank.

New Deacon Ordained.

At the morning session of Trinity Reformed church yesterday, B. R. Force was ordained and installed as a deacon of the church, to serve the unexpired term of E. E. Anthony, who removed from the city. The service was in charge of the pastor, Dr. Schenck, and was particularly impressive.

GHOSTS ON RAMPAGE.

Flaming Sword and Uncanny Apparition Cause Great Excitement at Richview, Ill.

Startling figures and forms, flaming swords and pillars of fire are the visible manifestations of some occult or other agency which has convinced the most conservative inhabitants of the village of Richview, a few miles south of Centralia, Ill, that ghosts do exist after all.

The family of Beman Edwards formerly scoffed at the suggestion of such a thing as ghosts, but when their little one-story home became the center of popular excitement, and the most practical efforts failed to explode superstitious theories, they reluctantly admitted a mystery they are unable to fathom.

The trouble, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, began one night two weeks ago, while Edwards was engrossed in a book and his wife was playing a guitar. Suddenly she became aware of a yellow light in front of her that strayed about the room, assumed the form of a gigantic sword, passed three times under her husband's chair, and then disappeared. The second evening after this Edwards saw the same vision as he started to leave his home to go to the village store for a few minutes. The great sword of fire passed across the road in front of him, then vanished.

Other ghostly manifestitions have been seen by the Edwards family and their neighbors. Thomas Martin and his wife, who live next door, allege to have seen the figure of a man emerge through the solid outer door of the house, inch by inch. Mrs. Edwards has seen strange faces peering at her from her windows and doorways. A pillar of fire has appeared to her more than once. The Edwards home is known as the "haunted house," and the family is preparing to move.

SHE WAS DISAPPOINTED.

Just Because Her Husband Had Told Her Nothing But the Truth for Eleven Years.

They had been married 11 years. Every Thursday night during all this time the husband had gone out with the excuse that he had to attend lodge.

For a year or so the wife believed him, but then other wives gave her pointers. She said nothing to the husband, however, but waited till she could secure evidence to convict him of duplicity.

Ten long years she waited, says the Philadelphia Press, and then she determined upon a heroic move.

She located his supposed lodge, and one Thursday evening she appeared at the door and asked if he was within. He was.

She asked if he was a steady attendant and was told that he never missed a night. She was shown a list of membership and the weekly proceedings for years and years, and she turned away with sorrow in her heart.

On her way home she wept. On arriving there she flung herself upon the lounge and sobbed. She was still struggling with her feelings when her husband arrived.

"Is our child dead of croup?"

"N-no. It is that I have found you out at last."

"Found me out in what?"

"I have found out that you really go to your lodge every Thursday night."

"Of course I do. But what of it?" he asked.

"Nothing, except that I am disappointed and heartbroken to think that you have not been lying to me all these long, long years! What will all the other women say about it?"

Turks Admire Red Hair.

In Turkey red hair is counted a great beauty, and the women dye their hair that tint.

WATCH THE SMALL CHANGE.

Pennies and Nickels Are Counterfeited More Than Are the Larger Pieces.

"Did you ever think how little attention you pay to the possibility of counterfeits in making change?" asked an old bank teller of a friend, relates the Chicago Tribune. "And did you ever think that most of the attention that is paid to it by the public is so much waste of effort?"

"But it is a fact. You never think when the street car conductor puts the change from a quarter in your hand that both dimes may be counterfeit. You take one-dollar, two-dollar, five-dollar and ten-dollar bills from anybody in change without ever a thought as to their genuineness. But if a stranger tries to pass a $20 bill on you you begin to get shaky, while a $50 or $100 bill is almost impossible to be rid of in a street of small shops.

"Yet you could hardly hire a counterfeiter to try to make and pass bills above ten dollars in value. If a stranger should come into your place of business and ask change for a $50 bill it would scare you stiff for fear of a counterfeit, whereas the chances would be 999½ in 1,000 that the bill was good.

"You noticed the other day, on the other hand, that the United States government was much concerned over the counterfeit one-cent pieces that are now flooding Chicago. Yet I'll bet you never looked at the genuineness of a one-cent piece in your life."

THUMB-MARK AS A SEAL.

Has Been Used in China and Elsewhere in Attestation of Legal Documents.

An army officer in Arizona used to make his orders for payment on a camp sutler, and use his own thumb-mark to serve the same purpose as the elaborate markings on bank checks. The thumb-mark has been used in China and elsewhere in attestation of deeds. Sir William Herschel introduced finger marks for practical purposes in several ways in India. He had heard that Chinese criminals in early times were made to give the impressions of their fingers just as the criminals of this country are now photographed. In Egypt the criminals were made to seal their confessions with their thumbnails, as the country servant girls used to seal their letters. Accordingly Sir William adopted the registration of finger markings for pensioners. He suspected that others personated these officials after the pensioners were dead; he therefore employed this means of identification. This led to the scientific identification of criminals—each prisoner signed a book with his finger. Comparing the signatures of persons made after an interval of 20 years he proved that time makes no such material difference as to affect the utility of the plan. There is a marked difference between the marks of males and females.

GROWING BUFFALO HERDS.

Canadian Bison Promise to Become Quite Numerous in the Next Few Years.

The buffaloes are increasing in such proportions in Canada that they promise in the course of a few years to become again fairly abundant. Some time ago they threatened to become extinct, says a Quebec report.

The herd of woods buffaloes in the Peace river district has trebled in size under the protection afforded it by the Northwest mounted police. Five years ago it was estimated that there were not more than 80 buffaloes in the herd; now there are 400.

In appearance there is little difference between the woods buffalo and the plains buffalo. The former is merely a larger, richer-coated animal. It differs materially, however, in its habits from the subspecies which inhabited the plains, and which has undoubtedly passed away, except for the presence of a few animals in captivity and in the Yellowstone National park.

This species preferred the plain and traveled hundreds of miles in its annual migrations, while the Canadian buffalo shuns the prairie and migrates but little.

Babies the Fashion.

The princess of Wales has made babies fashionable in England. Children are supplanting lap dogs and silken-coated cats as drawing-room pets. How long the babies will rule no one can tell, but at present they are wearing the crown of popularity. There are three bright children in the palace of the princess of Wales—two boys and a flaxen, curly-haired little girl. These tots were left behind when the prince and princess went on the great colonial tour from which they but recently returned. And when they came home the glad welcome the royal mother received from her three children was so touching that the whole nation was put into a sympathetic mood. Now the princess is rarely seen without having one or more of her babies with her.

Americans in Hawaii.

In 1872 there were 889 Americans in the Hawaiian islands and 50,000 Hawaiians. In 1890 there were 4,000 Americans and 30,000 Hawaiians. The natives are a dying race. In 1900 the death rate among Hawaiians was 42.81 per 1,000; among Americans and Europeans 13.75.

Polish Population.

The Poles now number about 15,000,000 people, of whom perhaps 3,000,000 are in eastern Prussia, chiefly in the province of Posen; 4,000,000 in northeastern Austria, chiefly in the province of Galicia, and about 8,000,000 in the extreme western part of Russia.

SMART EVENING GOWNS.

Crepeline, Eolienne and Grenadine Are Favorite Materials.

There are many soft and pretty materials which can be smartly trimmed with transparencies and lace motifs to form effective and not too costly evening gowns. Crepeline is one of these; eolienne is another. Both have gained the approval of women with moderate incomes on account of their cheapness, together with their silky texture.

Creamy white lace robes are mounted on colors or on a yellowish biscuit tint, relieved with touches of black. Scarfs of black chiffon, motifs or insertions of black lace and runnings of black velvet are all employed on the white lace gown.

The new embroideries on gauze are especially suitable for evening toilets. These form scrolls inclosed in frames of lace and are embellished with colored jewels, beads or sequins, sparingly employed. Medallions of embroidered lisse or painted gauze on satin is arranged in similar fashion, forming a continuous trimming, which can be detached for sprays, groups and motifs.

The smart evening gown illustrated is made of silk grenadine. The skirt has four ruffles, headed by a fanciful application composed of tucks and lace. The waist has a toothed bolero over a full blouse of tucking. The elbow sleeves have underpuffs. There is a corsage decoration of differently shaded roses. JUDIC CHOLLET.

LACE NOVELTIES.

Embroidered Lace—The New Chiffon Boas.

The latest thing in allover lace shows a design of flowers embroidered in colored silk.

The new chiffon boas are flat instead of round and fall away from the neck. Accordion plaited chiffon is cut in vandykes and finished with baby velvet, narrow ruching or a fringe of small blossoms or rose petals. The combination of plaited taffeta and fine lace is very smart, especially when completed by long scarf ends of lace to match.

Lace collars are very popular and are to be seen on almost every garment. Irish crochet and tatted laces are the favorites, and big Richelieu collars of Irish lace are worn by those whose figures will allow them. The combination of creamy Irish lace and black and white chiffon is very smart, and a chou of velvet in pale pink or blue makes a dainty finish.

A tasteful dress is shown in the illustration. It is made of allover lace. The blouse waist has a surplice neck, and the opening is brought from right to left. The sleeves are elbow length and tight fitting. The skirt opens over an underdress of white chiffon edged with many ruffles. The girdle is of white louisine ribbon, with long ends hanging down the front, which are knotted twice. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE FASHIONABLE COIFFURE

No One Fixed Style Is to Be Observed This Summer.

There will be no hard and fast rule about dressing the hair this summer. In Paris it is once more going up on top of the head, for this style is much more becoming to the average Frenchwoman. Society women are wearing it both ways. For day wear under a hat there is no doubt that a low coiffure is more becoming, but there are few women who have a sufficiently classical profile to wear it low without the hat. Generally a woman looks best with her hair drawn up on the top of her head because it gives becoming lines at the back and sides.

The long empress curl should only be worn with a very dressy costume. There is something very ludicrous about this style of hairdressing when seen with ordinary clothes.

The tulle rosette has supplanted the rose as a hair ornament, and the aigret is regaining its former popularity.

A white veiling gown is shown in the picture. The waist has a tucked yoke, and through the lace collar a narrow velvet ribbon is drawn. The rest of the waist is draped surplice fashion. The sleeves are full and are gathered into lace cuffs. The skirt has three tucked ruffles, headed by three insertions. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MILLINERY ADVICE.

The Summer Girl Will Need a Hat to Go With Each Gown.

The girl who aspires to be smartly dressed will need a multitude of hats this summer. First, she will want an all white hat and an all black one. The all black hat is prettiest made of chiffon or with a straw top faced with shirred or tucked chiffon. For trimming, the latest thing is a huge black silk poppy with its buds. Two or at the most three of these are used on a hat. They are placed close to the brim on the left hand side. Very picturesque and becoming hats are made of black mousseline de soie frillings.

For the white hat nothing can be prettier that the mohair lace straws with flaring, upturned brims faced with chiffon. The trimming can be simple, consisting of a scarf of fine lace and a soft bow of white louisine ribbon.

Then, to be in style, she should have a hat for every color of gown she wears. These hats may be only picture shapes trimmed with a wreath of flowers, and they really need not be at all expensive.

For the everyday hat to be worn with the tailor made a rough white straw with an upturned brim and a short back is almost sure to be becoming. This can be trimmed simply with a black or white chiffon veil having long, graceful ends.

The pretty outing hat in the illustration is made of rough straw. The brim is draped with a lace veil, and a velvet ribbon is passed around the crown and held in place by a jeweled buckle. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE STURGIS WAGER

A DETECTIVE STORY.

By EDGAR MORETTE.

Copyright, 1899, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

"The man who is capable of these crimes, and of any others which might serve to remove an obstacle from his way is—"

The reporter did not finish his sentence. He suddenly grasped his companion by the arm and stood transfixed, his eyes dilated, his neck craned in a listening attitude, every muscle tense like those of a wild animal in ambush about to spring upon its approaching prey.

Presently a click was heard as though a bolt had been shot from its socket.

"Draw your revolver!" Sturgis whispered hoarsely to his companion. "Quick!—Look there!"

At the same time he drew his own weapon and pointed in the direction of the door at the head of the stairs. The door opened and a man entered, quietly smoking a cigar.

"Dr. Murdock!" exclaimed Sprague with horror.

Murdock, still holding the door ajar, eyed the two men for an instant, his impassive face betraying not the slightest sign of emotion. Then, taking his cigar from his lips:

"Ah, gentlemen," he drawled, in his ironical way, "I am delighted to see

"AH, GENTLEMEN, I AM DELIGHTED TO SEE YOU."

you. I trust you will make yourselves perfectly at home for a few minutes. I shall return directly. You can continue to work out your little problem in the meantime, Mr. Sturgis."

With these words he calmly turned to leave the room.

"Stop!" shouted Sturgis, leveling his revolver at Murdock's head; "stand where you are or I fire!"

The reporter's shot rang out almost before he had finished his sentence; but Murdock, unscathed, passed out of the room, closing the door behind him.

Sprague, dazed by the rapidity with which this scene had been acted, stood rooted to the spot, without having made any attempt to use the revolver which he had drawn at Sturgis' bidding.

The reporter sprang up the stairs and threw his weight against the door. But it was doubtless intended to withstand great shocks, for it remained unshaken.

"Check!" came the sound of a mocking voice from the other side of the door.

Then, rushing down the stairs again, Sturgis shouted to his companion:

"Come quick! We must get out of here!"

And he led the way through the subterranean passage toward the cellar of the Manhattan Chemical company.

CHAPTER XXI.

THE DEATH CHAMBER.

Before the men had gone many steps a grating sound reached their ears from the direction of the skylight. They looked up and saw sliding steel shutters slowly and ponderously close, like grim jaws; and suddenly they felt themselves cut off from the outside world.

Sturgis, taking up his lighted candle, made his way to the door of the subterranean passage and tried in vain to open it; the heavy iron bolt remained immovable in its socket. Inch by inch he scrutinized the door with growing anxiety. At last he abandoned the search and returned in the direction of the square chamber.

"That explains why he wanted to shut me in here when I was in his office," he muttered under his breath.

"What is the matter?" asked Sprague.

"We are caught like rats in a trap," replied Sturgis. Then with feeling he added: "I do not know how this will end, old man. I have bungled, and I fear the game is lost. If our lives are the forfeit, you will owe your death to my stupidity."

Sprague looked at his friend, as if surprised to hear him apparently abandon the fight.

"Don't worry about me," he said, kindly; "I came here of my own free will. But," he added, as a vision of Agnes Murdock flashed upon his mind, "I have no intention to die just yet, if I can help it. Are we not both able-bodied men and armed? What can one man do against two?"

"It is not an open fight," said Sturgis, "but I am glad to see your spirit. I do not give up; but I want you to realize that we are in a critical situation, with the odds enormously against us."

"Why, what can Murdock do?"

"Perhaps what he did to Chatham. It will probably not be long before we discover what that was."

"But there must be some way of opening that door from the inside," said Sprague.

"There evidently is none," replied Sturgis; "he probably controls these doors from the outside by electrical connection."

The men were back in the square chamber. Sturgis' eyes were moving restlessly over the walls, ceiling and floor in search of a loophole of escape.

"There is no chance to reach the skylight without a ladder; and even if we could reach it, we should be no further advanced, as it would be impossible to make any impression on the steel shutters. That leaves the register and the speaking tube. While I examine the register, suppose you try the tube. If it connects with the Manhattan Chemical company's office, there is a bare chance that we may attract the attention of the detectives whom we left there."

"As we were saying, Mr. Sturgis—"

The words came in Murdock's mocking tones.

Sturgis quickly held the lighted candle above his head and peered in the direction whence came the sound. A panel of the door at the head of the stairs had been pushed up, revealing a small opening, covered by a strong and closely-woven wire netting.

"As we were saying, 'murder will out!' Nevertheless, it is sometimes easier to weld a chain, even of circumstantial evidence, than it is to predict who will be bound in it."

Sturgis and Sprague stood in the glimmering light of the candle, silently watching the glowing eyes behind the screen.

"Mr. Sturgis, you are a clever man," continued Murdock, "an uncommonly clever man. I frankly admit that I had underrated your ability. But then we are all fallible, after all. I made my share of blunders, as you seem to have discovered; but you will doubtless now concede that your own course has not been entirely free from errors. And now that we have reached the conclusion of this interesting game, I have the honor to announce: 'Mate in one move!' Perhaps you are surprised that I should take the trouble to explain the situation to you so clearly. I do so in recognition of your superior intelligence. I see in you a peer. If matters could have been so arranged, I should have been proud to work in harmony with such a man as you; and indeed, when a short time ago I invited you to my laboratory, it was my intention to offer you a compromise which I hoped I might be able to persuade you to accept. I felt that you would prove an ally who could be trusted. But, alas, that is impossible now, on account of your friend's presence. With all due respect to Mr. Sprague, as an amiable man of the world and a prince of good fellows, it may be said that he is not one of us. Much to my sorrow, therefore, I am left no alternative to the course I am about to adopt. The fault, if anybody's, is your own, after all, Mr. Sprague. There is a homely but expressive adage concerning the danger of 'monkeying' with a buzz saw. Why, my dear friend, did you 'monkey' with Mr. Sturgis' buzz saw, instead of sticking to your palette and maulstick?

"But I fear I am growing garrulous, gentlemen. If I had time, I should like to explain to Mr. Sturgis the details of some of the more important, and, in my humble opinion, more brilliant schemes of which I have been the—ah—the promoter; for I dislike to be judged by the bungling operations which have so nearly caused me to lose this latest little game. But this cannot be. I shall have to continue to confide to the pages of my journal, as I have done for years, the interesting events of, I may say, a somewhat remarkable career, which I hope will some day, after my death, find their way in print to public favor. My dream has always been that some such man as Mr. Sturgis might ultimately edit these memoirs; but, alas, the fondest of human dreams are seldom destined to be realized.

"Now, then, gentlemen, before finally parting with you, I wish to honorably carry out the terms of my wager with Mr. Sturgis. I concede the fact that, to all intents and purposes, he has won the bet, and I authorize you, Mr. Sprague, as stakeholder, to pay him the amount I deposited with you. As I have already suggested, he has made some perhaps excusable mistakes; but, then, as he himself stated the other night, 'a detective has a lifetime in which to correct a blunder.' A lifetime! It is not in accordance with Mr. Sturgis' usual practice to use so vague a term. A lifetime is not necessarily a very long time, Mr. Sturgis."

During this tirade Sturgis and Sprague had remained standing with their eyes fixed upon the gleaming carbuncles which peered at them from behind the grated peephole at the top of the stairs. The artist seemed to realize that the fight was lost. His attitude was that of a brave man accepting, with calm despair, an unpleasant but inevitable doom. The reporter had drawn his revolver at the first sound of Murdock's voice, but had immediately returned it to his pocket upon realizing that the chemist was protected by a bullet-proof grating. Now, pale and collected, he remained inscrutable. It was impossible, even for the sharp eyes of Murdock, to determine whether he was at last resigned to his fate, or whether his active mind was still on the alert for a loophole of escape.

TO SUCCEED ROBERTS.

Duke of Connaught, King's Brother, Will Become Commander-in-Chief of British Army.

There have been rumors for some time that Lord Roberts had had all he wanted of the office of commander-in-chief of the British army, but no definite statement has been made on the subject.

From one of the half-dozen men who should be able to speak authoritatively on the subject, it is learned that the rumor is not only correct, but that the date set by Lord Roberts is April, and that the king's only remaining brother, the duke of Connaught, will be the successor of the hero of Kandahar in time to cut a big figure at the coronation. The late Queen Victoria could see no reason why the army should not remain in the family, and was most anxious that the duke of Connaught should succeed the aged duke of Cambridge when public sentiment demanded the retirement of the latter.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT.
(To Be Appointed Commander in Chief of the British Army.)

When her plans were defeated and the appointment of Lord Wolseley became necessary, she contented herself with the thought that at last her son could succeed Lord Wolseley. But Lord Roberts' capture of Cronje, and the resulting wave of popular enthusiasm, and the equally strong conviction that the war office must be reformed again, defeated the queen's wishes, and Lord Roberts was made commander-in-chief.

But the abrupt removal of Gen. Buller by Lord Roberts caused a revolution in feeling, and for the first time in his life the beloved "Bobs" heard hisses mingled with the cheers sent up in his honor whenever he appeared in public.

That was a bitter experience for a man so fond of popularity, and is said to be one of the causes of his intention to resign. Another is his discovery that he is quite unable to cut the red tape that is bound so tightly around the war office by its civilian force.

And so at last the duke of Connaught is to have his long-looked-for chance. He is a clever, kindly and popular man, who has the reputation of being a really good soldier, quite aside from his royal prestige. Then, beside, it would be quite beneath his dignity to go pottering about with reforms in the war office.

Things could go on peaceably in the good old way, and the secretary of war could manage matters in any way he chose, without interference from the military end of the office. The duke's personal popularity is thought to be great enough to overcome any popular feeling that a more brilliant, energetic and forceful man should be placed at the head of the army.

PLUCKY MISS ADAMS.

Will Tour the Country with Bernhardt and Play Romeo and Juliet in French.

Miss Maude Adams and Mme. Sarah Bernhardt will make a joint tour in "Romeo and Juliet," but the play will be given in French. According to the original arrangement Mme. Bernhardt was again to show her versatility by touring America with Miss Adams and playing Romeo in English, the entire company to speak that language, but the French actress for once found it impossible to carry out her ambitious plans. She has sent word to Mr. Grau that she must put down her English book as presenting an impossible task. Either the tour must be abandoned or "Romeo and Juliet" must be played in French. When Mr. Frohman, her manager, wrote to Miss Adams of the situation she promptly telegraphed: "I'll do it in French. Who's afraid?"

MISS MAUDE ADAMS.
(American Actress Who Will Play in French with Bernhardt.)

CHEMISTRY AND THE METALS.

The Composite Parts of Each Kind of Ore Are Now Very Easily Ascertained.

The chemical laboratory is the workshop of the modern magician, and in it are wrought wonders which not so very long ago would have been regarded as miraculous. In fact, though chemistry is very ancient and has been called the mother of sciences, it had little more than an experimental status at the beginning of the present century. Since then its growth has revolutionized human knowledge, says the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Take the subject of metals, for instance. At the beginning of this century the known methods for separating metals from their ores were purely experimental, not being founded upon any exact knowledge. Now, on the other hand, the composition of each kind of ore can be readily ascertained, and so it may be calculated to a certainty just what proportions of ore, flux and fuel should be mixed together in order to secure the best results.

Next comes the problem of utilizing these metals for commercial purposes, and in each case chemistry affords the solution of all difficulties.

Modern metallurgy is a chemical art. All improvements in the manufacture of steel, for example, have their origin in chemical knowledge. In order to find out how to make good steel, it is necessary to know in what elements and properties it differs from bad steel, and from this knowledge the metallurgist has had to work up. And this is only one illustration among a great number.

A DUCK-HUNTING ENGINE.

Locomotive on a Southern Railway That Provided Game Dinners for the Train Crew.

Said a railroad engineer a day or two ago: "The average man has no idea how many animals and birds are killed every year by the cars. If you will walk along a railroad you will see toads, frogs and snakes almost every mile that have been cut in two by the engine.

"But these are not the only forms of animal life that suffer. I have run down woodchucks, raccoons, squirrels, hedgehogs and pretty nearly every other sort of small animal. Once I saw a ruffled grouse sitting on the track, just as the birds will sometimes sit in front of a wagon on the highway. It waited and did not seem at all afraid. When at last the engine did get up the engine was so close that it struck the bird, tossed it to one side, dead.

"But the strangest experiences I ever had were in the south," continued the engineer, according to the New York Times. "I was running an engine on the Queen & Crescent road, which goes through Lake Pontchartrain on a long trestle. Ducks and other water fowl were numerous on the lake and the sight of a headlight seemed to attract them, just as the light in a lighthouse attracts many birds. One night we struck a flock of ducks which smashed into the engine and cab as though it were raining them from the clouds. They broke the forward windows of the cab, and we gathered up enough ducks for two good, big game dinners."

WOMAN WORKS AS COBBLER.

Pegs Shoes on the Bench with Her Husband All Day and Plays the Piano at Night.

Grand Rapids, Mich., has a woman cobbler, the only one in the state, if not in the country. She is Mrs. Nellie Harmer, states the Chicago Inter Ocean.

In the big factories women are, to be sure, employed to do certain parts of the work in making a pair of shoes by machinery, but none of them has to do what Mrs. Harmer does. She has worked on the bench beside her husband for the past seven years and is proficient in every phase of the cobbler's art from stitching a rip in a lady's kid shoe to pegging a sole in a cowboy's boot. She learned the trade from her husband.

Ten years ago they came from Canada and Mr. Harmer opened a little shop in Grand Rapids. Being a skilled workman he soon had a brisk little business established, but he could not get competent help. It was then that his wife came to his aid and said that she would learn the business.

In the rear of their place of business their living apartments have been fitted up. These include a piano, books and pictures. Mrs. Harmer is pretty and not yet 30. She is the mother of three children, two boys and a girl. She is said to be as good a musician as she is a cobbler.

Seasickness.

A veteran sea captain has this to say as to how seasickness affects women: "They suffer more generally than men, but they don't make such a fuss about it. A man goes to bed, where he passes the time groaning and swearing until he is able to come on deck again. A woman fights the malady until she can fight no longer. Then she becomes quickly maudlin and pathetic. Almost invariably she asks three questions: 'Do people die of seasickness?' 'How far are we from shore?' 'How long before we shall land?' When a man is good and sick he doesn't care when he is going to land—rather hopes that the ship will go down, in fact."

Free Postal Delivery.

The free delivery postal system is only 38 years old, having been inaugurated in 1863 under Postmaster General Montgomery Blair, of Maryland, with 685 letter carriers, distributed among 45 of the principal cities, and 60 offices. There are now 866 offices and 16,389 carriers.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 16—The local ball team met its first defeat of the season Saturday at the hands of the Garwood club on the home diamond, by the close score of 10 to 9. Scotch Plains by making 4 runs in the ninth, almost pulled the game out of the fire. They batted Hegeman in this inning all over the field. For the locals Harvey pitched a good game and was well held by Ashcraft. Hegeman and Glendall performed battery honors for Garwood.

At a meeting of the Underwood A. A., held Saturday afternoon, the following elections took place: Captain of the 1903 baseball team, William Doane; captain of this season's football team; captain of this season's hockey team, Jack Douglas.

HILLSIDE WON.

Golf Team Defeated Hackensack Club on Latter's Course—Abbott Broke Course Record.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team defeated the Hackensack team at Hackensack Saturday, by a score of 16 to 1. Robert Abbott made a new record for the course, his medal score being 81, and F. O. Reinhart made 82. The summary:

Hillside—Reinhart, 3; Wadsworth, 0; N. P. Rogers, Jr., 0; Wright, 0; Abbott, 6; Stockton, 2; Dumont, 4; T. R. VanBoskerck, 1. Total, 16.

Hackensack—Calder, 0; Moffat, 0; Whitebeck, 0; Temple, 1; Hollenyack, 0; Cowee, 0; Shotwell, 0; Smith, 0. Total, 1.

CARS ALL STOPPED.

Power For Through Trolley Cars Gave Out Last Evening—One Motorman Found Too Much.

James Gallagher, of Lee place, a motorman on the Elizabeth line, was shocked by a live wire which he grasped, last night, near Embree Crescent, at Westfield. He was assisted to Muhlenberg Hospital but afterward declined to remain and was taken home.

The cars of the through line were tied up for over an hour, late last night, by a suspension of power. Great inconvenience was caused hundreds of people all along the line who were making an effort to reach home.

WOMEN IN CHARGE.

The Women's Veteran Relief Union Gave An Entertainment.

A pleasant social and entertainment was given Friday evening under the auspices of the Women's Veteran Relief Union. During the evening there were vocal solos by Mrs. John Manley, recitations by Charles M. Raybert, W. F. Richards and John Manley and Miss Clara Weber, instrumental selections by Dr. Berg and Miss Berg, and addresses by Col. J. R. Naylor and John Goodwin.

After the entertainment refreshments were served by Miss Lida Day, Mrs. John R. Naylor, Mrs. Charles Westphal, Mrs. Charles B. Stephens and Mrs. Wm. Bechtel.

Netherwood Formally Opened.

The Hotel Netherwood was formally opened Saturday evening under most auspicious circumstances, a large number of guests having already registered for the season. The first hop will be held next Saturday evening.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

Another interesting event of the afternoon was the approaching and putting contest, mixed couples, for the Schoonmaker cup. Miss Gladys Kaufman and Dudley H. Barrows won the event. Play will continue for this cup during June and August and at the end of August the eight winners will play off.

The scores in this event were as follows:

Miss Gladys Kaufman and Dudley H. Barrows, 8; Miss May Evans and Jan vanHerwerden, 9; Mr. and Mrs. Evarts Tracy, 9; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Ackerman, 9; Mrs. J. R. Blake and C. W. Abbott, 9; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moore, 10; Miss Edna Goddard and and E. A. Pinto, 10; Miss Gilmore and E. H. Ladd, Jr., 10.

Gave Farewell Luncheon.

Lawrence, Mellick and Jose Tweedy gave a large course luncheon to their friends at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Clubhouse last Friday evening, prior to their departure on Saturday for their father's ranch in Texas. Their aunts, the Misses Tweedy, were the hostesses. Kenneth Bulkley, their cousin, and C. Ames Brooks will also spend the summer in Texas with them.

Found Diamond in Chicken.

While cleaning a chicken for dinner, yesterday morning, Mrs. Jacob Cose, of Grant avenue, found in the craw a bright, shining substance. It was pronounced to be a diamond by several members of the family to whom she showed it and a local jeweller confirmed their opinion upon examination, this morning. His proffer of $100 for the stone was refused.

Bicycles All Returned.

The three boys who stole as many wheels from Leal's School yard, Friday afternoon, were given a hearing before Justice Nash, Saturday evening. Each pleaded guilty but sentence was suspended during good behavior. The wheels were all returned to the boys to whom they belonged.

Henry DeMott Captured Runaway.

A horse belonging to Walter Apgar, attached to a carriage in which Mr. Apgar was seated, ran away on Somerset street this morning. The animal was captured by Henry DeMott near the corner of Somerset place.

Didn't Press Complaint.

Florence Tuttle, the young girl who forged a check, was placed on trial before Justice Nash, Saturday afternoon. No one appeared to press the complaint and the charge against her was dismissed.

Took Doctor's Dog.

Someone, with an eye for dog flesh, yesterday appropriated a young fox-terrier pup, belonging to Dr. Dundon, Somerset street. The terrier was a prized animal and the doctor offers a reward for his return.

THE POLICE FORCE INSPECTED

COUNCILMEN SAID PLEASANT THINGS ABOUT FINE SHOWING MADE.

Policemen Drilled Under Command of Chief Kiely—Annual Inspection of Force.

The annual inspection of the Plainfield police department took place in the Marsh building, Saturday afternoon. With the exception of Doorman McCue and Patrolman Patrick Flannagan, who is confined to his home by illness, the entire force participated.

Chief Kiely was in charge and with his men, looked resplendent in a handsome new uniform. The drill was witnessed by Councilmen Buckle, Coriell and Gloak, City Judge William N. Runyon, newspapermen and a number of prominent citizens.

The councilmen each addressed a few words to the force, in which they complimented the members for the fine showing and the general good order maintained in the city.

Through a misunderstanding, Mayor Jenkins was unable to be present, but he met the force shortly after the inspection at police headquarters. He then addressed the men and echoed the sentiments expressed by the councilmen.

AFTER THE INSURANCE.

Sons Fail to Agree Concerning Its Division Between Them.

George H. Jones, a son of the late Mrs. Scott Wallace, has retained William Newcorn as counsel to adjust the settlement of the life insurance on Mrs. Wallace's life amounting to $500.

According to Jones, Mrs. Wallace a short time before she died assigned $450 of the $500 to him and the balance, $50, to another son, Lewis Harris. Jones filed his claim with the insurance company, when Harris and Rev. Scott Wallace filed objections, claiming that a $250 bill owing Dr. Anderson is to be paid out of the amount. They claim that Mrs. Wallace said she wanted the amount equally divided between the two sons. Mr. Newcorn will endeavor to adjust the matter.

Field Secretary Spoke.

Rev. C. L. Boothby, field secretary of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League preached in the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday morning. "The New Way to Grapple With the Evils of the Saloon," was Mr. Boothby's topic and he handled his subject in a masterly and practical manner.

Lunched at the Netherwood.

Chas. T. Kilhorne, of Orange, N.J., a member of the N.Y. stock exchange, brought a party of nine boys of the Orange Y. M. C. A. to lunch at the Hotel Netherwood Saturday.

Dance at Hillside Club.

A small dance arranged by Mrs. Lucius Ryce was given at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Clubhouse last Friday evening. Pound, of New York, furnished the music.

Thos. Marsh, of the Bronx, returned home Saturday after spending a week's vacation with C. J. Smith, of Somerset street.

HOPES SCORED WINNING RUN

Works in the fifth when errors in the field after two men were out gave Y. M. C. A. a clean gift of five runs.

At the outset the game promised to be clean and close throughout. Consecutive singles by Burns and Cooney, with sharp base running and an error in the field netted Safe Works two runs in the third. Bolsterle's two-bagger Symons fumbled, and Hand's single were responsible for Y. M. C. A.'s tally in the fourth.

With the score two to one in favor of Safe Works, Y. M. C. A. in the fifth after two men were out, piled up five runs. Barnes flied out to Franklin, Moore fanned, then Booth muffed Geo. Dupee's fly and the fun began. R. Schoonmaker hit to short. A throw wild brought him as far as third and Dupee home. Bolsterle hit safe, scoring Schoonmaker, stole second, and tallied on Egan's double. Hand followed with a safe slash, sent Egan to third, stole second, and both galloped home on George Schoonmaker's single. Then Charlie Dupee fanned leaving Schoonmaker on third; score 6 to 2.

Consecutive doubles by Jackson and Franklin gave Safe Works a score in the eighth. In the first half of the ninth Burns came up and hit to left. Hand muffed, and Burns got to second on Cooney's safe one. Jackson followed with a hot grounder to first, Egan fumbled and threw wild to Moore, bringing Cooney and Burns in and allowing Jackson to make the whole circuit and tie the score.

Moore came to bat in the last half and laced out a single, stole second, went to third on Geo. Dupee's safe slam and scored with the winning run on R. Schoonmaker's base hit.

Both sides gave a kaleidoscopic exhibition of weird playing at times. Fielding was ragged and Y. M. C. A. lost some grand opportunities for stolen bases. Dupee had slightly the better of the pitching battle, allowing only seven hits to Burns', twelve. Burns, however, struck out eleven men to Dupee's six. Dupee put three strikes on one other man with which he is not credited, an assist being given to Moore.

MISS BLAKE'S TURKEYS.

They Got Hold of a Demijohn of Whisky and Grapes and Accumulated a First-Class Jag.

Miss Sallie Blake, who lived near Chesapeake Beach, Calvert county, Md., is well remembered by natives of that county who now live in Baltimore. This story of the lady and her turkeys is vouched for by one of her former neighbors, says the Baltimore Sun:

Miss Blake, like many country people, was in the habit of gathering chicken-grapes in the fall for the purpose of making a palatable and stimulating decoction by pouring over the grapes the proper quantity of whisky and allowing the mixture to stand for the necessary time. It happened on one occasion after the contents of a demijohn containing the decoction had been exhausted that Miss Blake emptied the whisky soaked grapes on the ground, where her fine brood of turkeys gobbled them up.

The turkeys became drunk—so drunk, in fact, that they were soon lying on the ground sleeping off their jag. Miss Blake, not realizing the cause of their stupor, thought they were dead. In order to realize as much as possible out of the supposed dead turkeys, she had them picked so as to get the feathers, and the carcasses were thrown outdoors. The next morning Miss Blake was surprised to see her turkeys walking about. They were alive, it is true, but such a spectacle as they presented, with only their tail and wing feathers, she had never seen before. In order to protect them from the cold, she bought enough red flannel to make each of them a comfortable coat to replace the feathers. The turkeys were soon stalking about wearing their red coats, and were the wonder of all beholders.

MANIAC IN CHURCH.

He Seized a Crucifix and Ran Wildly Through the Congregation Beating the Air.

With a large brass crucifix in his hands and flourishing it to ward off an animal he imagined was after him, Peter Miller ran wildly through St. Philomena's church, at Pittsburg, Pa., during a funeral mass the other morning.

Miller walked into the church with some other men and took a seat near the altar. During the service he jumped up and shouted that rats and snakes were after him. He rushed through the church like a maniac trying to escape from his imaginary pursuers.

The side doors were locked, but Miller ran to them and tried to force them. When they refused to yield he ran to the altar and seized the crucifix. With this held high in the air he again rushed round the church, screaming for some one to deliver him from his persecutors. He then stopped at the door leading from the church to the residence of the priests and tried to hammer it down with the crucifix.

Men who had tried to restrain him then jumped upon him and bore him to the floor, where they held him until the arrival of police. The interrupted mass then continued. Miller is crazy.

EVERYTHING WAS FOR FOWLER LAST NIGHT

Delegates Elected at Republican Primaries Held in Union County Last Night.

NOT A SINGLE CONTEST.

ONLY EXCITEMENT WAS DOWN IN THE SECOND WARD PRIMARY.

There the Bryant School Was Not Opened and the Politicians Gathered Out on the Steps in the Rain—The Results.

The Republicans of Union county held their primaries last evening to elect delegates to the Congressional convention, which will be held at Belvidere, Saturday. As was expected, the entire county was unanimous for a renomination for Congressman Fowler and no attempt was made to turn him down. In the city, the rainy weather and the "sure thing" combined to make the attendance small and the primaries passed off very quietly. The Second ward furnished the only excitement of the evening by meeting out of doors.

FIRST WARD.

The First ward primary was held in the old city clerk's office, 109 Park avenue, and it was a very quiet and tame affair. There were in all twenty-six voters in attendance between the hours of 8 and 8:30 o'clock. Councilman J. F. Buckle was chairman of the primary, H. G. Adams, clerk; A. J. Stiglitz, secretary; William A. Millard, judge; Ernest A. Millard and C. A. Stadler, inspectors.

This ward is entitled to five delegates and those elected were James T. MacMurray, S. P. T. Wilbur, James F. Buckle, Amos Andrews and H. C. VanEmburgh. There was no contest at the primary and the meeting closed promptly at 8:30.

SECOND WARD.

There was no working behind closed doors at the Second ward Republican primary last evening. The closed doors were there but the members of the G. O. P. happened to be on the wrong side of them. The primary had been called to meet in the Bryant School building but the janitor did not appear and the dampened politicians gathered on the steps.

When the hour of 8 o'clock came along, the business meeting was called to order right there by City Judge Wm. N. Runyon, of the county committee. City Treasurer W. F. Arnold was made chairman and Armstrong Mulford secretary. The delegation was instructed to fill vacancies and then the business meeting adjourned. Fred M. Letson acted as inspector, J. Hervey Doane as judge and Chas. C. Davis as clerk. A hat served as ballot box.

When it was over, the ballots were counted by the light of burning matches and the officers announced that the following ticket had been unanimously elected, eleven votes being cast:

S. A. Ginna, George J. Cose, Armstrong Mulford, Edward Willis, Geo. P. Mellick and William N. Runyon.

THIRD WARD.

At the Third ward primaries held in the Casino R. F. Murray was elected chairman of the meeting; R. Rushmore, clerk and secretary; J. E. Kimball, inspector; B. F. Coriell, judge. The following were the unanimous choice as delegates: C. J. Fisk, E. R. Ackerman, F. W. Runyon, T. O. Doane, John Cose, Robert Rushmore.

FOURTH WARD.

Despite the inclemency of the weather, a large number of voters from the Fourth ward were at Reform Hall when the meeting was called to order by Assemblyman William Newcorn. The following elections were then made: Chairman, Andrew McCardell; secretary, Clarence L. Murphy; judge of election, Frank H. Smith; inspector, Fred Huff.

The following were unanimously elected delegates: William Newcorn, Joseph Noonan, Clarence L. Murphy, Robert L. Lee, Charles H. Dunham, Henry D. Thompson, Frank D. Randolph and John Traynor. A total vote of 75 was cast.

Dr. Charles G. Davis, of Park avenue, will leave today to attend the commencement exercises of the University of Pennsylvania, of which he is a graduate. He will remain until Thursday.

WORK OF YEAR.

Principal Wightman Reviewed It at the Borough Board of Education Meeting.

The North Plainfield Board of Education met last evening in the Borough High School. The usual routine business was transacted.

Dr. Buchanan was unanimously reappointed school physician for the ensuing year. The doctor's annual report showed that he had examined over 1,000 pupils, made weekly and bi-weekly inspection of the classes, and gave short talks to the teachers on the subject of sanitation.

Principal Homer J. Wightman reviewed the work of the past year; his report showed that 1,206 pupils had been enrolled, 135 more than in the previous year. As far as can now be forecasted next season's work will open under still more auspicious circumstances.

The repair committee was authorized to proceed during the holiday months with any improvements that may be deemed necessary.

HILLSIDE DAY.

Members of Hillside Club Will be Entertained Saturday on Links of the Park Golf Club.

A general invitation has been given by the Park Golf Club to the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club to visit the home of the former club on the mountainside, Saturday. It will be known as Hillside Day at the Park Golf Club, an annual exchange of courtesies with the club at the other end of the city which has always proved a delightful affair in the past. No individual invitations have been issued, but all members of the Hillside Club will be cordially welcome on that occasion.

Plans have been made for a pleasant afternoon at the links and a number of competitions have been arranged. The course will, however, be open for play to the members of the Hillside Club all day. The chief event of the afternoon will be a team match between the two teams.

FOR GOOD CAUSE.

Contributions Received for King's Daughters Camp and the Fresh Air Camp.

Already contributions are being received from the people of Plainfield for the King's Daughters' camp on the mountain, for caring for sick babies during the summer, and for the fresh air camp to be opened at Netherwood, to be in charge of Miss Sara Curry. Any contributions for either one of these camps will be received at The Daily Press office and turned over to the proper ones appointed to receive them.

Today the following was received:

TWO CHANGES.

Rev. John C. Whiting Made Pastor of New Church in Bronx and is to Wed This Fall.

Many people in Plainfield will be interested in the announcement that Rev. John C. Whiting, formerly of this city, has become pastor of the Claremont Park Congregational church, Bronx borough, New York, which has recently been organized. There is considerable interest in the church, the attendance at the services being large.

Mr. Whiting is to be married early in September to Miss Isabel Seaman, of Millport, N. Y. They were associated in Christian work for three years in the Cornell Memorial church, she as a deaconess and he as assistant pastor. Mr. Whiting was graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1893 and from Amherst College in 1898.

NEXT SEASON'S LECTURES.

PREDICTS FOWLER'S ELECTION

UNITED STATES SENATOR JOHN KEAN TALKED ON NEW FIFTH DISTRICT.

Said Some Pleasant Things About the Present Congressman, and Said He Would Win.

Senator John Kean, who spent Sunday at his home in Elizabeth, took occasion to say a few pleasant things about Congressman Charles N. Fowler, whose re-election he predicts with much assurance. He sees no reason why Congressman Fowler should not win easily in the Fifth District and he has no doubts of Morris county giving a good Republican plurality, while in Warren county he did not believe that the Democrats would secure any where near the number of votes claimed by them.

To listen to Senator Kean one would never imagine there was any much thing as the Fowler-Kean factions now in Union county, and yet there are many persons who say that the hatchet has not been buried, but will show itself next November.

The Senator says there is no doubt but what President Roosevelt will win out in the Cuban matter. He also expressed pleasure over Quay's victory in Pennsylvania. Regarding Senator Dryden, Mr. Kean said that the man from Essex will be back in his seat next week.

HE NARROWLY MISSED DEATH

FRED BONHAM FELL ON THE TROLLEY TRACK BEFORE CAR.

Struck on Rail and Was Stunned—The Car Was Stopped Just in Time.

As Fred Bonham, of Watchung avenue, was riding his wheel along East Fifth street, near Richmond street, last evening, the gong of a trolley car in the rear caused him to vear to one side of the road, whereupon the front wheel of his bike struck a stony obstacle, causing the fork to break with a shark sudden snap. In a determined effort to balance himself, Bonham straightened up too quickly, with the result that his bike acted like a bucking bronco, and the rider was thrown heavily on his left shoulder, his head coming in sharp contact with the trolley rail.

It was only the great presence of mind of the motorman that averted a serious, perhaps a fatal accident. Although his car was speeding along at the usual rapid clip in that vicinity, he succeeded in bringing it to a standstill just as the fender was within a hair's breath of Bonham's head.

Bonham lay limp and motionless for a few seconds, and was to all appearances dead. A passer-by hurriedly procured a pitcher of cold water and after splashing a handful in the man's face, the latter opened his eyes and reached for a drink. He immediately revived and on seeing the blood on the rail, and the fender of the car in such close proximity, merely shrugged his shoulders and with insuperable coolness remarked "Gee, fellers, guess I was pretty near across the river that time!"

Bonham had an ugly wound over his left eye, and complained of a sore wrist. After covering the gash, which proved to be worse in appearance than in reality, with strips of court plaster, and receiving a general brushing up, the injured man proceeded on his way homeward afoot, taking the wheel by his side.

To Care for Surface Water.

It will be only a question of a short time when the city will have to make adequate provision at the corner of West Front street and Washington avenue for carrying off the surface water. The present arrangement does not carry off the water fast enough. Last Friday night the street at that point was flooded for a considerable length of time and only one side of the street was passable at all.

Miss Coleman to Wed.

Lieutenant Carter, U. S. A., a guest at the Hotel Netherwood, will be married in September to Miss May Coleman, daughter of Major Coleman, U. S. A. The marriage will take place at the Netherwood.

Contribution for Baby Camp.

The Daily Press received this morning from Mrs. Thomas Minford, 1327 Watchung avenue, $5 for the King's Daughters camp on the mountain, for caring for sick babies during the summer.

Quoit Tournament.

A quoit tournament will be started this evening by the members of Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle.

TALKED ON INTEMPERANCE

D. M. TORREY ADDRESSED ENDEAVORERS OF TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

Well-Known Banker Gave Examples of Its Dire Effects as He Had Seen Them.

The Christian Endeavor Society meeting at Trinity Reformed church last evening was one of deep interest to the few persons present. The inclement weather detained many and those who remained away missed a helpful and inspiring meeting. David M. Torrey, the well-known banker and broker of New York, conducted the meeting and spoke on the evils of intemperance.

Out of such a wide experience as Mr. Torrey has had, he is especially able to talk on this subject and he gave a graphic description of the evils of the drink habit as it exists in various parts of the country, but especially in New York. He told of the distress it brings to bright and happy homes, making them desolate and dreary. He told of the bright men and women in society who are ruined daily by the thousands through the curse of drink and of the untold misery that countless have to suffer in consequence.

In connection with this thrilling and vivid talk, Mr. Torrey offered as a panacea for this terrible habit the Word of God, and he said that person can only hope to escape from it through Christ who can strengthen and help the weak to become strong Christian men and women.

INSPECTED CUPS.

New Communion Cups for the First Baptist Church Examined and Preparations Made for Use.

The deacons of the First Baptist church, together with Contractor C. M. Wilson, met at the church last evening to examine the new communion set of individual cups and arrange for putting the same in position for use. The set includes eleven trays with provisions for sixty cups. By a slight movement of the hand the covers in the trays are elevated, exposing the cups so that they can easily be removed by an individual.

The cups are of glass and though very small are large enough for the purpose intended. The trays are made of cherry wood, handsomely polished. In each pew will be placed four small brackets to hold the cups after they are used. Two of these brackets will be placed each side of the book rack, where they will be most handy.

The officers of the church are very much pleased with the communion service and they are sure the members will welcome the change. This week Mr. Wilson will place the brackets in each pew and build a cabinet in which to place the service.

STONED TRAIN.

One Missile, Hurled by Small Boy, Cuts Open Head of a Somerville Commuter.

James Ferry, a five-year-old boy, was arrested by Roundsman Mattox, last evening, after he had hurled a stone through a window of the 5:30 train, as it was passing Richmond street. The missle struck a Somerville commuter and inflicted a gash on his forehead.

The boy was detained at police headquarters for a short time and was then released until some disposition can be made of his case. It is stated by the police that young as he is, Ferry is incorrigible and several times before has committed acts that would send an older boy to prison. He lives with his parents at the corner of Kensington and LaGrande avenues.

An Old, Old Story.

Dr. Dundon lost a valuable pet fox-terrier dog Sunday. Yesterday an ad. was inserted in The Daily Press offering a reward for the return of the animal to its owner. Within an hour after the paper was on the street Dr. Dundon was once more in possession of the terrier, a man who saw the ad having brought the dog home. He who runs may read the moral.

Too Hot to Study.

So oppressive was the heat yesterday that in all save one department of the North Plainfield High School, it was necessary to complete the day's work with one session. Never before had the atmosphere been found so oppressive and so unconducive for mental work as it was yesterday.

Alarm Taking Rest.

The clock attachment to the fire alarm whistle has been disconnected so that some repairs can be made, hence its silence for a time.

—Radcliffe Baldwin, a New York broker, has taken possession of the Humphrey property on Hillside avenue.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR UNION

DELEGATES WILL GO TO BLLVIDERE TOGETHER SATURDAY.

Train Leaves Plainfield at 9:35—Union County Headquarters at the Belvidere House.

A special train will carry the Union county delegates to the Congressional convention to be held at Belvidere, Warren county, Saturday. This train will leave Elizabeth at 9:15 o'clock in the morning and Plainfield at 9:35 o'clock. It will make the necessary stops to pick up delegates. The train will be in charge of Assistant Postmaster James White, of Elizabeth, and tickets will be on sale at the various stations. The round trip rate from Plainfield will be $2.16.

The train will make close connections at Phillipsburg, where the Morris county delegates will meet the Union county representatives. The Union county people will be accompanied by Drake's band, of Elizabeth.

The representatives from Union county will stop at the Belvidere House, while the Warren county delegates will put up at the Pequest House and the Morris county delegates will stop at the American House, where the headquarters will be located. The convention will be held in the Opera House and everything is now being prepared for the reception of the delegates.

PLANS FOR FAIR GROWING

FURTHER DETAILS FOR THE CELEBRATION ON INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Committee of Hope Y. M. A. Met Last Evening and Planned for Big Event.

Further plans for the Hope Y. M. A. county fair, which is to be held on Hope Common, Independence Day, were revealed at last evening's meeting of the committees having charge of the preliminary arrangements. At each conference held new and better ideas are advanced and when the glorious Fourth rolls around the Plainfield holiday crowd will not have to go out of town for entertainment.

The entertainment committee presented a detailed report, a feature of which was the engagement of a full brass band for the entire day. The evening's fun willl terminate with a grand concert to take place on the grounds. For the show part some excellent specialties have been engaged which will make up one of the best vaudeville performances ever presented under similar auspices. The programme will be repeated at intervals throughout the day in a large tent made especially for the purpose.

For the athletic committee, Albert Grieb reported the completing of the list of events to be held and entries will be asked for in a few days. Suitable prizes will be awarded the winner of each event.

A publicity department to properly place the attractions of the affair before the public was appointed to consist of William N. Runyon, George E. Firstbrook and Thomas Muir.

The meeting adjourned with the understanding that the members were to meet on the Common Thursday evening and select sites for their various attractions.

Good Artists.

Madame Marie Selika, the famous prima donna soprano, will appear at Reform hall, tomorrow evening, for the benefit of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church. She will be assisted by Signor Veloske, high baritone; Mrs. Henry Wentworth and Miss Alice Maynard. All are artists of exceptional merit and a most enjoyable evening's entertainment is promised.

Quarter Century for W. C. T. U.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be appropriately celebrated in Vincent chapel Thursday evening, June 26, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the New York W. C. T. U., will be the speaker of the evening.

To Wed at Netherwood.

Miss Norton, of New York, who has been a yearly guest at the Hotel Netherwood, and who is registered there this season also, will be married July 2 to Captain E. O. Sarratt, A. C. U. S. A., commander at Army Headquarters, Whitehall street, N. Y.

Lawn Festival.

The Ladies Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will hold a lawn festival at the home of Mrs. J. R. Truell on Central avenue, Wednesday evening.

—The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

RACE WAR.

Happened Between Neighbors on Race Street—Race to Justice's Office for Warrants.

Italians and negroes living on Race street, failed to agree on a matter of ethics this morning and a resort was made to the arbitrament of the fist and the missile.

The fracas began in the shape of a friendly debate over a backyard fence. In the midst of picturesque and fiery eloquence parliamentary usage was forgotten and when, it is said, Anne Jackson, colored, hurled wide of the mark a piece of slag at her neighbor from Naples, only the fence prevented more serious developments.

After things had cooled down a little, there was a general rush for warrants, each party wanting to have the other arrested for disorderly conduct. Justice Mattison, to whom application was made, had no jurisdiction to issue warrants for disorderly cases, and since the recorder is absent today, the truce may terminate in peace.

EARLY CLOSING ENDED.

Bound Brook Merchants Failed to Live Up to the Spirit and the Movement Meets Defeat.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 17—The early closing movement in this borough which began one week ago patterned after the Plainfield custom, has died in its infancy. LaRue Brothers, one of the first to suspend business early in the evening, saw concerns carrying the same line of goods inviting customers right along and last night they decided to remain open. When people started to enter the store they were approached by a clerk from a rival concern who besought them to stay away. The fellow received a reception from many of them which forced him to beat a retreat. At the same time he was standing in front of La Rue's, another store was letting customers in the back way. The LaRue firm will keep open hereafter.

YOUNG LAD DEAD.

George Voehl, Jr., Passed Away Yesterday Afternoon After a Long Illness—Was in Fourteenth Year.

Following an illness extending over a long period George Voehl, Jr., son of George Voehl, of West Front street, died at his home early yesterday afternoon. He had been failing for the past eight weeks and the end was not unexpected. Death was due to heart trouble.

The young lad was in his fourteenth year and was a general favorite with all who knew him. He was an attendant at the Franklin School until his illness compelled him to cease studying.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon and will be strictly private. Interment will be made in the Methodist cemetery.

TEAM LOST MONEY.

Although Baseball Was Not a Paying Thing at City High School, There is a Big Balance Left.

A meeting of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association was held yesterday morning to hear reports for the year. For the information of the members, the report of the baseball manager, Harold Nomer, was read. The receipts at the gate amounted at $159, and $48 was turned over to the treasurer of the association. The baseball team had already drawn more than that amount early in the season so that there was really no net gain for the entire season but rather a loss.

The financial condition of the association was, however, very satisfactory, thanks to the series of class entertainments given for its benefit during the spring. The treasurer, Hervey K. Doane, read his report which showed that a balance of $102 remained in the treasury.

ONE ARM FOR TWO.

Yet They Managed to Render a Delightful Musical Programme.

B. F. Lewis and Charles Gibbs, of Evansville, Ind., two accomplished musicians, furnished an evening's entertainment for the I. C. T. Club and its friends, last evening. It was one of the many informal affairs which the organizations has been holding weekly.

Both artists are crippled, one having no arms and the other but one, yet despite this fact they rendered excellent music on banjos and sing pleasingly. Lewis, with his one hand, plays the solo part of a selection, while Gibbs, by an attachment fastened to one of his stumps, picks an accompaniment. They also gave a number of other exhibitions of dexterity which were amazing.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD IS READY FOR BUSINESS

Many Guests at Hostelry on Hill and Many More Are Booked to Come.

FIRST HOP SATURDAY.

BIG HOTEL WAS FORMALLY OPENED SATURDAY OF LAST WEEK.

Some of the Prominent Guests Who Are Now Registered There—Many Will Spend the Summer—Others for Shorter Periods.

Hotel Netherwood formally opened for the season Saturday evening. Already a large number of guests are registered for the summer months, many of whom have taken up their quarters there within the past ten days. That the Netherwood has a national reputation goes without saying. Prominent people from almost every section of the union have engaged rooms for the season, and 1902 promises to be a record-breaker in the career of the famous hostelry on the hill.

Among the guests is Col. Starr, U. S. A., who, it will be remembered, was the gallant soldier who stood by Gen. Lawton's side when the latter was shot in an engagement in the Philippines. Another name on the register is that of Geo. H. Strout, who has been much in the public eye of late on account of a recent wealthy strike he made in the Alaska gold fields.

Thos. Brown, the genial and affable manager of the hotel, assisted by a large and efficient corps of clerks, has everything arranged in ship shape style. As far as equipment and accommodation is concerned, to say nothing of site and surroundings the Netherwood has few, if any equals, in the east. An orchestra will soon be installed to be retained throughout the summer.

The first function of the season will be held Saturday, June 21, the occasion being a hop, full dress. Similar affairs will be held on all following Saturday evenings. Absolutely no one will be admitted to these functions unless on presentation of tickets at the door.

Some of those at present registered at the hotel are: Thos. Jacka, president American Plate Glass Company, accompanied by his son and Mrs. Jacka, Jr., and their son; H. T. Lockwood, United States Express Company, registered till October; H. C. Mathews, a member of the Automobile Club, New York, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell; Geo. Clark, a prominent lawyer of New York and Mrs. Clark; W. Irving Comes and Miss Comes, Brooklyn; Dr. Geo. B. Hickok and Mrs. Hickok, New York; F. K. Misch, New York; Wm. H. Class, Mrs. Class, and W. H. Class, Jr., New York; Bertram Sears, a partner in the firm of Harvey Fisk's Sons, New York, and Mrs. Sears; Col. Starr, Mrs. Starr and Miss Norton, New York; Mrs. J. J. Shefer, Plainfield; R. Driscoll, Jr., and Miss Clara Driscoll, San Antonio, Texas; Captain E. O. Sarratt, U. S. A.; Lieut. Carter, U. S. A.; Westbrook L. Johnson and Mrs. Thorn, a sister, Brooklyn Heights; a party consisting of Geo. H. Strout, Mrs. Bailey and Miss Bailey, C. S. Rodgers and Mrs. Rodgers, New York; Geo. W. Arthur, a wealthy automobilist and prominent lawyer, New York; Chas. Gregory, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, Mrs. Gregory, Miss Helen Gregory and Miss F. A. Gress, Albert D. Mitchell, Butte City, Montana, and Mrs. Mitchell, Dublin, Ireland.

MET A POLE.

Mrs. N. P. Rogers' Electric Auto in Collision This Noon.

An electric automobile, steered by Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of East Front street, crashed into a telephone post at the corner of Park avenue and West Second street at noon today. Mrs. Rogers was guiding her machine along East Second street and when she reached Park avenue steered to one side of the road to make room for a passing team. At this point she lost control of the steering gear and the auto bounded up on the sidewalk plump against the pole, breaking the axle, twisting a wheel and injuring the dash. Mrs. Rogers escaped uninjured.

Quilting Party.

The women of the Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist church will hold a quilting party this afternoon.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Henry Potter, of New York, is spending a few days with friends in town.

Fred Dixon, of West Front street, spent Sunday with his sister at South Amboy.

Horace Huff, of Codington avenue, is entertaining his mother from Centerville.

Mr. and Mrs. William Douglass, of East Front street, have gone to Elberon for the summer.

Miss Catherine Wood, of Franklin place, has reached home after an extended European trip.

Henry B. Paul, of Central avenue, has gone to Atlantic City for a few weeks stay with friends.

Samuel Boss, of Craig place, has returned from a two months business trip through the southern States.

William Thickstun and family, of Central avenue, have gone to Belmar where they will remain for the summer.

Frank Miller, of South Amboy, has been visiting his brother, Rev. Father Miller, of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield.

J. T. Baker and family, of Stelle avenue, are preparing to leave shortly for Long Island where they will spend the summer.

Walter Phillips, of Spooner avenue, leaves tomorrow for Toronto, Canada, where he will spend several weeks with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, of Washington Prak, have returned home after a brief absence from their home.

Ben Evans, of Grant avenue, who recently recovered from a five weeks' illness with typhoid fever, is now able to take short walks each day.

Conductor Fahy, of the trolley company, who is at the hospital suffering from injuries received on Decoration Day, is very much improved.

D. H. Rowland and family, of West Seventh street, will leave this week for Norfolk, Va., where they will remain for the summer months.

Mrs. John McKeon, of West Front street, accompanied by her son Andrew, left today for New London, Conn., for a two weeks' stay with relatives.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

It now begins to look as though there was really something in the report that Lew Thompson may be a candidate for Congress in the new Fourth District. The Plainfield papers have declared that they can see no sense in nominating him.—Newark News.

A burglar on trial in Elizabeth acted as his own counsel, but the ability he displayed in conducting his case proved his undoing. It was unfortunate that he decided to put in mental irresponsibility as a defence. He showed his brightness so conclusively that the jury could do nothing else than find him guilty.—Newark News.

The Republican Congressional convention in the Fifth District is only nine days off, and the newspapers of Union county are becoming anxious as to the provision to be made for conveying the delegates from that county clear across the State to Belvidere. With the Fowler and Kean factions contending for supremacy, there should be no fear that anybody wanting to go the convention would have to wait for the gravel train.—Newark News.

Ready to Yield.

"I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for piles and found it a certain cure," says S. R. Meredith, Willow Grove, Del. Operations unnecessary to cure piles. They always yield to DeWitts Witch Hazel Salve. Cures skin diseases, all kinds of wounds. Accept no counterfeits. L. W. Randolph.

TALKED TO THE FARMERS

QUARTERLY MEETING OF SOMERSET COUNTY BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

Was Held at Somerville Saturday—Two Prominent Speakers Made Addresses.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 17—The quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture, in the Court House here, Saturday afternoon, was well attended. The two speakers were interesting and votes of thanks were tendered them.

B. C. Mitchell, of Brandamore, Pa., spoke of "Manures and Their Proper Application." In part, he said: "If you will save your manure and put it on right you can get great results. It will double the quantity of your crops. It holds the moisture on them and is therefore a great benefit. A manure spreader should be used. It is equal if not superior to any farm implements. You can set it and spread as much manure per acre as you wish,. It will spread a load in four minutes."

Alva T. Jordon, assistant in horticulture at the State Experiment Stations, made an address on "Horticulture at the College Farm." At the beginning he made a lengthy comparison between the small fruits being cultivated there, telling of the differences in the yields. He said he wanted to impress on his hearers the advisability and necessity of studying the individual plants to increase their productiveness. The department store method for the small farmer is not of value. The study of the cost of production is an important factor and the study of properly thinning out fruit is a big thing. He also told of experiments made in irrigation and of analyses of manures.

A letter from State Secretary Franklin Dye said that it had been arranged to hold a Farmers' Institute here December 3 and 4.

W. L. SPENCER WEDDED.

A Former Plainfielder Married at SanFrancisco a Week Ago Saturday to Miss Alice Masten.

The SanFrancisco Call, under date of June 8 last, publishes the following concerning William L. Spencer, formerly a resident of Duer street, and well-known in a large circle of friends and acquaintances:

"At a pretty home wedding yesterday at noon Miss Alice Masten, daughter of the late N. K. Masten, became the bride of William Lindsley Spencer. The new home of Mrr. William F. Perkins, a sister of the bride, was the scene of the nuptials. Seventy guests were present to witness the ceremony and participate in the festivities. Rev. William Bours officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Isabel Kendal, maid of honor, and four bridemaids, Miss Maye Colburn, Miss Ardella Mills, Miss Ursula Stone and Miss Isabel Hooper. Joseph Masten, a brother of the bride, gave her away. Frank Muchmore acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer will return from their wedding trip in a couple of weeks and will reside on Vallejo street."

Mr. Spencer has been a resident of SanFrancisco for nearly four years, and many people in Plainfield who knew him when he lived in this city will be interested in the above announcement.

LITERARY.

"The growing interest in mosquito extermination" is impressively set forth by Dr. L. O. Howard in a prefatory note which he has contributed to an article in the July Century by Henry Clay Weeks, entitled "A Campaign Against the Mosquito," which records the practical operations which have been set on foot at Oyster Bay, Long Island, not far from the summer residence of President Roosevelt. Dr. Howard gives an extensive sit of towns and cities throughout the country which have taken up anti-mosquito work in an energetic manner, and states that his correspondence on the subject, as entomologist of the Department of Agriculture, has been "little less than enormous."

Bass Has Resigned.

F. S. Cutter has resigned his position in the quartette choir at the Congregational church and will return to his former position in the choir at the First Baptist church.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

DEATH IN A CLOUDBURST.

Five Persons Killed and Heavy Loss of Property in Vermont.

BARRE, Vt., June 17.—In addition to great property damage by a cloudburst over this section five railroad men lost their lives, a freight train on the Central Vermont railroad having run into a washout at Middlesex.

The train was bound north from Montpelier Junction. It consisted of a locomotive and twelve cars. Passing through Middlesex the engineer was running at a fair rate of speed, when he struck a ditch washed out by a torrent of water which rushed down the side of Camel's Hump mountain.

The locomotive leaped into the ditch, and the freight cars piled up on top of it. The main line of the Central Vermont railroad is tied up as a result of the washouts and wreck.

The cloudburst caused a great deal of other damage. The railroad bridge at Bolton was destroyed, and a sawmill, together with the house adjoining, was demolished in the town of Middlesex and the wreckage carried down the Winooski river. The sawmill was owned by John Egan, who lived in an adjoining house. He and his family escaped injury. All of Mr. Egan's live stock was killed, and in addition to the loss of his house and sawmill 1,000 feet of logs were forced down the river by the torrent of water from the mountain.

Disbrow Not Found.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Louis Disbrow, who the authorities believe can clear up a good portion of the mystery which surrounds the drowning of Miss Sarah Lawrence and Clarence Foster in Shinnecock bay, has not been heard from. The girl was buried yesterday at Riverhead, on Long Island, and an examination of the body before it was placed in the grave did not reveal any marks of violence. Coroner Nugent and District Attorney Smith of Suffolk county decided after a conference to take up the case tomorrow at Good Ground. They will examine several people and then decide as to what further steps to take to discover if the drowning was other than accidental.

Injunction Made Permanent.

NEWARK, N. J., June 17.—Vice Chancellor Emery has announced in the court of chancery at Newark that he would make permanent the temporary injunction secured a week ago by Miriam Berger of Sullivan county, N. Y., restraining the United States Steel corporation from carrying out its plan to retire $200,000,000 of its preferred stock and have that amount of its capital reinvested through J. P. Morgan & Co., as underwriters, in a new bond issue of like amount.

Cold Weather In Europe.

LONDON, June 17.—Cold and rainy weather is reported from all parts of central Europe. There have been heavy storms in France, Germany, Austria and Belgium, with great damage to property and crops. Intense cold prevails throughout Austria, and the vineyards and fruit trees there have been damaged. There was a heavy snowfall yesterday in the Italian Alps.

Baltimore Gets Payment Long Due.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—Mayor Hayes has just received the voucher of the United States treasury for the sum of $104,089.03, being the principal and interest due the city for its war of 1812 claim against the national government.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Severe cold and heavy snowstorms continue in Cape Colony. Sheep are perishing by thousands.

Miss Mabel Hanna, daughter of the Ohio senator, and Harry Parsons of Cleveland were married.

Mrs. Louis Wistrope, wife of a planter living at Brandywine, near Hazlehurt, Miss., killed her six small children while her husband was away and fled after firing the house.

STRIKE'S SIXTH WEEK

Various Disturbances Reported, but None Serious.

A FEW MORE FIRE BOSSES QUIT.

International Team Drivers Offer Help—President Mitchell Says the Situation Shows No Change.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 17.—The sixth week of the anthracite coal miners' strike began without a ripple to disturb the calmness of the situation. Rain fell nearly all day, which helped to keep the more than 150,000 idle men and boys indoors. Several reports of assault on workingmen and coal and iron policemen were received here from different sections of the region, but no one was seriously injured. Most of these attacks occurred under cover of darkness or at starting time in the morning. It was expected that the day would witness the refusal of a large number of fire bosses and other mine bosses to go to work, but the best information obtainable shows that the number of men who quit was not large. In fact, several of the mining superintendents in this region asserted they had more men at work at the engines and pumps than they had last week. President Mitchell and other labor leaders question this assertion and, on the contrary, claim that nearly half of the men who were at work on Saturday refused to go into the collieries yesterday. Neither side gave out any figures.

Casper Clark of Toledo, O., president of the International Team Drivers' association, came in for some attention by labor leaders. He submitted to an interview in which he said his organization would do all it could to help the striking miners. He said he will make a thorough canvass of the region to learn the sentiment of his men, which will help to guide the national association if the miners should ask the teamsters for help.

There is a revival of the story that the central Pennsylvania soft coal miners will be called out very soon, but President Patrick Gilday of the central Pennsylvania district reiterates what he had previously said, that the central Pennsylvania men will not be called out except as an extreme measure.

Nothing has been given out at state headquarters, President Mitchell merely saying there was no change in either the anthracite or the West Virginia strike.

A dispatch from Scranton says that Charles Robinson, the Delaware and Hudson watchman who was shot at Olyphant Saturday night, will recover. He is unable to throw any light on the mystery as to who did the shooting. All he remembers is that he felt a stinging sensation in the breast and then lost consciousness. The coal companies continue to cause arrests of strikers who molest their workmen.

A Crisis In West Virginia.

ROANOKE, Va., June 17.—A number of miners returning from the coalfields report a very serious state of affairs around Simmons Creek and Goodwill mines, on the West Virginia side. They say that about 500 strikers armed with rifles, revolvers, etc., were marching from that section toward North Fork and demanding that the nonunion men now at work quit. They also say that the strikers have taken charge of the Goodwill and Simmons Creek mines and have announced their determination not to allow the workers to resume and will resist any attempt that may be made by the mine owners to resume work.

Oil Replacing Coal.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—A number of Baltimore manufacturers are using oil in place of coal to furnish heat for the boilers at their plants. They allege that they find oil less expensive than coal, more effective and much cleaner and that it does away entirely with the great clouds of black smoke and the soot and dust.

King Edward Better.

LONDON, June 17.—King Edward bore yesterday's journey to Windsor well, but it has been decided that he will not go to Ascot today. Queen Alexandra, however, accompanied by the Prince and Princess of Wales and other members of the royal family, will attend the races in state. The Prince of Wales, conversing with the mayor of Windsor upon his arrival there yesterday evening, said: "King Edward caught a chill in the stomach. He is much better, however, although he will have to be careful. His majesty is still troubled with slight pain."

Wilhelmina's Convalescence.

BERLIN, June 17.—Queen Wilhelmina of Holland is convalescing at Castle Schaumburg, in the valley of the Lahn. She drives out daily with the queen mother and is recovering her color. The young queen smilingly acknowledges the greetings of the wayfarers whom she passes. Emperor William sent word a week ago that he intended to visit the queen, but her majesty felt so badly at that time that she asked the emperor to defer his coming.

Cloudburst at Scranton.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 17.—A veritable cloudburst occurred here last evening, flooding cellars and causing the river to rise in a threatening manner. There is danger that it will overflow its banks and reach many of the mine openings.

Fatal Lightning Stroke.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 17.—During the absence of Fred Wolf of Upper Mongaup, Sullivan county, lightning struck the house, killing Wolf's son Fred and knocking four other children unconscious.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE

London Dock Charges Bill Is Passed.

STRONG PLEAS FOR PANAMA ROUTE

Plans For a Lincoln Memorial, a Monument to Prison Ship Martyrs and to General Mercer Favored by Representatives.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—After a discussion extending over parts of several days the senate yesterday passed what is popularly known as the London dock charges bill. The opposition to the measure practically collapsed, and it was passed without division.

Consideration then was continued of the isthmian canal project, Mr. Cullom (Ill.) and Mr. Kittredge (S. D.) delivering speeches in advocacy of the Panama route. The former based his argument principally on the report of the isthmian commission recommending that route, asserting that he was satisfied that a good [illegible] to the property could be obtained. Mr. Kittredge not only strongly favored the Panama route, which, in his judgment, was much the better, but also attacked the Nicaragua plan as lacking in definiteness. He pointed out that Costa Rica was constitutionally unable to grant the necessary concessions to the United States and said if the Nicaragua route were selected it probably would be a long time before work could begin, even if it ever could be.

Just before adjournment a spirited discussion was precipitated over a motion by Mr. Proctor (Vt.) to agree to a conference with the house on the army appropriation bill. Several weeks ago the senate was affronted by a message from the house refusing to submit to conference certain senate amendments to the bill. The opposition to Mr. Proctor's motion was so vigorous that finally he was forced to withdraw it for the present.

The house transacted some miscellaneous business under suspension of the rules. It included the adoption of resolutions appropriating $25,000 for the preparation of plans for a memorial in this city to Abraham Lincoln, $100,000 toward the erection of a monument to the prison ship martyrs who died off Brooklyn as a result of the cruelties to which they were subjected by the British during the Revolutionary war and $10,000 for the erection of a monument at Fredericksburg, Va., to the memory of General Hugh Mercer, who was killed during the Revolutionary war. The resolution adopted was to carry out an authorization made for this purpose in 1777 by the Continental congress.

Two bills were passed to amend the general pension laws, one to provide for the restoration to the pension rolls of the widows of soldiers who subsequently married and were again widowed and one to increase the pension of those who have lost a limb or were totally disabled while in the military or naval service. The latter bill also carried an important provision to increase the pension of a soldier under the dependent act of 1890 from $12 to $30 per month when such pensioner requires frequent or periodical attendance.

Judgment Satisfied For One-tenth.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Vice Chancellor Pitney at Jersey City yesterday ordered Edward S. Campbell to receive $30,000 from the directors of the Middlesex County bank and to discharge them from liability for a judgment for $219,000. This is the bank which was wrecked by the speculations of its cashier, Robert Valentine, who is in state prison. His embezzlement exceeded $300,000. The receiver reported to the vice chancellor that $30,000 was offered by the directors and was all that could be collected by process of law.

Unique Honor For Cleveland.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—The degree of doctor of jurisprudence (juris utriusque doctor) will be conferred upon former President Cleveland today during the commencement exercises of the Augustinian college of St. Thomas at Villa Nova, a suburb of this city. Mr. Cleveland will bear the distinction of being the first person in the United States to receive this degree. Mr. Cleveland will address the graduating class of the college.

New Gymnasium Opened.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 17.—The new one hundred thousand dollar gymnasium of the Lawrenceville Preparatory school was formally opened yesterday during the annual commencement exercises. One of the features of the gymnasium is a swimming pool 75 feet long and 35 feet wide.

A Merchant Missing.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 17.—The river has been dragged in an effort to find the body of A. A. Seuter, a prominent merchant of Potsdam. Mr. Seuter disappeared from his home Sunday morning and was last seen going toward the river. Later his hat was found on the shore.

Japanese Baron Sees President.

AGAINST NEW CONSTITUTION.

Connecticut Voters Strongly Oppose a Change.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 17.—The constitution proposed for the state of Connecticut by the convention which was in session four and a half months, beginning Jan. 1, was defeated at the polls by the people of the state yesterday by a decisive vote. With six towns yet to be heard from out of the 167 in the state the figures are 20,268 against the adoption of the proposed new fundamental law and 11,031 in its favor, a majority of 9,237.

Little interest was shown in the election by the voters, only about 15 per cent of the registered vote of the state being cast. All the cities except Putnam voted against the proposed measure, and only sixty-five of the towns heard from voted in its favor.

The principal feature of the bill which the convention prepared for acceptance by the people was a provision for a senate of forty-five members and a house composed of one member from each town of 2,000 people, one additional for towns having a population between 2,000 and 50,000 and one for each 50,000 thereafter.

Severe Storm In Georgia.

COLUMBUS, Ga., June 17.—A terrific wind, rain and electrical storm has done considerable damage at Richland, situated thirty-nine miles from here on the Seaboard Air line. Mr. J. M. Hurley, a prominent peach merchant, was instantly killed by lightning. He was packing peaches under a shed at the time, and his wife, who was near him, was severely shocked. The stores of Layfield & Bell, W. E. Etheridge, B. E. Mayo, T. S. Chappelle and the large Clegg building were unroofed and their stocks almost ruined by wind and water. The new school dormitory, a negro academy, the Methodist church, the new Christian church and the new residence of Mr. Edward Woodward were blown to the ground, besides numerous small houses and shops. Trees were uprooted, and gardens and crops are ruined. The peach crop suffered greatly.

Mammoth Pulp and Paper Mill.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., June 17.—J. D. Powers of Schuylerville, N. Y., has purchased the big pulp mill of the Fredenburg Falls Pulp company, located about four miles above this place on the Saranac river, together with valuable water power privileges at Fredenburg Falls and in this city and also a piece of land on the lake shore just south of this city on which he will at once erect an immense sulphite pulp mill and a paper mill with a capacity of 100 tons of paper per day. Mr. Powers has also made an offer to the pulp mill of the Treadwell Mills Pulp company, located about a mile above the Fredenburg Falls pulp mill. It is thought the offer will be accepted. It will be a million dollar plant when completed. The pulp wood used in the mills will come largely from Canada.

Alleged Diamond Swindler Arrested.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 17.—Abe Rothschild, alias A. M. Graham, the alleged New York diamond swindler, who had by assuming the name of George H. Stewart of Shippensburg, is alleged, planned in that town a five hundred thousand dollar diamond haul, was arrested here by City Detectives Morgan and Welsh on a description furnished by Postoffice Inspector Sutton, who has been shadowing Rothschild and his partner, the latter of whom is in the jail at Carlisle. Rothschild has been in Harrisburg since Saturday, staying at a hotel two blocks from the police station.

GOVERNOR TAFT SUCCEEDS.

Friar Land Plan Favored by Majority of the Cardinals.

ROME, June 17.—The complete success of the negotiations between Judge Taft, governor of the Philippines, and the Vatican on the subject of the friar lands in those islands appears to be assured, four out of the five cardinals composing the subcommittee of cardinals favoring the governor's proposals, Cardinal Steinhuber, a Jesuit, opposes them.

After the completion of the negotiations an acute conflict is expected to occur between the Vatican officials and the Filipino religious orders in regard to the disposition of the money which the United States will pay for the lands. The Vatican considers that the money ought to be given to the propaganda, or society of cardinals having the care and oversight of foreign missions.

TORN LIMB FROM LIMB.

Americans Killed by Filipinos and Terribly Mutilated.

MANILA, June 17.—The bodies of the sergeant, two corporals and four privates of the Fifth cavalry who were captured May 30 by ladrones at Binangonan, Rizal province, this island, have been recovered. Most of the bodies had been hewn limb from limb, and it was found impossible to recognize four of the dead men.

A number of arrests in the matter have been made, and nine men have been absolutely identified as belonging to the band of ladrones which captured the Americans. The identified men include two members of the police force of Teresa, Morong province.

The American soldiers were buried yesterday together. It was impossible to make separate interments.

Troops Still Guard Pawtucket.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 17.—When in the opinion of ten prominent citizens, including Mayor Fitzgerald and Chief of Police Rice, tranquillity has been restored in place of mob rule, the militia ordered here last Thursday by Governor Kimball in connection with the street car strike will be withdrawn. This was the conclusion reached at a meeting between Governor Kimball, Brigadier General Tanner and fifty business men at the state armory. At the same time it was decided that the best interests of the city demand the presence of troops here until all possibility of another outbreak has passed. With the exception of three cases of stone throwing yesterday was one of quiet. Cars were operated on all local lines in this city during the day and in Central Falls as usual, but were withdrawn at night.

Mormons Resist Attack.

PADUCAH, Ky., June 17.—The people of the Davis Chapel section of Marshall county, Ky., were thrown into great excitement by a fusillade of bullets being fired into a Mormon meeting by some of the opposers in the neighborhood. Hardly Lamb was shot in the leg. The Mormon converts, fifteen or sixteen, returned the fire, and more bloodshed is feared. Less than a year ago the Mormon church there was burned and two elders driven away. Since then the feeling has been high and culminated in a resort to force to break up the services which were being held under an arbor. The Mormons declare they will continue to hold their meetings and have reported the attack to the grand jury.

Hobson Gets Leave of Absence.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Constructor Hobson has appealed to Secretary Moody for a three months' leave of absence on account of the condition of his eyes. He is now on special duty at Elizabethport, N. J. The secretary conferred about this application with Admiral Taylor, Constructor Bowles and Surgeon General Rixey and decided to allow the leave. Naval constructors are badly needed just now, but Secretary Moody felt that he could not disregard an appeal based on medical reasons, as stated by the surgeon general.

Court Martial For Captain Hines.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., June 17.—Captain John L. Hines, quartermaster of the Twenty-third infantry, is on trial before a court martial at Plattsburg barracks for alleged cruelty to a member of the regiment while in the Philippines. The charge against Captain Hines is that he had Private Peter W. Penlow of Company F strung up by the thumbs without orders from the commanding officer of the regiment.

A Candy Trust.

CINCINNATI, June 17.—The Confectioners' Review says Edwin Corbin of New York was here the past week perfecting the combination of western candy manufacturers and is confident that it will be in operation July 1. The factories are taken on a basis of part cash and the remainder in stock, as financed by an eastern trust company. The capitalization is $10,000,000. The headquarters will be in Chicago.

Fatal Freight Wreck.

BRAZIL, Ind., June 17.—A Big Four freight train was wrecked between Perth and Carbon, killing two men instantly and injuring two others. The four men were stealing a ride from Lena to Terre Haute, and as the train was going down a steep grade an axle broke, wrecking eight cars. The two men who were killed were pinned under one of the cars and remained there for several hours.

Tracey and Merrill Still Free.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 17.—Tracey and Merrill, the escaped convicts, secured food yesterday morning about five miles from Vancouver at the house of a farmer named Reedy, whom they tied and gagged. The sheriff's posse in pursuit numbers about 200 men.

IT WAS NOT A SECRET

Payments to Gomez Known to Congress.

HAD SECRETARY ROOT'S APPROVAL.

Wild Story of One Dodson Saying Money Was Paid as a Bribe Without Foundation—The Case Explained.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The official records show that $19,000 was paid to General Gomez out of Cuban funds during nine months of 1899 and 1900 and that he was provided with a house.

The charge of Charles H. Dodson, a newspaper man, that General Gomez was bribed with $25,000 either to cause him to withdraw from the presidential race in favor of the candidate preferred by Washington or for the purpose of keeping his veterans and admirers in line and favorable to the projects of the administration is emphatically denied both by Secretary Root and General Wood. They discredit Dodson, who is reported to be on his way to Washington, where, it is said, he may be given the opportunity to prove his charge.

At the war department a high official stated the position of the department in the matter as follows:

"The conditions in Cuba two years ago were precarious. Not a Cuban believed that the United States government ever would withdraw from Cuba, and the half famished veterans of the Cuban army were in a dangerous mood and clamoring for their pay. General Gomez was the head and front of their army and had served the revolutionary cause as its principal leader without having received a cent of pay. General Wood thought and Secretary Root thought afterward that General Gomez was entitled to consideration, to a home which was supplied him and in which he entertained his comrades and to an income, which last might be set down as a small offset to the money due Gomez from the Cuban republic. That the Cubans themselves regarded the matter in the same light was shown by the passage by the present Cuban congress among the very first of its acts of a bill providing a liberal pension for General Gomez. It is believed that but for this assumption of the costs of Gomez's living expenses the conditions in Cuba might have paralleled those in the Philippines, and the United States government, after fighting Spain to secure freedom for the Cubans, might have been obliged to turn on them the force of her armies.

"The necessity being present, then, in Secretary Root's view, the only other point was the legality and propriety of the payments. He soon satisfied himself that there was not the slightest doubt on that score. The military governor was obliged to assume the responsibility for his disbursements and to exercise his discretion. General Brooke did this and after him General Wood, and Secretary Root now fully approves of everything they did, including the payments to Gomez."

It is pointed out at the war department as a curious fact that congress has been in full possession of the information that Gomez had been receiving these payments for no less than two years past. The war department that far back submitted to congress the full statement of all expenditures in Cuba, and included in the list was a statement of the payments to General Gomez.

Jail Delivery Foiled.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 17.—A prisoner in the Jefferson county jail informed the head jailer of a plot to effect a general jail delivery. He said that George Weinerth, an escaped convict from Onondaga penitentiary, who is awaiting trial for attempt to kill, was the promoter of the plot. Weinerth was at once placed in irons in the jail dungeon, and investigation disclosed an aperture in the jail wall two feet square from which over 300 pounds of stone and mortar had been removed and secreted in an obscure well. Half an hour more would have completed the work.

Consul Ayme Coming Home.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 17.—Louis H. Ayme, United States consul at Guadeloupe, who has recently been occupied with relief measures at Martinique, has arrived here on the United States steamer Potomac. Mr. Ayme was given a banquet by Governor Hunt, Commander Thomas C. McLean of the United States cruiser Cincinnati, Lieutenant Benjamin B. McCormick of the Potomac and a number of newspaper correspondents. He will probably leave for New York tomorrow.

An Alarming Smallpox Outbreak.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 17.—The outbreak of smallpox in Canadian Labrador is growing more serious. The fisherfolk on the northern coast of Newfoundland are appealing to the colonial government to urge the Canadian ministry to prohibit intercourse between the infected locality and the remainder of the seaboard, where the ravages of smallpox would be very severe did the disease once spread to it.

Fatal Chicago Storm.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Chicago has been visited by an electric storm which killed one man, caused a panic among 100 Sunday school children and damaged considerable property. Three churches were struck by electric bolts, one of them, the Memorial German Episcopal, being destroyed.

RESIGNATION OF REV. DR. YERKES.

The men who have occupied the pulpits of prominent churches and whose lives and teachings have helped to mold the moral and religious thought of the community are always objects of the deepest interest, and changes that affect them and the churches must be regarded as of vital importance.

The voluntary resignation Sunday from the First Baptist church of Rev. Dr. David J. Yerkes after a pastorate of thirty-nine years has produced a profound impression and cannot but be looked upon with sadness by his own people, a large part of whom have never known any other pastor. That his health has made this step necessary must be a matter of regret to all who have known and loved him for Dr. Yerkes' life has been one to command the respect and affection of the whole community.

Following the resignation of Rev. E. M. Rodman from the Grace Episcopal church after a rectorship of thirty-two years and the call to the Brick church, New York, of Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, after serving the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church for eighteen years, this change in the First Baptist church will be looked upon by the thoughtful with prayerful solicitude. Such long pastorates tell a tale of worth in both pastor and people, and of a strong conservative element that has not sought for change merely from a desire for something new. This element will be the best guarantee for the future well being of these churches and their future leaders.

For Dr. Yerkes there can be nothing but the kindest wishes and the hope that his life may be spared to the church and community for many years.

The evolution of the Painfield police force began in the days when Former Councilman E. T. Barrows was first made chairman of the police committee of the Common Council. The movement, started at that time, has been carried through until Plainfield is now able to hold its own with any city of its size in the State. While the usual good order of the city is such that there are not the demands on the department that exist in many cities, the department is now well organized and seems to be doing everything that can be expected of it. Disorder is something seldom seen in Plainfield streets while crime of other kind is infrequent. In the case of several large robberies, the police have been quite successful in running to earth the perpetrators.

According to the Philadelphia Record the advertising manager of a Western brewing company says he has used more advertising novelties than has any other manager. After a long experience he is convinced that no other advertising medium can compare with the newspaper. His tendency is to reduce all other forms of advertising and increase his newspaper space.

Baseball is certainly on the boom in Plainfield. Anybody who saw the crowd at the Hope-St. Marys game Saturday afternoon would not question the popularity of the national game. When the audiences at these games begin to number up in the thousands, it is a sure sign that there is good ball playing and that the people like to see it.

The Republican primaries were held last evening throughout Union county. As was expected, they were full of harmony and all the delegates went for a renomination for Congressman Charles N. Fowler. In the city everything was very lovable and no one even suggested a fight.

Prosperity still continues with the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. After filling its active membership, which was limited to 275, the limit has been raised to 300 to make room for more members.

KITCHEN FOR CHURCH.

A Building Permit Has Just Been Granted For It.

A permit has been granted John Abbott by Building Inspector T. O. Doane for the erection of a one-story brick extension, 18x25 feet, to the rear of the First Presbyterian church to be used as a kitchen. F. Tallamy will do the masonry work.

W. W. Wilson has been granted a permit to erect an extension to the rear of his building on West Third street. The extension will be used for storage purposes, one-story, 11x8 feet. Thomas Warren will be the carpenter.

BIDS RETURNED.

Change in Plans for New Hospital Has Necessitated It.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital met last evening at the Casino for the purpose of receiving and opening bids for the proposed new hospital building. Owing to some changes to be made all of the bids were ordered returned and the matter was referred to the architects for corrections. They will be received again at the regular meeting of the Board to be held Monday evening, June 30, when it is expected that there will be other bids received.

RESULTS OF FETE.

Outdoor Fete Held Indoors Netted Ladies' Aid Society About $60.

As stated yesterday the lawn fete held Saturday under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church was a great success. The society will net about $60, a very good sum considering the weather. The automobile made 168 trips and then there were several that were disappointed in not getting a ride. The trips were continued until after 10 o'clock in the evening.

Nearly Lost Two Fngers.

Pierre Moore, of Somerset street, is carrying two fingers of his right hand in bandages, as the result of a little incautiousness at Thorn's meat market a few days ago. He was swinging his arms aimlessly about when his digits came in contact with two knives and a cleaver which were reposing on a stand. The two fingers were nearly severed and they were saved only through the prompt arrival of a physician.

Council to Confirm Report.

Collector of Taxes F. H. Smith will have completed his report of the delinquent taxes under the Martin Act by tonight and it is expected that the Common Council will hold a special meeting very soon for the purpose of confirming that report. After confirmation all delinquents will have to pay the advertising fees, as well as the taxes and interest if they redeem the property.

Speeches on Important Questions.

The Union Association of North Plainfield has issued in pamphlet form the speeches of Former Mayor W. L. Saunders, Joseph O. Osgood and Mayor N. B. Smalley, as delivered at the annexation and consolidation mass meeting in Saengerbund Hall May 22.

Annual Fair.

The annual fair, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, will be held on the lawn and in the parish house Thursday afternoon and evening of this week from 4 until 10 o'clock.

P. O. S. of A. Festival.

A strawberry and ice cream festival will be held on the lawn of George Reighton, of 1270 Park avenue, this evening. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Patriotic Order Sons of America.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Sunday the young child of Barney McGovern was seized with spasms, having four in succession. Dr. Brakeley was hurriedly summoned and after some hard work the child was made more comfortable. It is much better at present.

A number of the residents of this place who have city water in their residents are complaining of the dirtiness of the water. This condition has been growing worse and at present the water is not fit for household purposes.

Mrs. Mary Pearce, the well-known lecturer from Kanzas, Col. Dick Plunkett, of Oklahoma, and Mrs. King, of New York, are spending a few days at Sterlingworth Sanitarium.

The Dunellen juniors will play the Park A. C., of Plainfield, tomorrow on the latter grounds. Friday they will hold a fair on Dr. Brakeley's lawn.

W. H. Terry still remains in the same critical condition. He is unconscious most of the time and his death is looked for at any time.

The VanMiddlesworth house on Front street has been rented and is now occupied.

The Dunellen A. C. has no game scheduled for Saturday as yet.

No services will be held in St. John's church this evening.

Clarence Carmen has taken a position with G. V. Schenck.

The Juniors will meet this evening in Apgar's Hall as usual.

Fred Wilcox's residence is being painted and repaired.

Thomas Thomas is spending today in New York city.

W. H. Cole's house is undergoing a coat of paint.

Adam Dealaman is slowly regaining his strength.

NEW MARKET.

Some extensive improvements are being made to the railroad bridge over the brook. A new track will be built and the bridge widened.

Superintendent Cathers has been somewhat hindered in his preparations for commencement night by a shortage of invitations.

A large number enjoys themselves every day at the pond fishing but as yet no large catches have been made.

Sunday baseball is now quite the thing at Dewey Park. An exciting game was played there Sunday.

A handsome new boat has been put in commission on the lake.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Nearly everyone is going to the strawberry and ice cream festival for the benefit of the baseball club in Excelsior Hall tonight. The members of the team have been ably assisted in arranging the affair by their women friends and the sale of tickets has been very gratifying to the boys.

Those who were unable to attend the exhibition of school work at the school Thursday afternoon will have another opportunity tonight. The class rooms in the school will be open this evening to the parents and friends who are interested in the work being done by the pupils.

Lawrence Wallace, who is charged by Officer Vanderbilt with being drunk and disorderly at the Park avenue crossing Saturday night, will be arraigned before Judge Clark tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. George Guest have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Isaac VanNostrand, of Somerville, for a short time.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, was in New York, Monday, attending the Ministers' conference meeting.

The members of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company met and transacted routine business in their rooms last night.

Miss Kate Harold, of Tottenville, S. I., who has been visiting Mrs. Stites M. Parse, has returned home.

Harry Lyons, who has been visiting relatives and friends in town, has returned to New York.

Frederick Alyea, of Newark, has been visiting at the home of friends in town.

Edward Ruth has been entertaining his brother from Newark for a few days.

The Aches and Pains Disappear When Your Prescriptions are Compounded at the Reliable City Pharmacy

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A new train has been inaugurated on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, which is to run between Scranton and New York. It is called the "Wyoming Express."

Regular Tuesday evening prayer-meeting will be held at the Baptist church tonight.

Wm. Hamilton spent Sunday in Perth Amboy visiting his mother of that place.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cubberley is confined to the bed by illness.

The young son of Frank Miller is ill from the effects of heat.

PERSONAL.

Miss Margaret McCutchen will return this week from Smith College to her home in Washington Park.

Mrs. C. E. Odell, of New Rochelle, is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. G. W. Lowerre, of Grandview avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Williams, of Elizabeth, have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morse, of Franklin place.

Mrs. Isabelle Milne, of Washington Park, who has been detained at home some time by illness, is very much improved.

Arthur Dean, of New London, Conn., and a former resident of Plainfield, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Plainfield.

E. Arthur Janke and family will sail tomorrow for Europe on the steamer Southwark. They will spend the summer at Leipzig, Germany, and will return home the middle of September.

RECEIVED GUESTS.

Howell Division, S. of T., Gave East Orange Friends a Good Time.

Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, last evening entertained a delegation of sixteen from Division No. 184, of East Orange. Mrs. Koeyer, conductor, made a short address welcoming the Orange brethren; Worthy Patriarch Mrs. Emma C. Terry also spoke and short speeches were made by other members and some of the visitors. An impromptu programme was carried out, after which refreshments were served.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. John Manley, chairman; Miss Ida Bauer, Miss Adele T. vonOhl and Mrs. H. C. Drake.

WON GOLD WATCH.

As Prize for Enrolling the Greatest Number of Pupils.

W. L. Holbert, of this city, who is the representative of the International Correspondence schools at Somerville, has been awarded a costly gold watch by the institution, for enrolling the greatest number of pupils during the month of May. This was accomplished by Mr. Holbert despite the fact that he has the smallest territory to work and had thirty competitors. He was formerly covering Plainfield but was tranferred in March.

To Observe Sacrament.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the Crescent Avenue church on Sunday, June 29.

Leads Them All.

"One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says D. Scott Currin, of Loganton, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. L. W. Randolph.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Gavett's new stock of fancy pottery is now in. He has many fine pieces that have no duplicates.

Absolutely pure home-made candies and ice cream are specialties at Campbell's confectionery store on West Front street, and the price is within the reach of all.

Doesn't matter whether it is a cigar, a glass of soda, or a bottle of medicine, if you get it at Powers', it is all right. Always popular prices at Powers' pharmacy.

Bedding out plants and an abundance of cut flowers can be obtained at all times at Stanley's, the North avenue florist. Floral design work is a specialty with Stanley.

Do you have trouble with the milk you are buying? Is it difficult to keep it? If so try the kind sold by Wm. Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, and your troubles will be over.

W. W. Wilson's stock of groceries should command the attention of every good housekeeper, not alone because of his low prices, but also on account of the excellent quality of his goods.

Cashin, the Park avenue custom tailor, has a constantly increasing trade because he sells the best goods at the most reasonable prices. He also handles a complete line of men's furnishings, including hats.

The specials in the grocery line which Callahan & Son, of Richmond street, are using this week, cannot be beat. "Get in on the ground floor" as the popular phrase goes and take advantage of the low prices.

Nearly every church festivial or lodge affair using ice cream has been served this year by W. W. Warnock, the West Front street confectioner. The article he puts out is manufactured under his presonal supervision and is guaranteed to be the best in the city. Orders are delivered promptly every day in the week.

Fine specimens of manufactured ice have recently been seen at L. W. Randolph's pharmacy. The large cakes of ice were frozen at the plant of the Plainfield Hygeia Ice Company and frozen with the water were large handsome roses and fruit. The cakes have been admired greatly by all who have seen them. Mr. Randolph uses this ice at his fountain.

A Card of Thanks.

A number of the good women of Grace Church have kindly determined to signalize my retirement from the Rectorship by most valuable presents of desk and chair, bookcase and private Communion set of silver. The names of the givers have been withheld from me, and therefore I avail myself of this method of reaching them with my heart-felt thanks for this most generous proof of their good wishes and praying God to bless them abundantly for all their kindness to me.

I remain,
Very truly their friend and pastor,

CURB ON INQUISITIVE PEOPLE.

Chicago Man's Way of Getting Rid of an Impudent Crowd in a Southern Town.

"Some people have a great deal of curiosity," said a Chicago traveling man, as he sat swapping experiences with a group of his fellows at the club, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. "On my last trip south I took in a town that I had never visited before. The town was growing, and, among other improvements, was the establishment of a public stenographer in the office of the principal hotel. The stenographer, a pretty young lady, seemed quite an attraction to the young men of the town, and there was generally a dozen or more of them hanging around her.

"I had quite a lot of writing to do when I arrived, and I engaged her for the evening, and after supper I sat down to dictate. The usual crowd of youths and men were around, and when I began they at first moved back to a respectful distance. After a few minutes, however, they began to edge closer, and finally formed a ring around the stenographer and myself—so close that they could hear every word of my dictation. This was very annoying, and I determined to put an end to their impudence. So I began dictating a letter to my wife, in which I spoke of my arrival in the town, of which I gave a brief description, and then continued:

"'The people here are the most sociable I have met. As I sit here dictating a dozen of them are crowded around listening to every word I say. This is no doubt a fine trait, but it is somewhat annoying to the pretty girl who is doing my work.'

"In a minute the listeners began to move away, and after that I was not bothered with their curiosity."

FOXES TO PROTECT SHEEP.

Queer Experiment of Four Women to Drive Out Gulls from Their Island Pasture.

According to the statement of the majority of the game wardens under the supervision of the American Ornithologists' union the summer boarder "who is out for sport and will shoot anything in sight" is the greatest menace to the various forms of bird life.

An amusing exception, however, to the general cheerful indorsement by the natives of the protective policy of the society is brought to light by the report of Charles Holt, keeper of the Nash Island lighthouse, says the New York Mail and Express.

On Cone island, a breeding place for herring gulls, within his official territory, there have been numbered this year only 600 gulls, as against 800 last year. The unnaturally small increase he attributes not to the occasional visitor, but to an entirely different cause.

The resident proprietors of the island are four women—a mother and three daughters—who own a large flock of sheep. Claiming that the birds destroy a large portion of the grass they bought, a few months ago, four foxes, which they allowed to roam at will through the fields. The foxes have carried out the desires of their mistresses by creating widespread devastation among the eggs and the young of the unfortunate gulls.

The friends of the birds are, however, patiently biding their time. They think that without doubt the foxes will destroy the young lambs in the spring and thus defeat the purpose for which they were imported.

LAMB DINED ON SHIP'S LOG.

Also Waxed Lusty on the Mate's Best Clothes, Cat's Fur and Parrot's Feathers.

With her main and fore topsail gone, several masts splintered, her steering gear damaged and her logbook destroyed, the stout sailing ship Loch Fillas, of 2,600 tons, was towed into port one night lately and docked at the Erie basin, New York. Had it not been for the abnormal appetite of Rastus, a pet Chilian lamb, who, finding the ship's log on a chair in the cabin two weeks ago, devoured its leaves and part of its cover, Capt. Deans said that he could give a more circumstantial narrative of an adventurous and stormy voyage, states the New York Times.

Rastus was a wee bit of a lamb when we left Tocapillo, Chili, 127 days ago," said Capt. Deans, "but on our long trip lamble has grown to a remarkable extent. For nearly a month the animal has eaten nothing but papers, including the ship's log; clothes, including the first mate's best jacket, buttons and all; fur from the back of our pet cat, upon which he grazes at every opportunity, and feathers he has slyly slipped from my big white parrot."

The Loch Fillas struck terrific nor'westers soon after leaving Bermuda and Capt Deans removed his clothing for the first time in 18 days, during which period he was not able to snatch more than an hour's sleep at any one time and sometimes got none at all for days at a time. He says the storms of the last month were the severest in his 40 years' experience.

Where Vanity Rules.

A French explorer has discovered on the west coast of Africa what he regards as the vainest people on earth. They are the Pahouins, a warlike tribe, whose main employment is the adornment of their persons, chiefly by means of tattooing. Great ingenuity is also exhibited in dressing their hair, which in many cases is arranged in astonishingly elaborate fashion.

FASHION NOTES.

Burnt Straw Toques—The Proper Way to Wear a Hat.

For seashore wear a couple of light flannel frocks made in comfortable blouse fashion, with loose short coats, will be found very useful.

Burnt straw toques and hats are ideal to wear with tailor made garments. These can be trimmed simply with detachable bows or foulard to match the costume with which they are worn.

Frenchwomen invariably wear their hats forward to shade the eyes. This is infinitely more becoming, as it throws a soft shadow and protects the face from the glare of the sun. If a woman wishes to wear her hat off her face, she can have it tilted up with a band, but it should still be allowed to extend forward.

Ribbon work is a great deal used, and, in spite of the coming warm days, silk chenille embroidery has by no means gone out of fashion, but is seen on very sheer and delicate gowns.

A smart negligee of pale blue nun's veiling is here shown. It has a wide collar and also ruffles of yellow lace. The back and front hang in full gathers, and the sides are fitted.

EARLY SUMMER DRESS HINTS

The Prevalence of Red—A New Shade of Green.

Red and flame color are a great deal used in millinery. Whole hats covered with poppies are very charming. The all black picture hats are for the most part made of the new ribbon or bass straws and sometimes of leghorn.

Veils do not vary much. Fine, clear meshes are the favorites, while a white tulle veil dotted with large and small velvet dots is very becoming to a smooth skin.

The craze for white seems to be increasing. In linen, cambrics, muslins and cloth it reigns supreme. Nothing can be prettier or more dressy than an all white costume when shoes, hat, gloves and parasol match.

There is a new shade of green called Patrick green which is considered very smart in millinery just now. It is so vivid that it ruins the complexion of nearly every woman who wears it.

A pretty evening gown for a young matron is the one shown in the illustration. It is made of lustrous black crepe de chine. The skirt is accordion plaited and trimmed with two perpendicular insertions down the front. There is a girdle of lace, and the waist is made up of alternate strips of insertion and tucked bands of crepe de chine, with a transparent yoke of net having a bertha of the lace. The sleeves have transparent upper halves and full puffs of the lace.

MORNING GOWNS.

They Are Made of Linen, Pongee and Silk Gingham.

For morning wear at summer resorts entire dresses will be worn much more than shirt waists.

Gowns made of ecru linen will be cut blouse fashion and worn with belts and stocks of different pale colors. Gowns of glace linen will be popular principally in pink and blue. They will be trimmed with bands of Russian embroidery and are rather tailor made in effect, being trimmed with many rows of stitching as well as strappings.

Blouse and skirt costumes of pongee are very useful and becoming. They can be washed like cotton.

Silk gingham is another material which lends itself to the morning costume. Made up with a tucked blouse waist, three-quarter length sleeves and a belt of beading with a ribbon run through, this makes a dainty dress. Unlined dresses of dotted muslin made with elbow sleeves are very cool looking for hot days.

A pretty grass linen gown is here shown. The waist is laid in tucks. There is a bolero effect headed and edged by wide ecru applique. The tops of the sleeves are tucked, and they terminate at the elbows with wide cuffs. The skirt has a tucked front panel and a tucked circular ruffle. The entire dress is trimmed with narrow black velvet ribbon.

The hat which goes with this is of ecru straw trimmed with black and white tulle and an ecru ostrich feather.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SILKS AND CHIFFONS.

Light Colored Taffetas Much Used For Dressy Wear.

Light colored taffetas are being much used for evening wear. A recent example was a pink taffeta softened by applications of heavy ecru lace. The waist pouched both back and front.

A SMART RUFFLE.

The sleeves and yoke were entirely of lace insertion, which also went down the skirt and spread at the bottom in intricate veinings.

Foulard is not so popular as in former seasons. Plain materials are more fashionable. When foulard is used, it is usually of the satin finished variety in pale, almost indistinct, colorings.

Pongee is being made into dressy gowns, contrary to the custom of former seasons. It is trimmed with pale blue or deep red or else lace and chiffon in the same ecru shade. Worn with an ecru lace hat and a lace umbrella, this makes a charming costume.

The hat in the illustration is of tucked chiffon with a straw crown. The neck ruffle is of dotted net, with a cape effect formed of three ruffles and two ends shirred in three places. It is trimmed with narrow velvet ribbons run through beading.

THE STURGIS WAGER

A DETECTIVE STORY.

By EDGAR MORETTE.

Copyright, 1899, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

The bit of candle which he held in his hand had burned so low that at last he was unable to hold it without risk of burning his fingers. Whereupon he coolly set it down upon the stone floor, where presently the wick fell over into a pool of molden paraffine, and the flame sputtered noisily, sending fitful gleams through the darkness.

"Well," continued Murdock's voice, "it is at any rate a great satisfaction to play a game with an adversary worthy of one's steel. You have played well, Mr. Sturgis. I think you would have won modestly; and you are losing as I would myself have lost, had our positions been reversed. Good-bye."

The gleaming eyes disappeared from the grating and the sliding panel closed with a metallic click.

"Now, then," said Sturgis to his companion, "the last chance lies in the speaking tube. But first help me move this box."

"What do you want to do with the box?" asked Sprague, who, however, did as he was bid.

"It may help us to gain a little time. Put it down here."

Sturgis struck a match and pointed out the spot.

"On the hot-air register?"

"On what looks like a hot-air register. Did you ever see a hot-air register with no apparent means of shutting off the heat?"

Sprague, who stood almost over the register, suddenly threw back his head and gasped for breath.

"You have discovered the secret of this death trap," said Sturgis, observing him.

"Gas!" spluttered the artist.

"Yes, he is going to asphyxiate us. Now, quick, to the speaking tube! The box will somewhat retard the rush of gas; but, at the best, it is only a question of minutes before the air becomes so charged as to render respiration impossible."

Sprague rushed to the speaking-tube and whistled long and loud, after which he placed his ear to the mouthpiece.

"I hear some one walking," he suddenly exclaimed.

The two men listened in breathless silence for an answering call.

"Well, gentlemen, what can I do for you?"

The words came in Murdock's voice.

Sprague's eyes met those of the reporter and saw that the last faint glimmer of hope was gone. In that swift and silent interchange of thought there was resignation to the inevitable doom and the final farewell of two brave hearts.

The spluttering candle gave its last flicker and went out, leaving the prisoners in utter darkness.

The room was rapidly filling with gas and they were beginning to feel its effects.

"We can at least complete our task before we die," said Sturgis, with grim determination.

"Our task!"

"Yes, and insure Murdock's conviction for our murder."

"What chance is there that anyone will ever discover our bodies, since they are destined for Murdock's oblivion tank?"

"Give me your hand," Sturgis replied; "there is a box of matches. I place it here, between us, within easy reach. I want to write a few words to the superintendent of police to explain matters. By that time there will be enough gas in the room to produce a terrific explosion, when we strike a match. We can thus succeed in wrecking this place and calling attention to it. If I should succumb before you do, do not fail to light the match."

While he was speaking the reporter had taken from his pocket a pad and a pencil and had begun to write as rapidly as he could in the darkness.

Sprague's head was beginning to swim and his ears were ringing, but the thought of Agnes Murdock was uppermost in his mind.

"An explosion!" he exclaimed; "no, no, that must not be. What of Agnes? She may be hurt?"

Sturgis continued writing.

"It is the only chance there is of bringing Murdock to justice," he said, firmly.

"But Agnes is innocent of his crimes," urged the artist, in a thick voice. His tongue clove to his palate; he felt his consciousness ebbing. "Why should she suffer? I am going, old man—I cannot hold out any longer—Promise me that you—that you will not—strike—the match—"

He staggered and fell against the reporter, who caught him in his arms. His own senses were reeling.

"Promise—" pleaded the half-unconscious man.

"I promise," answered Sturgis, after an instant's hesitation.

It struck a chill to his heart to see his friend dying in the prime of youth, strength and happiness.

Suddenly a thought flashed upon him.

"Brace up, old fellow. All is not yet over. The speaking-tube leads to fresh air. Here, put your lips to it and breathe through your mouth."

The artist heard the words and made an effort to obey these directions. With Sturgis' assistance he managed to place his lips to the mouth-piece of the speaking-tube. A few whiffs of comparatively fresh air sent the sluggish blood coursing through his veins and gave him a new hold on life. With renewed vigor came the animal instinct to fight to the last for existence.

TOTTERED AND REELED.

As the shadows of death which had been closing in upon him receded, he became conscious of Sturgis' voice beating upon his ears in broken and scarcely audible tones.

"It is—the last chance—Stick—to the tube—When he comes—surprise him—your revolver—shoot—before—"

The reporter was clinging unsteadily to his friend's shoulder. Sprague suddenly realized that Sturgis in his turn was succumbing to the effects of the gas. He sprang back in time to catch the staggering man in his arms.

"Selfish brute that I am!" he exclaimed. "Here; it is your turn to breathe!" And he pushed the reporter toward the tube.

"No, no," said Sturgis, struggling faintly; "it cannot be both—and you—have—everything—to live for."

But the artist was now the stronger, and he succeeded in forcing his friend to inhale enough fresh air to restore his departing consciousness.

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Plainfield Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching.
Daily existence is but a struggle.
No need to keep it up.
Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.
Plainfield people endorse this claim.

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of R. H McCullough's Sash and Door Manufacturing Company, says: "I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would soon pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment, by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Case of Too Much Fish.

It needs only one or two dull days on the stock exchange to set the members thinking over some new jokes to play on their fellow-brokers. The other day, as one of the most prominent and dignified men on the exchange was vainly endeavoring to sell 500 shares of Amalgamated Copper before the price faded away entirely a fellow-broker came up to him quickly and told him that Mr. Fish wished to speak with him, directing him to call up 1644 Broad on the telephone. A number of appreciative listeners gathered around the instrument. According to "Central" the following conversation took place:

"Give me 1644 Broad. Hello! Is this 1644 Broad?"

"Yes."

"Fish there?"

"Fish?"

"Yes, Fish."

"Good Lord, yes. Thousands of them."

"Don't be impudent, young man. I wish to speak to Mr. Fish."

"Well, come down here and pick one out. This is the aquarium."—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Right Side Wears Out First.

"The journals in street car trucks always wear out on the right side first," said an expert in traction mechanics the other day. "That's because the majority of people are right handed. This sounds funny, but it's a fact. Right-handed people involuntarily choose a seat on the right hand side of the car, and most people standing up reach for a strap on the right. Any conductor will tell you that the right hand seats always fill up before the seats on the left, and if you make it a point to count the number of persons occupying seats in a crowded car you'll almost invariably find that there are more people squeezed into the right hand seats than in the left. This, with the majority of standing passengers holding onto the right hand straps, throws most of the weight on the right wheels, and the extra friction grinds the right-hand journals down before those on the left are much worn."—Detroit Free Press.

Eighteenth Century Curates.

When one learns that curates are increasing so much more rapidly than benefices, wonder is excited as to the condition of affairs in the eighteenth century, when enterprising women offered livings to clergymen willing to marry them. An advertisement to this effect appeared in the London Chronicle in March, 1758. The woman was rather particular, too; the curate was to be young, have a small fortune, be well recommended as to morals and good temper, "and be firmly attached to the present happy establishment." The living was not rich—below £100 a year—but the fair one was young and agreeable. There seems a touch of humility in the direction that answers "may be left at the bar of the Union Coffee House, Strand, directed to Z. Z." Confidence was created by the assurance that "the utmost secrecy and honor may be depended upon."—London Chronicle.

When the Czarina Climbed a Fence.

The czarina is said to be of a retiring disposition as regards the public, and not at all fond of the applause of huge crowds. One day when at Kiel, in Germany, she paid a visit to an art studio, the people heard of the fact and collected in great numbers in the street. "Is there no way out at the back?" asked the czarina. "Only over a fence, your majesty," was the answer. "Bring a ladder, then," said the czarina; and one being procured the wife of the czar climbed the fence and rejoined her carriage.—London Telegraph.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Money comes into one pocket and goes out of the other.

Ambition is jealousy of others' achievements; aspiration is covetousness.

Youth is fresh, but as it attains age it is salted with the tears of disappointment.

At 16 all men are welcomed into my lady's net; at 36 she seeks the easy prey of beardless youth.

Man is a creature of ailments; after the measles, mumps, and other afflictions of infancy come the moral diseases of maturity.—N. Y. Press.

Filipinos Great Gamblers.

In gambling the Filipinos are the most persistent race on earth. As soon as a servant or day laborer gets a small stake he stops work and gambles to get rich quick. Monte and cock-fighting are the choice methods. If successful at play the Filipino never works more; if he loses everything he will do anything to regain his losses.

LEARNED WOMEN AND A MOUSE

The Interesting Experience of a Lone Man at the New Women's University Club.

When the question of permitting members to invite men guests to dinner at the Women's University club was discussed, the opposition gave as an argument against it that the men would steal spoons. They admitted frankly that on occasions when they had dined at men's clubs, a spoon was considered legitimate plunder.

It was finally decided to instruct the club servants to watch the spoons carefully, and with this safeguard to admit men guests. All this was explained to a lone man who dined with a member of the club several nights ago, reports the New York Sun.

He hardly dared to use a spoon, and to avoid even the appearance of evil he looked away from those in front of him and inspected cautiously the university women dining around him. One was pointed out as having been a distinguished member of the faculty of a well-known college, and several others had made reputations as teachers.

Suddenly these women became very much agitated. They turned around in their chairs and faced the rear of the room.

The man wondered if some one was stealing spoons. The signs of agitation increased; and, unable to resist his curiosity any longer, he turned around to look.

Out in the middle of the floor of the back room was a small playful mouse. Not until it had escaped into the kitchen was the club decorum restored.

ROBBIE AND THE AUTOMOBILE.

The Youngster's Lucid Explanation Thereof to His Father When He Got Home.

Robbie had never before been in an automobile. He is a very small and serious-eyed youngster, just emerging from babyhood, and an automobile is not inherently any more novel or wonderful to him than an elevated train or a surface car. But the mild excitement and apparent interest in the vehicle shown by his mother and his aunt, to whom the experience was also new, communicated itself to Robbie.

He bobbed agitated between them as the automobile went up Fifth avenue, and asked a string of questions that evidently had sequence in his mind, although they sounded meaningless to his feminine relatives, who, absorbed in their own good time, answered him somewhat at random.

The result of Robbie's investigations became apparent, says the New York Mail and Express, when, before going to bed, he stood at his father's knee that night and conversed with a masculine intellect.

"Well, sir, what have you been up to to-day?" inquired his parent.

"Up on a big sewing-machine wiv mamma and aunty," replied Robbie.

"A sewing machine? What do you mean?"

"Yes, sir; we rided on Fifth avenue on a big sewing machine. Mamma wanted to go in the stage, but aunty said it would take all the tuck out of the stage."

TO PRESERVE OLD CHAPEL.

First Shrine for Christian Worship in America Is an Interesting Landmark.

The lovers of the antique and picturesque architecture of former centuries in the City of Mexico are pleased at the announcement that an ancient landmark, the little chapel of La Concepcion, is not to be destroyed, says the Chicago Chronicle. It has been variously claimed for this chapel that it marked the spot where Cuauhtemoc surrendered to Cortes, also that it was the first Catholic temple in which mass was said in the City of Mexico. A recent investigation of these points among the best authorities on ancient history of the capital did not establish them positively, but the little chapel is without doubt one of the earliest places of Christian worship built in the city by the Spaniards and probably in the whole of North America.

The chapel of La Concepcion now stands in the rather neglected little plaza of the same name, which is the public stand for the heavy carts and wagons licensed for hire. It is to be rescued from this unromantic surrounding, however, and a park laid out about it. The chapel will be given a few needed repairs and protected by a suitable railing. It has been proposed that the new garden to be called Jardin Berriozabel, after Mexico's late minister of war.

Bees for Use in War.

It has been suggested that honey bees be tried as military messengers in place of homing pigeons. A bee could carry a good deal of information if it were transferred by micro-photography to a minute piece of paper fastened to the insect's back. Carrier pigeons are often intercepted and killed by the enemy, but it would be difficult to do this in the case of bees. The homing instinct of a bee is as strong is that of a pigeon.

Summer Vacation Schools.

Nearly 1,000 men and women are employed to conduct summer vacation schools and playgrounds in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx. Last summer more than 100,000 boys and girls were in more or less constant attendance.

"Infantry."

The term "infantry" was first used by the Spaniards in the wars with the Moors to designate the bodyguard of a royal prince or infanta. It was extended to the entire body of foot soldiers, and finally adopted throughout Europe.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Chief Kiely and Captain Overbaugh have finally arranged to have the first of the Elizabeth-Plainfield police baseball games, take place Tuesday next. Whether it will be in Plainfield or the county seat will be decided upon tonight.

Burns, the Safe Works pitcher, had his strike-out arm with him Saturday. Eleven of the Y. M. C. A. men fanned while not a one got to first base on balls. Through poor support at critical moments he was credited with giving twelve hits.

Sullivan, the new addition to the St. Mary team, was evidently overrated before he went into Saturday's game. He made two out of the five errors credited to the St. Mary's and didn't get a hit. It was a bad move to withdraw Dick Scott to make way for him, as the former has always put up a much better game and at the least, could be counted upon for a good hit.

The Park A. C. baseball team administered defeat to the Crescents, yesterday afternoon, by a score of 6 to 3. It was an exciting game and a number of excellent plays were made including an excellent stop by Short-stop Howard, of Parks. The batteries were Nischwitz and Webster for the Parks and Taylor and Mullen for the Crescents. The game was played on the Myrtle avenue grounds.

In computing the average ages of the various teams forming the local League, it has been found that the youngest set of players forms the Hope nine. The average is nineteen and a half. The oldest player Captain Martin is but twenty-two while "Teddy" Overton lays claim to having reached his sixteenth brithday. This team leads in the race for the pennant and it is doubtful if any team in the State of the same ago, can put up as good an exhibition of the National game.

Captain Brit Martin's magnificent one-handed catch in the Hope-St. Mary game, Saturday, continues to be the chief topic of conversation with baseball cranks. It is asserted by many of them that nothing like it has been seen on a local diamond since Gately, the old Crescent's deaf mute pitcher, caught and held a red-hot fly direct from the bat that would have killed him but for his quick sight. This feat was accomplished in 1892 and was the talk of the baseball world for months.

The Safe Works team has undoubtedly been playing in hard luck and there are many enthusiasts beside its followers who are confident of seeing it pull away from last place before long. A glance at its summaries makes it evident that unfortunate plays by individuals, and not poor work by the team as a whole, is responsible for its being defeated three times in succession. The Hope chapel game on Decoration Day afternoon was lost by the errors of one fielder, the St. Mary game was called in the fifth inning with the score two against them and Saturday's game was lost by one run. A "hoodoo" must certainly be following the aggregation.

The throng which witnessed the Hope-St Mary game, Saturday, was one of the largest seen on a baseball field in many years and at the same time was one of the most orderly. This latter feature has been characteristic of all the League contests, and is due to the assistance lent the managers by Chief Kiely and his men. As is known, an unruly element is generally prevalent at all such public events but to the credit of the baseball loving public anything savoring of rowdyism has been eradicated, as was shown last week, when the high feeling which ran between the followers of the two teams was anything but conducive to quiet watching.

GOLF.

A large number of woman experts played in the medal play handicap on Essex County Country Club course last week, including Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, who with Mrs. M. D. Patterson had the lowest net score, 83. On the play off Mrs. Patterson won first honors.

PERSONAL.

Chas. Keller, Adolph Bohren, Wm. Mills and John Herman went on a visit to Perth Amboy yesterday.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, of Watchung avenue, returned yesterday from Saratoga, where he has been attending the annual convention of the American Medical association.

Samuel Bingaman, of East Ninth street, has returned home after a five weeks' business trip to North Dakota and Iowa. Mr. Bingaman gained nineteen pounds during his trip.

THOUGHT HE MET AUTO.

But Policeman Lunger Decided It Was Only Drink.

Patrolman George Lunger found John Scott, of Essex street, today noon at the corner of Park avenue and Second street. He was intoxicated and asleep. When awakened by the gentle tappings of the officer's club, he claimed that he was near the electric pole on the corner when Mrs. N. P. Rogers with her automobile struck it. This excuse did not go with the officer and Scott was taken to police headqarters where he is sobering up.

Children's Day.

Children's Day will be observed by the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. A very interesting programme has been arranged and a pleasant and profitable morning is anticipated. In addition to exercises by the school, a short task will be given by Rev. Dr. Robert R. Doherty, of Jersey City. Dr. Doherty is well known in Plainfield, and his many friends will undoubtedly avail of this opportunity to hear him. A hearty invitation is extended to all to be present.

Home From the Convention.

Deacon Spencer Conway, one of the prominent leaders of Calvary Baptist church, returned home today after five days' attendance at the twenty-eighth annual session of the New England Convention, held at West Philadelphia. He was accorded exceptional treatment during his stay and was tempted to remain but for the fact that he is needed in this city to conduct the Gospel campaign inaugurated at Calvary Baptist church.

The Lucky Ones.

The drawing for articles on exhibition recently at the St. Joseph's bazaar was held last evening and resulted as folows: Miss Edith Peeberry, hand painted tapestry; Rev. Father Miller's hand pastel of himself, Miss Kate McMahon; hand painted roses on porcelain, Mrs. M. S. Duncan; art fire screen, Mr. McBride; duchess lace pillow, Mrs. T. A. Beauehn; hand painted lamp, D. T. Kenney.

Prevention Better Than Risk.

No amount of home care can equal the protection which you are afforded in a well equipped safe deposit vault. You can avoid unnecessary risk by leaving your valuables, trunks, and silver chests at the City National Bank where every facility which a modern bank can give in its storage vaults is offered. Private boxes may also be rented. The safety which is thus provided can not be too highly valued.

In Justice Hand's Court.

In Justice Hand's court, yesterday, judgment was taken in the case of Meurer Brothers Company against Masker. The amount is $140. Summons were issued, yesterday, in the contract case of McDonough Brothers against Beekman. They are returnable Monday afternoon.

Plainfielders Entertained.

Brigadier-General A. G. Perry and staff, of Antietam Command, inspected Hancock Command, at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, New York, last evening. The Plainfielders were afterward entertained with a musical and literary programme which terminated with a banquet.

Didn't Mean to Do Wrong.

Charles Lieberman, of Wilmington, Del., was arrested by Patrolman McCarthy on Park avenue, yesterday afternoon, for peddling gas fixtures without a license. In the city court, this morning, he denied any intention of wrongdoing and sentence was suspended.

Death of Mrs. Eliza A. Smith.

Mrs. Eliza A. Smith died yesterday afternoon at the residence of her son William Smith, of 60 Washington avenue. She was in her sixty-fifth year and had been ill for a long time. The funeral services will be strictly private.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

CITY HIGH SENIORS CELEBRATED CLASS DAY

The Exercises Were Held in Franklin School Hall Last Night—Dance Followed.

THEY MADE CLEVER HITS

THE SENIORS HAD SOMETHING FUNNY FOR EVERYBODY PRESENT.

History Told of a Wonderful Class—Prophecy Described the Remarkable Characters That the Future Would Bring Forth.

With exercises appropriate to the occasion, bright fun, clever nonsense, happy wit and lightsome jest, the seniors of Plainfield High School last evening celebrated in honor of class day. The exercises were held in Franklin School hall. The audience entered into the jovial spirit incident to events of the kind and greeted with applause and outbursts of laughter the caustic but good-natured and friendly hits contained in the history and prophecies, and aimed at the various members of the class. Not even the teachers were immune from the shafts of the retiring seniors. Over the platform in a prominent position hung the class flag and streamers with the class colors stretched across the stage.

The evening's programme consisted of "Class History," Harold Nomer; "Class Prophecy," Miss Alma Dyer; "A Glance Into the Future," Miss Marguerite VanDeventer; "Where Some Authors Got Their Titles," Linden Bridgeman, and the singing of the class song. The eminent seniors were apotheosized in the usual Thrasonical manner, and it was not forgotten to retain a few Parthian shots, in the way of humorous gibes, for the hapless juniors. The class song was possessed of similar characteristics and contained the punning information that the class of 1902 is the best that ever graced the school "because it '02 be." The first stanza of the song ran as follows:

Oh 1902 is coming,
Now hear the glad refrain,
In honor of our High School,
Loud we lift the strain.
Our loyalty is ever true,
And stanch we'll always be;
On high we raise the white and blue,
Our emblem as you see.
We are the grave old Seniors,
The Class of 1902,
But soon we'll have to leave you,
And our old High School too.
Four years of work and fun we've had,
But now we all must go,
And leave our places to the class
That comes up from below.

The class history by Harold Nomer sketched the career of that body from its earliest inception, through the period of growth to the present epoch of full development. Its varying fortunes and adventures were followed, in humorous description, from the day they entered the High School in 1898 till the crowning moment when the members began to strut about as seniors and subsequently to feel the influence of the process that made them more reverend, grave and potent. Evidently as far as episode and adventure was concerned the famous march from Sardis to Cunaxa was as nothing compared to the anabasis of the class of 1902.

As class prophecy Miss Alma Dyer read from a copy of The Daily Press of March 20, 1917, witty and entertaining items relatives to the various positions in life occupied by the members of the class. According to The Press of that date this year's graduates are of versatile composition fitted for the forum or the fireside, the farm or the footlights.

"A Glance Into the Future," by Miss Marguerite VanDerVenter revealed the teachers of today one hundred years from now holding a colloquy with Charon on an excursion to the land ruled by Dis. Some of the teachers held transfers entitling to passage on the Elysium Through Line when they reached the opposite side of the Styx.

"Where Some Authors Got Their Titles" by Linden Bridgeman was a series of allusions to immediate surroundings suggested by the names of various books. Thus "The Seats of the Mighty" referred to the platform of the Bapitst church on the evening of June 19; "Old Curiosity Shop" brought to mind the laboratory; "Bleak House" indicated the High School without the class of 1902.

After the programme was completed the flood of the hall was cleared for the accommodation of Terpsichorean devotees.

Miss Kittie Manning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Manning, has gone to New Mexico for the season.

OCEAN GROVE PLANS.

Opening Sermons Will be Preached There Sunday, June 29.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, June 18—Bishop James N. FitzGerald, president of the Ocean Grove Campmeeting Association of the Methodist Episcopal church, has announced that the opening sermons in the monster auditoriums will be preached on Sunday, June 29, and continued every Lord's Day until September 21. The preacher for the initial service has not been decided upon, but it is likely that Bishop FitzGerald will occupy the pulpit. On the following Sunday, July 6, Bishops Fowler and Walden will preach.

GIRLS PLAYED BASKET BALL

TWO SCRUB TEAMS FROM CITY HIGH SCHOOL PLAYED EXHIBITION GAME.

The "Reds" Defeated the "Blues" by a Score of 27 to 19—Played on Casino Grounds.

Two scrub teams from the girls of the City High School played basket ball on the old tennis court in the rear of the Casino, yesterday afternoon. The girls have been playing the game there this spring, but yesterday's game was the first one at which spectators were allowed. Play had been stopped over a week ago on account of the warm weather, but yesterday was so delightfully cool that it was decided to play an exhibition game to which the participants were allowed to bring their friends.

As has been the custom at previous games, two scrub teams were selected under the titles of the "Reds" and the "Blues." After an exciting game, the "Reds" won by a score of 27 to 19. The victory was earned by superior team play. At goal throwing, the most scores were made by Miss Helen Monro for the victors and Miss May Murray for the other team.

The teams lined up as follows:

REDS.		BLUES.
Lilian Walsh	centre	Wilhelmina Patton
Antoinette Moody	centre	Elizabeth Ulrich
Mary Griggs	centre	Abbie Lewis
Helen Munro	home	May Murray
Louise Klein	home	Florence Martin
Ada Westphal	home	Elizabeth Phillips
Elsie Goddard	guard	Emily Hallett
May Hallett	guard	AnnaConant
Roxana Love	guard	Ethel Boice

LOCAL CHARITIES.

Contributions Are Still Being Received at This Office for the Camps This Afternoon.

Contributions are still being received from interested persons for the fresh air work to be carried on in Plainfield this summer, the donors designating which charity they desire to help. It has been thought best to have a distinct name for the camp at Netherwood, where Miss Curry will be in charge, and hereafter it will be known as the "Netherwood Fresh Air Home." This will not confuse persons with the King's Daughters' Camp on the mountain. Today a friend contributed $5 toward the Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

Mrs. Henry Wheeler Celebrated Her Birthday in Pleasant Fashion.

Surrounded by relatives and friends, Mrs. Henry Wheeler, pleasantly celebrated the anniversary of her eighty-third birthday yesterday at her home, 228 East Fifth street. During the afternoon and evening there were many pleasant features to mark the occasion and make it one long to be remembered by all. Among those present were Mrs. Wheeler's daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Lockwood, of Philadelphia, formerly of this city. Her brother, Elias Hotchkiss and her sister, Mrs. William E. Lowe, of this city.

Among the enjoyable features of the affair was a sumptuous dinner served at 6 o'clock. The evening was then given up to sociability and the exchange of pleasant words relative to the happy event. Mrs. Wheeler althougth well advanced in years is remarkably smart and very spry, which fact was often commented upon during the celebration.

CHANGE IN THE MUSIC.

MORE PLANS BEING MADE FOR THE ANNUAL BABY PARADE.

Combined New Station for Avon and Bradley Beach—Auto Busses for Hotels — New Lights for Ocean Grove—Hotels Opening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, June 18—Two disquieting incidents of last week have been satisfactorily adjusted, although for a time it looked as though Asbury Park would be minus a beach band, and would also be saddled with an ostrich farm in the very centre of the hotel district.

The ostrich farm, through the liberal offer of Mayor Bradley, is now fortunately transferred to a less populous district, and the difference with Dr. Conterno, whose services are required at the Academy of Music, New York, has probably been arranged by the employment of Voss's band of Newark. In other respects, the week has been productive of much that is favorable to the hotel proprietors and boarding-house keepers. There have been many arrivals and a very large and noticeable influx of cottagers.

The baby parade commission held a meeting last week and fixed August 19 for the baby parade, and the evening of the twentieth for the Queen's reception. Alfred Chasseaud, who is perhaps one of the best known managers of public events in the east, has been engaged as general manager for the commission, and will take charge of the entire fete. Mr. Chasseaud was formerly a resident of Orange, and is well known in Newark. Last year he managed the amateur circus at Deal, in which Joseph Byrne appeared as clown. The success of this event was so pronounced that in all probability it will become quite as much a permanent feature in Deal as the baby parade is in Asbury Park. Mr. Chasseaud promises many new and pleasing ideas for the function, and has gone to work with characteristic vigor to prepare for the event.

Bradley Beach is in a state of pleasurable expectation over the prospect of a handsome new depot. The proposition is to make this structure a joint station for Avon and Bradley Beach at which all trains will stop. The location proposed is just outside the limits imposed by the agreement between the railroads and the Ocean Grove Association, and thus the question of Sunday trains, if this depot is established, will be temporarily settled to the advantage, not only of these two suburban resorts, but also to Asbury Park.

A new feature introduced by Proprietor W. Harvey Jones, of the Hotel Columbia, is the auto omnibus which will be run to the depots. Jones's new vehicle seats eleven persons. It will be used during the evenings to take the Columbia guests along the coast.

The arc lights on the Ocean Grove board walk were lighted for the first time last week. The illumination of the beach front is now continuous for a distance of three miles. It is altogether probable that the new 2,000-candle-power electric lamp will be placed in the streets of Asbury Park this season. The arc lamps have been strung in the middle of the streets, and a great improvement in the city light is noticed.

Henry L. Holt, of Bordentown, will have charge of the Ocean Grove Cadets this summer. The boys will be costumed in rough-riders' uniform. Workmen are busy in the big auditorium preparing that edifice for the formal opening of the religious season on June 21.

Several additional hotels opened their doors for business last week.

Jersey Medical Society to Meet.

The annual meeting of the Medical Society of New Jersey will be held in the Hotel Rudolf, Atlantic City, beginning Tuesday, June 24, and continuing to Thursday. Many interesting topics will be discussed. The Committee of Arrangements consists of Drs. W. Blair Stewart and Edward A. Reiley, Atlantic City; G. E. Reading, Woodbury; John F. Leavitt, Camden, and S. T. Day, Port Norris.

Odd Fellows to Elect.

Plainfield Lodge and Queen City Lodges, I. O. O. F., will nominate officers at their meetings to be held Monday.

A HOST OF HOBOES INVADED THE CITY

Police Gathered in Many, But Others Were Seen Wandering About the Streets.

IS AN ANNUAL AFFAIR.

THREE OF THOSE CAPTURED WERE GIVEN TERMS AT COUNTY JAIL.

One Nervy Individual Begged Food and Then Sat in Hammock on the Front Piazza to Eat It—They Kept the Police Busy.

Plainfield received its annual visitation of hoboes, last evening, and as a result three of them are languishing in cells at police headquarters awaiting transportation to Elizabeth. Many more who came in by various routes streaked for the city limits at the sight of the bluecoats and saved the county the expense of keeping them.

As the police records show, this city is down on the calling lists of all genuine eastern Knights of the Road for a visit during June. Somehow or other they all seem to arrive together but just why no one has ever explained. The regular immigration occurred, last evening, and the entire night force was kept busy rounding them up.

Patrolmen Overbaugh, Gamo and Meyers, whose beats are near the railroad, each secured one or more prisoners. Gamo spotted several early in the evening loitering about Richmond street and chased them along several times. Just before midnight, one of them who afterward described himself as Michael Mountain, of Philadelphia, "sassed" him when he was asked to give an account of himself and he was promptly escorted to headquarters. Shortly afterward Patrolman Meyers came in with John Kelley, of Bayonne, who had made a canvass of Netherwood backdoors during the evening. He wandered up to a front porch and, depositing himself in a hammock with his feet resting on several silk covered pillows, proceeded to eat what he had gathered from servant girls.

At 3 o'clock, this morning, Patrolman Overbaugh saw two young men and a middle aged fellow loitering about the corner of North and Watchung avenues. As he started for them they ran away but at a command all stopped but the older one. The policeman gave chase and captured him at East Fourth tsreet. The other two remained standing and accompanied him to the police station.

When arraigned before City Judge Runyon the young men gave their names as Edward Welsh and Frank Poda, of Elizabeth, and the other, Emmitt McDonald, of Philadelphia. The latter told numerous conflicting stories and he was given thirty days straight. His companions, who said they had met him only by accident, told a straight story and were dismissed.

Kelley had a well thought out tale to tell but it didn't ward off the twenty days imposed. Mountain also related a series of troubles to the court but it didn't go and he was given twenty-five days straight.

All the other patrolmen reported seeing numerous suspicious strangers about but no other arrests were made. The police are confident this was the spring invasion and no more hoboes will stop off until fall, in the meantime giving the city a wide detour.

NEGRO COLONY.

Will be Established Near Cape May for Colored Men From Carolina.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cape May, June 18—Henry C. White, the last colored man to sit in Congress, who was a member from North Carolina in both the Fifty-fifth and the Fifty-sixth Congresses, is the head of a syndicate which has purchased from Senator Robert E. Hand 957½ acres at Burleigh, near the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Reading Railroad, where a colored colony from North Carolina will be founded.

The name of the town is to be Whiteboro. Already several of the avennes have been laid out. Each colonist is to buy a house on the instalment plan, and is to have ten years in which to pay for it.

This is to be an agricultural colony on the same plan as the Jewish colony at Woodbine, this county, founded by the Baron de Hirsch fund trustees.

A GREAT GATHERING FROM SUNDAY-SCHOOLS

New Jersey Will be Well Represented at International Sunday-School Convention.

IT MEETS NEXT WEEK.

SOME OF THE PROMINENT SPEAKERS TO BE PRESENT AND TALK.

Will be the Largest Religious Gathering of the Year—Big Plans at Denver to Receive the Visitors —Some Important Questions.

In point of attendance and the numbers interested in its deliberations, the International Sunday-school convention, at which New Jersey's 366,000 Sunday-school members will be represented by eighty delegates and a large number of visitors, will undoubtedly be the religious gathering of the year. It will open in Denver a week from tomorrow.

A conspicuous feature will be the action upon the proposition to reduce the number of temperance lessons, for there seems to be a wide diversion of opinion upon the matter. Many W. C. T. U. societies have passed resolutions protesting against the plan. Interest is also attached to the selection of a lesson committee to prepare the international series for 1906-1911. Since the appointment of the present committee in 1896, the whole field of Sunday-school teaching has received unusual attention from specialists in pedagogy, and, a comparatively new psychology of religious training has come to the front.

In the preparation of the programme the aim has been to obtain a full and free discussion upon the question of Biblical instruction. Only topics of supreme importance will be introduced. Among the speakers announced are men and women of national reputation. Dr. A. F. Schauffler will make an address upon "Teaching the Bible as Literature—Plus What?" Dr. C. H. Daniels, of the American Board, is to speak of Sunday-schools and missions, and Dr. A. E. Dunning, editor of The Congregationalist, of "The Master and His Disciples." Dr. G. C. Lorimer will give two addresses, "The Message from the Cross" and "Christ the World's Greatest Teacher." "How to Develop Scholars Into Teachers," by Dr. J. A. Worden, and the "Theological Seminaries and the Sunday-schools," by President E. Y. Mullins, of the Baptist Southern Theological School, will have special interest. Hon. M. G. Brumbaugh, the first United States Commissioner of Education to Porto Rico, to which position he was appointed by President McKinley, is to speak on the topic, "To What Extent Are Public School Methods Applicable to Sunday-school Teaching?"

In 1832 the first delegates to a series of notable national conventions met in New York. The second gathering was in Philadelphia, the year following. Then came a lapse of twenty-six years before the third assembly in that same city in 1859. Ten years after the delegates met for the fourth national convention here in Newark. At Indianapolis, in 1872, when the uniform system was adopted, the first lesson committee was chosen.

ROBBED BRIDE'S HOME.

Burglars Broke Into Residence of Col. B. Edgar, Near Rahway.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, June 18—The residence of Colonel Blanchard Edgar, in Woodbridge road, near Rahway, was robbed Monday night. Four gold watches and much other jewelry was taken, including a lot of presents for a bride-to-be, whose wedding is near at hand. One of the Misses Edgar was awakened by hearing some one moving about her room.

Entrance was gained through an open window downstairs. Colonel Edgar chased the thieves, two in number, to a point near the reformatory, where they disappeared. The bride-elect is nearly prostrated from shock.

To Tell of New Movement.

Rev. Dr. Clark, who is associated with Rev. Wilbur J. Chapman, of New York, will speak at the First Baptist church Sunday morning. He will tell of a movement on foot to secure a local option law regarding prohibition.

New 'Phone Line.

A new telephone line, connecting Sergeantsville, Grover and Bound Brook to Flemington, has been established and is greatly appreciated by the residents in those places.

JUST IN TIME.

Constable Arrived Just as Italians Had Drawn Their Knives.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 18—A fracas between two Italians at the Fanwood station Monday afternoon, which was rapidly leading up to a stabbing affray, was terminated just in time by the arrival of Constable Scheelen.

The principals were Julius Romo and a friend whose name he refused to reveal. The men had both drawn knives and were preparing to do the carving act when Scheelen appeared. He captured Romo but the other fellow escaped. The prisoner was arraigned before Justice Clark and was fined $5.

CASES IN COUNTY COURT

CONROY, SAVAGE AND ROBERTS WERE FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Other Offenders Before the Court of Quarter Sessions at Elizabeth.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 18—In the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday morning the case of the State against Simon Jointus, Frank Spader and August Spader, indicted for assault and battery, was on motion of Prosecutor of the Pleas English, nolle prossed, and witnesses subpoenaed were discharged from further attendance.

Charles Gruchalavich, charged with assault and battery, retracted his former plea of not guilty and pleaded non vult, as did also Emanuel Holman, charged with larceny.

Joseph Azzarella, charged with atrocious assault on his brother, Vincenzo Azzarella, whose trial had been set down for yesterday, failed to respond when called. The court was informed that the accused had been among the missing for several days, and that it had been impossible to obtain any clue to his whereabouts.

The case of the State against John Conroy, Thomas Savage and Frank Roberts, indicted for an unprovoked assault and battery on Rabbi Abraham Levins, which case was adjourned from Friday, was resumed.

After being a short time the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

ASSEMBLYMAN DEAD.

Frederick Miller Passed Away at His Home Early This Morning —Ill for Some Time.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 18—Assemblyman Frederick Miller, Republican, died this morning at 5 o'clock at his home in Elizabeth. He had been seriously ill for some time and his death was not unexpected.

Mr. Miller was born in Germany, October 9, 1857, and was a mechanic. He was a member of the Elizabeth fire department for eighteen years and of the Exempt Firemen's Association. He was also a past grand of the Odd Fellows, a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, Friendship B. A. Council and other organizations.

He was a member of the Common Council from 1889 to 1891 and of the Union County Board of Freeholders, having been first elected in 1894, and four times altogether. Mr. Miller was elected to the Assembly by a plurality of 1,671 over Sulzer, the highest candidate on the Democratic ticket.

FLANAGAN ELECTED.

Goes to Congress to Fill Unexpired Term in the Old Fourth Congressional District.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, June 18 — DeWitt C. Flanagan, of Morristown, was yesterday elected to represent the old Fourth district in Congress for the unexpired term of the late Congressman Salmon. There was no excitement at the polls here or in any of the other counties.

Only sixty-one votes were cast in Morristown, and about the same ratio of ballots were cast throughout the district. The Congressman will take his seat at once. His election is an entering wedge for his nomination by the Democrats against Congressman Fowler in the new Fifth district.

Funeral of Mrs. Smith.

At the home of her son, William Smith, of Washington avenue, funeral services were held yesterday over the remains of Mrs. Eliza Ann Smith. They were in charge of Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First M. E. church. Only the immediate relatives were present. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

Church Festival.

A festival for the benefit of the Rescue Mission will be held on the lawn of the First Church of Christ tomorrow evening. Ice cream, cake and lemonade will be sold. Admission free.

APPEAL IN BEHALF OF FRESH AIR HOME

Some Facts Concerning Needs of Netherwood Fresh Air Camp are Made Public.

THE SEASON'S PLANS.

TO CARE FOR ABOUT FORTY CHILDREN THERE AT ONE TIME.

Home is Located on Hill Behind Netherwood Hotel—The Site is a Healthful One—What is Specially Needed There Now.

To distinguish this charity from our baby fresh air camp on the mountain, the name of Netherwood Fresh Air Home has been chosen, and it is requested that articles or money intended for this work may be carefully designated and so avoid confusion and possible error. We mention this as we appreciate that friends intend lending their aid to both of these worthy objects.

The home is situated upon a high hill back of the Netherwood Hotel, upon Leland avenue, and the healthfulness of the site is beyond question.

Some of our friends have objected to the close proximity of the pond which was formed by digging out of clay by the former brick manufacturer, but we are told by persons who have lived on the spot that the water has never been known to be stagnant, as the pond is fed by springs, which are flowing at all seasons of the year.

The house is admirably arranged for the entertainment of our little New York guests and we fell sanguine that under the watchful, kind attention of Miss Curry much joy will be shed into many a barren little life during the two months of their stay.

On July 1, Miss Curry will bring about forty little children from the east side tenement life to get the delightful, invigorating air of our charming suburb. Only nursery children from six months old up to six years will be brought, and, of course, there will be about six mothers to attend to them. It is planned to keep the little ones at the home half of the summer, another party of forty to exchange with them for the balance of the season.

As the house is unfurnished, articles of furniture, cooking utensils, china, glass, bedding, brushes, brooms, laundry tubs and utensils would be very thankfully received. The floors will not be covered, but any pieces of carpet that might be useful as rugs would be acceptable. The cribs and mattresses have been purchased, but single beds, cots or mattresses will be required for the helpers. If anyone has folding beds two could be used to good advantage.

After the home is opened, fresh vegetables, milk, eggs, cereals, flour and other supplies will be in great demand. If any friend has a cow that might be lent for the summer it will be pastured and cared for in the grounds of the home.

Through the liberality of Mr. Hyde the children are to have the use of the woods at the rear of the grounds, making a beautiful playing ground.

Any friend who will respond to this appeal may receive further information about articles needed by telephoning 1121 Plainfield.

All articles will be called for.

WAR MEDALS.

New Jersey Naval Reserves on the Resolute Get Them.

The records of the Navy Department show that of the Naval Reserves in service during the Spanish war, New Jersey furnished 34 officers and 373 enlisted men. Of that number 20 officers and 261 men were assigned to duty on the Brooklyn and Resolute, nine officers and seventy-four petty officers on the Montank, and one officer and nineteen petty officers in the coast signal service. The Resolute was engaged in the Santiago battle and the engagement at Manzanillo, on August 12, 1898.

All New Jersey reserves on the Resolute, in either of the engagements, are entitled to the Spanish war medals, which will be issued very soon. The department requests all who are thus entitled to make application for them as soon as possible.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

New York, Massachusetts, Delaware and other States that have recently tried by the enactment of more liberal laws to draw corporations away from New Jersey, do not appear to have scored a success. If New Jersey has lost any corporation business the officials at Trenton do not seem to know it.

Incomplete returns made by the State Board of Assessors show that there are now about 15,000 corporations holding New Jersey charters, and this number is being increased at a remarkable rate every week. Of this total the franchise tax on 4,648 alone amounts to $1,960,874.14. This tax simply gives them the right to do business and does not take into account the local tax levied on tangible property for municipal purposes. When all the returns are in the State's total franchise taxes may be found to aggregate about $2,500,000.

New Jersey, without a doubt, continues to do a good business at the same old stand.—Jersey City Journal.

The secret which has been so carefully guarded by the opponents of Congressman Fowler in Union county has at last leaked out. Russell H. Osgoodby, who is described by the Elizabeth Journal as "a genial Cranfordite," is out after the Congressional nomination. He has started his campaign with a tally-ho ride and is said to have awakened a large amount of enthusism. Although we never heard of Mr. Osgoodby before, we are glad to welcome him into the field of politics. It was beginning to look as though there would be no excitement over the Republican nomination next Saturday, but now Mr. O. will inject "quite some" fervor into the contest. It is said that Congressman Fowler is arranging for a special train to take his adherents to Belvidere on the day that the convention meets. Now if Osgoodby will organize a gigantic tally-ho party and take along all the people who will agree to root for him, he will be introducing a novelty that ought to win out. It is true that Colonel Barbour started the tally-ho style in his campaign in the new Sixth District, but as he is to run the vehicles for the benefit of New Yorkers of the exclusive sort, they cannot be expected to make him as popular as Osgoodby, if the latter adopts the suggestion here made.—Newark News.

MANY HOMES FOUND.

Year's Work Done by the New Jersey Children's Home Society.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 18—The eighth annual conference of the New Jersey Children's Home Society was held in Trenton last week. The last year, in many ways, was the most successful in the history of the society.

In the eight years 688 children have been provided with family homes. The society exercises a supervision over the children until they are legally adopted or become of age. The cost of thus caring for these children for the eight years has been an average of $66.78 per child. The total receipts for the year were $8,232.23, the largest amount raised in any one year in the history of the society. In addition to this $6,000 were pledged during the year for the McKinley Memorial Fund, which is either to be devoted to the erection of a receiving home or invested for the benefit of the children.

Rev. D. R. Foster was re-elected president. The corps of workers was increased by the election of Rev. J. S. David as a superintendent's assistant.

OLD FOLKS DAY.

Remarkable Longevity of Members of the Bound Brook Presbyterian Church.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 18—"Old Folks Day" was celebrated in the Presbyterian church here Sunday. This church has seventy members who are over seventy years of age, twenty of whom are past eighty. Of this number twenty-six were present Sunday, the others being detained by bodily infirmities or were afraid to venture out on account of the threatening weather.

The oldest member present was Mrs. Margaret Brokaw, aged ninety-six, still hale and hearty, who has been a member of this church seventy-one years. The next oldest member present was Lawrence VanDerveer Shepherd, aged eighty-seven, who has been a member of this same church sixty-five years and an elder about forty-five years. Mr. Shepherd is as straight as an arrow and drives a handsome and spirited team of horses into church from his home, Meadow Brook Stock Farm, half a mile away.

During Rev. Mr. Davis' pastorate of twelve years he has buried 105 members of his congregation who were past seventy years of age. The church has had three pastors who preached here nearly fifty years each, and were past eighty when they died. The longevity of the congregation is remarkable.

Rev. Mr. Davis today preached a comforting sermon to the old folks from Hebrews 13.5—"For He hath said I will never leave thee nor forsake thee."

BRINGS SUMMER BOARDERS.

A Large Metropolitan Newspaper Which is Helping the Summer Resorts.

The Brooklyn Eagle several years ago established a Bureau of Information in Brooklyn, where the public could, free of charge, secure details of hotels and boarding houses for the summer. The idea at once became popular, and branch bureaus were opened in Manhattan and other cities. Country hotels and boarding houses by sending to this Bureau can secure a listing blank, fill it out and return it and then be represented free of cost, and send their circulars and cards for free disribution.

The Brooklyn Eagle has also been considered for years the best medium for summer boarders in New York City.

The Rocky Point Inn, in the Adirondacks, said: "We are giving the Eagle a larger share of advertising than most other papers, as experience has demonstrated its value to us in past seasons."

Chauncey B. Newkirk, of Wurtsboro, Sullivan, county, said: "Last season one small ad brought me five guests."

La Rue Bros., proprietors of the American Hotel of Sharon Springs, N. Y., wrote: "Our house is full and mostly by Brooklyn people. Daily we recieve applications for rooms, and all on account of our standing ad. in the Eagle."

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Union Avenue from North Avenue to Elizabeth Avenue; Elizabeth Avenue, from Union Avenue to Orange Avenue; and Orange Avenue, from Elizabeth Avenue to South Twelfth Street, all in the Township of Cranford, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, Nineteen Hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as estimated in advance, is as follows:

4,440 cubic Yards of Excavation.
7,783 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
2,390 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
405 square yards of Resurfacing Macadam, Two inches thick.
5 Culverts to be lowered.
8 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

Plans and Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of the Township Engineer, 25 Dix Building, Elizabeth, N. J.

JACOB L. BAUER,
6-12-13 Township Engineer.

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Walnut Avenue, in the Township of Cranford, from South Avenue to the Lehigh Valley Railroad, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, nineteen hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above-named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

The work to be done, as nearly as can be estimated in advance, is as follows:

3,800 cubic yards of Excavation.
5,756 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
1,404 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
2 Bridges and 2 Culverts to be lowered.
9 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

Plans and Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of the Township Engineer, 25 Dix Building, Elizabeth, N. J.

NEW AMERICAN LINER.

The Kroonland Ready For Service. A Sister Ship Nearly Done.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The big new American line steamship Kroonland has been completed, and she will sail from Cramp's shipyard on Saturday next for New York. Work has recently been rushed night and day on the Kroonland in order that she may take her regular place in the American line fleet and sail on her maiden voyage on June 28. The ship has had no trial trip, but the Cramp company is so confident of her ability to meet the contract requirements that the right of preliminary tests has been waived, and the big ship's first voyage will also be her trial trip.

Shortly after the Kroonland leaves the shipyard her sister ship, the Finland, will be launched, Saturday at 2 p. m. being fixed for the launching. Mrs. Bettle, a daughter of President Clement A. Griscom of the American line, will christen the Finland. The Finland will be finished in time to sail from New York the last of August or the beginning of September.

The two new ships are the largest ever built in this country, being twenty feet longer and 400 tons greater displacement than the St. Louis and New York, built at the same yard. They are luxuriously equipped and are of moderate speed, being designed to make the trip across the Atlantic in eight days.

Wounded by His Own Soldiers.

BERLIN, June 18.—General von Bock und Pollach, commanding a division of the German army, has been seriously slashed by the lances of his own dragoons. The general's accident was a singular one. During the exercises yesterday the troops of General von Bock und Pollach's command were charging across the field at Tilsit, in Prussia, when the bugle suddenly sounded "About face!" The general was immediately in the rear of the line of charging troopers, and after they turned he was caught among the lances and was wounded. The men did not know the general was following them. He was seriously wounded in the head and neck and was carried to a hospital.

Wild Rush For Homestead Lands.

POCATELLO, Ida., June 18.—Exactly at 12 o'clock yesterday 1,300 men and boys of all ages rushed across the line of the ceded Fort Hall reservation and disappeared in a cloud of dust in their mad rush for homestead and mineral lands. Most of them were mounted on horses and ponies, a majority heavily armed. Probably a thousand persons departed later with pack animals. Before 2 o'clock Pocatello was practically deserted. Many signs of trouble were apparent before the starting signal was given. In scores of instances it was known that three or more men intended to locate on the same piece of land.

Spanish Pilgrims In a Fight.

MADRID, June 18.—As a result of a serious conflict among the pilgrims at a religious fete which was being held at Avila, in the province of Asturias, eleven of the pilgrims were seriously wounded by bullets.

LACEMAKERS STRIKE

A Move In Aid of the Striking Miners.

NEARLY ONE THOUSAND ARE IDLE.

Manager Refused to Comply With Demand of Union to Discharge Girls Whose Relatives Continue to Work In the Coal Mines.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 18.—Because the general manager would not discharge five girls whose relatives are still at work in the mines the Wilkesbarre Lace Manufacturing company, the largest in the United States, has been compelled to shut down. Between 800 and 1,000 persons are affected.

The lacemakers and cotton workers are strongly organized and have been helping the striking miners in every way possible. It appears the lacemakers learned that relatives of the girls were working in the mines, and the girls were given the alternative of either quitting the lace mills or having their relatives leave the collieries. Failing in this, the Cotton Workers' union requested the discharge of the girls, but the manager refused to comply. The employees of the cotton department thereupon quit. The manager then asked the weavers what they intended to do, and after a meeting the weavers replied that they could not work with "unfair" workers and also quit.

The shutting down of the lace mill is the only important development in the Wyoming region.

The general strike situation remains unchanged. The miners report that more men have come out, and the coal company officials, on the contrary, claim they are increasing their forces around the collieries. Some of these men are used in the firerooms and at the pumps, and others are engaged to do guard duty.

There is a persistent rumor afloat that nonunion men will be brought into the coalfields to mine coal. This cannot be done because practically all the anthracite miners in the country are located in this region and all are on strike. New men cannot take their places because under the laws of Pennsylvania no man can be employed as a miner without first having obtained a certificate showing that he has had a two years' experience at anthracite mining. These certificates are issued by examining boards composed of miners appointed by the presiding judge of each county in which anthracite coal is produced. The only way the companies can start their collieries is by a break in the ranks of the strikers. At present there is no indication of a break.

A number of men attacked a coal and iron policeman in South Wilkesbarre last night and used him up rather badly.

Relief work among the striking mine workers has been started in several sections of the region, but to what extent cannot be definitely learned. The officers of the local unions who have charge of the work in their respective localities will not talk on the subject, as they do not care to reveal their weaknesses, if any exist. They say, however, that there is very little relief work being done now. The eviction of strikers from their homes is troubling some of the "locals," but up to this time they have been able to care for those who have been unable to pay their rent. The number of evictions thus far has been small, but will naturally increase as the strike grows older. A large percentage of the nearly 150,000 idle men live in houses owned by the coal companies.

Coal Tenants Must Leave.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 18.—The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company through its district land agent has served notices upon half a dozen or more tenants to vacate properties belonging to the company at Branchdale. They are to quit within ten days. All is quiet in the strike region.

General Bird Retired.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Brigadier General Charles Bird was retired yesterday. He rendered splendid service in the civil war, being brevetted four times and taking part in a great many of the most important engagements. The outbreak of the Spanish war found him in charge of the army transport service, which was in large part his own creation and which he brought to a high standard of efficiency.

Only a Temporary Republic.

BERLIN, June 18.—Before adopting a determinate attitude toward the Cuban republic the German foreign office is waiting to see what the relations between Cuba and the United States are to be. The feeling here is that the present status of these relations is only temporary. Baron Bruck, the German consul general at Havana, has arrived in Berlin.

Postmaster at Lynchburg, Va.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The president has selected James McLaughlin as postmaster at Lynchburg, Va., and the nomination will be submitted to the senate. McLaughlin will be the first Republican postmaster at Lynchburg since 1896.

Killed by Falling Tree.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 18.—Charles D. Wise, a wealthy farmer of Lorraine, was killed by a falling tree in an attempt to save one of his farm hands from injury. Death was instantaneous.

General Botha Going to Germany.

BERLIN, June 18.—The Boer general Louis Botha is coming to Dresden, where his family had taken refuge, for the purpose of taking them back to South Africa.

BILL FOR BANKRUPTS

House Favors Fifteen Amendments to Present Law.

AN EFFORT TO REPEAL IS DEFEATED

A Cuban Treaty Likely to Be Sent to the Senate Before the End of the Present Session—Canal Debate Continued.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The house spent yesterday considering bills reported from the judiciary committee. By far the most important measure was that to amend the existing bankruptcy law. The minority made a vigorous effort to repeal the present law in toto, but were overwhelmingly defeated—65 to 137. The bill passed amends the law in fifteen particulars to meet defects which, it is said, experience has proved. The most important amendment is one to define preference to meet the supreme court decision in the case of Pirie versus the Chicago Title and Trust company. Four additional grounds for refusing a discharge in bankruptcy are also added: First, obtaining property on credit on materially false schemes; second, making a fraudulent transfer of property; third, having been granted or denied a discharge in bankruptcy within six years, and fourth, having refused to obey the order of the court or refusal to answer material questions approved by the court.

There was some renewal of the talk of a treaty with Cuba, and it was stated that it was quite probable that it would be sent to the senate before the adjournment of the present session. It is therefore probable that at tonight's conference the beet sugar Republicans will be asked to say whether they would support a treaty on the lines of the Spooner bill. While they do not feel called on yet to define their position on this point, they say they once earlier in the negotiations suggested a treaty as a compromise and that it was then rejected, hence that they do not now feel under obligations to bind themselves to accept anything. The impression is strong that legislation either in the form of an act or a treaty is quite out of the question for this session. Some of the reciprocity leaders freely admit this, and, while others more hopeful do not go so far even, they admit that the chances are doubtful.

Throughout the session of the senate the isthmian canal question was under consideration. Speeches were delivered by Messrs. Perkins (Cal.), Gallinger (N. H.), Stewart (Nev.) and Morgan (Ala.). All advocated the adoption of the Nicaragua route except Mr. Gallinger, who made a forceful argument in support of the Panama route and who said his investigations convinced him that the Panama route was the more healthful of the two.

Waller Gave No Interview.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—As has been the custom in the case of every officer of the navy to whom have been attributed utterances which the navy department considered outside the pale of professional discretion, Major Waller of the marine corps, who recently returned from the Philippines, has received an inquiry from the secretary of the navy as to whether the published statements concerning the campaign in Samar were authorized by him. Major Waller has replied that when pressed for interviews by press representatives he declined to oblige them. This explanation, it is understood, is satisfactory to the officials, and it is stated at the navy department that the case is regarded as closed.

A Double Suicide.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 18.—News has been received here that two unknown men were seen crossing the railroad bridge over the Ottawa river some distance above Chaudierre falls. When they reached the third pier of the bridge on the Quebec side, where the water runs swift and deep, they stepped from the bridge on to the pier and made a plunge into the stream. Workmen engaged among the logs near the shore saw them float down stream and over the Chaudierre falls. The two men were evidently strangers. The bodies have not been found.

Minister Conger at the Head.

PEKING, June 18.—As the result of the departure from Peking of the Austrian minister to China, Baron Czikann von Wahlborn, Edwin H. Conger, the United States minister, has become doyen of the diplomatic corps here. The position of doyen is more important in Peking than in other capitals because in a number of questions the diplomatic corps deals with the Chinese authorities as a unit. Mr. Conger's popularity with his colleagues makes his succession to the post occupied by the Austrian minister generally acceptable.

French Chamber In Disorder.

PARIS, June 18.—Disorderly scenes occurred in the chamber of deputies yesterday during the discussion of the verification of the election of M. Syveton (Nationalist), who defeated M. Mesureur (Radical Socialist). During uproarious altercations between the Nationalists and Radical Socialists Count de Dion threatened M. Berteaux with his fist and M. Coutant (Revolutionary Socialist) insulted Count de Dion, calling him an imbecile.

Cholera In Shanghai.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Consul General Goodnow, at Shanghai, has cabled the state department that cholera is on the increase in Shanghai, there being about thirty foreign cases. A large number of natives are dying daily.

SOFT COAL OR NOTHING.

Manhattan "L" Road Sees No Way of Avoiding Smoke Nuisance.

NEW YORK, June 18.—That the Manhattan Elevated Railroad company cannot secure anthracite coal and that they would have to suspend operations if prohibited from using bituminous was practically the answer Vice President and General Manager Alfred Skitt made when he appeared before Magistrate Zeller in the Center street police court in answer to a summons issued to District Attorney Jerome.

In answer to questions by Austin G. Fox, who appeared as counsel, with Charles L. Gardner, for the company, he said:

"I have charge of the operation of the road and the buying of supplies and coal. We require 5,000 tons of hard coal to run our trains for a week. When we heard that a strike was imminent in the anthracite region, we called upon the contractors for a larger reserve fund and for larger daily orders.

"Usually we have 20,000 tons in reserve. That is the greatest amount we can store. When the strike was declared, we had 15,000 tons. We began using it, or rather continued, hoping that the difficulty with the miners would be settled in a short time. Yesterday we had only 1,000 tons. We are now using anthracite on the engines which pass hospitals, public institutions and apartment houses. That is all we can do. We are helpless."

Europe's Cold Wave.

BERLIN, June 18.—While snow is falling in the Alps there are cold rains here and over a large part of Germany. The rye now in flower has sustained much damage. The fruits and vegetables which were frostbitten a few weeks ago are now suffering from excessive moisture. Cherries are especially poor. With short interludes of sunshine, rain has been falling for the past six weeks. To add to the discomforts and losses resulting from the phenomenally backward spring and summer American tourists in Germany instead of distributing themselves among pleasant provincial resorts or seeking quaint or beautiful spots prefer to remain by their firesides in the comfortable hotels of the cities while they wait for fairer days.

In Praise of New Zealand.

LONDON, June 18.—At the annual New Zealand banquet which was held in London last night R. J. Seddon, the prime minister of New Zealand, who is one of the most interesting personalities among the colonial premiers, gave a glowing description of the conditions of the colony, which, he said, had pushed social reform to the verge of what many outsiders considered to be radical socialism. Time had demonstrated the soundness of this economic experiment, continued the premier, with the result that today New Zealand had little crime and no poverty, everybody had employment, and the New Zealanders were a happy, free and enlightened people.

Epworth Leaguers In Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Delegates to the fourth general conference district Epworth league convention are beginning to arrive, and the meeting promises to be a most successful one. The sessions will begin tomorrow, at the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church. An attractive programme has been arranged for the entertainment of the visitors, which includes a sail down the Potomac to Mount Vernon and a reception at the White House by President Roosevelt.

State Convention Enlivened by a Contest Over Chairman.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 18.—The Democratic state convention adjourned last night after nominating the following ticket: Clerk of the supreme court, John L. Pickering of Springfield; state treasurer, George Duddleston of Chicago; superintendent of public instruction, Anson L. Bliss of Hillsboro; trustees of the State university, Dr. Julia Holmes Smith of Chicago, J. A. White of Urbana and S. S. Paxton of Monmouth.

John P. Hopkins, former mayor of Chicago, was re-elected chairman of the state central committee after a bitter contest with Mayor Carter H. Harrison.

The election of Chairman Hopkins produced the only contest in the convention, but it was stirring enough to make up for the tameness that characterized the other proceedings.

The day was full of clashes between Hopkins and Harrison. The two men indulged in an acrimonious quarrel in the St. Nicholas hotel during the morning, in which Hopkins bitterly resented criticisms made by Harrison.

The committee on resolutions had a long and stormy session before their report was finally adopted. The principal fight was over the first planks in the platform. As originally drafted this read:

"The Democrats of Illinois declare their adherence to the fundamental principles of the Democratic party as laid down in the Declaration of Independence and the constitution of the United States, affirmed at our last national convention."

This was considered by the opponents of silver as too specific a declaration in favor of the Kansas City platform, and, headed by John C. Richberg and Adolf Kraus of Chicago, they fought it. For three hours the debate went on, and the plank was amended to read "all fundamental principles of the Democratic party, etc., repeatedly affirmed by past Democratic conventions."

NOTED CHURCHMAN DEAD.

Dean Hoffman of New York Was Possessed of Great Wealth.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Rev. Eugene Augustus Hoffman, D. D., dean of the General Theological seminary of the Protestant Episcopal church in this city, died yesterday on a train near Plattsburg, N. Y., while he was on his way home from Canada.

Dean Hoffman had been in failing health for some time and was quite feeble. His death, however, was entirely unexpected. He was seventy-three years old. On April 19 he and his wife had celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

Dean Hoffman was for twenty-four years at the head of the General Theological seminary in Chelsea square. He was very wealthy, and he gave not only his life, but liberally from his fortune for the advancement of the Protestant Episcopal church in America. He was the eldest son of Samuel Verplank and Glorvina Rossell Hoffman and was born in this city in 1829.

He was graduated from Harvard university in 1848. In 1879 his responsible duties as dean of the General Theological seminary began. His election to this place gave great satisfaction to the church generally. Dr. Hoffman received the degree of doctor of divinity from Rutgers in 1863.

It was estimated that Dean Hoffman's fortune amounted to about $15,000,000.

Wealth In Wastes.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The census bureau has issued a report of the utilization of wastes and byproducts in manufactures. The report denies that the profitable employment of wastes in manufacture has reached its highest degree of attainment. Instead it predicts further developments even to the extent of converting byproducts into the main product of an industry. In the course of a resume of the subject by industries the report says among other things that from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 worth of wool fat and potash are run down the streams and wasted annually in the United States.

The Northern Securities Suit.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 18.—Attorneys for the Northern Securities company and for J. J. Hill, president of that corporation, have served notice on the attorney general that they would on June 24 move to vacate service in the suit brought by the state of Minnesota against the Northern Securities company and President Hill. It is claimed that the Northern Securities company is not a resident of Minnesota and that it has no business in this state and that it owns no property in this state, and for J. J. Hill it is claimed that as president of the Northern Securities company he is not a resident of Minnesota.

Fatal Ending of Dispute.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 18.—W. T. McMichael shot and killed W. E. Johnson, a well known young business man, in the street here as the result of a dispute over a contested land claim. While he was lying on the ground Johnson shot McMichael in the abdomen. Johnson expired within a few minutes. McMichael cannot live.

Two Children Drowned.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 18.—Dewey, aged four years, and Irene, aged twelve years, children of Jeremiah Small, were drowned near Hendricks Station, this county, by falling into an abandoned stone quarry. The boy fell into the water, and his sister in attempting to rescue him got beyond her depth, and both were drowned.

Weather Probabilities.

PLOT TO KILL KING.

A Sensational Story Circulates In London.

RECENT ILLNESS WAS FEIGNED.

Assassination Rumors Not Generally Given Credence, but an Unusual Watchfulness Is Maintained at Scotland Yard.

LONDON, June 18.—A sensational story is current in London of the discovery of a plot to assassinate King Edward. This story has created considerable discussion in newspaper and other circles, but it is lacking in anything like official confirmation.

According to the current report, King Edward's sudden illness at Aldershot was not due to a cold, but was merely an excuse for withdrawing his majesty from public functions owing to the discovery by Scotland Yard of a plot against his life. The principals in this plot have not yet been arrested.

It is cited in confirmation of this story that King Edward's recovery when he was ensconced at Windsor castle was as complete and speedy as his attack had been sudden.

On the other hand, it must be pointed out that if his majesty's illness was merely diplomatic the officials certainly took a great deal of trouble in keeping up the fiction. Sir Francis Laking, physician in ordinary to the king, was summoned by telegraph to Aldershot. His prescriptions were hurriedly filled, and everything about the king's apartments indicated the genuine nature of his illness. Furthermore, King Edward's journey from Aldershot to Windsor in his motor car and his subsequent drive yesterday in Windsor park do not seem to indicate any fear of a violent attack upon his person.

At Scotland Yard last night the utmost reticence was maintained concerning these rumors. It was noticeable, however, that the chief inspectors, who usually return home at night, were all on duty there, and while they refused to see newspaper reporters until tomorrow morning they declined either to deny or confirm the rumor.

Shipbuilding Trust Incorporated.

TRENTON, N. J., June 18.—The office of the secretary of state was kept open until late last night to receive the papers incorporating the United States Shipbuilding company. This is the company that includes the Crescent shipyards of Elizabeth, N. J., of which Lewis Nixon is the head. The company was expected to be incorporated with an authorized capital of $20,000,000, but the papers filed last night fix the capital at $3,000. This amount of course can be increased, and in fact the incorporation of the company for a very small amount is the policy that was followed by the United States Steel corporation and other big concerns and subsequently increased the capital to many millions. The United States Shipbuilding company in addition to including the Crescent shipyards of Elizabeth is understood also to include the Union Iron works of San Francisco, the Bath Iron works of Bath, Me.; the Harlan & Hollingsworth company of Wilmington, Del., and a number of other prominent shipyards throughout the country.

A Deathbed Celebration.

BERLIN, June 18.—King Albert of Saxony, who has been critically ill for some time past, and Queen Karola will observe the forty-ninth anniversary of their wedding today under the certainty that the end of the king is near at hand. The married life of King Albert and Queen Karola has been noted for the especial devotion of the royal couple. Upon previous occasions their wedding day, after the early morning congratulations of the royal associates, has always been celebrated alone. King Albert, in anticipation of his death, has caused the state ordinances which regulate mourning in case of his demise to be changed so that they entail fewer restrictions upon the amusements of the public and to eliminate a number of court observances.

Lemly on Retired List.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The navy department has published the formal order placing Captain Samuel C. Lemly, judge advocate general of the navy, on the retired list. The question as to whether Captain Lemly retires with the rank and pay of captain which he holds as chief law officer of the navy department or with the rank and pay of lieutenant commander, his lineal standing, is left open and in the natural course of events will come up before the comptroller of the treasury.

Will Recognize Cuban Republic.

MADRID, June 18.—The Duke of Almodovar, the minister of foreign affairs, having advised King Alfonso of the receipt of an announcement from President Palma of the inauguration of the Cuban republic, the king ordered that the Spanish consul at Havana be instructed by telegraph to call upon and inform President Palma that his majesty will send him a letter recognizing the Cuban republic.

Burglars Get Little.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 18.—Word was received here that the postoffice at Hume had been robbed and the safe wrecked with powder. The burglars, however, secured but a dollar in money and a quantity of stamps. There is no clew.

General Bates Has Returned.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—General Alfred E. Bates, paymaster general, U. S. A., who has been on an extended trip to the Philippines, has returned to Washington and resumed the duties of his office.

ONE GOOD REASON.

Every time a stranger comes to town, he finds more or less difficulty at first in understanding the dual existence of the community. It is not in accord with common sense to have one community possessed of two entirely separate municipal governments. The first thing that every stranger remarks in the foolishness of such a state of affairs and an expression of wonderment that it was not remedied years ago.

If it should come to laying out the boundaries of the State and counties anew, there is no doubt that there would be but one municipality where the city and borough exist at the present day. There is not the slightest reason why a community should possess a double form of government and there are many reasons why it should possess but one. If, therefore, a way is made whereby the desired state of affairs can be brought about without injury to either side, why not take advantage of it?

There is no living preson who can attempt to argue with any kind of reason that twenty-five thousand people, geographically in one spot and with interests that are mutual in all things, cannot be governed better and more economically by one set of officers than by two. Even the most rabid of the opponents to the Greater Plainfield scheme have to admit that such a state is really the only proper one. Some of them say that the consolidation ought to come but that the present time is not ripe for it. Such was the statement made at the Senate hearing at Trenton by Former Mayor Charles Place. If it is a good thing for the whole community as he thus admitted, why not let the present generation enjoy some of its benefits?

This is but one little reason why the people of North Plainfield should support the measure which aims to bring about annexation with Union county and thus make consolidation with Plainfield possible. There are many more. It will repay residents of the borough, however, to think over the single point carefully and see the justice of bringing about a Greater Plainfield as soon as possible.

The Hotel Netherwood has begun the summer season most auspiciously. It promises to be the local social centre during the summer months. As happened last season, the young people at the hotel are arranging a series of social events to which the people of Plainfield will be invited and which will furnish endless entertainment during the heated term when local society makes but little effort to provide entertainment for its members.

For this week the young people, who have completed their courses in the local schools, will occupy the chief position before the people's eye. It is the culmination of the years of study and is only the just result of careful labor. It is only right that it should be made the occasion for special exercises. Another week will see a new routine begin. For some it will mean a continuation of studies in some higher institution of learning, with others the beginning of a business career.

A wholesale firm in New York which had a special announcement to make refused all advertising propositions and bought space in the leading newspapers, remarks the Philadelphia Record. To Printers' Ink a member of the firm said: "We used the newspapers because there are 5,000,000 people in New York and vicinity, and we could reach this great body for less money in that way than in any other."

It is evident that interest in things political is not at white heat in the Second ward. Somebody forgot to see that the meeting place was opened and the politicians had to meet out in the rain and there were only eleven of them to turn out. As there were five primary officers and six delegates, there was a chance for every body.

Judging from the way they usually do things up at Hope chapel, there is going to be a great and wonderful time at the Independence Day celebration of the Hope chapel Y. M. A.

Even if the Republican ranks of Union county are rent in twain by factional differences, the county promises to be of one mind regarding the Congressional nominee.

The mosquito campaign is spreading. The last place it is heard from is Cape May. It is becoming quite a State affair.

Illness will prevent one of the principal participants in the City High School commencement from taking part.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Christian Smith, the oldest living locomotive engineer in the country, is spending the declining years of his life in quietude near Harper's Ferry. He is 90 years old, but still hale and hearty and a fine specimen of manhood. He is over six feet in height and erect, and possesses all of his faculties. His eyesight is as good as that of the average person of younger years, and he does not have to wear glasses.

Mr. Smith is the veteran engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, having begun his career on that road in 1832, when horses were used to pull cars. He has served in the capacity of fireman, conductor, engineer, supervisor of engines and assistant supervisor of trains, and was also station agent at Martinsburg and the Relay up until 1861. He was supervisor of engines on the Second division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at the time of his retirement. Mr. Smith ran the first steam engine on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at a speed of from six to eight miles an hour, which was considered rapid for those days. He introduced the sand box in 1836, and in the following year the headlight. In 1842 link couplers were first used by him. In 1883 he retired to engage in the quieter and less dangerous vocation of farming.

AFTER NEW MEMBERS.

Plan Which is to be Tried by the Councils of the Daughters of Liberty Next Month.

At the recent meeting of the State board of officers, Daughters of Liberty, the first regular session in July next was designated as "application night." Each council in the State is expected to prepare for this night by gathering all the applications for membership it can. The councils are then to report to the State councilor how many propositions were acted on. The last meeting in July will be "initiation night" for each council.

These features are new in the council work of the Daughters of Liberty, and it is expected that July will show a large increase in membership throughout the State.

Semi-annual reports are due from each council about July 5 next. These reports will give the results accomplished by each council for the term commencing January 1 and ending June 30. As the State had a membership of 12,260 when the term began, the State officers expect that the coming reports will show a total membership of at least 12,500, which will entitle the State to another representative to the National council, which is to meet in Syracuse, in August next. This extra representative will be elected by the State board of officers.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Preparations are being made for the strawberry and ice cream festival to be given tomorrow evening in the borough park under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church. The park will be decorated with lanterns and bunting. All are invited to attend.

The funeral services over the late Christian Carl will be held this afternoon from his late residence on Jefferson avenue. Rev. Mr. Bowers, of Washington valley, a former pastor of the deceased, will be the officiating clergyman.

A tennis tournament will probably be held on the court of the Dunellen Tennis Club on the Fourth of July.

W. H. Terry, who has been seriously ill, is much improved and hopes of his ultimate recovery are held out.

A considerable number from here will attend the commencement of the New Market School this evening.

The brass band will meet for the regular weekly practice this evening in Apgar's Hall.

William Giles, who has been ill with scarlet fever, returned to business on Monday.

Prayer meeting will be held this evening in the local churches at 7:30 o'clock.

Work is still progressing favorably on the factory at West Dunellen.

The Juniors met last evening and transacted routine business.

Thomas Cary, of Somerville, visited friends in town yesterday.

The porch has been raised on G. T. Schenck's new house.

The city water is still as dirty as ever is the report.

NEW MARKET.

Everything is ready for the Commencement this evening and it is expected that it will be the best attended in some years. The exercises will be held in the First Baptist church and will begin at 8 o'clock.

Abram Nelson's new house is about ready to receive a coat of paint.

The baseball team has no game scheduled for Saturday as yet.

The band will hold its regular weekly practice tomorrow.

Paul Meyer is spending today in Plainfield.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

One of the most successful strawberry and ice cream festivals ever held in the village was given by the members of the baseball team in Excelsior Hall last night. The hall was filled with the lovers of the National game who had turned out to do their share towards making the affair a success. The boys were ably assisted in taking care of their friends by the women supporters of the club. During the evening a short musical programme was rendered which was enjoyed by all. The proceeds of the affair will be turned into the treasury of the club to help defray the expenses of the club during the season.

The public school closed for the summer vacation today. Commencement exercises will be held tomorrow evening at the Baptist church. Ernest T. Tomlinson, of Elizabeth, the well-known author, will make the address of the evening, his subject being "A Practical Education." At the close of the exercises at the church the members of the graduating class will tender a reception to their friends in the assembly room of the school building.

The baseball team will cross bats Saturday afternoon on the local diamond with the Springfield team. The locals defeated the latter team several weeks ago quite handily. Since then it is said the team has been strengthened and is coming to win the game or make the locals play the game of their life.

The exhibit of school work, which was to have been held in the class rooms of the school building last night, was postponed until tomorrow evening.

The women of the Methodist church realized nearly $20 at their annual strawberrry and ice cream festival held Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Lee have been entertaining friends from Metuchen for a few days.

There will be dancing at Ivamy's pavilion tonight. Music will be by Naylor's orchestra.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad is now replacing an old bridge on the road between South Plainfield and New Market. As soon as this is done, work will be commenced on the bridge at this place near the station.

A number from here attended the Class Day exercises of the graduating class of the Plainfield High School, which were held in Franklin Hall, last night.

A large number attended the lawn festival, last night, which was held under the auspices of Camp No. 1, P. O. of A.

The eighth grade classes of the Piscataway schools held a class meeting at the New Market schoolhouse today.

OF WATCHUNG SCHOOL.

The Commencement Exercises Were Held at the Wilson Memorial Chapel Last Evening.

The closing exercises of the Watchung School were held in the Wilson Memorial chapel at that place last evening. A large number of friends of the pupils had gathered to enjoy an entertainment, consisting of songs, recitations and dialogues, prepared under the direction of Miss Gertrude Conover, the principal of the school, and Miss Ada G. Higgins, her assistant.

The programme was as follows:

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Wm. H. Brower's Sons are among the largest floral dealers in New York. Orders may be left in Plainfield at the residence of John L. Brower, East Fifth street.

Try John Wirth's Boston brown bread, always crisp and fresh. It is only one of the many good things to be found daily at his West Front street bakery.

In this hot weather the palate becomes fastidious and it is difficult to make a selection of dishes for the table. A call at the store of R. W. Barnes, the Park avenue grocer, will make the problem solve itself.

If you are looking for a first-class refrigerator, garden or farming implements or anything in the hardware line go to H. E. Gayle's store corner of Front street and Park avenue. You will always find a complete stock at this store.

A beautiful blue-flown "Narcissan" vase is the latest article which the A. and P. Tea Company is giving its patrons. Two vases are in assorted shapes and sizes and everyone is a work of art. This offer continues only until Saturday.

There is probably no larger stock of men's and boys' clothing in the State than that carried by the New York Clothing Company. The quality is unquestioned and with such low prices there is no excuse for not having a new suit of clothes.

A moderate price for good picture framing has proven successful at the Plainfield Art Store in the Y. M. C. A. building. The reduced rate put in vogue some time ago has resulted in a great increase of business for the firm and it will be retained for some time.

An essential business principle is to be always on time when keeping an appointment. This is made possible when you carry anyone of the excellent makes of watches sold by J. Hervey Doane. They are standard timepieces and they cost no more than an inferior cheap watch in the long run.

Charles Conover & Company, the new firm of painters, are kept very busy at present. A few days ago the firm secured the contract to paint six houses. They have just finished the homes of Wm. Nevius and Edward Mosher on Elmwood place and have commenced the work on Charles Hand's house on the same street.

Shaw's medicines and preparations are used by every household in the city. For over thirty years he has been in the business and knows that the people want what they want and should never be offered "the just as good" kind. That's why Shaw gets the trade as he forces no substitution for a good article.

Mrs. Josephine Voilin, of New York, has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Blatz, of Somerset street.

Mrs. S. Barron Brewster, of Woodbridge, has returned home after a visit with her father, Jacob Wagner, of East Fifth street.

Mrs. Wells and family, of Washington avenue, have gone to East Gloucester, Mass., where they have taken a cottage for the summer.

Rev. Vincent W. Dawson, of St Stephens' church, Netherwood, left yesterday for Baltimore, where he will remain for a few days.

"One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says D. Scott Currin, of Loganton, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. L. W. Proceedings of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

[OFFICIAL]

Adjourned meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, State of New Jersey, held on Tuesday, May 13, 1902, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed the following members present, viz.:

Director Hubbard and Freeholders Adams, Bonnel, Brucklacher, Cady, Farrell, Gerstung, Krouse, King, McCrandless, Robison, Scudder, Tillman, Wahl, Westphal and Woodruff—16.

Absent — Freeholders Miller and Swain—2.

The minutes of previous meeting (the reading of bills being excepted) were on motion approved as read.

On motion of Freeholder King, it was ordered that the rules be suspended and the Board proceed to the payment of bills.

The following bills, properly audited and approved, were read, and, on roll call, unanimously ordered paid, viz.:

Members' Pay Account—M. M. Scudder, $22.

Committee Expense Account — M. M. Scudder, $17.35.

Incidentals Account—S. Rusling Ryno, $132.50.

On motion of Freeholder King, it was ordered that a recess be taken for fifteen minutes.

On second roll call the following members were shown to be present, viz.:

Director Hubbard and Freeholders Adams, Bonnel, Brucklacher, Cady, Farrell, Gerstung, Krouse, King, McCandless, Robison, Scudder, Tillman, Wahl, Westphal and Woodruff—16.

Absent — Freeholders Miller and Swain—2.

PETITIONS, COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From James J. Manning, City Clerk of Elizabeth, N. J., as follows:

Elizabeth, N. J., March 3, 1902.

Mr. S. R. Ryno, Clerk of the Board of Freeholders:

Dear Sir—I have the honor to inform you that the following resolution was adopted by the City Council of the city of Elizabeth at a meeting held May 1, 1902.

Resolved, That the City Clerk be requested to forward to the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County the petition of property owners and residents in the vicinity of Bayway and Westfield Avenue for extension of crosswalks at said street intersection for the accommodation of residents of this neighborhood, the same being necessary by reason of the widening of said avenue; and be it further

Resolved, That it be communicated to said Board that a committee of this body has favorably recommended such improvement, but it cannot undertake the same, as the said avenue is a county riad, and without the control and supervision of the City Council.

Resolved, That this resolution be forwarded to said Board of Chosen Freeholders, together with the petition aforesaid.

Very respectfully yours,
(Signed) James J. Manning,
City Clerk.

Attached to the foregoing communication was a petition signed by eleven (11) residents and taxpayers of the Eleventh Ward, petitioning this Board to cause a crosswalk to be laid at the intersection of Bayway and Westfield Avenue, etc.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell, received and referred to County Roads Committee.

The following petition was presented and read:

Elizabeth, May 9.

To the Honorable Board of Freeholders of Union County, N. J.:

Dear Sir—We, the Union County, N. J. Building Trades Council, do hereby most respectfully petition your honorable body to insert the following clause in the specification and contracts for the new county building: "That none but Union men be employed, and that the citizens of Union County shall have the preference whenever competent." Hoping the above will meet with your approval, we remain most respectfully yours, (Signed) Wm. B. Davis, John Ayres, John Peterman, Committee.

Received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

From the County Physician, his annual report, as follows:

May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—During the year ending May 1, 1902, I have investigated 220 cases; of this number 60 died from railroad accidents, 16 suicides, 20 from other accidents, 80 from natural causes, 18 from drowning; number of stillbirths, 15, 5 from burns and six from alcohol.

(Signed)
Frank W. Westcott, M. D.,
County Physician.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell, received and placed on file.

By the Committee on Publication:

May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen — Your Committee on Publication would respectfully report that they have expended during the year for printing the Collector's annual report, publishing the minutes of the Board, and for such other work as was authorized by the committee, the sum of $——. Respectfully submitted. (Signed)

E. K. Adams, Aug. Gerstung, John Robison, Committee.

Received and filed.

By the Committee on Jail Inspection:

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

Gentlemen — Your Committee on Jail Inspection herewith submit their annual report for the fiscal year ending May 1, 1902, together with a carefully prepared report of the Warden, giving in detail the receipts and expenditures for the past year, and interesting statistics of the prisoners incarcerated in the jail.

From the report you will observe that the cost of maintaining our jail for the past year, including provisions and salaries, etc., is $4,545.21. The total number of prisoners in custody during the year was 746, and the average number each day 51.

The average cost per prisoner per day, including everything, was 24 57 100 cents. In consideration of the present high price of meat and provisions we think this figure very low, and shows that great care and economy have always been used.

During the year the prisoners are daily employed about the county building, doing the necessary janitor work, attending furnace, storing coal, etc.

The general good management of the County Jail is due to the efficient services of the Warden, Matron and Deputy Warden, who have conducted themselves to the entire satisfaction of your committee.

It affords your committee great pleasure to state that the Union County Jail is recognized as a model institution of its kind, being highly recommended by the State Charities Aid Association, and also complimented by the Grand Jury of our county.

Your committee would further report that, largely due to extra vigilance and caution of the Jail Physician and Warden and vaccination of all prisoners when received, we have not had a case of smallpox in the jail during the recent prevalence of that dreaded disease.

At our meeting on May 6, 1902, we reappointed Dr. P. Du Boise Bunting as Jail Physician for the ensuing year at the usual compensation. Respectfully submitted, (Signed)

W. A. Westphal, John F. Wahl, Joseph McCandless, Committee.

Attached to the foregoing was the following report by Charles W. Dodd, Warden:

In connection with the above report I would state that the general health of the prisoners has been good during the year. Dr. Bunting has been prompt in attendance, in every respect satisfactory.

With many thanks to the committee for their co-operation with me in discharge of my duties, and with especial thanks to Mr. J. F. Hubbard, the Director, for his advice and assistance in all matters pertaining to the general good management of the County Jail, I am, Yours most respectfully, (Signed)

Charles W. Dodd, Warden.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, received and placed on file.

By the Stationery Committee.

May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen — Your Committee on stationery would report that the amount expended during the year was $1,649.77, which was for stationery, books of record, and account books for the several court officers, who by law are entitled to secure their stationery from the Board.

Respectfully submitted, Benjamin King, Jno. F. Wahl, Joseph McCandless, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, received and placed on file.

By the Committee on Miscellaneous Accounts and Agreements.

May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen — Your Committee on Miscellaneous Accounts and Agreements would respectfully report that all matters referred to the committee during the past year received due and proper consideration, and were disposed of in a satisfactory manner. Respectfully submitted, Peter Tillman, Henry Krouse, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Wahl, received and placed on file

By the Committee on Public Grounds and Buildings.

May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Public Grounds and Buildings would respectfully report that during the year ending May 12, 1902, the amount expended is as follows: For the making of general repairs on public buildings, repairing of boilers and steam heating apparatus, the making of necessary repairs in the county jail; also the supplying of fuel, gas, water, electric lighting, telephone service, and for all other purposes incidental to the proper conduct and condition of public grounds and buildings, the sum of $4,925.59. Respectfully submitted, John Farrell, John N. Cady, M. M. Scudder, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder King, received and placed on file.

By the Committee on Legal Questions.

May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen — Your Committee on Legal Questions would respectfully report that very little business has been before the committee during the past year, and that the same was disposed of in a satisfactory manner. Respectfully submitted, John N. Cady, N. W. Bonnel, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder King, received and placed on filed.

By the Committee on Discharge of Prisoners:

May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen — Your Committee on Discharge of Prisoners beg leave to report that they held regular meetings during the year for the purpose of granting a deduction in the sentence of prisoners for good conduct while under the confinement in the jail, upon recommendation of the Warden, and approved by the presiding Judge of the Common Pleas, as provided by law, and in each case, when the allowance was asked for, it was granted. The number discharged was——. All of which is respectfully submitted.

(signed)
John J. Wahl, John Robison, M. M. Scudder, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell, received and placed on file.

By the Committee to Settle with the Sheriff:

May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen — Your Committee to settle with the Sheriff respectfully report that they have audited bills to the amount of $——. Of this amount the Sheriff has paid the County Collector the sum of $—— for prosecutor's fees, fines and costs. Respectfully submitted. (Signed)

John Robison, Peter Tillman, M. M. Scudder, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, received and placed on file.

By the Committee on Lunacy:

Elizabeth, May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen — Your Committee on Lunacy most respectfully reports that they have visited the Asylum during the year according to law and found that the patients were well taken care of. At present the county has 228 patients at the hospital, 107 males and 121 females. The different cities and townships have the following number of patients at the hospital, viz.: Elizabeth 139, Plainfield 30, Union 6, Westfield 5, Lyon's Farms 1, Roselle 2, Rahway 23, Summit 8, Springfield 5, New Providence 1, Clark 1, Linden 6, and Cranford 1. There died during the year 17, discharged 12, and eloped 2. (Signed)

Frederick Miller, E. K. Adams, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Wahl, received and placed on file.

By the County Road Committee:

April 28, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, N. J.

Gentlemen — Your Committee on County Roads would respectfully report that during the year 1901, the work of repairs on county roads is as follows:

On the Chatham Road 3,525 feet of road have been repaired with ½ inch stone, 500 feet top dressed with fine stone, 7,050 feet of gutters cleaned. On Morris avenue 10,537 feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone 8,500 feet top dressed with fine stone, 34,272 feet of gutters cleaned. On the Seven Bridge Road 3,900 feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone, 7,800 feet of gutters cleaned. On Mountain avenue 8,945 feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone, 700 feet top dressed with fine stone, 17,890 feet of gutters cleaned. On South avenue 3,692 feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone, 7,384 feet of gutters on North avenue 8,137 feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone, 1,300 feet top dressed with fine stone, 26,122 feet of gutters cleaned. On Central avenue 973 feet repaired with 1½ inch stone, 2,970 feet top dressed with fine stone, 11,206 feet of gutters cleaned. On St. George's avenue 2,200 feet top dressed with fine stone, 5,065 feet of gutters cleaned. On Orchard street in Elizabeth, 2,707 feet of road repaired with 2½ inch stone, 2,707 feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone. Also on the new road from New Providence to Berkley Heights 950 feet of drain pipe have been laid, making a total of 8 miles 176 feet of 1½ inch work; 3 miles 330 feet of top dressing; 22 miles 629 feet of gutters cleaned; 2,707 feet of 2½ inch work; 950 feet of drain pipe laid. The total cost of this work is $16,268.86. (Signed). Very respectfully submitted, Benjamin King, E. K. Adams, Henry Krouse, Jacob Brucklacher, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell, received and placed on file.

By the Committee to settle with the County Collector:

May 12, 1902.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Gentlemen—Your committee to settle with the County Collector respectfully report that they have examined his books, showing his receipts and disbursements, together with his vouchers, bonds and coupons paid and bank books, and we find the same agreé and are correct in every particular.

His total receipts from the beginning of the present fiscal year to date are	$542,939.67
Total disbursements	527,094.39
Balance in bank	$15,845.28

(Signed) Henry Krouse, Jacob Brucklacher, Benjamin King, Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell, received and placed on file.

By the County Collector his annual report for the year ending May 13, 1902, in part as follows:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

NEW BUSINESS

By Freeholder King:

Resolved, That the sum of $230.14 be transferred from the Miscellaneous account to the account of Interest on Temporary Loans, and that the sum of $3,209.12 be transferred from the Miscellaneous account to the Bridge account.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Brucklacher:

Resolved, That the Board of Chosen Freeholders hereby request the County Court House Commission to so arrange the building contracts for the new Court House as to provide that all work on the same shall be done by residents of the State of New Jersey, so far as compatible with good business management and due regard for the financial interests of the taxpayers of the county, and that where union help is employed such help to be affiliated with the unions of Union county.

Freeholder McCandless moved the adoption of the resolution, which was duly seconded, but after some discussion it was finally ordered on roll-call by a vote of 12 ayes, 4 nays, 2 absent. That further consideration of the resolution be laid over to a subsequent meeting.

By Freeholder McCandless:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Board be tendered to the Director for the able, efficient and courteous manner in which he has presided during the past year.

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher, the resolution was adopted without dissent.

Freeholder King moved to adjourn sine-die, which was so ordered.

The Director declared the Board adjourned sine-die.

BLACK AND WHITE EFFECTS

Unlined Gowns Seem to Be the Fad This Season.

The woman who wishes to be economical will confine herself to black and white this season. She will also by so doing be in the height of style.

Black and white foulards are made shirt waist style and are neat and pretty for street wear. One of the smartest ways in which such a foulard can be made up is to lay the waist in tiny box plaits stitched flat and to treat the skirt in the same way, allowing the fullness to flare out below the knees. Of course these foulard shirt waist gowns are made unlined.

There seems to be a rage for unlined gowns this season, and they are made so even in expensive materials. Gowns are not so much boned as formerly, and, except in the case of stout women, the absence of bones improves the figure.

A navy blue etamine suit is here shown. The jacket is made blouse fashion, with open fronts, lined with lace. The skirt has two graduated ruffles, which are the fad. The trimming of the suit consists in bands of stitched satin.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

DRESS FADS AND FANCIES.

Pongee Shades—The Double Green and Blue Veil.

A green veil draped over a blue one is a millinery fad just now. The veils are not worn over the face, but draped around the brim of the hat with long falling ends behind. Both the green and the blue are of the most vivid shades imaginable.

In Paris the rage for greens and blues has been superseded by one for red, particularly for that of a geranium shade. Red linon de soie is very smart, especially when trimmed with coarse lace and touches of oriental embroidery.

EVENING WRAP.

Some of the smartest coats seen recently at the races were of white embroidered in black or of a biscuit shade treated the same way.

Many coats for evening wear have large white and gold embroidered collars.

A handsome evening wrap of black bengaline silk is here shown. The lining is white satin, and the trimming consists of accordion plaited ruffles of black chiffon. The huge sleeves are made entirely of this accordion plaited chiffon. A facing of white lace appears down the front and at the bottom of the sleeves.

Frightened Off.

THE STURGIS WAGER

A DETECTIVE STORY.

By EDGAR MORETTE.

Copyright, 1899, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

At length Sturgis, with returning strength, was about to renew the generous struggle with Sprague, when suddenly the place was ablaze with the glow of an electric light.

"He wants to see if his work is done," whispered Sturgis, to his companion.

Then, observing that Sturgis was again on the verge of asphyxiation, he continued hurriedly:

"Fill up your lungs with air, quick! —quick, I tell you. Now drop and feign death. Do as I do."

Suiting the action to the word, Sturgis threw himself upon the stone floor, face downward, and lay motionless, his right hand grasping a revolver concealed beneath his body. Sprague, after a short breathing spell at the tube, followed his companion's example.

After a short interval there came a metallic click, which Sturgis recognized as the sound made by the opening of the slide in the panel of the door at the head of the stairs.

A moment—which seemed an eternity of suspense — followed, during which the prisoners felt, without being able to see, the cold gleam of the steely eyes of Murdock at the grating.

Would he enter? Would he suspect the ruse? Would the two men retain their grasp of consciousness and their strength long enough to make a last fight for life?

These thoughts crowded upon the reporter's brain as he lay simulating death and making a desperate effort to control his reeling senses.

If Murdock were coming he would have to shut off the gas and ventilate the room. What was he waiting for?

"Come in!"

The words were Murdock's as he turned away from the grating and closed the sliding panel.

"An interruption which probably means death to us," whispered Sturgis to his companion; "take another breath of fresh air, old fellow; we must hold out a little longer."

Sprague, however, lay motionless and unresponsive. The reporter shook him violently and turned him over upon his back. The artist's body was limp and inert; his eyes half closed; his face livid.

The reporter himself felt sick and faint. But, with a mighty effort, he succeeded in raising his friend in his arms, and dragging him toward the speaking-tube. There, of a sudden, his strength failed him. His head swam; his muscles relaxed; he felt Sprague's limp form slip from his grasp, tottered, reeled, threw his arms wildly about him for support, and fell, as the last elusive ray of consciousness was slipping away from him.

CHAPTER XXII.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER.

After Sprague had left her, Agnes, shaken by the conflicting emotions of the day, had gone to her room to rest and to prepare for the interview which she meant to have with her father on the subject of her lover and of Chatham.

Having received word that Murdock would remain in his study during the rest of the afternoon, she had taken time to reflect upon what she meant to say, and how she meant to say it. Her visit was not prompted by the desire of a daughter to confide the great happiness of her life to the loving sympathy of an affectionate parent; but Agnes was punctilious in the performance of what she considered to be her duties, great and small, and she counted it among those duties to obtain, or at any rate to seek, the paternal sanction of her choice of a husband.

Her knock at the door of Murdock's study was answered in the chemist's quiet voice:

"Come in."

As she opened the door, Murdock advanced to meet her. He seemed to come from the direction of the extension.

Miss Murdock sniffed the air.

"Isn't there a leak of gas?" she inquired.

"Yes," replied Murdock; "I have just stopped a leak in the laboratory. Won't you take a chair, Agnes?"

She felt his calm, searching glance upon her; and, in spite of her preparation, she grew embarrassed, as was her wont, in her father's presence.

"Did Mr. Chatham wait to see you this afternoon?" she asked, after a momentary silence.

Murdock observed her narrowly.

"Yes; Chatham has been here today. I did not know that you had seen him."

"I could not help seeing him; for he forced his way into the parlor, in spite of all the servants could do to prevent him."

An almost imperceptible furrow appeared between the chemist's eyes.

"Has he been annoying you with his attentions?"

The words were spoken in Murdock's usual tones; but Agnes saw something in her father's eyes and in the firm lines of his mouth which sent a cold shiver down her spine, and caused her pity to go out to the unfortunate young man who had offended her.

"Perhaps he is more to be pitied than blamed," she suggested, gently. "My interview with him was certainly not pleasant; but I bear him no malice."

"Tell me about it," said Murdock, slowly.

Agnes gave her version of the visit, in which, instinctively, she softened, as much as possible, the passion and brutality displayed by the accountant.

Murdock listened in silence until she had quite finished. Then Agnes noticed that his right hand was clenched upon the arm of his chair with a force which caused the muscles to stand out in hard knots. She looked up into his face in sudden surprise.

His features gave no indication of what his feelings might be; and his voice, as usual, was steady and deliberate.

"I am sorry all this should have happened, Agnes. As I told you yesterday, I hoped to save you from this man's importunities. It cannot be helped now. But I think I made it clear to the gentleman that his attentions are as distasteful to me as they are to you. As he seems to have told you, he has been obliged to leave the country—I understand that he has done something or other which makes it safer for him to undertake a long journey. At any rate, we are well rid of him for some time to come, and I think you need have no fear of further molestation."

"What did he mean by saying that he had had encouragement from you?" asked the young girl.

"I am sure I do not know. That was of course a lie out of whole cloth. He came to me with letters of recommendation from good friends of mine, and I therefore occasionally invited him to the house; but that is all the encouragement he ever got from me. We live in the United States and at the close of the nineteenth century. The selection of a husband is no longer performed by a stern parent, but is left entirely to the young girl herself. That is certainly my way of looking at the matter. When you find the man of your choice, my only function will be to give you advice, if you seek it, and my best assistance in any event."

The turn of the conversation thus suddenly brought to the surface the topic which occupied the young girl's mind, to the exclusion of all others; and which, for that very reason, had been kept severely in the background up to that point.

"That reminds me," said Agnes, consciously, as a charming flush suffused her beautiful face, "that I have not yet broached the principal object of this interview—"

Murdock observed her closely and waited for her to proceed. But Agnes was once more laboring under a strange embarrassment and could not find words in which to frame the confidence she was so reluctant to offer.

Perhaps the chemist divined something of the nature of what she was struggling to find expression for. At any rate, he noticed her embarrassment and endeavored to come to her assistance with a few encouraging words, spoken with unusual gentleness. Agnes, engrossed with her own thoughts, did not notice it; but there was in his manner as near an approach to tender wistfulness as his nature was capable of.

At last the young girl seemed to gather courage, and she was about to speak, when there was a knock upon the door.

"Plaze, sur; there do be two gintlemin in the hall."

"Who are they, Mary?"

"Shure, thin, sir, I dunno, barrin' wan uv 'em do be a polacemun."

"Did they ask to see me?"

"They did not, sur; shure they asked if Mr. Chapman was in."

"Mr. Chatham?"

"Yis, sur. And I told 'em he wuz here this afthernoon, and I wud see wuz he here now, fur I ain't seen him go yit."

"Well, Mary, you see he has gone, since he is no longer here," said Murdock quietly. "Take the gentlemen into the parlor, and tell them I shall be with them in a minute."

"All right, sur."

After the maid had left the room, the chemist rose from his chair and walked toward the door leading to the library.

VARNISHED HER HUBBY.

Why Mrs. George Will Hereafter Buy Her Turpentine in Drug Store Instead of Paint Shop.

The penny earned by saving may bring with it a two pennyworth of suffering. The New York Mail and Express tells of such a case:

Peter H. George, of the upper West side, has been troubled with rheumatism, and on damp days sufferers severe pains in the muscles of his chest, back and arms. His wife rubs him vigorously with turpentine, and he usually gets relief. One of the muggy days recently brought on an attack, and Mrs. George was dispatched to find the turpentine bottle empty.

"WELL, OF ALL THINGS!"

The servant was sent out to buy a quart, which she did at a neighboring paint shop. It cost ten cents less than at the druggist's. Mr. George was rubbed well, dosed with colchicum, and put to bed. Early next morning he called loudly for his wife.

"My dear," he said, "will you oblige me by getting the hammer out of the tool chest?"

"The hammer?" echoed Mrs. George. "Well, what in the world—"

"The hammer, I said," repeated Mr. George, "and the cold chisel."

"The hammer and the cold chisel?" Mrs. George echoed again. "Are you out of your head?"

"No," replied Peter, "I am not out of my head, but I want to get out of my shell. I want to be broken open. I am the great human, upper West side oyster. Look here," and Mr. George sat up in bed and exposed his arms from shoulder to wrist. They were both as highly glazed as a well-polished piano, and his back and chest were in the same condition.

"Well, of all things!" exclaimed Mrs. George. "I do declare, the painter has given us turpentine mixed with shellac, and I have been varnishing you just as if you were a sideboard."

Investigation proved the truth of Mrs. George's statement, and it took an hour to get the veneer off Mr. George's skin, during which process he made many emphatic remarks.

JILTED SUITOR'S REVENGE.

He Sent Several Packages of Limburger Cheese to the Girl Who Had Hurt His Feelings.

A good story on a young lady who had charge of the general delivery window at the Toledo post office, and who may still have charge of it, was told by an Ohioan in the post office department to a Cincinnati Enquirer correspondent. He says this young lady was engaged to a young Toledo man, but for some reason broke off the match. Some days later a small package arrived at the general delivery window, addressed to an unusual name. Shortly after its arrival a distinct and unpleasant odor was noticed about the window. The next day another package addressed to an equally uncommon name, care general delivery, arrived. It was noticed that the unpleasant odor increased almost simultaneously with the arrival of the second package. The third day came another package, and so on until a dozen lay in the pigeon holes of the general delivery department. By this time the odor became unbearable, and the young woman's position at the window untenable, so an investigation was ordered, and it was discovered the addresses were fictitious, and the packages contained nothing but Limburger cheese. A hint was dropped to the young man who had formerly been engaged to the post office clerk, and no more packages were received.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Manager Muir is still hard at work, putting his men in shape for better team play. As a result something surprising may turn up Saturday.

The Brooklyn Field Club will attempt to break the Westfield string of wins when they line up Saturday. The visitors intend coming stronger than ever and will have Leitner in the box.

Manager Cose has adopted Thursday and Friday evenings as Hope practice nights. It is his request that every player be present especially on Thursdays when there is generally the best attendance.

Rectors and curates of some of the Long Island churches recently played a game of ball at Graden City. This leads the Brooklyn Eagle to suggest that baseball players should now try the pulpit, preferably short stops.

Captain George Keene, of the St. Mary team, continues to play his snappy game in the field. His batting, however, has not been up to last season's average but even his present standing is far and above the ordinary player.

The new score board placed on the Hope Field fills a long-felt want, as it is certainly a great convenience. It was presented to the Y. M. A. by one of its admiring friends who forbade the use of his name in connection with it.

League games scheduled for Saturday are as follows: Hope against Safe Works, on former's grounds, Umpires Brown and Young; St. Mary against Y. M. C. A., on former's grounds, Umpires Townley and Bodine. Each is scheduled to start at 3:45.

Manager Cose is trying a new catcher, "Rue" Dalley, who has been the rear end of the Clinton Avenue's battery. He is an A1 man as a backstop and also at the bat. The way he can throw to second strikes terror to the most hardened base stealer. He will suppliment Hartfelder for the remainder of the season.

Hand, the Y. M. C. A. left fielder, made a miserable muff of a sure enough fly in the latter part of Saturday's game that proved costly to his side. Over confidence doesn't play as a number of errors checked up to League men show. The time to feel safe is when the ball is caught and held and not when it is still in the air.

What is an earned run is the question that is bothering the heads of some of the baseball cranks. Can an earned run be made after an opportunity to retire the side has been rejected? Thus in the Safe Works-Y. M. C. A. contest Saturday, Booth's failure to hold Dupee's fly was indirectly responsible for Y. M. C. A's making five runs in the fifth. Two of these runs, as runs, were earned, namely, Bolsterle's and Egan's. Bolsterle's made first on a safe hit, stole second and came home on Egan's double. Egan afterwards crossed the plate on successive hits by Hand and Schoonmaker. Neither of these men were advanced in any way by an error; every other man who scored up to the ninth made the circuit on misplays by his opponents. The team undoubtedly earned these runs, neither of them having their inception in an error, or a free pass, and neither man being advanced by a misplay. If the fielding side neglected an opportunity to retire the batters, it was not the fault of the men who were up. Moore's winning run in the ninth was earned, and with Dupee and R. Schoonmaker on first and second respectively, with none out and Bolsterle at the bat, with a good day's hitting record behind him, there would probably have been more of the same kind were they necessary. Safe Works had but one earned run in nine innings. That was in the eighth when Jackson came to the bat followed by Franklin and both landed out two-baggers.

GOLF.

Expert golf players from out of town, who have played on the Hillside course this year, say that the local course is equal to any in this part of the country and, considering its size, is the equal of any in other respects.

If the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team expects to win the game Saturday with the Harbor Hill team the members will have to play a strong game. The Harbor Hill members are winning nearly every game this year and one of the best matches of the season is expected Saturday.

In addition to the weekly play for the Boys' and Golf committee cups on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course next Saturday, the Hillside team will meet the strong team from the Harbor Hill on the local course and there will be the first play for the Reinhart cup, men's handicap, for active members only, 18 holes.

It was remarked yesterday by a member of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club that the golf teams throughout the country are playing a far better game this year than ever. Especially is this true of the team in the Metropolitan district. This no doubt can be accounted for by the fact that more time is being devoted to the game.

The programme of events at golf for Fourth of July on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course includes the preliminary round and first round for the Club Championship cup in the morning and afternoon and play for the Holiday cup. It is likely that other interesting events will be arranged. On the tennis courts there will be play for the Fourth of July cups, men's singles and doubles handicap.

GRETHER ESCAPED FROM JAIL

CONVICTED MURDERER, WHO FIGURED IN A LOCAL CRIME.

Assisted in Assault and Robbery of Mrs. Dunko—Escaped at Stroudsburg, Pa.

Word has been received at police headquarters of the escape from the Stroudsburg, Pa., jail, of Charles Grether, the convicted murderer, who planned and assisted in the brutal assault and robbery of Mrs. Mary Demko, of Dunellen avenue. He was accompanied in his flight by Benny Aellio, another murderer, and both secured their liberty through negligence on the part of the sheriff. Since their conviction both have been watched in an extremely loose manner despite objections by those who knew the jailer's methods.

The crime in this city was committed by Grether, his nephew, Harry Mettler, and Charles VanSchanck, known as "Long Island Blackie." Mettler is serving a term for it in the Rahway reformatory, and it was recently lengthened for an attempted escape. VanSchanck is doing time in State prison for a robbery and assault committed by Mettler, Grether and himself in Hunterdon county.

Grether was convicted of the murder of Constable Adam Strunk who he shot at Delaware Water Gap while evading arrest. A reward of $200 has been offered by the county for his arrest.

WORDS OF REGRET.

Rev. E. E. Jackson Writes Regarding Resignation of Dr. Yerkes.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, unites with others in expressing regret upon the resignation of Rev. Dr. Yerkes as pastor of the First Baptist church. He says that all will be pleased to know that the climate of Florida was not such a magnet as to take him from the city and that Plainfielders can still have his counsel and presence. Mr. Jackson also says that Dr. Yerkes may resign, but forever he is pastor of the First Baptist church for his works will follow him.

Farewell Reception.

At the close of the regular Christian Endeavor meeting at Hope chapel this evening, the members will tender a farewell reception to Miss Ella Edmunds, who leaves tomorrow for her former home in Ulster county, N. Y. Miss Edmunds has been one of the most active workers the society has ever had and her loss will be greatly felt.

Pictures of Blue Coats.

The group photograph of the local police force, taken last week, has been greatly admired wherever shown. Nearly every friend of the blue-coats who has looked at the picture has immediately placed an order for from one to five. The result has been a land-office business for the photographer.

A special train has been put on the Jersey Central High Bridge branch between the latter place and Junction, to take the workmen at the steel works to their homes in Glen Gardner and Junction Saturday afternoons.

Marconnier's Festival.

The festival, to be held on the lawn opposite Campbell's clubhouse tomorrow evening for the benefit of Marconnier chapel, will be held the next clear evening should the night prove stormy.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Mrs. Aleta Huff, of Centreville, is visiting relatives in Plainfield for a time.

Mrs. Charles Hyde, of East Front street, has gone to Europe for the summer.

Arthur Fritts, of West Fifth street, has been detained from work the past few days by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Young, of Central avenue, have been entertaining comaany from South Branch.

Miss Ella Edmunds, of West Eighth street, will leave shortly for her old home in Ulster county, N. Y.

J. Whitney Baker has returned from Princeton University to his home on Stelle avenue for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Baker, of Stelle avenue, will spend a portion of the summer at Southampton, L. I.

Miss Julia Jerome, a teacher in Franklin School, lies ill at her home on Madison avenue with appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, of West Seventh street, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Street and daughter, of St. Louis.

Mr, and Mrs. Reuben Knox, formerly of Washington avenue, are stopping at Mrs. Truell's on Central avenue for a short time.

Miss Ruth Maxson, of West Sixth street, has returned home for the vacation from Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

Mr. Dr. W. R. Richards has gone to Smith College, where his daughter, Miss Sarah Richards, will be graduated this week.

Mrs. Code and daughter, Catherine, of Stamford, Conn., have returned home after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Moses Carney, of Central avenue.

Mrs. Susan T. Wilson, of Sycamore avenue, accompanied by a number of relatives and friends from this city and the borough, will spend the summer at Mt. Pleasant in the Catskills.

SAID HE WAS ILL.

But Hospital Authorities Had Met Him Before and Refused Him.

Charles Messler was found at the corner of Second and Richmond streets at 9 o'clock last night, in what appeared to be a sick and helpless condition. Patrolman Gamo who discovered him telephoned for the ambulance but at Muhlenberg Hospital the nurse refused to receive him, saying there was no room. He was then taken to his home on East Second street and a physician was summoned. This morning he was greatly improved. The police say that this is an old trick and that the hospital authorities recognized it.

FUNERAL OF MISS DIETRICH.

Her Many Friends and Neighbors Gathered for The Services.

The funeral services of the late Miss Angie Dietrich were held yesterday afternoon from the home on Grove street. There was a very large attendauce of friends and neighbors, and there were many beautiful floral tributes.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, conducted the services and referred to the devoted Christian life of the departed. Interment took place in the family plot at Hillside cemetery.

Cleaning Up Work.

The Councilmanic street committee is gradually cleaning up the work left over from last year. At present excellent progress is being made on West Front street between the city line and Clinton avenue, where the road is being resurfaced.

Much Improvement.

Mrs. J. Herbert Case, of Duer street, who has been quite ill with typhoid pneumonia, is now steadily improving and she hopes to leave her room in the near future. Her physician, Dr. Jenkins, is much encouraged over her condition.

Damage to 'Phone Wires.

Manager C. W. Runyon and the linemen of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company have been kept busy lately repairing breaks in the various lines about the city, caused by high winds and falling trees.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

LESSER HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY TOLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

Then There Is Mention of Some of the Things That Are Yet to Come.

—Miss Carrie Haffner, of East Sixth street, has accepted a position at the local telephone office.

—The field work on the borough tax lists, which are now in course of preparation, is almost completed.

—Harry Lunger, formerly night operator at the telephone office, has accepted a position at the Pond Machine Tool Works.

—At Reform Hall this evening Madame Selika will give a concert for the benefit of the Mt. Zion Methodist and Mt. Olive Baptist churches.

—Arthur Jeffries, of Grandview avenue, has been appointed clerk in the City National Bank in the place made vacant by the resignation of George Pope.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. W. Hurst, of Netherwood avenue.

—Employes of the city have been busy relaying the flagging and resetting the curbing in front of V. W. Nash's property corner of Elmwood place and West Second street, to conform to the recently established grade.

NO DEBATE.

Union Association Asks Opposition to Meet Attack on Its Figures or Acknowledge Errors.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The Union Association of North Plainfield has failed to receive an affirmative reply to its letter inviting the opposition to a public discussion of the merits of annexation and consolidation, on the ground apparently that each side has presented its case at a public meeting and therefore public argument is useless.

At the public meeting of the opposition to annexation and consolidation, it was claimed that vital facts controlling the situation were to be presented; that a speaker did present them, declaring "these are the facts: you have not had them before," and adding that if any of his statements or figures could be disproved he would make public acknowledgement of his error. His statements have been challenged and his figures have been shown by official statements from State, county and local authorities to be grossly in error.

Inasmuch as the opponents decline to meet this issue on the public platform, "the Union Association" purposes sending printed reports of the speeches containing these official figures to the speaker; and it hereby calls the public to witness that this speaker must either meet the attack upon his figures, acknowledge his errors, as he declared publicly he would, or commit himself to a silence which is at once an admission of error and a refusal to make corrections. The Union Association of North Plainfield.

STRIKE SETTLED.

After Long Parley Boss Plumbers and Journeymen Agree on Terms.

After a long parley last evening the boss plumbers in conference with the striking journeymen came to an agreement whereby, the majority of the strikers returned to work this afternoon and the remainder will resume operations in the morning.

As to the terms of the agreement it is understood that the journeymen will hereafter receive $3.25 per day, an increase of 25 cents over their former pay, but 25 cents less than their demands. In regard to the non-union men at work an opportunity will be given them to join the union within ten days' time. Should they refuse to become bona fide members of the organization the journeymen say that they will again throw down their tools.

Great satisfaction is felt among the other trades, especially the carpenter, that a satisfactory settlement has at last been reached. There seems to be little apprehension that another strike is in prospect on account of the non-union workers.

City's Health Good.

The health of the city is at present in the best of condition. There are now only two or three cases of contagious disease and these are steadily improving. Everything is cleaned up at the isolation hospital and the inmates and nurses have all left.

Service at Westfield.

Plainfield and Queen City Lodges, I. O. O. F., will go to Westfield Sunday evening, where they will be the guests of Westfield Lodge. The Odd Fellows will attend divine service at that place. The trip will be made by trolley.

WOULD BREAK QUARANTINE

TWO YOUNG COLORED WOMEN WENT TO JAIL FOR IT.

Refused to Obey Rules of Borough Health Board—Both Are in Jail Now.

Lilly Anderson and Margaret Bowlman, colored, of Race street, got themselves into a peck of trouble yesterday with the borough police authorities and the Borough Board of Health.

Last evening Chief Campbell arrested the pair on a warrant sworn out on account of their too active participation in a game of fisticuffs in conection with the Race street vendetta. Before Recorder Doud they were fined $5 or seven days in the county jail. The technical charge was disorderly conduct.

This morning Lilly and Margaret appeared before Justice Mattison charged by William N. Pangborn, inspector of the Board of Health, with violating an ordinance of the board in that they had broken the quarantine on the house in which they resided at 27 Race street. Eight or ten families are huddled together in the house and there is a case of scarlet fever in the household of one Carr.

No amount of warning could keep these girls off the street, and Justice Mattison fined them $25 and costs to stand committed till the fine was paid. It was the object of the board to have the couple kept in durance till the quarantine is removed.

Chief Campbell took the prisoners to Somerville this morning to serve out the seven days imposed by the Recorder, and the thirty-two days imposed by Justice Mattison, equivalent to the fine and costs. This will give them thirty-nine days in the county hotel.

WAS MARRIED AMID FLOWERS

Miss Elizabeth T. Ginna Became the Wife of Erickson Perkins, of Rochester.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING.

Ceremony Was Witnessed by a Hundred Relatives and Near Friends—An Elaborate Reception Followed at Home of the Bride's Parents on Watchung Avenue.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Tompkins Ginna, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Ginna, of Watchung avenue, to Erickson Perkins, of Rochester, N. Y., took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents, with all the brilliancy and splendor that one could wish for. Surrounded by a wealth of floral decorations and an assemblage of prominent society folk from this city and distant points, the happy event was one of the social events of the season. The palatial home of the bride's parents never looked more attractive. From the extensive conservatory were taken stately palms and beautiful ferns and flowers and these were used to make one of the prettiest decorations ever seen in this city.

Throughout the various rooms and on the large piazza there were placed a number of these large palms and ferns. Perhaps the most unique arrangement was in the drawing room, where the ceremony took place. Here is a large bow window, and three magnificent palms, twenty feet in height, were used, together with a profusion of mountain laurel and southern smilax. In this bower there were countless little incandescent electric lights. The palms, laurel and smilax completely filled the window, leaving just space enough for the bridal party.

The wedding, which took place at 7 o'clock, was attended by a limited number of relatives and friends, there not being over one hundred in all present. But at the reception which followed at 8 o'clock the home was thrown open to receive hundreds of guests from Plainfield and other points.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon, the waist being trimmed with real lace. She also wore a veil of tulle and carried bride roses. A costly necklace of pearls and turquoise, the gift of the groom, completed the bridal attire.

Attending the bride were two bridemaids, Miss Meta VanNest Hutton, of Baltimore, and Miss Bernice Perkins, of Rochester, the latter a sister of the groom, and a flower girl, Miss Catherine Whiting Ginna, a niece of the bride. The bridemaids wore white lace gowns over white, trimmed with a combination of white lace, organdie and chiffon, with sashes of white silk. They carried pink sweet peas and moss rose buds. The flower girl was gowned in white organdie, trimmed with lace and white silk ribbons, and she carried a gilt basket filled with sweet peas and moss rose buds. The bride's gifts to her bridemaids were torquoise and gold chains and to the flower girl a pearl wreath.

Promptly on the hour set for the wedding, the bridal party proceeded from the second floor down the main staircase to the drawing room, while an orchestra, hidden from view, rendered the Lohengrin wedding march. The flower girl led the way, followed by the bridemaids and the bride, accompanied by her father, who gave her away in marriage. In the room where the ceremony was performed, the party met the groom and his best man, John Porter Bowman, of Rochester. Two broad bands of white satin ribbon were placed across the entrance to the bow window and as the party made its appearance they were removed by Daniel F. Ginna, brother of the bride, and John Craig Powers, of Rochester.

The marriage ceremony, which was according to the Episcopal church form, was performed by Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, while the orchestra rendered beautiful music very softly. The marriage was performed with a ring.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride and groom were the recipients of a shower of congratulations, and the best wishes were extended to the happy couple that their married life may be a happy and suc-

BOUGHT OUT MOY.

Dudley S. Miller Has Purchased the Drug Business Corner of Park Avenue and East Fourth Street.

Dudley S. Miller who, for nearly fifteen years, has been associated as head clerk with L. W. Randolph in the drug business on West Front street, has purchased the drug business of G. W. V. Moy, corner of Park avenue and Fourth street, and took possession this morning. Mr. Miller will continue with Mr. Randolph for a time until the latter succeeds in getting another clerk, and Mr. Miller's store will be conducted by Mr. Moy's clerk until he can take charge.

Mr. Miller has in all been in the drug business nearly twenty-two years. He graduated in pharmacy in 1887. Prior to that time he worked for H. P. Reynolds and he was also engaged in business in Newark. He has had a large and valuable experience in prescription work. He will conduct a first-class pharmacy and his popularity will surely win for him many friends.

GRADUATION AT NEW MARKET

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF PISCATAWAY TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS.

Were Held in New Market Baptist Church—Names of Those Who Were Graduated.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, June 19—Commencement exercises for the joint graduation of the classes of '02 and '04 of the Piscataway township public schools were held last evening. '02 completes its school career while '04 leaves behind the grammar curriculum to take up the more arduous duties of the High School department.

The Baptist church, where the exercises took place, was filled long before the hour of commencement, but the programme rendered repaid all who suffered inconvenience by the large attendance. The pupils taking part in the eighth year class exercises were Frank P. Kelley, the Misses Iva Dayton, Fannie Giles, Fannie Ayres, Carrie Brouwer, Lillian Gage and Mary J. Smith. The other members of the class are the Misses Enola B. Nelson, Mary Naylor, Emma F. Danz, Lela A. Gano, Mildred M. Soper and James R. Harris, Harry E. Kenyon, William Danz and Richard C. Meeker.

For the tenth year class the exercises consisted of essays by the Misses Lyranthia F. Nelson, Kittie E. Bays, Grace M. Finch, May L. Tappen, and Kella Louisa Kelley. Rev. L. E. Livermore, Miss Emma Nelson, Miss Irene Day, Miss Mary J. Smith, of New York, a vocalist of much ability, James Wotton, Rev. Frank Fletcher, Rev. J. B. Cleaver, Township Superintendent H. C. Cathers and President of the Board of Education J. C. Morris also took part. Each of the graduates was presented with gifts and flowers by admiring friends.

FUNERAL OF A LAD.

Last Tribute to Memory of Young George E. Voehl.

At the home of his grandfather, Jacob Voehl, of Somerset street, funeral services were held, yesterday afternoon, over the remains of George E. Voehl, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. George Voehl, of West Front street.

In the gathering of relatives and friends who assembled were many young people, playmates of the young lad who had been taken from them. Rev. G. W. Gardner, of Jersey City, former pastor of Grace M. E. church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass. There were numerous floral tributes, an exceptionally pretty one, "Gates Ajar," being from the bereaved parents.

After the service the remains were interred in the family plot in the Methodist cemetery. The casket was borne by four of the boy's cousins, Wm. Kregar, H. A. Voehl, Augustus and Albert Sargeant.

FOR TWO CHURCHES.

Concert at Reform Hall for Their Joint Benefit Last Evening.

For the joint benefit of Mount Zion A. M. E. and Mount Olive Baptist churches, Madame Selika, the famous New England prima donna soprano, gave a concert in Reform Hall, last evening. It was well attended and the churches will no doubt realize a neat amount.

Mme. Selika was assisted by Signor Veloski, baritone soloist, Mrs. Henry Wentworth, vocalist and instrumentalist, and Miss Marion Alice Maynard, select reader. Leon S. Adger presided at the piano. All the numbers were exceptionally well rendered and the concert was a decided success.

CHANGES IN STAFF OF CITY'S SCHOOLS

One-Sixth of the Instructors Will Leave This Month to Accept Better Positions.

THOSE WHO WILL GO

COMPLETE LIST OF THE INSTRUCTORS TO BE IN CHARGE NEXT YEAR.

New Appointees Come From Nine Different Schools and Colleges—Those Who Go—Where They Are Going—The Teachers.

Next year will witness many changes among the teachers of the Plainfield public schools. More than one-sixth of the present force has resigned all but four of whom go to receive larger salaries elsewhere, which is strong testimony to the high excellence of the city teachers and the carefulness with which they have been selected. The new appointees come from nine different colleges and normal schools in New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Of the teachers who are giving up their positions this year at the High School Miss Prescott, a Radcliffe girl, came from Cambridge, Mass. She has been very efficient and popular. After her marriage, which is to take place during the next year, she will take up her residence in England.

Miss Manktelow, who has taught here for the past seven years, goes to occupy a more lucrative position in Yonkers, N. Y. Miss Mitchell, a graduate of the High School, and a teacher here for six years, retires from active work for a year, in order to regain her health. Miss Whitney, who came here last year from Woodbridge, returns to that place, to take the position of preceptress of the High School.

Miss Jennie Davies, of Franklin School, joins her sister who left in May to take a place in Greater New York. They have both been on the Plainfield force for seven years.

Miss Owens, of the Washington School, withdraws to take a year's rest. She has been here fourteen years.

At the Irving School, Miss Anna Watson, who came here from the Trenton Normal School six years ago, is expected to change her name and take up her residence in Trenton during the present year. Miss Davies, in the kindergarten, is already teaching in Flushing as one of the Greater New York teachers. Miss Lucy Brown, an Oswego graduate, whose home is at Boonton, N. J., has taught here six years and now goes to Yonkers.

A new teacher has been added at the Irving to take care of the increase expected as a result of the enlargement of the Pond Tool Works.

The Bryant School loses four teachers. Miss Jessie Brown and Miss Emma Starr both go to Yonkers. Miss May Tennant takes a place in the Randolph-Cooley school and Miss Edith Gilbert has been engaged by the Bryn Mawr preparatory school at Baltimore. Miss Gilbert is a Plainfield High School girl and has taught here six years.

At the Lincoln school there is only one change, Miss Rawson taking Miss Powell's place in the kindergarten, the latter going to the Washington school. A new teacher has been added to relieve the crowding that made it necessary this year to put the first year class on half time, part coming in the morning and the rest in the afternoon.

Notwithstanding so many changes a glance over the list of teachers who will guide the thought of young Plainfield during the ensuing year reveals many of the familiar names that have been a guarantee of efficiency in the past. The recent additions to the staff have all been chosen on account of their known merits and equipments for their various positions.

Following is a complete list of the pedagogues, including those who have lately been selected:

Stillman School—Ira W. Travell, Ellen E. Niles, Grace E. Burroughs, S. Lena Bass, Ellen K. Cumming, Phebe D. Lovell, Katherine F. Ball, Lindsey Best, James D. Mcanab, M. Elizabeth Benedict, Anna J. Bennett, drawing, Charles L. Lewis, music, Mabel A. Maxson, pianist.

Whittier School — Anna M. Day, Flora Griffin, Alice W. Lansing, Elizabeth E. More, Dorothea E. Bull, Lillian Sharp, Eleanor T. Wilber, Alice R. Barlow, Addie Parker Jackson, physical training.

Washington School — Millicent E.

GAVE A FETE ON THE LAWN

Annual Outdoor Event of the Women of the Seventh-Day Baptist Churhh.

WAS A HUGE SUCCESS.

Many Visited Lawn of Mrs. J. R. Truell's Residence on Central Avenue, Where the Fete Was Held—A List of Attractions—Those Who Were in Charge.

Like a perfect fairyland was the spacious home and lawn of Mrs. J. R. Truell on Central avenue, last evening, when the Ladies' Christian Work Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church gave its annual strawberry and ice cream festival. It was called a lawn fete and rightly termed was the affair for the festival was held out-of-doors, where pretty booths and attractive decorations transformed the place into an ideal spot to spend a pleasant evening and in genial company.

The lawn formed the scene of all the gayety, and the throng roamed at will and took in the many attractions, including a May pole drill, ping-pong tournaments, etc. During the entire evening the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, stationed in the house, discoursed a programme of lively airs that added enjoyment to the general programme.

Under the direction of Miss Myra Clark, chairman of the decorating committee, and assisted by Miss Abbie Lewis, Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, Miss Ida Randolph and George L. Babcock, the grounds were decorated with American flags, Japanese lanterns, while the booths were arranged with red, white and blue bunting and flowers.

Mrs. Joseph A. Miller, as chairman of the general committee, was assisted by Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, Mrs. Frank H. Smith, Mrs. Charles H. Dunham and Miss Ida Randolph. These women had general oversight over the entire affair. The refreshment committee consisted of Mrs. J. P. Mosher, chairman; Mrs. William H. Rogers, Mrs. F. A. Dunham and Mrs. Ira West.

In one corner of the lawn there were numerous small tables and here refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake and strawberries were served under the direction of this committee by the following waitresses: Miss Louise VanSickel, Miss Burdick, Miss Cornelia Miller, Miss Zilpha Williams, Miss Abbie Lewis, Miss Anna Wooden and Miss Ida Spicer.

At the candy table were Mrs. William C. Hubbard, Miss Ruth Maxson and Miss Ethel Vail. Those in charge of the lemonade well were Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston and Miss Stephanie Krom. A very attractive corner was the gypsy tent, where Miss Edith Cairns and Miss Evelina DuBois Benton, assisted by Miss St. John and Miss Bessy Fitz Randolph, did a large business in telling fortunes.

The May pole drill was arranged by Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis. Those taking part included the Misses Margaret Randolph, Grace Weeks, Bessie Dunham, Isabelle Randolph, Nellie Williams, Ethel Murray, Marie Rogers and Eva Rogers. While the young women were going through the various movements, Miss Mabel Maxson presided at the piano.

Still another attraction was a soap-bubble contest, which was in charge of Mrs. F. H. Smith. A number of packages were placed about the table and each person making bubbles would be given the package upon which the bubble fell. They were mysterious packages, yet in every case the person was sure to get his or her money's worth.

F. H. Smith and Frank J. Hubbard alternated in acting as receiver of money and they were always kept busy. The affair was an entire success and the society under whose auspices it was given will net a good sum or its work.

Valuables Stored Safely.

There is no stronger financial institution in the State than the City National Bank. Its officers and directors are all well known men of finance and the bank is conducted on strictly business principles. Liberal interest is allowed on current accounts, subject to check, and a savings department has been established. The safe deposit vaults are still a decided feature at this institution, where for a nominal fee one can have valuables stored safely.

LOCAL YOUNG FOLK IN JUNE WEDDING

Miss Sadie Holmes Was Married to Clarence L. Thorn—Ceremony at Bride's Home.

FLORAL DECORATIONS.

ROSES WERE USED IN PROFUSION TO DECORATE THE HOUSE.

The Ceremony Was Performed by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., at 4 o'Clock—Those in Bridal Party—Will Reside Here.

Standing in a pretty green bower of palms and plants, Miss Sadie Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Holmes, of Grandview avenue, and Clarence L. Thorn, son of Guillermo Thorn, of East Second street, took the vows, yesterday afternoon, which united them for life. One hundred guests witnessed the ceremony which was performed by Rev Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church.

The home of the bride's parents was the scene of the wedding and in accordance with the custom was lavishly decorated with nature's most beautiful flowers. Ropes of pretty roses were everywhere suspended and banks of them graced every convenient corner. The dining room was a mass of red roses, making a most effective background.

At the hour of 4, the bride and groom entered the parlor preceded by the ushers, Elwood Sebring and Henry Vosseller, both near friends of the groom. The remainder of the party consisted of the maid of honor, Miss Achsah Holmes, the bride's sister, and the best man, William Thorn, brother of the groom. The bride was charmingly gowned in mode crepe de chine with pearl trimmings and carried white sweet peas. Her maid of honor was attired in blue mousseline de soie trimmed with silk applique.

A luncheon was served immediately after the young people plighted their troth and late last evening they departed for a week's trip, the destination of which they refused to reveal. On its completion they will return and reside in a prettily furnished home on Whitewood avenue. Both bride and groom are popular among the local younger set and among the business men, the latter holds a prominent place.

Beautiful designs in silver, furniture, bric-a-brac and cut glass formed the array of presents extended the young people, while their gifts to the bridal party were neat designs in silver and gold. Among the witnesses of the pretty ceremony were many from Newark, New York, North Branch, Asbury Park, Elizabeth and Somerville.

IONA'S OFFICERS.

Were Elected at Meeting of the Council Last Night.

Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, met last evening and elected the following officers: Prophetess, Mrs. Samuel Montrose; pocohontas, Miss Margaret Kennedy; winonah, Miss Kittie Burke; representative to Great Council, Miss Daisy Snyder; trustee, Mrs. Charles Dodwell.

After the election five candidates were elected and the degree team practiced for the work tomorrow evening, when the Council will visit Nenemoosha Council, of Elizabeth, and initiate eighteen candidates. Mrs. Fred Westphal, captain of the team, wants all of the members to be at the North avenue trolley station where the 7 o'clock trolley will be taken for Elizabeth.

BADE HER FAREWELL.

Informal Reception Given by Hope's Endeavorers to Miss Edmunds.

To formally express their regret at her departure, the members of Hope chapel Christian Endeavor Society tendered a farewell reception to Miss Ella Edmunds, last evening. She has been one of the society's most diligent workers for several years but returns today to her former home in New York State. Following an informal musical programme, refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Miss Laura Hangliter and M. D. Sweeney.

Opened His Classes.

In St. Mary School hall, yesterday afternoon, Professor Franck opened his course of elocution and voice culture to a very good class of boys and girls. All were delighted with their first day's success. Monday and Wednesday will be the last chance to enter the class.

A PLAINFIELD GROOM.

Miss Anna M. Hammond Wedded to J. G. Drayton at Grace Church Chantry, Yesterday Afternoon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, June 19—Miss Anna Marie Hammond, of Geneva, N. Y., and Joseph Gilmore Drayton, of 104 East Ninth street, Plainfield, were quietly married in the chantry of Grace church, yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Only the immediate relatives of the couple were present.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the bride's church in Geneva. She was given away by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond. The best man was Seymour N. Marsh, of Brooklyn, and the ushers were Fred G. Smith, Arthur A. Freeman and J. Wiswall Drayton, of Plainfield, and Edward H. Wilson, of New York.

After a short wedding trip, they will take up their residence in Plainfield.

TWO WEDDINGS AT ST. MARY'S

SAME GATHERING OF FRIENDS ATTENDED THEM BOTH.

Miss O'Brien Wedded Patrick O'Brien—Miss O'Donnell Became Mrs. M. J. Burke.

St. Mary's church was the scene of two weddings, yesterday afternoon, which were held within an hour of each other and were witnessed by the same large gathering of relatives and friends.

The first took place at 4 o'clock and was that of Miss Margaret O'Brien, a former well known resident of this city, but more recently of Newark, to Patrick O'Brien, also of Newark. Rev. Father Egan performed the ceremony.

Miss O'Brien was attired in a charming gown of white organdie and was attended by her sister, Miss Kate O'Brien, of this city. The latter's gown was also of white material. Patrick Corrigan, of this city, acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien left on a wedding trip of a week's duration after which they will return to this city and make their home on Richmond street. The groom is employed by a large steel concern in Newark.

At precisely 5 o'clock Miss Madeline Julia O'Donnell, daughter of Mrs. Margaret O'Donnell, of this city, and Michael J. Burke, of Avon Park, entered the edifice and took their places at the altar before Father Egan and again the words were pronounced which made a young couple man and wife.

Miss Catherine Glennon, of Cranford, was Miss O'Donnell's attendant and William O'Donnell, a brother of the bride, acted as best man. Miss O'Donnell's gown was of white d'esprit and she carried a large shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Glennon's gown was of white organdie and in her hand reposed pink roses. Miss Smith presided at the organ and rendered the marches during the entrance and retirement of the bridal party.

Following the ceremony the guests repaired to the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. John Brown, of Avon Park, where a reception was held until late last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Burke will leave today for an extended wedding trip and afterward will make their home on East Sixth street. The groom is a valued employe of the Aluminum Plate and Press Works.

Many beautiful and useful presents wree extended the young couple and best man and ushers were presented with stick pins by the groom.

MANY GUESTS.

Previous Records Broken at Hotel Netherwood Last Evening.

Last night broke all previous records at the Hotel Netherwood for this season of the year. There were 103 guests housed there and the number is growing every day. The regular invitations for the social events at the Netherwood will not be issued previous to Saturday evening's formal hop. All members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, the Park Club and the Park Golf Club will be welcomed on that occasion. All the social events at the hotel this season will be full dress.

Death of Infant Son.

Francis S., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pope, of Manning avenue, died this morning after a brief illness. He was one year old. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The pure Java and Mocha coffee sold by Neuman Brothers is strictly of the highest quality. It sells at thirty cents per pound.

DIPLOMAS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

The Commencement Exercises Held by Grammar Department of City Schools.

SIXTY-SIX GRADUATES.

Addresses Were Made by Rev. Dr. Tomlinson, of Elizabeth, and Superintendent H. M. Maxson—The Programme—Names of Those Receiving Diplomas.

Commencement is in the air. The Grammar School was the first of the public institutions of Plainfield to hold graduation exercises when yesterday afternoon sixty-six happy graduates in the assembly hall of Franklin school were handed their diplomas. Over the platform, hanging in loose folds, were streamers of intermingled orange and white, the colors of the class.

A large audience had gathered in the hall and listened with evident appreciation to the carrying out of a programme that would have done credit to much older heads. In addition to the graduates forty-five of whom were girls, seats on the platform were occupied by Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, Dr. J. B. Probasco, president of the Board of Education, Rev. Dr. Everett T. Tomlinson, and Rev. Charles L. Goodrich.

The programme consisted of bright and lively choruses sung with enthusiasm and recitations by members of the class. The address to the graduates was delivered by Superintendent Maxson and Rev. Dr. Tomlinson also made a short address appropriate to the occasion.

Following is the programme in full:

Invocation . . . . . Rev. Charles L. Goodrich
All Saints New . . . . . f. . Cutler
Chorus by Graduating Class.
Recitation—The Song of the Market Place,
Margaret Demarest. Buckham
Erl Konig . . . . . Schubert
Miss Dorothy Waldo.
Recitation—The Welsh Classic,
Arthur Stoddard Whitney
Sailing . . . . . Godfrey Marks
Chorus by Class.
Recitation—The Women of Mumbles Head,
Elizabeth Crane Winter
Address . . . . Rev. Everett T. Tomlinson, D. D.
Summer Time . . . . . Franz Abt
Chorus by Girls of Graduating Class.
Address to Graduates,
Henry M. Maxson, Superintendent of Schools
Presentation of Diplomas, by President of Board of Education
Dr. J. B. Probasco.
March, Polka—"The Volunteers" . . . . . Metra
Chorus by Class.

At the outset of his speech Rev. Dr. Tomlinson related a legend current among the fisherman of Bretagne. The legend tells of the submersion of the beautiful city of Is and off that portion of the coast of France on a fine day the fishermen lean languidly on their oars and imagine they hear beneath them the tolling of the cathedrals bells in the sunken city. He applied the tale to the occasion and asked the pupils to look beneath the surface, now that the year's labor was at an end. He did not intend to give them any lengthy advice; that is something far easier to give than to receive.

The graduates were reminded that only the dead rest from their labors and that it was necessary to cultivate self-reliance and continue the work of education. A man may be said to be educated when he sees more than other people see, does more than they do, enjoys more and is more. People do not happen to succeed in this world; their career is moulded by an unchangeable law, and luck plays no part in their making. He who aimed at nothing would probably hit the mark. The graduates should see what they want to do, and then try to do it; let them realize the ideal and idealize the real.

Nine-tenths of life is drudgery and drudgery makes the man. The man who would be faithful in the small things of life would be faithful in the great. The work of the schools today is different from what it used to be, but it is simply old work in a new spirit. In conclusion he congratulated the members of the class on their success.

Superintendent Maxson in an address replete with sound advice dwelt on the influence of school life. Although very few of the criminal and wretched of the country were those who had enjoyed school life he confessed there nothing visible to suggest such beneficial results. School influences, nevertheless, broadens and deepens the character of the child.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants.

If you once get into the habit of buying your meat from Fred Endress you will never quit. The meat purchased there is of a quality to satisfy the most exacting epicure.

Why pay a high price for ice when McDonough Brothers will serve you promptly with the pure article at a reasonable price. A postal card or the telephone will bring ice to your home.

The fine dispay of fresh fruit and vegetables at T. L. Walsh's North avenue market, is replenished daily. The prices are low and all goods are delivered free to any part of the city.

That man has a natty appearance who has his clothes made by John G. Bantle, the Watchung avenue tailor. Bantle is an artist with the tape and his prices would tempt anyone to buy a suit.

I. H. Boehm, of West Front street, is this week making a specialty of waists and skirts, ladies' vests and mattings. His line of these goods is large and complete at prices below market value.

Are you a fish lover? That is, strictly fresh fish that bakes right and tastes right. Of course and Rogers Seafood Company will take pleasure in serving you. They are the largeest handlers of fish in the city.

For an honest-well made shoe the W. L. Douglas shoes are recognized as leaders. A. Willett & Son sell these shoes exclusively in Plainfield. They also handle the well-known Queen Quality shoe for women.

If you have not seen those what madras shirts or colored percale shirts for men at Putnam & DeGraw's store, you have missed the biggest bargains in the city. The best half-hose, gauze underwear for men are also specialties.

Collier, the Park avenue jeweller and optician, has been in business in this city since 1869. That had ought to be proof enough of his capability to perform properly any repairing entrusted to him, but if not, give him a trial and see the result.

The reliable city pharmacy conducted by L. W. Randolph, of West Front street, will serve you at all times in a careful and accurate manner. Prescriptions left at this store will be compounded accurately. A full stock of toilet articles always on hand. This is also headquarters for delicious soda water.

Ready to Yield.

"I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for piles and found it a certain cure," says S. R. Meredith, Willow Grove, Del. Operations unnecessary to cure piles. They always yield to DeWitts Witch Hazel Salve. Cures skin diseases, all kinds of wounds. Accept no counterfeits. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

It is announced that Colonel William J. Bryan has decided to pay a visit to Farmer Orator Martine, of Plainfield, in July. This is unfortunate. It will be a hard matter to keep from the colonel the identity of the candidate his party has selected to make the race for Congress, and when the Nebraskan hears about Flanagan, it is difficult to predict what will happen. The harmonizers would do well to send out an embassy to urge Mr. Martine to withdraw the invitation, at least until later in the season.—Newark News.

—Harvey G. Wentrick, who recently accepted a position at Dover, has returned to enter the employ of William Feiring, of Park avenue.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

WAS MARRIED AMID FLOWERS

cessful one. An hour later other guests began to arrive and there was a continuation of congratulations until a late hour, during which a delightful wedding supper was served.

The guests sought the piazza and the charming lawn, where provisions had been made for the reception. Here and there about the lawn, the beautiful shade trees were brilliantly illuminated through the use of incandescent electric lights and the effect was fascinating. As the guests mingled about the house and lawn, the entrancing music by the orchestra gave additional pleasure.

While the guests were enjoying the many pleasant features, they were not unmindful of the beautiful array of wedding gifts received by the bride. They consisted of hundreds of articles of great value and use, including much solid silver and goldware, cut glass and other things. The popularity of the bride and her husband was fully attested through these magnificent remembrances.

Mr. and Mrs. Perkins left Plainfield during the evening for New York from which point they will take an extended wedding journey. They expect to be away nearly all summer and in the fall they will take up their residence at Rochester, where the groom is engaged in the banking business. Mrs. Perkins has always been a prominent member of Plainfield's best society and her departure from the city will be felt in a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

PLANS FOR HILLSIDE DAY AT PARK LINKS

Chief Event of the Day Will be a Team Match Between the Two Clubs.

OTHER COMPETITIONS.

SPECIAL PREPARATIONS FOR SOCIAL FEATURES OF THE DAY.

Course Will be Open to Hillside Members for Play All Day—Driving Contest and Approaching and Putting Contest to be Held.

Plans have been completed for the entertainment of the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club at the course of the Park Golf Club, Saturday afternoon. It has been the custom for the two local clubs to exchange courtesies every year and the Parks will make an attempt to make Saturday's affair the most enjoyable of any. No individual invitations have been issued but all the members of the Hillside Club will be welcome at the Park Golf Club course and the clubhouse all day.

The morning will be devoted to individual play, no competitions having been arranged for that time. The chief event of the afternoon will be the team match between the two clubs. It is the desire of the golf committee of the entertaining club to get as many as possible of the members of the two clubs to take part. They will be paired off according to their standing. The play will be match play, scratch, eighteen holes. While the regular team of the Hillside Club will be busy with the Harbor Hill Club in a team match that afternoon, it is expected that many of the other players will turn out for this event which is scheduled to take place at 2:30 o'clock. There will be a prize for the club winning the match.

At 5 o'clock there will be a driving contest open to members of both clubs. At 5:30 o'clock, there will be an approaching and putting contest, for mixed doubles, open to members of both clubs. Entries can be made at the clubhouse on the day of play.

In addition to the golf, special arrangements have been made for an informal reception to be held at the clubhouse to which all the members of the Hillside Club and other friends of the Park Golf Club are invited. The driving contest and the approaching and putting contests are to be held on either side of the clubhouse and in full view of it so that the guests will be able to watch the play in these events.

PERSONAL.

P. H. Bennett, of the borough, has been stopping in Asbury Park for a few days.

—William Frey, of Somerset street, has accepted the position of night operator at the local 'phone exchange.

NO PLANS TO FILL PASTOR YERKES' PLACE

First Baptist Church Will Hold Business Meeting on June 25, to Act Upon It.

NO IMMEDIATE CALL.

ONLY FIFTY OF PRESENT MEMBERS IN CHURCH WHEN HE CAME.

He Has Been Only Pastor In Present Edifice—Only One Original Member Left—Old Wooden Church Had Three Other Pastors.

In connection with the retirement of Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes as pastor of the First Baptist church after a service of thirty-nine years, it is interesting to note that there are at present only fifty members of the church who were in the church when Dr. Yerkes came to Plainfield in the summer of 1863. The rest of the present membership, nearly 850, has joined during his pastorate. For that reason, as the pastor stated Sunday, a majority of the members have known no other pastor than himself and the severance of his relation as pastor will mean much to him as well as the members.

In the present edifice, Dr. Yerkes has been the only pastor, although there were three pastors previous to his coming in the old frame church, which building is now standing in New street. Only one member, so far as known, and that is Mrs. Sims, is left of the original membership. She united under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Hill.

Wednesday evening, June 25, there will be a meeting of the church and congregation at which time the resignation of Dr. Yerkes will be acted upon and other business will be transacted toward securing a successor to him. It will probably be some time before another pastor is called, and in the meantime the pulpit will be filled with supplies.

On account of Dr. Yerkes' physical incapacity the members do not feel like asking him to continue to preach until another man is called and he will be relieved as he requests. Undoubtedly, a committee will be chosen to select a new pastor and then report back to the church.

A NATIONAL STRIKE

Call For a Special Miners' Convention Issued.

MITCHELL WILL CONTROL ACTION.

A Total of 250,000 Men May Leave Work In Coal Mines of Various States as the Result of This Meeting.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 19.—The call for a special convention of the United Mine Workers of America to be held at Indianapolis July 17 next has been issued from the miners' headquarters here. The call is addressed to the local unions of the United Mine Workers and is signed by John Mitchell, national president, and W. B. Wilson, national secretary and treasurer.

The convention is called for the purpose of considering a proposition for a general suspension of work by the coal miners of the United States in support of the anthracite miners who are now on strike.

This step is considered here to be in line with the general policy Mr. Mitchell apparently adopted soon after the anthracite strike was declared to bring about an acute situation in the coal market and in that way force the anthracite operators to terms. Still it is pointed out here that if Mr. Mitchell does carry through his general plan by declaring a bituminous strike to aid the miners now out he will cause nearly 200,000 men to break their contracts with their employers.

It is held that Mr. Mitchell will control the action of the convention absolutely and that whatever course is adopted it will be as he wishes. There are in the anthracite fields 147,000 men now out, in West Virginia nearly 30,000 out and in Michigan 25,000 who have been on strike for some time, and it was learned that President Patrick Gilday of the central Pennsylvania bituminous miners, who recently saw Mr. Mitchell, had pledged support from the 45,000 men whom he controls.

This makes a total of 250,000 miners whose delegates will be entirely ruled in their actions by Mr. Mitchell.

It is said that these men, with the possible exception of the Pennsylvania soft coal miners, are strongly in favor of a strike, because, being out themselves, they desire all the aid they can get. There is a prospect, too, that all the bituminous miners in Illinois will take a step similar to that taken by the men under Gilday.

West Virginia Strike a Failure.

ROANOKE, Va., June 19.—A special to the Roanoke Times from Eckman, W. Va., says the strike situation has suddenly taken on a complete change. It looks now as if there was not the least chance for the strikers to win, as such a large number have returned to work that those who would have remained away and fought it out have become discouraged, and many of them have taken up their tools and are going back into the mines. The mine owners are jubilant over conditions and think the end of the strike is near. Many coke ovens which have been dark for ten days have been again lighted up. Guards are still being kept at the mines, but not in such a large number as previously.

Only a Bluff.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 19.—The fact that the joint miners' convention called by President Mitchell is set for a month hence is interpreted by the operators here to be an effort to bluff the operators and buoy up the strikers. A representative of one of the companies said: "The mine workers' leaders made this call with no expectation that the soft coal men will join in their strike, but solely for the purpose of giving the strikers something to look forward to. But come what may, the position of the operators cannot be changed. It would be suicidal for the operators to make even the semblance of a concession."

Crowds Seek Thunder Mountain.

BOISE, Ida., June 19.—More than 2,000 men and probably a half hundred women are now struggling over the rugged mountain trails to reach the goldfields of the Thunder mountain and join the advance guard in the quest for wealth. The trails are now opened to the goldfields, and the rush is on in earnest. While the trip is attended by none of the dangers that beset the travels of those who went in earlier, still it is filled with hardships. The eagerness for wealth, however, that caused men to risk their lives during the winter draws the crowds in ever increasing numbers. It is believed that there will be 30,000 persons in camp this summer.

Boiler Makers Threaten Strike.

OSWEGO, N. Y., June 19.—A strike of boiler makers is threatened here, the men employed at the Ames Iron works, the Oswego Boiler works and Fitzgibbon's Boiler works having demanded a uniform daily wage of $2.50. The employees of the Fitzgibbon and Oswego works quit work because their demand was refused. About 200 men are affected. The same demand will be made later to the three other local shops, and a general strike is feared. The men are now receiving from $1.50 to $2.50.

Nebraska Republican Convention.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 19.—In a spirited free for all contest between seven promising candidates John H. Mickey of Osceola, Polk county, was nominated for governor by the Republican state convention at 10 o'clock last night after an almost continuous session since 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The nomination came to Mr. Mickey on the thirteenth ballot after a vain effort in turn to nominate W. M. Robertson and J. B. Dinsmore.

MONT PELEE STILL ACTIVE.

Ghastly Scenes In and About the Ruins of St. Pierre.

ROSEAU, Island of Dominica, June 19.—With the permission of M. Lhuerre, the governor of Martinique, the ruins of St. Pierre were visited by the administrator of the island of Dominica, H. H. Bell, and a party of friends, who proceeded for Martinique on the steamer Yare. Mont Pelee was in eruption, and ashes fell upon the Yare when she was passing Le Precheur. There were intermittent detonations, and the summit of the volcano was completely obscured by clouds of steam and ashes. Great dense volumes of steam, apparently from small craters, rose by the seashore near the ruins of the Guerin sugar factory and from several places up the cleft from which the stream of mud had poured May 5.

The ruins of St. Pierre presented a ghastly sight. Torrential rains had removed much of the sand and ashes with which they had been covered, and many corpses were partly exposed. The odors were strong and nauseating. The valley of the Roxellane river has been blocked, and a portion of the river has been turned into the ruins of St. Pierre, the northwest portion of which is partially flooded.

While Mr. Bell and his party were proceeding with their inspection of the ruins an avalanche of black scoria and sand fell to the east of the town, accompanied by loud detonations, which alarmed the visitors.

The north end of the island of Martinique is gray with ashes, and the whole population of that section appear to have left the scene of death and desolation.

Engineer Killed In a Wreck.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 19.—A special from Mount Leonard, Mo., says a Chicago and Alton passenger train, eastbound, from Kansas City for St. Louis, jumped the track two miles west of Mexico and went into the ditch. Engineer John Keller was killed and twelve passengers are reported injured, but it is stated that only three were seriously hurt. All the injured have been taken to Mexico for treatment. The train was running at the rate of fifty miles an hour.

Another Fire In Creede.

CREEDE, Colo., June 19.—The second serious fire in the history of Creede occurred yesterday, and as a result fully $100,000 worth of property has been burned. Two lives are believed to have been lost, and many persons were injured. The fire occurred in what is known as Upper Creede, and that part of the town is in ruins, making sixty families homeless.

RIOTS IN PATERSON.

Mob Led by Anarchists Defies Police.

RUIN AND BLOODSHED THE RESULT

Thousands of Infuriated Strikers Attack Silk Mills and Force Hands to Join Them—Troops May Be Called Out by the Governor.

PATERSON, N. J., June 19.—This city was in the hands of a mob yesterday. Never before in its history has the city witnessed such lawlessness as existed during the entire day. As a result of the day's riots a number of persons were shot, and two at least will die. One of the latter is a reporter who was shot while on duty.

The police did their work nobly, but they were so few in number that they could make little headway against the mob.

Mills have been wrecked with stones and bullets by the striking silk dyers' helpers or roughs acting for them. There have been threats to resort to the torch, but so far the mayor hesitates about asking Governor Murphy for troops, whose presence seems to be necessary if the lawless element is to be held in check. The governor stands ready to throw the First and Fourth regiments into the city at an hour's notice, but the mayor hesitates.

There seems to be every indication that the riot was the result of a prearranged plan to involve the would be peaceful element in the affair from the start. For some time past a man named McQueen and another named Galleano, the former an Englishman of well known violent tendencies and the latter an Italian of openly expressed love for the red flag, have been in this city. Others, agents of anarchist circles, have also been quietly fanning the flames.

In the morning Chairman McGrath, who has held the strikers in leash since he first obtained control on the second day or so of the strike and who has since stood almost alone between the city and violence, was on hand and presided. He spoke. So did McQueen. The latter was tame. Then Galleano spoke. McGrath could not understand him, but he worked his countrymen into a frenzy.

Then McQueen leaped into control of the meeting. He called for a vote on the question of calling for a general strike of all branches of the silk trade. All voted in favor. No one dared vote otherwise, and a committee was appointed to consider means for bringing the silk workers out. Galleano was one of this committee. It gathered amid a babel of tongues and a scene of confusion. Five minutes later Galleano emerged from the group and shouted something in Italian. Instantly, as if it was a preconcerted signal, a mob had formed about him. Into it rushed the Italians and then the other foreigners, and a moment later the mob, led by Galleano, swept down Belmont avenue.

A quarter of a mile down Belmont avenue stands the Columbia mill, a silk ribbon factory. The doors had been locked when the mob appeared, but they were forced open, and with the crash of the doors came a volley of stones which riddled the windows in the front of the building.

When the operatives were out of the Columbia, the mob swept on down Belmont avenue to the Cedar Cliff mills, where a similar programme was carried out.

Warner's and Rheinhardt's mills were visited in turn. The windows were broken, machinery was destroyed, and the employees were driven out. Then Bamford's mills, just inside the city limits, at Cliff and Rip Van Winkle streets, were advanced upon by the mob, which numbered 2,000 and was being re-enforced every minute.

Three policemen were on guard at this mill. A leader of the mob fired at them.

This appeared to be a signal, for dozens of rioters drew revolvers and began firing at the policemen. It was here that Policeman Robinson was shot. The bluecoats returned the fire, and an Italian fell with a bullet hole through his neck. He was carried off by his companions, and no trace of him can be found.

The mob stormed the mill, driving out the employees. Many of the women fainted and were trampled upon. Every window in the mill was broken, and much machinery was damaged.

From the Bamford mills the rioters marched to the establishment of Pelgram & Meyer. They found the gates closed and the mill deserted, as the employees had been dismissed when the first news of rioting was received. Nevertheless the windows were broken, the fences were destroyed, and machinery was damaged.

At the mills of the New Jersey Silk company, which were next in line of the mob's march, a score of policemen gathered and made a determined resistance. It was at this point that Harry Harris, the reporter, was shot. He was taking a photograph of the scene when a bullet struck him in the breast.

By this time there were 5,000 rioters in the mob, and the police were powerless.

Late in the afternoon the rioters clashed with the police at what is known as Bunker Hill. There the police had taken a stand, backed up by the firemen, and when the rioters refused to halt they fired into the crowd. This broke up the crowd, and many injured strikers were seen being carried away.

Irrigation Bill Approved.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The president yesterday notified the senate that he had approved the Hansbrough-Newlands irrigation bill.

CONFERENCE ON CUBA

Republican Senators Reach No Conclusion.

RECIPROCITY MATTER IS DISCUSSED

Opponents of the Measure Claim to Be as Firmly United as Ever. Another Meeting Set For Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Republican senators were prompt in beginning their conference on the Cuban reciprocity bill last night. The meeting was held in the marble room, just off the senate chamber. When at 8 o'clock Senator Allison as chairman of the caucus called the meeting to order, all the Republican senators, with six exceptions, were present. Four of the six absentees were out of the city. The six who were not present were Messrs. Depew, Dolliver, Frye, Hawley, Kearns and Simon. Senator Wellington, who has not acted with his party for the past two years, was among those in attendance and was among the first to present himself.

The discussion continued until the conference adjourned at 10:45, to meet again on the adjournment of the senate tomorrow afternoon. No conclusion was reached, but the opinion was expressed even by those who would vote for a reciprocity bill that there was little possibility of passing such a measure at this session of congress. The seventeen beet sugar senators present each made a speech, saying that he would not support the Spooner bill or any measure of that character. Statements were made for Senators Simon (Ore.) and Mason (Ill.) to the effect that they thoroughly agreed with their colleagues in opposition to the reciprocity bill.

The conference was preceded by two meetings to which some significance was attached. The first of these was a gathering of the Republican steering committee and the second a dinner given by Senator Burrows in his committee room to the beet sugar senators. The steering committee discussed nothing but the order of business in the senate and decided to recommend that the reciprocity bill be made the unfinished business after the disposal today of the isthmian canal bill.

The Burrows dinner was attended by seventeen of the nineteen senators who are pledged to opposition to the reciprocity bill. There was no effort to transform the dinner into a conference, but the senators present gathered in small groups for the discussion of the situation. A poll led to the announcement that one-third of the Republican membership of the senate was present at the dinner, that eleven states were represented and that they were as firmly united as they ever had been.

CAMPAIGN AMMUNITION.

Leader Richardson Scores Republicans—Cannon Replies.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The near approach of the end of the present session of congress was signalized by a general political speech by Mr. Richardson (Tenn.), the leader of the minority. Taking advantage of the latitude allowed during general debate on the deficiency appropriation bill, he delivered a set speech of an hour and a half. He arraigned the Republican party for its failure to keep its platform promises, dwelling especially on the question of trusts and the necessity for tariff reduction.

Mr. Shallenberger (Dem., Neb.) also made a political speech, condemning the administration for removing Miss Taylor, a clerk in the war department, for criticising its Philippine policy and for justifying General Wood's expenditures out of the Cuban fund for the promotion of reciprocity legislation.

Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriation committee, in a reply to both speeches said he was ready to go to the country on the record of the Republican party. He caused much merriment on his side of the house by describing the Republican party as pulling the wagon while the Democrats stood off and found fault.

The general deficiency appropriation bill, the last of the supply bills, was passed.

A night session was held, at which the house considered bills reported from the committee on Indian affairs.

Today at 2 o'clock the voting on the amendments to the pending Nicaragua canal bill will begin, and a final disposition of the matter is expected to be reached soon afterward.

The senate yesterday devoted practically its entire session to a consideration of the canal question.

THE STRIKE.

The news that the boss and journeymen plumbers have come to terms and that building operations in the city, held up for lack of men to do the necessary plumbing, can be resumed, was received with much satisfaction by the people of Plainfield, yesterday. The plumbers had been on strike since May 1 and during the interval, they have lost some $5,500 in wages. Most of this money would have naturally found its way into the coffers of the local merchants.

This labor question is one which far greater men than we have attempted to solve and failed. We will not, therefore, make any attempt to suggest any solution. Until there is some radical change in the conditions between master and workmen, there will always be trouble of some kind and strikes are to be expected. The fewer of the latter, however, that happen in Plainfield, the better it will be for the entire community.

This trouble amongst the plumbers has held up building operations and prevented the start of new work as contractors were anxious to know what change there would be in the loss of labor before they attempted to estimate on the work to be done. It has thrown many men out of work. Living expenses go on even if wages do stop and the effect is bound to be felt. The present agreement could have been reached over a month ago and all this trouble and suffering prevented.

When any question arises in local labor circles, it is sincerely to be hoped that the men of both sides will think carefully and come to some amicable understanding without troubling the whole community. If people will insist on being rational and reasonable, strikes will never take place. Both sides should not forget that fact.

Occasionally we hear of some "knight of the road" who fails to have a proper appreciation of the fitness of things. Nobody would be surprised or shocked to learn that one of these homeless wanderers made a visit to any neighborhood and begged his supper. That is what every first-class tramp is expected to do. But when a tramp, having collected the materials for a meal, betakes himself to the front piazza of some well-to-do resident and takes possession of a hammock all equipped with silk covered pillows and the other luxuries of wealth, the public mind is immediately struck by the incongruity of it all. If that tramp had wandered to some barn and ensconced himself in the hay it would have been more according to the general fitness of things. It therefore leads to the general belief that the visitor was not a real hobo but some man who had mistaken his calling.

All the reports from the seashore resorts show that the summer is going to be a unusually active one. There appears to be plenty of money to spend and that means prosperity for the multitude of hotel keepers and other business men who depend largely on the summer visitors for their incomes.

The City High School will hold its commencement exercises in the First Baptist church, this evening. At that time, another crowd of young people will go out into the world having completed the course which the city provides.

Purchased Valuable Property.

Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., of the borough, has just purchased of the First National Bank the property owned by the latter, located at the corner of Watchung and Fairview avenues. The property, which is one of the finest in the borough, adjoins Mr. Clark's present home and has a frontage of 120 feet on Fairview avenue and 178 feet on Watchung avenue. Mr. Clark will grade and improve the property, but it is not likely that he will build on the same at present.

Funeral of Assemblyman Miller.

The funeral services of Assemblyman Frederick C. DUNELLEN.

The funeral of the late Christian Carl was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 from his former home on Jefferson avenue. Rev. Mr. Bowers, of Washington valley, officiated and was asissted by Rev. N. J. Sproul, of the Presbyterian church. The funeral was largely attended and showed the esteem in which the deceased was held. The pall-bearers were the four grandsons, Albert and Fred Giddes and Gilbert and Edward Herlick. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery at South Plainfield.

John Woods was brought before Justice Merrel this morning charged by his mother with assault. It is alleged that young Woods became angry and used a chair on his mother with disastrous effects to the furniture and all included. He will be tried today.

The music pupils of Miss Emma Nelson gave a final recital at her home Tuesday evening. The selections were piano and violin and showed much careful training and study.

The strawberry and ice cream festival, which was to be held this evening in the park, has been postponed until next Thursday, when some new features will be added.

An election was held last evening in the Presbyterian church for a new Sunday-school superintendent to succeed A. A. Lake who is to retire.

The baseball game between the Y. M. C. team and the American Engine Works team at Bound Brook on Saturday has been cancelled.

The Dunellen Juniors did not play the Park A. C. at Plainfield yesterday as they were unable to get a team together.

Prayer meeting in the Presbyterian church last evening was well attended.

The W. C. T. U. will hold its regular weekly meeting this afternoon.

Some repairs are being made in Whittier School during vacation.

W. H. Terry still continues to improve from his recent illness.

The Dunellen A. C. will play at Bound Brook next Saturday.

Gilbert Herlick, of Hackensack, spent yesterday in town.

The band met for practice last evening in Apgar's Hall.

NEW MARKET.

Sheppart Fitz Randolph has returned from his studies at Cornell University and is spending his vacation at home.

A reception will be given the graduates of the New Market school this evening at the home of Miss Carrie Brouwer.

An unusually large number of out of town people attended the commencement exercises last evening.

Edson Davis has returned home from college for the summer vacation.

S. T. Carson, of Scotch Plains, spent yesterday in town.

A number enjoyed the rowing on the lake last evening.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Manager Johnston and Manager Cose, of the Hope chapel team, of Plainfield, are negotiating for two games to be played on Labor Day, one at Scotch Plains and one at Plainfield. No definite arrangements have as yet been made but there is a pretty sure thing that the two teams will meet at the close of the City League games. Many in town are opposed to the team going out of town especially on holidays as this is the only day a number are able to see a game.

Commencement exercises of the Public School will be held this evening in the Baptist church. At the close of the exercises at the church an exhibition of school work will be held in the class rooms of the school. The members of the class of '02 will tender a reception to their friends in the assembly room of the school at the close of the programme at the church. Admission to the latter will be by invitation.

The public school closed yesterday for the annual summer vacation, much to the delight of the children. The year just closed has been one of the most successful in the history of the school. This speaks well for the excellent corps of teachers which have been at the helm during the year.

Several families have already arrived and by the first of the month Glenside will be in the midst of the summer social season.

Owing to the school commencement exercises tonight, no meeting of the teachers of the Baptist Sunday-school will be held.

Mrs. Cory Johnson, a former resident of the village but now of New York, has been visiting friends in town.

Glenside, the popular summer resort for a select colony of Newark's residents, has opened for the summer.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., holds its regular weekly meeting in the library rooms tonight.

George W. Marsh is recovering from an illness which has detained him at home for several days.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A number from here will attend the commencement exercises of the Plainfield High School, tonight. The exercises of the Metuchen school also promise to be well attended by those who are interested in that school.

There will be a festival on the lawn opposite Campbell's clubhouse this evening for the benefit of Marconnier chapel. Should the night prove stormy, the affair will be held the next clear evening.

The funeral services of the late Warren Smalley, of Piscataway, were held this afteronon at the Stelton Baptist church. Mr. Smalley was a deacon of the church.

The Wyoming Express, between New York and Scranton, leaves this place at 12:44 p. m. for Scranton.

Camp No. 41, P. O. S. of A., will meet tonight in Washington Hall for routine business.

The litle daughter, Lizzie, of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, is ill with scarlet fever.

That character formation was like the slow and imperceptible growth of a tree; the persistent care may seem fruitless, but is amply repaid in beautiful results. He reminded the class that their present success only opened a door to them for greater work. Live to work and it would not be necessary to work to live.

After the addresses had been delivered Dr. Probasco presented each graduate with his or her diploma. The graduates were:

Leroy Runyon Adams, Helen B. Abrams, Antoinette Lucy Aalhohn, Avis Irene Aldrich, Olivia Bogardus, Samuel Bath Bogart, Lena Bohan, Martha Coddington, Florence M. Albert Drosin Simply Had His Interests in Mills Protected.

Another phase of the Watchung Knitting Mills case was heard before Vice Chancellor Stevens yesterday. The court announced that appraisers would be appointed unless the complainant, Albert Drosin, was satisfied that the goods in dispute were not worth more than $1,000. Drosin's counsel, S. S. Swackhamer, stated he was willing that the defendants, Leo J. Studley and Marks Rosenthal, should take the goods providing they were required to account for $1,000 for the same and to give bonds to the complainant to secure him for the amount found to be due him. An order to that effect was at once made by the vice chancellor.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

SUMMER VESTS

The Fad of the Hour

More Fancy and White Vests worn this year than for 20 years

Anticipating this I have bought from a manufacturer the balance of his stock at my own price and will place on sale for one week, beginning SATURDAY, JUNE 21, the largest and best assortment of White and Fancy Vests ever shown in Plainfield, at prices below the cost to manufacture.

This line is composed entirely of fine vests, made only for fine trade, and includes French Percales, Irish Linen Dks, Kahki, etc. Twenty styles to select from. Double breasted with and without collars, single breasted with and without collars, full dress of several different styles and shape.

Following are a few prices quoted:

Lot 1084.
Fancy stripe DK AB sold in most stores for $2.00.
My Price $1.00.

Lot 1089.
6 Buttons, high cut in front, very fashionable. Regular price $2.25.
My Price $1.10.

Lot 1162.
Pearl DK DB vest, one of the heaviest sellers among the fine trades, a fine vest. Regular price $3.75.
My Price $1.90.

Lot 1150.
White French PK double breasted 3 button vest with collar. This is an especially good thing. Regular price $3.50.
My Price 1.75.

Lot 1170.
A very fine fancy silk and linen mixed, can be used winter and summer. The garment retails at $4.00.
My Price $2.25.

Lot 1138.
This will appeal to the very fine dressers only 26 vests in the lot, very fine Irish linen double breasted with collar, worth at least $5.00. I am showing them during this sale
$3.00.

This line cannot be surpassed in quality in any store in New York, and I positively tell you that no better assortment is shown any place.

Call and see them and be convinced. I can suit you and please you with tailoring, furnishings, hats, etc.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 22—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Practical humility.—Matt. xxiii, 1-11; Isa. lvii, 15.

Humility is one of the most beautiful and desirable of all the Christian graces. At the same time it is in some respects one of the most difficult of virtues to cultivate and develop. The self seeking spirit is large within us and written large in all the world about us. The world usually practices anything else than humility, and it seems more often to bestow its best favors upon the least humble rather than the most humble. The result is that, being human, it is no easy thing even for Christians to develop the spirit of humility to the extent that they ought.

Humility to be worthy the name must necessarily be practical. It must be manifested in action as well as declared in words. The Pharisees no doubt preached humility; but, alas, how far from practicing it they were! All their works they do to be seen of men. They make broad their phylacteries and enlarge the borders of their garments and love the uppermost rooms at feasts and the chief seats in the synagogues and greetings in the markets and to be called of men "Rabbi, Rabbi." And there are many Pharisaical representatives of humility today. They preach it, but do not practice it; they pretend it, but do not possess it; they try to use humility as a cloak to hide their pride and ambition. What they want most they pretend to want least. They proclaim from the housetops that only the humble should be exalted and then pretend to be humble that they may be exalted! They argue that the office, the position, the honor, should seek the man and then decry all desire for such things, they that may be sought. Such humility, of course, is false. If genuine, humility will manifest itself practically. It shows itself in its humble attitude toward God and in the humble service of men. The greatest becomes the servant of all.

Though difficult of cultivation, yet the spirit of humility should be prized and sought after. It is most pleasing to God. God loveth the humble, but He knoweth the proud afar off, and He keeps them afar off. Only by humbling ourselves as a little child can we ever enter into the kingdom of God. The humble only shall dwell with God, "for thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy, I will dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble and to revive the heart of the contrite ones."

Humility may be developed in several ways, (1) by remembering the disastrous consequences of false pride and ambition, (2) by contemplating the example of Christ—"He humbled himself" as no other, "wherefore God hath highly exalted Him;" (3) by seeing ourselves as God sees us. The publican judged himself by God's standards and couldn't even raise his eyes to heaven. Who could under the same test?

BIBLE READINGS.

Job xl, 11; Ps. xxxiv, 2; cl, 5; Prov. vi, 16-18; xv, 33; Matt. xviii, 1-4; Mark ix, 33-37; x, 35-45; Luke ix, 46-48; Phil. ii, 1-11.

A Year For God.

Life regarded as a stewardship is at once simpler and more rewarding than any purely selfish life can be, and when it is for God the opportunities of time take on a dignity which lifts them high above all petty motives and disheartening fears. A year devoted to God's service may not bring us clear vision of results attained, but it will assure us the best use of time, freedom from weakening regret and the peace of heart which is not the least of the conditions of efficiency. In Christ's thought the order of devotion was of the highest importance. What comes first in life? His counsel is that the kingdom of God and His righteousness should have the right of way. He feared the influence of a primary absorption in the cares of life. He contrasts the love and service of winning goods for self with the love and service of God. No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other or else he will hold to one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon.—Congregationalist.

The Footpath to Peace.

To be glad of life because it gives you the chance to love and to work and to play and to look up at the stars; to be satisfied with your possessions, but not contented with yourself until you have made the best of them; to despise nothing in the world except falsehood and meanness and to fear nothing except cowardice; to be governed by your admirations rather than by your disgusts; to covet nothing that is your neighbor's except his kindness of heart and gentleness of manners; to think seldom of your enemies, often of your friends and every day of Christ, and to spend as much time as you can, with body and with spirit, in God's out of doors—these are little guideposts on the footpath to peace.—Henry Van Dyke.

Faithfulness.

Faithfulness at times is no easy thing. Sacrifice and love are close neighbors. The gospel is an invitation not to a banquet, but to a harvest. They who ring the changes on the one magic word belief ought ever to remember the associations that first surrounded it. Belief is a word born of water and of blood. Its divine sense was coined upon the altar, and the old meaning is still a part of it.—Presbyterian Journal.

In Little Things.

If you cannot be great, be willing to serve God in things that are small.—Episcopal Recorder.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 22, "Opportunities, Facilities and Resources of the Church." Text, Ps. ii, 8; Rev. iii, 8; Isa. xl, 9—Read Matt. vi.

"Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you."

"The bread and butter problem" is ever a most urgent one. However far removed from fear of poverty and real want many may be, the great mass of the people have so little in reserve that a short sickness or failure of work means debt or privation. So it comes about naturally that the care of getting food, shelter and clothing takes most of the labor and thought. Life becomes a prolonged struggle to keep self and dependent ones alive. The seeking is earnestly and constantly for "these things." How can it be otherwise as long as folks need food, shelter and housing in order to live, and those who have abundance propose to keep what they have and get all they can with little regard for the needs of others and less disposition to relieve those needs and still less skill than disposition to effect relief? The first care and greatest effort are for self preservation. Get ahead in the world is the cry and aim, honestly if you can, but at any rate get ahead. This is the policy of the world, and its motto is, "Money is man's best friend."

The church of Christ stands for the opposite of all this. We all need food, shelter, housing, to be sure; every one needs these things. The needs of all can be supplied. But no scheme of social equalization, communistic sharing, nihilistic distribution or philanthropic relief is broad and deep enough to reach the necessities of the case. If each one seeks principally and foremost to relieve his own wants, the result is selfish strife in which each is for himself and the whole against every one.

A more imperative need of our nature is righteousness and God fellowship and human companionship. A hungry heart is more insistent than a hungry stomach. Warmth of soul in love is more to be prized than garments of fur in arctic cold. Consciousness of safety under divine care is better than housing in palace walls.

Faith in God, love to man, hope in doing good, are better springs of activity than bodily needs and naturalistic impulses. Righteousness in soul and deed, in thought and intention, brings deeper and more abiding satisfaction than any accumulation of material wealth can yield.

This is true of men in association as well as individually.

As truly as the kingdom of nature is open for men to draw supplies for food, shelter and clothing so truly is the kingdom of God open for men to draw supplies and gifts of grace and love. God rules in both realms and knows all our needs. The highest and most pressing, the first in order of importance, are the soul cravings.

The resources of divine omnipotence are open to the church. "All things are yours!" "Ask and ye shall receive, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

The facilities for obtaining the highest and best lie in deepest earnestness of spirit, the realization that feeding with the unseen life must be had and then in real prayerful communion with Christ obtain true participation in the divine plans, purposes and power. Prayer is the means of highest spiritual attainment.

The opportunities are limitless. Because the world is selfish and fleshly the Christian can show unselfish love and interest in the welfare of all around him. Where others seek only the loaves and fishes of the natural, his diligence in business will not be less than theirs, but his fervor of spirit and service of God and man will contrast markedly and favorably.

Dig Your Well Deeper.

A dry time has always been improved more or less to dig wells deeper. There is no better time to do this than in the time of drought. We know of many old wells that have been made better than new by being dug deeper in the time of drought. When the next time of drought comes, they can be relied on as never before. It is a very dry time just now in the religious world and it is a good time for us all to dig our wells deeper. Do not be satisfied, no matter what your experience has been, but dig deeper. The love of many is waxing cold. There never, perhaps, was a time when it required more alertness to keep from spiritual drowsiness and famine than now, and there is no better way to keep awake and refreshed with that living water that Jesus promised than to dig your well deeper, and then "with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation." Let us all resolve to go deeper! The drier it gets around you the deeper you need to dig.—Christian Witness.

Seeing and Doing For Today.

The best way to do anything is to do it. Many a good piece of work has been drowned in talk and many a great undertaking has been stranded on the shoals of discussion. An ounce of doing carries more conviction that a hundredweight of talk about what might be done. In other words, deeds are better than theories. And yet the prophet who sees what ought to be done is no less important than the valiant worker who comes and does what the prophet has announced.—American Friend.

The Future of the Church.

To our young people belongs the future of our church. Let them, then, well consider what they are doing for it and what they are doing to fit themselves for the burden which must ere long rest upon their shoulders.—Episcopal Recorder.

Do We Wash Too Much?

For many years medical men and others have recognized the dangers accruing from a restricted use of soap and water. There is a generally accepted belief that people cannot wash too often. Physicians are now prepared to say that this is a mistaken idea. It has been pointed out that the skin is not well adapted to frequent applications of water, accompanied by even the least irritating of soaps. A tendency arises to maceration of the superficial part of the epidermis, which is too frequently removed. There is no doubt, according to the Lancet, that many cases of roughness of the skin of the face comes from too much washing. It is a good thing to rub the face with a soft, clean towel two or three times a day. If, in addition, water is used in the morning and at night, the skin will be kept in a sounder, smoother and healthier state than if, as is often the case, soaps and water are used three or four times a day.—Chicago American.

Australian English.

One of the gold field papers in western Australia has been bewailing the uncultured "accent" adopted by "educated" children in the "Westralian" state schools. In proof of this such examples are given as "ee-yuh" for "here," "partickler" for "particular," "bin" for "been" and "seen" for "saw." It is pointed out, however, that in other parts of the Australian continent a more objectionable form of language, the use of slang, predominates. A head is a "top-piece" or a "napper," eyes "lamps" or "ogles," an ear is a "lug" or a "paddlebox," a mouth is a "kisser" or "mush," a face is a "dial" or a "phiz," and legs are "dutchies (an abbreviation of "Dutch pegs"). Perhaps, after all, our own board school products are not altogether guiltless of dropping their hs, of forgetting their grammar and of occasionally using slang terms.—London Chronicle.

Kindly Ways of a King.

In Denmark many odd little stories are told of King Christian and his kindly ways, above all of the friendly interest he takes in the doings of his subjects. Until within quite recent days, when his strength has begun to fail him, he used to spend much of his time in Copenhagen walking about the streets; and nothing pleased him better than to stop and have a chat with any workman he chanced to encounter. Whenever any Dane makes his mark in the world, no matter what his station in life may be or what his views, the king always sends for him, at the first opportunity, that he may know what he is like and have a talk with him. Little wonder that he understands his people or that they understand him!—Chicago Record-Herald.

Must Serve the Food.

We have an old statute in Arizona making it a misdemeanor for a hotel or restaurant keeper to set out viands on his bill of fare that he is not actually able to serve, and it might well be adopted here. It was enacted many years ago, when prospectors and others, returning to the towns after months of privation, were deluded and enraged by elaborate bills of fare, to find afterward that the only articles they could really get to eat were bacon and beans, as usual. So many shootings resulted that this law was enacted, and for a time was strictly enforced. The necessity for its enforcement has long since passed but it has never, so far as I know, been repealed.—Philadelphia Times.

SEPARATE WASH WAISTS.

They Are Soft In Effect and Button Down the Back.

The majority of the blouse waists button down the back. Like the dresses, the waists are soft and boast of no stiff or starched effect.

Waists of grass linen all laid in fine perpendicular tucks and trimmed with wide applique of linen colored lace are considered smart. White china silk blouses are trimmed with valenciennes in a plaided pattern. White organdies and mulls are trimmed with heavy Irish lace.

BLOUSE OF SPOTTED NET AND LACE.

The gingham shirt waist seems to be a thing of the past, even for athletics. The all white shirt waist prevails. This is probably because it launders so much more satisfactorily.

White pique suits are giving way to white cotton etamine and the glace linen ones.

Long dust coats of pongee are serviceable to cover muslin gowns when on the street or in a public conveyance. They are usually made with strapped seams and wide lace collars.

The cool, attractive waist in the illustration shows one of the latest designs. The yoke is transparent and has no collar. Across the bust and the upper parts of the sleeves there is a deep band composed of three shirrings and cordings. Below this the waist is made very full. The sleeves have full transparent puffs gathered into a deep fitted undersleeve of lace.

A useful gown is one which is half evening and half afternoon style. This high necked gown has elbow sleeves and dainty little touches of chiffon or embroidery. Such a gown can be worn to restaurants or the theater. Crepe de chine and wool veiling make especially good gowns of this sort.

Just now there is a perfect craze for all the linen and pongee shades. This is to the almost complete exclusion of gray. The woman who thinks she cannot wear the trying ecru shades should try combining them with just the right shade of cherry red. Touches of this in the shape of embroidery or a band around the top of the collar even will make the trying shade of ecru becoming.

Colored shirt waists are almost entirely out of style. White, black and ecru are the only colors now worn in cotton blouses by women who understand the art of dressing well.

This pretty gown is made of white veiling and is trimmed with yellow lace. The waist is bloused and laid in clusters of three tucks, between which the applications of lace are placed. The sleeves have big puffs set into a cuff of lace. The skirt is tucked in clusters of three and finished with three folds around the bottom.

The hat which goes with this is of white straw trimmed with cherries and their leaves. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE STURGIS WAGER

A DETECTIVE STORY.

By EDGAR MORETTE.

Copyright, 1899, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

"If you will excuse me for a few minutes, Agnes, I shall see what these men want. Wait for me here, if you will. I shall be back directly."

So saying, he noiselessly opened the folding doors and passed into the library, closing the doors carefully behind him.

Freed from the presence of her father, Agnes almost instantly regained her composure. She had not, however, had much time to collect her thoughts; when she was suddenly startled by a loud, shrill whistle, which brought her to her feet in alarm.

"Well?"

She asked the question in anxious tones, as if realizing that life and death were in the balance. Then she placed her ear to the mouthpiece.

At first she could not make out the words spoken by her invisible interlocutor. Then, gradually, they fell upon her ear with terrible distinctness; and she stood spellbound, as in a horrible nightmare, with sudden terror in her staring eyes, and with the fearful sense of impotence in her trembling limbs.

CHAPTER XXIII.

THE SPEAKING TUBE.

Nature has implanted in every one of its living creatures, from the top to the bottom of the scale, the strongest of all instincts — that of self-preservation. As Sturgis fell forward and clutched wildly at the air, his hand struck the stone wall of the square chamber. No conscious impression was made upon his brain by the contact; but, automatically, his fingers tightened as they slipped over the smooth surface. His right hand struck an obstacle and closed upon it, in the convulsive grip of a dying man. Then a sudden gleam of consciousness swept across his sluggish brain.

It was the speaking-tube!

He clung to it with the remnant of his strength and eagerly placed his lips to the mouthpiece. For a few minutes he drank in with avidity the revivifying draughts of air which gradually brought him back from the brink of death.

With returning consciousness, the thought of his dying friend recurred to him in all its vividness. He tried to go to his assistance; but he was sick and faint, and his limbs were powerless to respond to his will. Then, at last, he was seized with utter despair and gave up the struggle.

He had sunk dejectedly upon the chair when a faint and indistinct murmur, as of distant voices, beat upon his ears, whose natural acuity seemed extraordinarily increased by the long nervous tension under which he had been. The ruling passion is strong in death; without knowing just why he did so, Sturgis found himself again at the speaking-tube, endeavoring to hear the conversation, the sound of which evidently came from Murdock's office.

He could barely distinguish a word here and there; but he recognized the timber of one of the voices. It was the chemist's, and his interlocutor was a woman—perhaps his daughter. If only he could reach Agnes Murdock with some word or signal.

In suspense, he held his ear to the mouthpiece, occasionally taking a breath of fresh air to renew his strength.

Should he take the chances and shout in the hope of catching the young girl's attention? If he whistled, Murdock would answer himself, and the last chance would be lost. But would she hear a shout? And, if she did, would not her father prevent her from rendering any assistance? Yet what other chance was there? Poor Sprague was dying; perhaps already dead. There was no time to lose.

He stood for awhile irresolute, and had just made up his mind to risk all on a bold move, when suddenly Murdock's voice became more distinct, as if he were passing near the mouth-piece of the speaking-tube at the other end.

"I shall be back directly."

He was going then. Agnes, if it were she, would remain alone for at least an instant; and in that instant lay possible salvation.

The reporter strained every nerve to catch some other word. None came. But presently he heard a door close. Murdock had left the room. Now or never was the chance to act. With all his might he blew repeatedly into the tube.

"Well?"

The question came in the sweet tones of a woman's voice.

"Mr. Sprague is in great danger. You alone can save his life, if you do at once as I say. Go to the door of the extension; press upward on the lower hinge; then turn the knob! Quick, before your father returns!"

Sturgis evoked the image of Murdock performing these operations before opening the door of the extension; and, with retrospective intuition, divined their purpose.

There was no answer. Sturgis waited for none. In a bound he was at his friend's side and was struggling to drag him toward the foot of the stairs. As he reached this point, the door opened and revealed Agnes Murdock, pale and frightened, on the landing at the top.

The first rush of gas caused her to start back; but in another instant she had caught sight of her lover's inanimate form and had rushed to his assistance.

Suddenly a shadow fell across the threshold of the open door. Sturgis looked up in quick apprehension.

It was Murdock.

He stood critically observing the scene, with all outward appearance of calmness.

Agnes had not seen him. She was making desperate efforts to raise Sprague's limp form; but felt herself succumbing to the effects of the gas.

"My darling! my poor darling!" she exclaimed and suddenly she staggered and lurched forward.

Sturgis made an instinctive effort to support her; but before he could reach her Murdock was at her side and had her in his arms. He bore her gently up the stairs and into his study. Then, for an instant, he seemed to hesitate. The reporter expected to see him close the door. Instinctively his hand reached back to his hip pocket for his revolver. But, in another moment, Murdock had returned to where he stood.

"Come!" he said.

At the same time he lifted the artist in his arms and carried him up the stairs. Sturgis followed unsteadily and reached the study, only to fall exhausted into a chair.

Having deposited his burden upon the floor, Murdock closed the door of the death chamber; turned a valve which was near his desk; opened the windows wide, and revolved a crank which projected from the wall near the door of the extension.

"He is shutting off the gas and opening the steel shutters of the sky-light," thought Sturgis.

Then the chemist produced a flask and poured out a small quantity of brandy, which he forced his daughter to swallow.

As soon as she was sufficiently revived, she rushed to the side of her lover, whose head she gently raised to her lap. Murdock's eyes were fastened upon her. She met his calm questioning gaze.

"Yes, I love him," she said, simply.

Then this strange man, without another word, gently pushed his daughter to one side and, throwing off his coat, stooped over the prostrate form of the man whose life he had tried to take, and industriously worked over him, in an attempt to restore the failing respiration.

Slowly and steadily he worked for what seemed an eternity to the anxious girl. At length he rose, calm and collected as usual, and drew on his coat again.

"He is out of danger now," he said; "you can do the rest yourself."

And he handed his daughter the brandy flask.

A faint tinge of color had returned to the artist's face; his breast heaved gently in an irregular respiration.

Sturgis, still unable to stir from the chair in which he had fallen, was vaguely conscious of Murdock's movements. He saw the chemist open the safe which stood near his table and take from it numerous bundles of banknotes, which he carefully packed into a valise; he saw him take from the same safe a few richly bound notebooks, which he proceeded to do up in a neat bundle, securely tied and sealed.

This done, the chemist put on his hat and coat, and was preparing to pass out into the hallway, when a knock sounded upon the door.

Murdock opened slightly—enough to show himself, without revealing the presence of the other occupants of the room.

It was one of the housemaids.

"Plaze, sur," said the girl, in a frightened voice, "the polacemun says he can't wait no longer; he must see yer right away."

"Are they in the parlor?"

"Only the polacemun, sur; the other man said he would wait outside."

Murdock took a minute for reflection.

"Wait in the hall until I call you," he said, at last. "If the policeman becomes impatient, tell him I shall not be long; that I am engaged on most important business."

No sooner had the girl gone than Murdock, seizing the valise and the package, opened the door of the extension. His eyes rested for awhile upon his daughter, who, still absorbed in the tender care of her inanimate lover, was oblivious of all else. There was in them an unusual expression—almost a tender light; but the impassive face was otherwise emotionless.

The chemist seemed to hesitate for a brief instant whether to speak; then, passing out into the extension, he softly closed the door behind him.

Sturgis alone, weak and powerless, had seen him go.

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Plainfield Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching.
Daily existence is but a struggle.
No need to keep it up.
Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.
Plainfield people endorse this claim.

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of R. H McCullough's Sash and Door Manufacturing Company, says: "I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would soon pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment, by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

SMALL IOWA HEROINE.

Waves Her Little Red Jacket as a Signal and Stops a Train at a Critical Moment.

A Chicago American correspondent, writing from Greenville, Ia., says that a little blue-eyed heroine of eight summers in the person of little Clara Schlosser is receiving homage from scores of thankful travelers and the members of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul crew of passenger train No. 4. By her presence of mind and bravery she averted a wreck, the results of which are not pleasant to contemplate.

The track leading through this city makes a sharp turn near the Schlosser home and the little girl knows as well as the trainmen when the train is due. A large drayhorse, in crossing the track, became fastened in the culvert, and the little girl knew she could not summon help before the train arrived, going at full speed. Hardly had the thought crossed her mind before the whistle of the locomotive foretold that she must act quickly.

In an instant she had the little red jacket which she wore in her hands and standing in the center of the track, oblivious of the awful danger to which she was subject, began to wave with all the strength her little body could command. Within a few yards of her Engineer Meyers brought his locomotive to a dead stop and the passengers and trainmen began to come from the train only to find their little guardian angel gone. Determined to locate the savior of his passengers Engineer Meyers informed the police of the incident and, they searched all day before she was located.

"I was afraid Mr. Conductor would scold me," she said, when questioned as to why she ran away.

"Why did you wave the red jacket?" she was asked.

"I have seen the man at the crossing wave the red flag and stop the train and I was afraid the poor horse would be run over."

"Didn't you think the train might be wrecked and the people killed?"

"No, I didn't think of the people until it was all over," she said, timidly.

"Were you not frightened?"

"No, I was thinking of the poor horse and did not think of being afraid."

The little heroine is the daughter of Fred Schlosser, a saloonkeeper.

When the trains pass her home now the trainmen watch for her and tip their caps.

DOG AT THE 'PHONE.

Professional Nurse in New York Exchanges Greetings with Absent Pet Over the Wire.

Trusty is a dog. His mistress is a professional nurse and lives with her mother. They have a telephone.

When the nurse is detained by her business away from home over night

TRUSTY WAS OVERJOYED.

she 'phones to her mother to relieve the latter's anxiety. The other night after talking with her mother over the wire she asked about Trusty.

The dog, says the New York Sun, was by the side of the mother. The mother 'phoned that fact to her daughter who 'phoned back to have the receiver placed at Trusty's ear.

This was done and the mistress of the dog talked to him. That he recognized her voice was evident, for he barked and appeared overjoyed.

After the receiver was hung up Trusty jumped toward it and acted as if he wanted it taken down. During the night he lay near the telephone and frequently looked up at the receiver and whined.

In the morning he sat before it and howled until his mistress was called up. She commanded him to keep quiet, and not until then did he go away.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Pitcher Booth will again appear in the box for the Safe Works people, Saturday. With the proper support in the field, he will give the Hopes about the hardest tussle they have been up against.

Frank Emmons and George Bailey were elected members of the Orange Field Club last evening. The team has an open date for Saturday and would like to arrange a game of baseball with a team whose members average sixteen years.

The Park A. C. baseball team will the Dunellen Juniors today and tomorrow afternoon they meet a team from Scotch Plains. This team has had a winning streak right along and is rapidly becoming the champion juvenile organization in this vicinity.

The team work put up by the St. Mary's, Saturday, was the best they have shown in several years. Every man seemed to be in the right place at the right time and many a good play by the Hopes that would have yielded a run was quickly nipped. The St. Mary followers have reason to be proud of the team.

Captain Hacquer, of the Newspaper Men's team, expects to line up against the local municipal police team, otherwise known as "Kiely's Colts," tomorrow afternoon. The scribes have been doing some practice work on their own account and have already notched their pencils to record the first victory in the series of games which they expect to play this summer.

Followers of the National League are not at all surprised to see the New Yorks slide down the second division and tie for last place with St. Louis. Poor management has been evident all along and the recent change came too late to be of any use in checking the series of defeats. Plainfielders have always backed the Giants, probably because they are the nearest to home, but their sympathies are rapidly being transferred to other points of the compass.

GOLF.

Last Saturday there was started on the course of the Westfield Golf Club weekly play for a handicap cup to be continued throughout the season. This event promises to be very interesting.

At Commencement.

Mrs. S. R. Struthers, of West Front street, has been attending the commencement and class day exercises at the New York City Normal College, where her niece, Miss Helen Tompkins, was one of the graduates. In the class day exercises, Miss Tompkins acted as class prophet.

Funeral of Mrs. Conley.

Funeral services over the late Mrs. Sarah A. Conley, were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James E. Brown, of Stone street, at 8 o'clock last evening. This morning the remains were taken to Freehold, N. J., for interment.

THEATRICAL.

"All the best, always" may sound a bit vainglorious to you, but it will not if you are a patron of Keith's Theatre. Starting with this as his motto B. F. Keith, the originator of continuous vaudeville, has succeeded in keeping the lead over all his competitors. First assuring the comfort of his patrons by the exercise of the greatest care in every particular, his next endeavor has been to always present a programme which is not only superior to that offered at any other vaudeville theatre, but a programme in which every act is clean, and from the dialogue of which every suspicion of vulgarity has been removed. A wide variety of tastes will find satisfaction in the bill offered for the coming week, on which the headliners are Clayton White-Marie Stuart and Co., who will present their sketch "Dickey," perhaps the best known and most popular of their many successes. The Three Marvelles, the celebrated grotesque acrobats and dancers; and James Richmond Glenroy, far-famed as "The Man With the Green Gloves," are worthy of more than passing notice even upon this bill. Alex. Heindl, 'cello soloist; and the Empire City Four, will delight those who are fond of really good music. Hayes and Wynne, in their artistic dancing specialties; Mitchell and Cain, eccentric comedians, with fourteen other great acts, including many European novelties, help Mr. Keith to make good his boast of "All the best, always."

LITERARY.

Thr July Century is to be the "Summer Fiction Number" of that magazine, and the chief point of interest is likely to be a posthumous story by Paul Leicester Ford. Its title is "Wanted: A Chaperon," and it relates the adventures of a young woman from the country, visiting in New York, who, accidentally, is left at the doorstep of the wrong house on a stormy winter night. The story is said to possess the attractiveness of Mr. Ford's lightest touch, and the pictures by Mr. Gilbert to show a winsome and ingenuous heroine. Other contributions of fiction to this number will be "Ting-a-Ling, the story of a car-horse by David Gray; "The Passing of Cock-Eye Blacklock," a story of the frontier west by Frank Norris; "A Dilemma" by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, one of his "Little Stories" with a problem in it; a piece of rollicking humor by Harry Stillwell Edwards, entitled "The Little Unpleasantness at New Hope," and other stories, besides the fourth part of Mary Adams' "Confessions of a Wife," in which the interest deepens with the estrangement of husband and wife.

Lawyer Brought Suit.

In the District Court, Elizabeth, this morning, before Judge Atwater, Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield, through his counsel, W. S. Angleman, brought suit against Dr. J. T. Fritts, for $50 fees. Frank Bergen represented the defendant. Decision was reserved.

Gathered in by Police.

David Rosenbaum was corralled by the police yesterday, for peddling without a license. He paid a $2 fine in the city court, this morning.

George B. Hooley, of the Bordentown Military Institute, has returned to his home on Central avenue, for the summer.

Charles W. Eoff and family, of Crescent avenue, leave today for Lake Raponda, Vt., where they remain until September.

BOUGHT NEAL PROPERTY.

L. E. Hart Will Erect a Modern Dwelling on It Soon.

Lemuel E. Hart, of West Front street, has purchased of Daniel Manning the latter's property on that street, better known as the Neal property. There now stands on this site one of the oldest houses in the city. It is a one story frame building and its condition is very poor. Mr. Hart has engaged Mr. Stewart, of West Front street, to tear the house down and take it away, after which he will erect a modern dwelling on the land.

STRICKEN IN BED.

Mrs. Johanna H. Miller Died Suddenly at New Providence Home.

Mrs. Johanna H. Miller, of New Providence township, was found dead in bed early yesterday morning, by her son, Walter Miller. She had died during the night from paralysis of the heart. She was sixty years old. Funeral servicse will be held from her late residence tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in charge of Rev. Dr. Parks, of Scotch Plains. Interment will be made in the Scotch Plains cemetery.

QUIETLY WEDDED.

Miss Alice O. Smith Became the Wife of Morgan P. Agar.

The many friends of Miss Alice O. Smith, music teacher and former resident of Plainfield, will be gratified to learn of her marriage yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Schenck at his home. The groom is Morgan Parker Agar, a prominent business man of Trenton. Mrs. Agar's pupils and a host of friends besides will extend their congratulations.

To Lake on Private Car.

Miss Lizzie Smalley, sister of Mayor Smalley, of the borough, was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. W. G. Besler, on the private car "Atlas" at Lake Hopatcong last Sunday. On the invitation of Manager Besler a party consisting of Mrs. Besler, Miss Smalley, Miss Helen Besler, and C. W. Huntington, general superintendent of the Jersey Central, left Plainfield Saturday noon on the "Atlas" proceeding direct to the lake where they remained till Monday morning.

The Borough Council of North Plainfield recently held a meeting and adopted three resolutions—one calling for a special election on September 16 for the purpose of annexing North Plainfield to Union county; the second to appoint a committee to confer with the city of Plainfield regarding terms of consolidation; the third that no date for an election on consolidation be fixed until after the special committee should report. It seems manifest that annexation has a stronger hold on the council than has consolidation.—Elizabeth Journal.

Leads Them All.

"One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says D. Scott Currin, of Loganton, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. L. W. Sleep, darling sleep, cold rain shall steep
Thy little turf-made dwelling;
Thou wilt not know so far below,
And birds shall sing in the warm spring,
And flowers bloom about thee.
Thou wilt not heed them, love,
But Oh, the loneliness without thee. J. B. S.

TWENTY-SEVEN GRADUATED FROM CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Commencement Exercises Were Held in First Baptist Church Last Evening Before a Large Crowd.

DISTRIBUTION OF THE AWARDS.

ADDRESS OF THE EVENING WAS MADE BY REV. DR. JESSE L. HURLBUT, FORMERLY A RESIDENT OF THIS CITY.

Address of Welcome Was Made by Miss Margaret B. Abbott—Oration on "The Probation Officer in New Jersey" by Harold A. Nomer—Erwin B. Leland Gave the Valedictory—The Prize Winners—Dr. Hurlbut Talked on "The Importance of Education."

With bright faces and sparkling eyes, animated by the expectancy that accompanies the beginning of a new epoch, the members of the class of 1902 bade farewell to their years of study on the occasion of the thirty-second annual commencement of the Plainfield High School, held in the First Baptist church, last evening. Twenty-seven young men and women had completed the courses adopted by them four years ago and stood forth equipped and ready to begin the struggle which leads to ultimate success or ignominy.

At 7:45 o'clock, the hour designed for commencement, every seat in the large edifice was occupied by parents and friends of the young graduates. Preceded by Principal Travell and Superintendent of Schools Maxson, the members of the class appeared upon the spacious platform and took their seats arranged in a large semi-circle, having as a background, banks of potted plants the broad green leaves of which stood out in striking contrast to the white gowns of the young women and more somber raiment of the young men. With the courses completed the graduates were as follows:

Classical course, Alma Frances Dyer, Lulu Harriet Fuller, Edna Moore, Kenneth Bulkley, Hollis Brown Cubberley, Clarence Bixby LaRue; Latin-scientific course, Margaret Beekman Abbott, Alice Mary Brick, Mabel Jenkins, Evelyn Grace Lock, Bertha Mitchell, Elizabeth Kirkpatrick Vanderveer, Russel Bailey, Linden Wentzel Bridgeman; Latin-modern language, Grace Jeffers Burke, Elizabeth Goddard, Mildred Anna Ulrich, Marguerite Ewing Vandeventer, Erwin Briant Leland, Harold Adin Nomer; general course, Daisy May Brouard, G. LeRoy Hallock; commercial course, Cora Abbie Harris, Charlotte Agnes Johnson, Emmeline Esmeralda Larew, Louise Margaret Peterson and Arthur Lewis Denton.

Following an overture by Frank's New York orchestra stationed in the gallery, an invocation by Rev. Dr. William R. Richards opened the exercises. Another orchestral selection followed and Dr. J. B. Probasco, who was master of ceremonies, announced the opening address, delivered by Miss Margaret Beekman Abbott in a clear, firm voice. "The Probation Officer in New Jersey" was the oration subject selected by Harold Adin Nomer and he presented his views on this absorbing topic with a sincerity that greatly impressed his hearers. Possessed of a naturally well modulated voice every word was forcefully spoken in a tone free from all restraint. The oration was as follows:

Crime has existed in all ages and will continue to exist until the end of time. In order to protect society man has promulgated several different methods of punishing the offender. The traditional custom is to define by law the several acts constituting crime and to attach to each a penalty with some reference to the supposed guilt which it reveals. The crude and terrible penal code of our ancestors prescribed death for every felonious act; but of minor offenders some forfeited their lands or goods, others were banished, or suffered some bodily mutilation, being sent to the pillory or the whipping post. Prisons were at first regarded almost exclusively as places for securely detaining the accused until trial, and the convict until punishment. But as men grew more humane the infliction of death and of all forms of torture became distasteful and rare; and imprisonment for specified terms was gradually substituted. This change, the result of sentiment and convenience, and not at all of any rational conviction that confinement attains better results is now almost complete and universal. Our penal codes assign imprisonment as a penalty almost for every act they forbid.

This system has often been exposed as absurd in principle and as grossly wrong and injurious in practice. It is founded on the false notion that the State ought to apportion a fixed retribution for each offense. Nor does it effectively promote the sole end of criminal law; the protection of society. There are but two conceivable ways of protecting the community against its enemy, the criminal; to disarm him or to reconcile him. But imprisonment does neither. It restrains him until his term ends, as if one should cage a man-eating tiger for a month or a year, and then turn him loose. There is nothing in such a method which tends to reconcile him to his fellows, and in most cases he is discharged more the enemy of mankind than before. Therefore prisons are worse than useless used as a means of punishment.

The whole criminal class may be divided into two divisions, habitual criminals and criminals of occasion. We believe that for the former, the only remedy is the indeterminate sentence which makes the length of a man's confinement depend upon his attitude and deportment during his imprisonment thus putting into his own hand, as it were, the key to his prison. But this is an entirely different question from the one before us. It is with the second class that we have to deal, criminals of occasion, those who commit crime only once in a while and graduate into the other and worse class only by long continued training in the former. The prison is the school which graduates them. No better way was ever conceived by which to save these unfortunates than the probation system started in Massachusetts, a few years ago. According to this method the judge holds out to the culprit awaiting his first sentence, this hope: "Young man you will not be imprisoned; you will not be sent to the penitentiary; the court places you under the charge of the probation officer. He will be to you a friend and counsellor. Keep away from your evil associations and attend to your duties and you can be a man. So long as you support your family and behave yourself you will not be regarded as a criminal and the court will protect you. If you do not follow out these instructions a cell in the jail awaits you." The work of the probation officer is to investigate all these cases and keep in touch with those committed to his care. He is required by the court to keep a careful record of each probationer. But this is all on the surface. Let us consider in detail how a probation officer undertakes a case. In the first place, he attends every session of the court. When the judge turns over to him a subject for probation, he investigates the previous life of the offender very thoroughly. He studies his character and the character of his parents; he looks through his home. After that

JOHN O'KEEFE DEAD.

Former Plainfielder Died at Newark From Small-Pox.

Word has been received in this city of the death from smallpox of John O'Keefe, of Newark, a former well-known Plainfielder. He was employed for several years by the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company, and from giving instructions to beginners became an expert bicycle rider. He afterward toured the country for some time and became a familiar figure in the vaudeville world. When in Plainfield he resided with his parents on Richmond street.

HOW DOLLAR WAS EARNED

THE EXPERIENCES WERE RELATED AT "DOLLAR SOCIAL" LAST EVENING.

Method Taken of Raising Funds by Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed Church.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church held a "dollar social" in the parlors of the church yesterday afternoon, when a goodly number of the members were present. The first part of the programme was devoted to playing the popular game, ping-pong, which all enjoyed exceedingly.

Afterward each member present handed in a dollar and told how the sum was made. This was amusing in many cases. Some earned the money making cakes, and bread, while others made it pressing trousers, making skirts and in many other ways. There was realized $20, and not half of the membership responded. Many were away and they will be heard from later. This money will be used toward the mission work carried on by the Band.

The latter part of the afternoon was devoted to a social time during which refreshments consisting of stuffed dates and fudge were served. The whole affair was a pleasant and profitable one.

ARRANGED AFFAIRS.

Committees for the Hope Chapel Independence Day Fair Looked Over the Grounds Yesterday.

The executive and sub-committees of the Hope Y. M. A. Independence Day celebration met on Hope Common, last evening, and selected site for the various attractions. All the fakir's booths, refreshment stands and tent for the side show will be arranged on the west side of the baseball diamond, while Company K will have its sham battle on the east side in the large open. Stands will be erected on the edge of the wood near the grounds for picnic parties. A meeting was afterward held at the chapel several business matters were transacted.

RESCUE MISSION'S FESTIVAL.

The Affair Proved to be a Success in Every Particular.

Under the auspices of the Rescue Mission, a lawn fete and festival was given on the grounds at the First Church of Christ last evening. An entertaining programme was carried out, consisting of violin selections by John Kennry, and numbers on the phonograph, manipulated by G. H. Kenyon. Cake, ice cream and soda water were served to the guests. The grounds were very prettily illuminated, Chinese lanterns hanging about in profusion.

The committee in charge of the affair were John Goodwin, chairman; Miss Ida Bauer, Mrs. John Manley, the Misses Jennie and Alice DeMott, and Henry DeMott. The fete was a success in every particular.

GIFT FOR MASONS.

Brother of Col. Scott Replaced Picture Destroyed by the Fire.

At the communication of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., Tuesday evening, H. P. Scott, brother of the late Col. Julian Scott, presented to the lodge a study picture of Past Grand Master Cannon, of Elizabeth, who was the first grand master from Jerusalem Lodge. When Col. Scott was living he presented the lodge with a handsome painting of Mr. Cannon, but this was destroyed by the fire at the Babcock building. H. P. Scott, who is a free mason, attended the meeting of the lodge Tuesday evening and made the presentation himself. Those who have seen the picture claim that it is even more valuable than the one destroyed.

Reception to Graduates.

After the closing exercises of the North Plainfield High School this evening in Y. M. C. A. Hall a reception will be tendered to the graduates at the Park Club by the Alumni Association.

HONEYMOON WILL BE A FISHING EXPEDITION

That Will Follow Marriage of Miss Marguerite Schuck and Charles S. Maltby.

WEDDED LAST NIGHT.

PRETTY CEREMONY PERFORMED AT THE HOME OF THE BRIDE.

Both Are Enthusiastic Followers of Izaak Walton, and They Will Spend Their Honeymoon After Finny Tribe—The Details.

The marriage of Miss Marguerite M. Schuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schuck, of 19 Vine street, North Plainfield, to Charles Schuyler Maltby, of Plainfield, was a very pretty but quiet affair last evening. Owing to the recent death of the groom's mother the invitations were limited to the relatives and very near friends, there being thirty guests present. The wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents at 5 o'clock, Rev. George W. Gardner, formerly pastor of Grace M. E. church, but now of Jersey City, officiating.

The home was lavishly decorated with flowers and in the bow window in the dining room, where the ceremony was performed, there was a profusion of bridal daisies, rambler roses and pinks. There were festooned overhead and about the window, while through the entire house there were countless pinks.

The bride and groom were attended by the former's niece, Miss Margaret Louise Darby, as flower girl, and just as the party entered the reception room, the bridal march from Lohengrin was sung by Mrs. G. W. Gardner, Miss Grace Carroll and Miss Alice Carroll. The officiating clergyman stood beneath the bower of flowers waiting to receive the bride and groom. The bride wore a travelling gown of a French blue cloth skirt, and a white silk waist trimmed with chiffon. She also wore an imported white maline hat and carried white sweet peas. The flower girl was gowned in Persian lawn with lace trimmings, and she carried a basket of flowers and the ring with which the couple were wedded.

Following the ceremony congratulations were showered upon the bride and groom for a successful and happy journey through life. A wedding supper was then served and at 8 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Maltby left Plainfield to enjoy a fishing trip in Jersey waters. Upon their return they will reside at the groom's home on Plainfield avenue. When they departed on their honeymoon they were deluged with rice and flowers, making the event a joyous one for all. There were many handsome and useful presents received by the bride, including three checks for substantial amounts. She also received considerable cut glassware.

ALUMNI RECEPTION.

Given to Graduates of City High School at the Casino by Classes of 1900 and 1901.

At the close of the City High School commencement exercises, last evening, the members of the graduating class and their friends to the number of 250 assembled at the Casino where a reception was tendered them by the members of the classes of 1900 and 1901. It was one of the most successful alumni receptions ever given here.

Dancing began at 10:30 o'clock and contiuned until 2 o'clock with a short interval for refreshments. Excellent music was furnished by Frank's N. Y. orchestra. The floor was not uncomfortably crowded and a delightful evening was spent. The patronesses for the occasion were Miss Anna H. Prescott, Miss Cumming, Miss Grace E. Borroughs and Miss Katheryn Ball.

Light blue and white, the colors of the class of 1902 predominated in the decorations which consisted largely of bunting. The work of arranging and decoration was done by committees from the classes of 1900 and 1901. Miss Marion D. Woodcock is president of the class of 1900 and W. Holloway Titus of 1901.

Second Dinner Dance.

The second of the series of dinner dances will be given at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Clubhouse on the evening of July 4. The house committee, of which Councilman George P. Mellick is the chairman, is making every preparation for an enjoyable time.

STRUCK BY A CROWBAR.

Michael Quinn Injured While Working About His Stable Last Night.

Michael Quinn, of Avon Park, sustained a severe and painful injury last evening while standing on a step-ladder prying off a board in his stable with a crowbar. The bar slipped and Mr. Quinn received a stunning blow across the eye, cutting it quite badly. The blood flowed profusely and it was with difficulty that the flow was checked. At first Mr. Quinn thought his injuries were more serious, but with good treatment he will soon recover from them.

MISS WIKOFF WAS WEDDED

PRETTY JUNE WEDDING AT BRIDE'S HOME ON RICHMOND STREET.

Groom Was Walter E. Reinhart, of Cranford—They Will Reside at Cranford.

A very pretty June wedding took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Wikoff, of Richmond street, when their daughter, Miss Olive Irene Wikoff, became the wife of Walter E. Reinhart, of Cranford. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, the bride's pastor, assisted by Rev. Elmer Fulper, pastor of a Lutheran church in Jersey City and an intimate friend of the groom.

In honor of the event the parlor was beautifully decorated, pink and green being the prevailing colors. The bride was gowned in silk and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Laura A. Wikoff, who was clad in pink silk and, bore a bunch of pink roses. Henry W. Crane, of Cranford, waited on the groom.

Two nieces of the bride, Hazel Mae Runyon and Clara Mae Smock, acted as ribbon girls, forming an aisle from the entrance of the parlor to the arches where the ceremony was performed. Acting as page was little Ralph Runyon, a nephew of the bride, carrying the ring on a silver tray. Miss Emma Green rendered the wedding march.

Just after the ceremony and previous to their departure on a wedding tour the newly married couple held a reception. They were the recipients of many useful and costly presents, consisting of cut glass, silverware, furniture, pictures and other articles. The bride is a member of Trinity Reformed church where she has been very active in Sunday-school work, and will be greatly missed by her class of boys.

The guests numbered about fifty from Cranford, Newark, Jersey City, Junction, High Bridge, Long Branch, New York and Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Reinhart left by the 9:30 train for a short honeymoon trip, and on their return will take up their residence at Cranford, where the groom has bought and furnished a home.

COAL GOING FAST.

Great Storage Heaps at South Plainfield Are Reduced in Size—Lots of Soft Coal.

The piles of anthracite coal at the South Plainfield dumps of the Lehigh Valley are rapidly decreasing in size. Extra men have been placed at work loading car after car to be taken away and there is now but 70,000 tons of the hard coal left. At the same time, the piles of bituminous fuel, ordinarily a scarce article at the dumps, are daily augmented by large shipments which are being deposited. It is estimated the amount of this kind now at South Plainfield is about 60,000 tons.

Patrols have been placed about the dumps and strangers are put through a rigid examination as to their object in trespassing on the premises. This seems to confirm the report that emissaries of the miners are gathering figures to estimate the amount of anthracite coal still to be had.

A Handsome Colt.

Friday, June 13, one of the great bred ones made its appearance at M. Quinn's Avon Park stables. It is sired by J. W. Johnson's great young stallion, Woven Wind, by Sphinx, by Electioneer, dam by Stranger, by Gen. Washington, grand dam Goldsmith Maid. Hannah Lena, dam of this colt, is by Gen. Wilkes, by George Wilkes, dam by Onward, by George Wilkes, grand dam by Dr. Kerr, by Mambrino Patchen.

ANNUAL FESTIVAL AT HEAVENLY REST CHURCH

Much Success Met Efforts of Ladies' Guild in Arranging Its Annual Fair.

MANY PRETTY BOOTHS.

Y. M. C. A. ORCHESTRA RENDERED MUSIC AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

Booths Were Arranged About the Parish House of Church of the Heavenly Rest—Those Who Were in Charge—Officers of Guild.

Very successful was the fair and festival held yesterday afternoon and evening at the Church of the Heavenly Rest under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the church. The parish house was transformed into an attractive place with pretty decorations and many booths. The weather was ideal and many patrons gathered on the lawn, where a social time was held. The members of the guild worked very hard to make the event a pleasant one and they succeeded admirably.

On either side of the large room in the parish house were arranged booths. There was the booth for fancy articles in charge of Mrs. William Peck and Mrs. H. W. Fraleigh. Adjoining it was a grocery booth, where a good stock of groceries were on sale and quickly disposed of. Mrs. J. A. Babcock and Miss Alice Forster were in charge of this booth. Next was the cake table, where a large number of delicious home-made cakes soon found ready purchasers. Those in charge here were Mrs. Russell Hazard and Mrs. A. Brooks. Directly in front of the room was the candy table filled with toothsome sweets in charge of Miss Elizabeth Forster, Miss Nellie Miner and Miss Jennie Wenzel.

A booth devoted to a display of useful articles, such as plain and fancy aprons, sun bonnets, towels, etc., was in charge of Mrs. Charles Graves and Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips. In the centre of the room was an attractive lemonade well where Mrs. M. Elizabeth Bird, who was in charge, was kept busy selling the delicious and cooling beverage. A booth devoted to the sale of fancy paper articles and flowers was in charge of Mrs. Louis Morgan and Mrs. Bradley Hall. All of the booths and tables were prettily decorated with various colored bunting and flags, presenting a rainbow effect.

Mrs. B. K. Burk and Mrs. Van Orden composed the refreshment committee and the waitresses were the Misses Edna Phillips, Marguerite Phillips, Edith Squires, Helen Bird, Violet Hallock and Leola Smith.

As an additional attraction the Y. M. C. A. orchestra was present in the evening and an excellent programme of music was rendered to the enjoyment of all. The officers of the guild are as follows: President, Mrs. Charles Graves; vice president, Mrs. E. E. Brown; treasurer, Mrs. Harry W. Fraleigh; secretary, Mrs. B. K. Burk. The net profits of the fair will be devoted to the church work.

WORE NO COATS.

Shirtwaist Men Were in Power at Summer Hop at the I. C. T. Club Last Evening.

Coats were a decided scarcity at the farewell summer hop of the I. C. T. Club, last evening. The affair was designated a "shirtwaist" dance and the coatless man was in his element. The young women were attired in duck skirts completing the novelty of the occasion.

In itself the dance was a complete success, the attendance being very large. Excellent music was furnished by Suhr's Imperial orchestra. At midnight cooling refreshments were served. The committee in charge consisted of George L. Apgar, Hiram S. Humes, Charles Overbaugh, Clare Bickel and Clarence H. Bilyeu.

Outing to Mountains.

The Friends' First Day Sunday-school, Watchung avenue, will have an outing Saturday afternoon on the mountains near the end of the trolley line. The school will be taken to the scene of the outing in stages and will have lunch on the spot.

Rev. Mr. Shott Will Teach.

The teachers of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday-school will meet with Mrs. W. S. Lowery on Sherman avenue, tomorrow evening, when Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, will teach the lesson.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Herring, of Park avenue, have again taken up their residence in their cottage on the mountain for the summer.

GRADUATION AT THE 'PLAINS

Four Young Women Received Diplomas at Commencement of 'Plains Public School.

EXERCISES LAST NIGHT.

Miss Lillian Fancher, President of Graduating Class, Cast Horoscope of Class and Scotch Plains—Address by Rev. E. T. Tomlinson on "A Practical Education."

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 20—Commencement exercises of the Scotch Plains public school were held in the auditorium room of the Baptist church last night at 8 o'clock.

Long before the hour arrived nearly every seat was occupied and when the strains of Conde's orchestra began the evening programme, standing room only was available. At the rear of the platform was hung a large American flag while about the front were a number of flowers and potted plants. This was the only attempt at decoration at the church but the simplicity together with the smiling faces of the four young women graduates gave a very pretty effect to the scene on the platform. Seated with the class was the president of the Board of Education, Dr. F. W. Westcott, Principal Howard D. White, Rev. G. M. Shott and Rev. Everett T. Tomlinson, of Elizabeth, who was to make the address of the evening.

Following the selection by the orchestra, Rev. G. M. Shott led in prayer. "Women's Work," an essay by Miss Blanche Mercein, was an ideal work upon the modern woman, her sphere in the world and in the home. "American Writers," an essay by Miss Edith Marsh, was enjoyed by all. Miss Marsh spoke of the work accomplished during the past century by American writers who had left the older style of English literature and had adopted a a distinctly American style in their writing.

Miss Minnie Meyers gave a pleasing recitations entitled "The Church of Brow." This was followed by an interesting horoscope of the class and a glimpse into Scotch Plains fifty years hence, by Miss Lillian Fancher, president of the class. The speaker invited her audience to jump fifty years into the future with her, get abroad an air ship and after a delightful ride find themselves high in the air above a large and bustling city. An obliging guide in answer as to what city it was, replied that is the historic city of Scotch Plains, and its suburbs, Plainfield and Westfield. This led one to desire to land and take a better view of the old town known in the days past. The first inquiry is made for hotel accommodations. One is directed to a number of handsome up-to-date places, but is told that no intoxicating liquors are sold, neither had there been a liquor license granted in this city since 1902. During the tour about the city the party is interested in a handsome home of modern architecture and the curious ones are led to ask who occupied the mansion. They were told that it was an old lady's home, being occupied by four elderly women graduates of the public school class of 1902, who having individually an income sufficient to care for themselves, had refused all matrimonial offers and lived a life of single blessedness. An inquiry into the working of the public school found ready answer the city schools were right up to date and maintained a high standard. In concluding on behalf of her class thanks were extended to the Board of Education and teachers for their many kind favors in the past.

Dr. F. W. Westcott, in a short speech, presented the graduates with their diplomas. "A Practical Education" was the subject of Mr. Tomlinson's address and his remarks were thoroughly enjoyed by all. He impressed upon the younger generation the fact that one needed a practical education in this world in order to be able to see something, to be something and to do something.

At the close of the presentation of grammar and High School diplomas the audience joined in singing "America."

Immediately after the programme at the church several hundred friends of the class gathered at the assembly room of the school and enjoyed dancing to the strains of Conde's orchestra

he has an interview with the probationer. In this interview he appeals to the good in his man. This is where tact counts. Next our officer gets work for him if he has none at the time and tells him to report at stated intervals. If the conditions at home are such as to make it necessary, he gets an entirely new environment for the probationer. Surroundings mould the man. Take two young full-blooded colts and give one to a kind sympathetic lover of horses and the other to a harsh rough fellow to be brought up. Two years later the one will be the gentlest and best of horses, the other will shy at every thing and run away with you at the very first opportunity. Just so with human beings. The boy who has associated all his life with the "gang" on the corner will swear as loud and fight as hard as any of them. Transplant into their midst a youth brought up among refined people. At first they seem repellent to him. Then he becomes accustomed to this kind of life and doesn't mind it. Soon he becomes a little careless himself and finally he is truly one of them. This, we are told, is the case nine times out of ten. The question is how to make self respecting citizens out of these degraded wretches. Prison confinement does not do it. What they need is an entire change in environment and to cause this is the task of the probation officer. In short, parole with the possibility of pardon is the probation system in six words but the probation officer has a great deal to do in order to help his charges live the honest lives required of them.

The benefits of this method of treating offenders against the law are many and varied. Strictly speaking this law was meant only for first offenders and it naturally follows that much of this kind of work is done among the children. The form of crime they commit is generally trivial, and even then they are led on by older boys who really ought to receive the punishment. To reform them is very easy. We have an instance of this kind right here in Plainfield. There was a little Italian boy whose family was very poor. In order to help buy his daily bread he sold papers on North avenue. One day in search of a customer he entered the bar of the Hotel Kensington. The bartender squirted vichi water in his face. This made his eyes smart and aroused angry passion for revenge. He therefore went out into the road and collected a supply of stones which he used to good advantage inside. Naturally he was arrested but through some mistake he was imprisoned in the county jail at Elizabeth. Imagine the night-mares a little fellow of eleven must have suffered shut up in a tiny cell, three feet by ten with a thick iron door! And who was truly at fault, he or the unfeeling wretch who excited his just anger? By all equity, the half intoxicated bar tender ought to have been in the county jail that weary night! Fortunately, however, the poor little Italian was discovered in his cell by Mrs. Williamson, probation officer of Union county. She found him a good home in the country away from the evil association of whisky venders and the report comes that his temper is just as equable as any other child's. This illustrates the kind of probation work among the children and you can readily see that this little boy is undoubtedly saved to a good and useful life whereas he might otherwise have been led on into deeper sin.

But it is a harder task to reform full grown men. To these also the doctor of morals, as the probation officer actually is, stands in the place of a friend in need. Any man convicted and sentenced to a penal institution for a felony loses the right of citizenship. To get back this prized right after his term expires is no easy matter. It involves great publicity, much trouble and considerable expense. Then, too, each day in jail adds to the degradation of the young man sentenced for the first time. Every man leaving a prison carries with him the stigma of a convict. It is impossible to escape it. But a sentence to the probation officer does not necessarily burden the man with any odium. The helping hand is eagerly offered to those under his parole. He is then a valuable friend to the probationer who can save him from all the trouble, degradation, and stigma of prison confinement. This quiet working with individuals according to their separate needs is the most important benefit of the probation system. For it is only by dealing with each separate man and raising his moral standards that all society can be uplifted.

It is seen then that this law properly carried out is a great source of good not only to the individual but also to the community at large by helping the individual. We believe that in a few years there will not be so many cases of assault and battery, and that people's homes and property will be safer on account of this new system. But the probation law also possesses great advantages from a financial point of view. Every year the State pays enormous sums of money on account of crime. It must feed and clothe the inmates of its prisons and it must also support their poor families. If on the other hand, the judges place the accused under the charge of the probation officer, they not only support themselves and their families by honest labor but also pay the fines and costs of the court which would never be collected otherwise. For instance let us look at Union county's records for the year ending in May, 1901. There were some 600 persons imprisoned in our county jail during the year. Of these 600, over 400 were first commitments. In addition were eleven children. Including all there were 421 persons who because of their youth and inexperience in crime, were presumably suitable probationers. Assuming that we had had a probation officer and that he had met with the same success as Officer Higgins, of Hudson county about 370 of the 420 would have returned to their occupations so that the county could have saved in food alone over 33,000 meals or about $4,000, and the county would have collected about $7 per probationer or in the neighborhood of $3,000. There is a total of $1,000 saved to Union county. This ought to touch the hearts of the taxpayers.

In spite of its benefits, in this as in every other new plan, there are those who shake the warning finger and raise objections. The principal objection raised is the difficulty to get the right kind of officers, men competent in all respects for the work. They claim that men who have brains enough for this work will not accept such petty positions. We grant that with this as with everything else the man behind the scheme makes it the success or the failure that it is. And this position does require not merely high intelligence and great strength of character, but also a profound knowledge of human nature and a special training in the methods of dealing with its degenerate and perverse forms. But it is entirely possible to get the right men. Mr. Samuel J. Barrows, of Massachusetts, says: "I believe that when a trained and experienced corps of probation officers is developed as a part of the judicial police of this country, no function of the police court will be regarded as more important." Thus if we are not able to get men of training into such positions, we can train men especially for this kind of duty. Another way to secure highly educated men is to offer a large salary. But, our friends of the opposition now say: Yes, but if you offer a large salary the corrupt politician will fix his eye on your position and secure it for one of the ring. This result is not inevitable for two reasons. The corrupt politicians are getting fewer and fewer. Politics are becoming clean. As proof of this we need only mention the name of Roosevelt. And even if one of the dirty politicians should use his influence to this end he would be stopped in another way. The great majority of our judges are now honorable Christian men and they will not allow politics to influence their appointments of probation officers. In spite of all the warnings of these old obstinate opposers of new plans, in Union county not one of these objections has come up during the two months the plan has been working. Our probation officer, Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, of Elizabeth, is a woman of noble character and long experience. For several years she had acted as a self constituted officer and when the probation law was passed largely through her own influence, and she was offered the position, she gladly accepted, utterly refusing the salary offered because her heart was truly in the work. The corrupt politician tried here to get his man in but the judges said no. What a victory this was. The lawyers and politicians of the rising generation aren't half so correct as some think they are. Mrs. Williamson is doing fine work with seventy-five probationers under her care.

If all the counties of New Jersey had their probation officers we should soon be living in a veritable Utopia. The number of prisoners would be reduced, the old criminals would die off; and as the young would all be corrected there would be none to take the places of the old rascals; the tax rate would be greatly reduced; the poor would become rich; the rich, richer; people in general would be safer; all society would be uplifted, in short we should have a perfect commonwealth. This will be the age of the millenium. But we cannot expect to realize this happy dream until every man is awakened to the good of the probation system. We cannot see how there can be more than one opinion regarding the benefits of this law. Whether you look at the good done to the person under probation, or at the great financial saving to the State, or at the wonderful uplifting influence upon all society the complete wisdom of the Probation Law is proven and must be universally acknowledged.

As the young graduate withdrew amid generous applause, Rev. Dr. Jesse Lyman Hurlburt, formerly a resident of this city but now of Morristown, arose to make the opening address. In his preliminary remarks he spoke encouragingly to the class seated behind him, stating the talk that was to follow was more for their benefit than that of the audience before him. His subject was "The Importance of Education" and he related his own beliefs as to why it is essential to success.

He contrasted civilized nations and what makes them so with barbarous countries and the cause of their remaining in darkness. It is education, he said, that requires the line to be drawn between the two as no race not possessed of letters can lay claim to being civilized. The aristocracy of today in this country is composed of the educated said Dr. Hurlburt, and every boy or girl has the privilege of becoming one of them by grasping the opportunity offered him by the public schools. That is one advantage of education and another is its assistance in attaining worldly success.

A certain amount of useful knowledge is necessary as a money getter or the reaching of high positions as statistics gleaned from government offices show. Fifty per cent. of the nation's vice presidents have been college men while sixty-one per cent. of the speakers of the house have passed through high educational institutions.

Again education is the cause of certain mystic and mighty illuminations in the great human brain. A man who has been educated sees things that are denied or considered commonplace by other eyes, not trained to perceive all that is good and beautiful in nature. There is nothing particularly edifying to most people in the sight of a country churchyard, yet the moss grown stones imbued the poet Grey with an inspiration which resolved itself in one of the grandest poems ever written. The towering Alps to the untrained mind reveal nothing but arduous climbs and fatiguing tramps, yet to Byron they opened up a flood of new thoughts which has enriched the language and literature of recent years.

In closing, Dr. Hurlburt addressed the class in congratulatory terms and expressed the wish that "this be a commencement day and that they go on, and on and on." He afterward supplemented his remarks by relating certain facts which conviaced him that the fame of the Plainfield schools was known all over the Union as in his travels across the continent, east and west, north and south he heard of them everywhere.

The presentation of rewards by Leander N. Lovell followed and the fortunate pupils and the studies in which they excelled are as follows:

The oration and valedictory was delivered by Erwin Bryant Leland, the subject of the former being "Microscopic Friends and Enemies." It related to harmful bacilli which lurk in water and spread malignant diseases, germs which infest the air and produce trouble for the humans who breathe them and the process of decomposition which assists nature in enriching the earth and making vegetation possible. It was couched in familiar terms and was evidently well thought out. In closing he saluted his class and formally bade the farewell which brought the members more than ever to the realization that their paths separate after a companionship of years.

President of the Board of Education J. B. Probasco presented the graduates with their diplomas and as the young men and women stepped forward to receive the parchment which represented to them many days of self denial and study, each was greeted with prolonged applause. With the awarding of the last one the exericses were terminated.

As may be seen from the account there was no salutatory and oration as is customary. This honor was devolved upon Clarence Bixby LaRue but owing to a recent illness he was unable to take part and the number was omitted.

PERSONAL.

Miss Almira Hoagland, of this city, has been spending a few days with friends in South Bound Brook.

Atlantic City the New.

Atlantic City is the gem resort of the world and the thousands who visit this famous beach enjoy features to be found nowhere else. The great boardwalk, the several ocean piers, the peerless bathing, the wonderfully complete hotels and the varied amusements constitute a life enjoyable and recreative. The New Jersey Central has a fine train service between New York and Atlantic City—but three hours are consumed in the journey and trains leave New York at 9.40 a. m. and 3.40 p. m.—the trains are vestibuled and thoroughly up-to-date. Buffet Parlor Cars are attached to every train. The New Jersey Central passenger department (Section A. C.,) New York City, has this week issued an illustrated descriptive booklet on Atlantic City, which is sent free upon application to any address.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

For twenty-seven young people, last evening marked an important epoch. On that occasion, they bade farewell to school life and stepped out into the world, some to continue their education at higher institutions of learning and others to begin a business career or to fill a place in the home life. It meant that four years had been spent profitably and that the prescribed course in the highest department of the city schools had been completed with credit. For some, through natural ability or special application, there were more honors than for others but for all it meant a task performed and the entrance into the greater responsibilities with the chance of greater rewards.

It is at a time like this that the people of Plainfield are brought to a keener realization of the excellence of the city public schools. The bright, energetic young folk, who received their diplomas last evening, evidenced in every word and action that they have been well trained along the lines laid down. They are today well equipped to do better and greater work than ever before. This would not have been possible but for careful, painstaking work in the past. The present high standard of the City High School was demonstrated by these eager young people.

There have been words of criticism in that past by some few who do not believe in the higher education at public expense. They argue that it is only the wealthy or well-to-do, who are able to take advantage of it and that they are perfectly able to meet the expense themselves. It is a narrow view. The graduates of the Plainfield High School have never been confined to the wealthy class. There have been many who possessed but little of the world's goods when they completed their course at the City High School. With the education they there received, they have since prospered and become prominent members of the communities in which they live. The list of graduates in past years shows many men and women who have succeeded in life through their own efforts.

It may be argued that success would have come to them, even had they not received their education in the public schools. Undoubtedly the education there obtained is not the cause of their success but a good education, well founded, is the means of bringing greater opportunities and a greater capacity for taking advantage of these opportunities.

The world is now before these twenty-seven young people. They have received a good High School education. They cannot expect it to win for them an important place in the work. All the schools in the land cannot do that. The training they have received will, however, stand them in good stead and will aid them in more ways than one in advancing step by step up the pathway of success. They have the foundation. The rest remains with themselves.

The householders who are accustomed to put in their winter's supply of coal are confronted by a difficult problem this year. The strike among the miners has sent the price of coal way up in the air. Coal is fast becoming hard to get at any price. If the strike continues very much longer the autumnal season will find a still worse condition of affairs. Will it be best, therefore, to buy now or take the chances and wait for fall? That is the question which many Plainfield residents are trying to answer today.

There does not appear to be any unpleasant rivalry between the local golf clubs, a state of affairs which unfortunately does not exist in many other communities. An evidence of this friendly feeling is the exchange of courtesies between the two clubs which takes place each year. Tomorrow, the Park Golf Club will entertain its friends from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and a pleasant programme has been arranged for the occasion.

Tomorrow will see the Republican host of Union, Morris and Warren counties gathered at Belvidere, the county seat of Warren. With much enthusiasm, Congressman Charles N. Fowler will be renominated from the new Fifth district. Even if Union county politics are really badly split, there will be no visible demonstrations thereof until after Mr. Fowler is firmly established as a candidate.

This is the season of strawberry and ice cream festivals. Nearly every church and organization of a social nature has fallen victim to the fever. Up in the little town of Scotch Plains they are so numerous that several had to be called off so as not to conflict with the remainder. In this city as well, they have been planned on a wholesale scale.

The fence which separates the tracks at the North Avenue station is no longer white but it is still easily distinguishable at night. The dust and dirt have combined to darken the white paint but the new coat of color has answered its purpose.

The man who votes for annexation and consolidation is voting for the best interests of North Plainfield and Plainfield. How much more can a community accomplish as one city than when it is divided against itself.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

until a late hour.

All the members of the class were generously remembered by their friends with handsome presents, flowers abounding. Altogether the commencement was one of the largest attended and most interesting one ever held by the school.

WANTS TO BE SET RIGHT.

Statement of Facts in Case Referred to in the Commencement Oration.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—At the High School commencement exercises last evening, Harold A. Nomer in an address, made certain statements regarding an unfortunate case in which I happen to figure. The young man evidently was not acquainted with the facts or else was sadly misinformed.

The boy in question, Oliver Vitello, had been a nuisance to the place for several weeks. On the day in question I had ordered him out of the place several times and my patience at last becoming exhausted I threw vichy water, not in his eyes, but on his clothing. Then he attacked me with stones for which he was arrested. At the time he was out on parole, as three weeks before he faced City Judge Runyon on a serious charge, which the police will tell you, if he had been a little older, would have sent him to State prison. It was his fifth appearance in the city court and the police resolved to have him put away. He was detained at jail only until the proper papers could be made out.

I was referred to by Mr. Nomer as a "half drunken bar tender." As a matter of fact I have never been intoxicated in my life and no man can say that I have ever conducted myself other than as a gentleman. I feel that Mr. Nomer ought to set me right before the public. E. F. Newton.

Miss Curry Will be There.

Miss Sara Curry, who will be in charge of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, this summer, will be present at the sale to be given tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. R. Hill on Woodland avenue, which will be given for the benefit of the cripple child at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pound have returned from their wedding tour and are now residing on West Front street.

Mrs. George Morton and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Morton, of Westfield, have been visiting Plainfield relatives for a short time.

SUMMER VESTS

The Fad of the Hour

More Fancy and White Vests worn this year than for 20 years

Anticipating this I have bought from a manufacturer the balance of his stock at my own price and will place on sale for one week, beginning SATURDAY, JUNE 21, the largest and best assortment of White and Fancy Vests ever shown in Plainfield, at prices below the cost to manufacture.

This line is composed entirely of fine vests, made only for fine trade, and includes French Percales, Irish Linen Dks, Kahki, etc. Twenty styles to select from. Double breasted with and without collars, single breasted with and without collars, full dress of several different styles and shape.

Following are a few prices quoted:

Lot 1084.
Fancy stripe DK AB sold in most stores for $2.00.
My Price $1.00.

Lot 1089.
6 Buttons, high cut in front, very fashionable. Regular price $2.25.
My Price $1.10.

Lot 1162.
Pearl DK DB vest, one of the heaviest sellers among the fine trades, a fine vest. Regular price $3.75.
My Price $1.90.

Lot 1150.
White French PK double breasted 3 button vest with collar. This is an especially good thing. Regular price $3.50.
My Price 1.75.

Lot 1170.
A very fine fancy silk and linen mixed, can be used winter and summer. The garment retails at $4.00.
My Price $2.25.

Lot 1138.
This will appeal to the very fine dressers only 26 vests in the lot, very fine Irish linen double breasted with collar, worth at least $5.00. I am showing them during this sale
$3.00.

This line cannot be surpassed in quality in any store in New York, and I positively tell you that no better assortment is shown any place.

Call and see them and be convinced. I can suit you and please you with tailoring, furnishings, hats, etc.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Smalley Brothers, North avenue. Enough said. Your steak, chop or fowl is the best on the market.

Cool shirts for the summer, Panama hats and hot weather outfits in general are in demand by all. Here's a hint—J. R. Blair, Park avenue.

Anything in the watch or clock repairing line, is accomplished neatly, quickly and permanently by William Brown, the Watchung avenue expert. He guarantees satisfaction.

There is a superior quality in the goods sold by S. Scheuer & Company, of West Front street, and patrons of this store have learned that they can save money on a good many things.

W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, corner Lincoln place and Duer street, has a store stocked with the finest quality of goods. You know what you're getting when you buy at Dunn's.

Keenan, the East Fifth street grocer, still continues to receive a large share of patronage by his "low price for cash" sales. He quotes some of his specials in the columns of The Daily Press and it pays to peruse them.

There is a big difference in pianos, as anyone will discover if he examines those sold by G. H. Kenyon, of West Front street. For superior workmanship and durability, as well as sweetness of tone, they are unequalled.

Mrs. L. J. Denton, the florist, had charge of the decorations for the Plainfield High School commencement in the First Baptist church, last evening, and they were much admired. She does the finest work at reasonable prices.

Neuman Brothers, ever ready to give their customers the best the season affords, are now receiving daily shipments of blackberries, huckleberries and currants as well as luscious red raspberries. Their fresh Georiga peaches are delicious and cannot be surpassed by any others being sold in the city.

Miss Belle Beekman, of Martinsville, has been spending a few days with friends in Plainfield.

Mrs. E. C. Taylor and John Gernert, Sr., of Somerville, have been visiting in Plainfield for a short time.

Rev. Vincent W. Dawson, of Netherwood, will return today from Baltimore, where he has been spending a few days.

Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, will return this evening from Washington, where she has been spending several days.

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Union Avenue from North Avenue to Elizabeth Avenue; Elizabeth Avenue, from Union Avenue to Orange Avenue; and Orange Avenue, from Elizabeth Avenue to South Twelfth Street, all in the Township of Cranford, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, Nineteen Hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee, enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as estimated in advance, is as follows:

4,440 cubic Yards of Excavation.
7,783 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
2,390 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
405 square yards of Resurfacing Macadam, Two inches thick.
5 Culverts to be lowered.

MAYOR HEADS POLICE

Prompt Action of Hinchcliffe Quiets Paterson Rioters.

ANARCHIST LEADERS IN HIDING.

Silk Mill Employers Furnished Arms and Ammunition In Case of Emergency—Hudson County Mills Are Shut Down.

PATERSON, N. J., June 20.—In the main quiet reigns in this city. The most important event is the suspension from duty of Chief of Police Fred C. Graul by Mayor Hinchcliffe and the assumption by the mayor of the duties of that position. William McQueen, the English anarchist who was prominent at Wednesday's meeting before the rioting began, has left the city and is believed to be in New York. Galleano, the Italians and Grossman, the German, who are said to have been prominent Wednesday, have also kept from public notice. Mayor Hinchcliffe wishes to interview all these men.

The police are under orders to shoot straight if they should have another encounter with the rioters, and the mayor has had copies of the riot act distributed.

This week's edition of La Questione Social, one of the anarchist papers, was set up here, but sent to a Passaic printer to run off the forms. He was ordered not to handle it and complied.

The police late in the afternoon broke up an anarchist meeting near Sandy Hill, in the outskirts of Paterson, and arrested three women and four men. The leaders of the anarchists, one of whom was said to be Galleano, who is reported to have led the attacks on the mills, escaped after several shots had been fired at them.

The real reason that Mayor Hinchcliffe lost all patience with Chief Graul has become known. Wednesday when the rioting became serious the mayor over the telephone ordered the chief to arm the firemen with revolvers and clubs. The chief protested that it would be bad policy. The mayor issued an order. Then the chief protested he had no weapons. The mayor ordered that they be instantly purchased and cartridges as well. Then it appeared the chief yielded, but in place of sending some one to make the purchases he went himself around to hardware stores to buy the revolvers. He took them to the station house and left. He did not return.

While the chief was buying the revolvers he stopped to talk with a mill owner who demanded protection. He replied that there was no need, that the people were getting excited over nothing. While he was talking a patrol wagon loaded with men dashed past, and a moment later a trolley car taken possession of by the men who could not get in the wagon flew past, but the chief did nothing.

All but three of the silk mills in Hudson county, N. J., have closed down indefinitely. About 10,000 hands are in consequence out of employment, and within the next twenty-four hours the number will likely reach 13,000. The immediate cause of the shutting down of the mills was the dyers' strike riot in this city.

When the employees of the Pelgram & Meyer mills, on Matlock street, reported for work yesterday morning, every fourth man of the 300 male employees was provided by the management with a gun.

During the night shotguns, Winchesters and revolvers comprising a small but formidable arsenal were quietly carried into the mill. Accompanying the weapons were thirty rounds of ammunition for each piece. With the arrival of the men workers the firearms were distributed, and the employees went to their looms armed and prepared for any emergency.

"We are prepared to meet the rioters," said a member of the firm yesterday, "and give them a warm reception if they attempt to repeat the performance of yesterday. It is self protection with us and our employees, who protest to a man against the display of violence witnessed Wednesday. They are determined; so are we."

Union Hill Mill Threatened.

HOBOKEN, N. J., June 20.—Late yesterday afternoon a mob of 500 men and women gathered at Simon's mill, in Union Hill. Police Captain Knight and his five men, with a few citizens, kept the mob in check until the fire department was called out. The firemen turned eight streams of water on the crowd and scattered it. Seventeen people were arrested. The mob mentioned gathered in West Hoboken and formed into a procession with a band at the head and marched to Union Hill. The police of West Hoboken telephoned the Union Hill chief, and thus Captain Knight was prepared to meet the rioters a block from Simon's mill.

Valuable Patterns Burned.

READING, Pa., June 20.—The pattern shop and foundry of the Diamond Drill works at Birdsboro, this county, has been destroyed by fire. The patterns and machinery were very valuable, and the loss will aggregate nearly $300,000.

The Oregon's Future.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—It is the intention of the navy department to send the big battleship Oregon, now in Puget sound, back to the Asiatic station when the repairs now in progress on her are complete.

Deadly Powder Explosion.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 20.—Three men have been killed and five injured, some of whom will die, by an explosion of powder at Seward, nineteen miles from this city.

THE STURGIS WAGER

A DETECTIVE STORY.

By EDGAR MORETTE.

CHAPTER XXIV.

CHECKMATE!

The two detectives, after leaving Sprague and Sturgis in the cellar of the Manhattan Chemical company, proceeded to search the premises from basement to roof. Then, somewhat discomfited, they returned to the cellar, and were surprised to find that the reporter and his friend had disappeared.

After questioning the man whom they had left on watch on the outside, and ascertaining that neither Sprague nor Sturgis had yet left the house, the detectives called loudly to the missing men, and receiving no reply, at last became alarmed and sent word of the mysterious disappearance to headquarters. The chief's answer came at once:

"Remain on watch where you are. We shall investigate from the other side."

One of the detectives thereupon went up to the roof of the building, whence he could keep watch upon the back yards, while his companion remained in the front hall.

They had been waiting thus for some time, when the latter thought he heard footsteps in the direction of the private office. He was on the alert in an instant.

The door was cautiously opened and a man stepped out into the hallway. He carried a valise and a package. He blinked like a man coming suddenly from the darkness into the daylight.

"Who are you?" asked the detective, brusquely.

The man looked in the direction of the voice, and, as his eyes became accustomed to the light, returned the detective's surprised stare with a calm and searching look.

"Checkmate!" he muttered quietly to himself at last.

Then, without seeming haste, he passed back into the private office, before the astonished detective could make any attempt to stop him.

Recovering himself quickly, the detective followed the sounds of the retreating footsteps to the cellar stairs. Then, fearful of an ambush, he fired his revolver as a signal to his companion on the roof; and, after striking a match, he cautiously descended, reaching the cellar just in time to see Murdock disappear into the underground passage.

He rushed to the spot; and, unable to find the door, he pounded with all his might upon the shelves, causing the bottles to dance and rattle.

"Come, now," he shouted, "the game's up! You may as well be reasonable. You can't possibly escape, for you're surrounded."

No answer came from within.

The man tried his powerful strength upon the door without any perceptible effect.

When the second detective arrived upon the scene he found the first one removing the bottles from the shelves by the light of a match held in his left hand.

"Get a light and an ax, Jim. There's a secret door here which we'll have to break in; I can't find any way of opening it."

A few minutes later, the detectives, after dealing upon the shelves some telling blows with an ax, called upon Murdock to surrender.

Receiving no answer to their summons, the men stood irresolute for a few seconds. Then, with grim determination, they attacked the door; raining the blows upon it fast and furiously, and filling the air with a shower of splinters.

At length a final stroke sent the weakened hinges from their fastenings, and the men rushed through the underground passage into the murderer's laboratory.

A hasty, startled glance told them that Murdock was not there.

They started for the stairs and were met by a policeman who was just entering Murdock's office.

"Have you got him?" asked the detectives in chorus.

"No," replied the policeman, surprised; "Mr. Sturgis says he went down here about 20 minutes ago."

"We chased him in from the other end not ten minutes ago."

The policeman hurried down the stairs.

Murdock's valise and package stood conspicuous upon the long pine box. But of Murdock there was no sign.

"Gone!" exclaimed one of the detectives, deeply mortified at the thought that his quarry had slipped through his fingers. "Gone! How? Where? He cannot have escaped. He cannot—What is it, Mr. Sturgis?"

He had suddenly caught sight of the reporter, half way up the stairs.

Weak and ill, Sturgis, with blanched face, clung unsteadily, with one hand, to the railing; while, with the other, he pointed toward the lead-lined vat, whose dark viscous contents were bubbling like boiling oil.

A pungent vapor rose in dense clouds from the surface of the liquid. Through it the fascinated gaze of the horrified men vaguely discerned a nameless thing, tossed in weird and grotesque contortions in a seething vortex.

Murdock had escaped the justice of men.

INSPECTED RACEWAY.

Trip Under the Babcock Building to Examine Condition of the Foundations.

T. O Doane, E. V. French and T. M. Lowerie, have some idea today of the experiences of Jean Valjean in the subterranean passages of Paris, can describe how Mayor Low felt on his recent automobile trip through the sewers of Brooklyn and appreciate the mental tortures of various heroes of the dime dreadful, in their thrilling flights, if it be that these gentlemen ever indulged in the yellow back luxury.

Wednesday Messrs. Doane, French and Lowerie entered the mouth of the arched raceway on Grove street and groped their way by the aid of lanterns, till they arrived at a point beneath the rear of the Babcock building. There is a flow of water about three feet deep in the raceway, and a man of ordinary height can stand upright in the enclosure without any difficulty.

The object of their underground adventure was to discover the cause of the settling of the rear of the Babcock building, and to inspect the foundation which is built over the archway. It was discovered that the foundation stones were cracked in places as were also some stones in the concave top of the raceway. Steps will be taken by the estate to remedy the difficulty at once.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

An artistic and pretty booklet entitled "Atlantic City," has just been issued by the passenger department of the New Jersey Central. It contains a number of familiar scenes at that famous summer and winter resort and gives one a fair idea of its many attractions. It also gives a list of the principal hotels and boarding houses, together with rates, etc. Anyone thinking of going to Atlantic City should see this book. It will give much needed information.

PERSONAL.

James DeGraff, of Central avenue, has gone to Rye Beach, New Hampshire, for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Coriell have returned to their home on West Front street after a visit in New York.

Miss Cornell, of Bound Brook, has been visiting the Misses Sadie and Lulu Randolph, of West Eighth street.

Leonard Mantz, of Jackson avenue, will leave shortly for Toronto, in the vicinity of which city he will spend the summer, canoeing on the lakes.

BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER.

But Rev. Scott Wallace Has Nothing to Do With Either Side.

Rev. Scott Wallace says that he has nothing whatever to do with the trouble now existing between his two step-sons, George H. Jones and Lewis H. Harris, who are contending for the insurance money left by Mrs. Scott Wallace. Assemblyman William Newcorn represents Jones and Lawyer Clarence L. Murphy represents Harris. The contention is for $500 which Jones says Mrs. Wallace divided by leaving him $450 and Harris $50. Harris is for an even division which he claims his mother desired.

LEAL'S GRADUATES.

This evening the graduating class will hold a reception at the Casino.

New Rules for Primaries.

There will be a meeting of the city Republican executive committee next week when the new primary rules will be taken up for final adoption. Secretary Newcorn expects to hav them ready by that time.

An Able Speaker.

Rev. Dr. Brittin, of New York City, State secretary of the Anti-Saloon League, will speak on the subject of temperance in Trinity Reformed church Sunday morning.

—John Enright, of Raritan, has secured a position at the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works.

—Harry L. Smalley has taken the position of bookkeeper and cashier at the meat market of Smalley Brothers on North avenue, in place of Miss Emma Melefont, resigned.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The batting order of the Hope team tomorrow will be as follows: Roseberry, lf; Overton, cf; Martin, ss; Hewitt, p; Montross, 2b; Shortman, 3b; Gordon, rf; Feiring, 1b; Hartfelder, c.

The Clinton Avenue team will cross bats with the Garwood A. C. tomorrow afternoon on the latter's grounds. The start will be made by trolley from the Watchung avenue terminus at 2 o'clock.

The umpires at tomorrow's League games will be different than was announced in The Press of Wednesday. They will be as follows: Hope-Safe Works, Brown and Bodine; St. Mary-Y. M. C. A., Young and Townley.

"Silent" Tune Hewitt will be in the box for the Hopes tomorrow. His arm is in excellent shape and as this is the first time the Safe Works contingent has faced him, a good many strike-outs will probably be credited to him.

The Y. M. C. A. outfield will be somewhat altered in the game against the St. Mary's tomorrow. Manager Heywood expects to have his team placed so that every man will cover his proper position, as he is bent on getting the game. In the event of Hope losing, either St. Mary or the Y. M. C. A. will tie them for first place.

ROD AND GUN.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and William Feiring, spent Wednesday evening fishing at Sebrings Mills. They secured five six pound carp and several large catfish.

CYCLING.

Louis Drake, of this city, has just purchased an Iver-Johnson bicycle. It was made especially for Mr. Drake and weighs nineteen pounds.

Concert For Two Churches.

A concert, arranged by Mrs. G. H. Henderson, of Park avenue, was given in Washington Hall last evening for the benefit of Calvary Baptist and Mt. Zion A. M. E. churches. Solos were sung by Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Hopkins, Miss Morris, and H. Betts; there was a banjo solo by R. Hopkins; a buck dance by R. Taylor, a skirt dance by Miss Smith, and a number of recitations. A goodly sum was realized from the proceeds of the entertainment.

Given Gold Medals.

Many friends in this city will be pleased to learn that at the commencement exercises of St. Joseph's Academy, Bordentown, N. J., held yesterday morning, Misses May and Bertha Meely, of Columbus, Ohio, formerly of Plainfield, were awarded gold medals for their marked proficiency. Miss May Meely received a gold medal for music and Miss Bertha Meely carried off the honors in her class.

Rose Tea and Musicale.

A rose tea and a musicale will be given at the Hillside Tennis and Golf clubhouse Wednesday evening, June 25.

MARCONNIER'S FESTIVAL.

Held Last Evening on Lawn Opposite Campbell's Clubhouse.

A very successful strawberry and ice cream festival was held last evening on the lawn on Park avenue opposite Campbell's clubhouse, in aid of Marconnier chapel. The lawn was very prettily decorated with bunting, flags, and Chinese lanterns, and large bunches of flowers set off the tables. On account of school functions at Metuchen and Plainfield many people were prevented from attending, nevertheless a neat sum was realized in aid of the chapel, the proceeds amounting to more than $40.

In charge of the affair was Mrs. Leo VanCourt, general chairman, assisted by a decorating committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Randolph, Eugene VanCourt, and Miss Julia Burns; the cake table was in charge of E. VanCourt, Mrs. John Freeman, Mrs. Wm. Randolph; at the candy table was Miss Fanny Stover; at the lemonade table, Orville Freeman and Stephen Stover. The waitresses were the Misses Nettie Stover, May Morrison, Jennie Robinson, Lottie Campbell, Lillie Stalka, Bessie Reighton, Jennie Kyle and Lucy Schenck. Will VanCourt was cashier.

RECEPTON TO TEACHER.

Given by Miss Davies' Class at the Franklin School Yesterday.

The class of Miss Davies, of the Franklin school, tendered her a reception, yesterday afternoon, lasting from 3 until 6. An enjoyable afternoon was spent in playing games and listening to a musical and literary programme, furnished by the Misses Grace Weeks, Lena Sacher, Florence Johnson and Caroline Lambert. The members of the class who were present were the Misses Florence Johnson, M. Phillips, Amy Baker, Catherine Knox, Grace Weeks, Julia Fritzgerald, Carola Hart, Carrie Baker, Autumn DeLaney, Caroline Lambert, Lena Sacher, Sadie Hand, Helen Rogers and Newell Kirkner, George Mead, John Yose and Stanley Karner and Edna Martin.

Half Holiday for Lawyers.

There is a movement on foot among the local lawyers to close up their offices Saturday afternoons during the summer months. The baseball fever has thoroughly taken possession of the legal lights, and if all of the disciples of Blackstone will agree to close their offices, there will be plenty of talent along the base lines to settle any ultimate dispute that may arise.

Ready for Trouble.

Jackson Blake, a colored individual, was arrested last night by Patrolman Gamo as a suspicious character. When searched at police headquarters, a loaded revolver was found in his clothing. This morning City Judge Runyon gave him his choice of $5 or twenty days.

Stone Struck His Head.

Louis McDermott, aged seven years, was struck in the head by a stone last evening while playing with some boys near his home at the corner of East Fourth and Washington streets. Dr. Browning was called and gave proper treatment.

Trying to Find Her Daughter.

Mrs. Walter Thompson has asked the police to aid her in finding her thirteen-year-old daughter, who she says has disappeared. The girl is incorrigible, she says, and has a habit of running away.

Leads Them All.

"One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says D. Scott Currin, of Loganton, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. L. W. Randolph.

LOCAL NEWS ON EVERY PAGE.

PERSONAL.

Miss Freida Ficke, of East Front street, left town yesterday for the mountains for the summer.

Clarence L. Bird, of Chicago, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. M. Elizabeth Bird, of Astor place and Clinton avenue, will return home tomorrow.

Mrs. Phoebe Lawler, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Catharine B. Sebring, for the past month, started for her home, Rock Rapids, Ia., this morning, by the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—A stage will leave the corner of Front and Somerset streets tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock for Mt. Bethel, where a dance will be held.

Robbed Former Pastor's Home.

Burglars have been working their trade with dexterity of late in the vicinity of Bayonne and Bergen Point. Tuesday night several homes were entered in central Bayonne, including that of Rev. H. J. Johnston, pastor of the First M. E. church, who formerly was pastor of Grace M. E. church, this city. At Mr. Johnston's home an overcoat valued at $20 was taken. In each case the burglars entered the houses by the back way.

Fed Themselves.

The class of 1902, North Plainfield High School, held a class dinner today at 1 o'clock in the kitchen of the school. The following is the form of invitation issued for the event: "The class of 1902 will feed themselves Friday, June 20 at 1 o'clock in the kitchen. U R invited to watch us. Perhaps you may have some 2. Signed committee."

King's Daughters Social.

The Inasmuch Circle of the King's Daughters, of Warren chapel, held a sociable in the chapel last evening. Vocal and instrumental music and recitations were the features of the evening after which an enjoyable hour was spent over the refreshments. The circle then adjourned till September.

Put Up Posters.

Leonardo Vetromile was arraigned in the city court, this morning, charged by Patrolman Higgins with placing posters on poles and trees contrary to the city ordinance. Through his counsel, Codington & Swackhamer, he pleaded guilty, but sentence was suspended with a warning.

For Anti-Saloon League.

Several Plainfield pulpits will be occupied Sunday morning by members or advocates of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League. An effort is being made to secure legislation that will give New Jersey local option and a campaign along that line has been inaugurated.

Wife Appeared Against Husband.

Mrs. John Dixon appeared in the city court, this morning, as complainant against her husband who she charged with non-support. The case was laid over until Monday morning.

Plumbers Struck Again.

The journeymen plumbers, employed by A. M. Griffen, quit work this morning because the non-union men refused to sign application blanks for the union.

YOUNG FOLK BADE FAREWELL TO BOROUGH HIGH SCHOOL

Class of Sixteen Graduated From North Plainfield High School at Last Evening's Exercises.

COMMENCEMENT AT Y.M.C.A. HALL.

THE ADDRESS TO THE MEMBERS OF THE GRADUATING CLASS WAS MADE BY REV. DR. WM. R. RICHARDS.

The Valedictory Was Delivered by Miss Nellie Mantz and the Salutatory by Charles Frederick Windham—One Graduate Was Unable to be Present—The Winners of the Valiant Prizes—The Hall Was Prettily Decorated —A Brilliant Function Was Held.

That was a brilliant function which marked the commencement exerises of North Plainfield High School in the Y. M. C. A. hall last evening. The gallery and auditorium was completely filled by a large and gaily dressed audience, many of whom were alumni and alumnae of the institution and appreciating to the utmost the significance of the event. They had the privilege of listening to an intellectual programme which for merit, has been seldom surpassed at Plainfield commencements. The candidates for diplomas numbered sixteen. One was absent, but the other fifteen occupied seats on the stage, and as their names were called walked up to the front to receive from the hands of Chairman James R. Joy the coveted parchments, and make their last salutation as High School pupils.

Seated on the stage, besides the graduates were Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, Rev. E. L. Earp, James R. Joy, president of the North Plainfield Board of Education, and Principal Homer J. Wightman.

The stage decorations were of a luxuriant order. High in the rear, in bright red letters, hung the class motto, "Labor Omnia Vincit," a motto which—said Chairman Joy in presenting the dilpomas—must look to the future as well as to the past, if the graduates would conquer all. Smilax, in leafage and blossom, banked the footlights, and with waving palms set in the centre, formed against the wall in the background a horizontal line richly flowered and foliaged, the whole making a scene to rival a figment of the poet's brain.

The valedictory, carrying with it the first scholarship honor of the class was delivered by Miss Nellie Mantz, while Charles Frederick Windham made the salutatory address, with second scholarship honor. The John Valiant prizes for proficiency in mathematics, first, $15 in gold, second, $10 in gold, were won by Elizabeth May Davenport and Robert F. Hand respectively. So close was the competition that the judges recommended two others for honorable mention, Edward White Overton and Charles F. Windham.

The evening's programme in detail was as follows:

Invocation . . . . . Rev. Edwin L. Earp
Row Us Swiftly . . . . . Campana
Chorus.
Salutatory Article . Charles Frederick Windham
Address . . . . . W. R. Richards, D. D.
Supposing . . . . . Bischoff

James R. Joy, Ch'n Board of Education
a Spring Song—Lassen . . . . . Chorus
b Summer Days—Abt . . . . . Chorus

The event of the evening was the address by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, a comprehenisve view and a logical unfolding of the development of modern civilization, gradually leading up to his theme, the place of the scholar in modern life. No mere synopsis could do justice to this masterly effort. After referring to the place of the scholar in life he pointed to the fact that in different periods of the world's history different sorts of people have become specially important, at first a pressing need they developed into a favored class. Glancing back to the beginnings of modern history it is customary to look upon the feudal system as the embodiment of all that is bad. Men had in mind the end of the system, when it was really bad but at the beginning it was a heavenly blessing. The knight of old held a magificent idea of human character. Although the actual flesh and blood man might be a disagreeable person to meet his ideal was lofty. He has been described as "a man, pure, gentle, courteous to women, forgetful of self, filled with deep religion, bowing before God and womankind, haughty to all others." That was a contribution of feudalism to the history of the world. It produced such men as Godfrey of Bouillon, the Black Prince, Bayard and later Raleigh and Colingwood, and in this country George Washington was a repesentative of the type.

True, that type of man may have been aristocratic in his bearing, he may have folded his robes about him when speaking to the common people, but only because he thought the people controlled by a different standard of life caring less for honor than he did. The world owed much to these men.

To another sort you are also under great obligations. Things would not progress well if there were but one sort of human being clothed with powers and responsibility. To the townsman or burgher one owes much. He soon became strong enough to fight for himself and it was the burgher who saved all from the gentleman. It was difficult to say what would have become of the world but for the townsman or burgher. From the burgher to the bourgeois was but a step. Having won the victory he had too much his own way. Ever since the French Revolution the men of the town, the bourgeoisie, have had a disproportionate effect upon the morals of the world. The old knight lived for honor; this new knight lives for money.

The world needs more than one favored class. It has only one left, having destroyed the other. It is not surprising if they have had a too great effect on human life. As a result of their influences, commercialism is the peculiarity of the age. Merceriary conditions have invaded every walk of life; even Cupid deals in book accounts and balances, art itself in vulgarized, literature is infected, from colleges comes the cry of professionalism in athletics and today the whole nation is hanging its head because of the Senate's outrageous treatment of Cuba. Old honor has gone and gold holds the field. The proper heraldic device for the age would be a shopkeeper rampant in a field of gold.

It is here that there is need of another class to step into the breach to save from the bourgeoisie who saved from feudalism Now what is the place of the American scholar? Is not the question already answered? The scholar is the new favored class, the aristocrat of the modern world—not aristocratic in the sense of a repudiation of democratic principles, not as one who seeks the privilege to hold aloof from his neighbor. Let "noblesse oblige" be for him a significant phrase. The castle walls have been battered down, but in its stead the college walls have risen. And nowhere in the world are the advantages for education so great as here in America. Talk of the bourgeoisie getting the upper hand might cause one to tremble for a moment, but the second thought of the colleges and educational institutions dispelled the fear.

Of old, after religious ceremonies,

A NIGHT AT HOME.

New Descriptive Number to be Given by the Y. M. C. A. Orchestra.

Rehearsals of a new descriptive number are being held by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra. It will be produced at their concert to be held July 1. It is entitled "Saturday Night in Plainfield" and is especially adopted for the occasion. The synopsis is as follows: Arrival and departure of a New Jersey Central train; "Cab, Sir;" band concert starts; Salvation Army; newsboys' cry; choir rehearsal; bargain sales, "cash;" at the trolley station; Company K on a street drill; fire alarm, box No. 31, apparatus dashes off, battling with the flames, fire out, recall; finale.

RECEPTION TO SENIORS.

Annual Commencement Dance for Class of 1902 of Leal's School Held at Casino Last Night.

According to his annual custom, John Leal tendered a reception to the senior class of his school, last evening. The Casino was the scene of the occasion and in addition to the members there were present the alumni, the student body of the school and many friends. The gathering, music and all accompaniments to make it a successful affair were much in evidence and Terpischore was wooed until a late hour.

The patronesses were Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. H. D. Haven, Mrs. C. V. Fowler, Mrs. John Leal and Mrs. E. B. Smith.

ON LAKE GEORGE.

Y. M. C. A. Will Conduct the Silver Bay Hotel on Its Shores.

During the month of June and from July 15 to October 1 the Y. M. C. A. of the east and Canada will conduct the Silver Bay Hotel, on Lake George as a resort for association men and their families. The hotel accommodates six hundred, has every convenience, and a special rate to all Y. M. C. A. members, including holders of vacation tickets.

For the guests there will be abundant opportunity for fishing, fine boating, ideal bathing and athletic exercises, such as mountain climbing, tennis, basket-ball, baseball and other sports. The Adirondack wilderness with its numerous charms is within easy reach, and Lake George, upon which the hotel is situated, has the reputation of being the most beautiful body of inland water in America. From August 5 to 15 a conference of association workers will be held.

MRS. VAN WINKLE PASSED AWAY.

Widow of Jeremiah VanWinkle Succumbed After Brief Illness.

Following a brief illness from a complication of troubles, Mrs. Violet VanWinkle passed away at her home on Central avenue, this morning. It was a general breaking down of her health.

Mrs. VanWinkle was sixty-four years old and was the widow of the late Jeremiah VanWinkle, at one time city treasurer and chief of the fire department. She leaves eight children, Charles, Jeremiah, Daniel, Nelson and Frank and the Misses Isabelle, Violet and Elizabeth, all of whom reside in this city.

The funeral services will be held Monday and will be private.

Successful Operation.

Freddie Hansen, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hansen, of Webster place, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday noon, to have an operation for appendicitis performed. It proved successful and the young patient is doing nicely.

Prize for Miss Moody.

In the amateur photo departments conducted by the various magazines, Plainfielders are frequently heard from. In the last issue of St. Nicholas, Miss Helen C. Moody, aged fifteen, of this city, is among the prize winners.

The New Coaches.

Several passenger trains on the New Jersey Central are now fully equipped with new coaches of the latest pattern. The change is one that is appreciated very much by patrons of the road.

Junior Day.

August 14 will be Junior Day at Asbury Park, at which time the various Jr. O. U. A. M. Councils of New Jersey will congregate according to the annual custom.

NEWTON VINDICATED.

Harold Nomer Withdraws All Reflecting Statements Made at Commencement and Apologizes.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I am indeed sorry to learn, not only from the letter of Mr. Newton but from the representation of friends, that I did him an injustice in my description of the Vitello case in my graduation address. I desire to withdraw all that I said reflecting on Mr. Newton's character or acts. I was aiming simply to show the value of the probation system by means of a definite case, and in seeking material for my address, the story of Vitello came to me through friends interested in his probation, and unfortunately I used it for the purpose of my argument without investigating it fully, as I ought to have done.

Harold Nomer.

In connection with the above, Mr. Newton received this morning the following letter from Superintendent H. M. Maxson in reply to one sent yesterday explaining Mr. Newton's position and asking for a correction:

Mr. Edward Newton,
Hotel Kensington,
Plainfield, N. J.

June 20, 1902.

Dear Sir: In reply to your letter regarding Mr. Nomer's reference to you in his address I would say that the address did not come under my notice before delivery or I should have cut out that paragraph. I regret that anything should have been included that even by inference could reflect upon anyone, and I think that the young man willl endeavor to make it right, as far as he can, by a statement in The Press, for he had no intention of doing anyone an injustice.

Trusting that this will be acceptable to you, I am

Yours sincerely,
H. M. Maxson,
Superintendent of Schools.

WILL NOT RESIGN.

No Truth in Story That U. S. Senator Dryden's Health is So Poor as to Cause His Resignation.

It has been rumored in certain parts of the State that the health of Senator John F. Dryden is so poor that many think he will consider his retirement from the United States Senate. It seems almost needless to say that this statement is without the slightest foundation. Notwithstanding the stress of the campaign, Mr. Dryden was in better health after his election to the Senate than ever before. After his election he immediately went into the Senate and has worked assiduously on the various committees to which he was appointed.

Owing to a slight touch of malaria and the severe illness of one of the members of his family, Senator Dryden considered it advisable to go to his summer home at Bernardsville for a short rest, and after recuperating for a few days, he went to Newark to give some attention to his personal affairs and to visit the office of the Prudential Insurance Company, of which he is the president.

Senator Dryden is in splendid health. He has not the slightest intention of retiring, and will soon return to his duties in Washington to stay until the close of the session.

More Baggage Handled.

Already the baggagemaster at the North Avenue station, J. F. Garretson, and his assistant, Jacob Wagner, are beginning to feel the pressure of an increasing business. Plainfielders have commenced leaving the city for the shore and mountains and this makes much extra work at the station.

New Ticket Office.

It should be remembered by patrons of the New Jersey Central that only tickets for eastbound trains are sold during the day at the new station. Persons going west can secure their tickets at the North Avenue station. In the evening tickets for trains in either direction are sold at the new station.

Event at Hillside.

Wednesday afternoon and evening a tea and musicale will be given at the Hillside Tennis Golf Club. A stage will meet all the trolley cars, both afternoon and evening. One of the attractions will be the "Florodoro sextette." Good music has been secured for the occasion.

Park A. C. Field Day.

The Park A. C. is arranging for a field day to be held the latter part of this month. Entries for the events are already being received and it promises to be a successful meet. Suitable prizes are to be awarded the winners of the various events.

OLD WELL SETTLED.

And Left a Dangerous Hole in the Middle of West Second Street.

The old fire well on West Second street, near Park avenue, that was recently filled up with earth, suddenly settled about six feet yesterday afternoon. T. A. Kurzhals, Sr., who lives near by, noticed a depression in the ground and touching the earth with a stick was astonished to see it cave in. Fortunately the unsafe spot was discovered before any damage resulted. Mr. Kurzhals placed a box over the opening until Street Commissioner Gavett was notified and the hole again filled up. It seems very miraculous that horses passing over the spot just before the cave in were not precipitated into the well.

WON A BRIDE.

Oscar Moore, of This City, Wedded to Miss Florence Hanna, of Blakeslie, Pa.

Miss Florence Hanna, of Blakeslie, Pa., and Oscar Moore, of this city, were married Thursday at the home of the bride in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Williams, of Scranton, Pa. Miss Carrie Hanna, sister of the bride, was the bridemaid, and Howard Moore, of New York, a brother of the groom, was the best man.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hanna, was formerly employed at Hill & Shupp's dry goods store. The groom was a former resident at Warrenville, but now is engaged as a mason in Plainfield. He is an excellent basso and is a member of the choir of the First Baptist church. After a wedding trip the couple will take up their residence in the borough.

Sold Lemonade.

Miss Ethel Lorton and Miss Ruth Stryker conducted a very successful sale of lemonade on the lawn at 203 Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon. The patronage was gratifying and the amount realized will be used on the merry-go-round and in sight-seeing at Asbury Park on the day of their Sunday-school excursion.

Press Ad Did It.

There was advertised in yesterday's Press a lost sealed envelope, containing four neckties. Soon after the paper was issued J. J. McDonough, of South Plainfield, found the envelope and seeing the advertisement in the Daily Press returned the lost ties to the owner on West Seventh street.

Chinamen at Boynton.

Monday four thousand Chinamen from New York City will go to Boynton Beach and spend the day at that favorite summer resort. The steamer Grand Republic has been engaged to take the celestials to Boynton and grand preparations have been made to entertain the crowd.

Just Helplessly Drunk.

Patrolman Overtaugh was complainant in the city court, this morning against John Smith, whom he found helplessly drunk, last night. Smith pleaded guilty but as there was no disorder connected with the case sentence was suspended.

Honors for Elwood Davis.

Among this year's graduates at Rutgers College is Elwood Davis, of Bound Brook, who was awarded second scientific honors. Mr. Davis was graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1898.

Open air Gospel services are being held as formerly Sunday afternoons at 4 o'clock, when weather permits, on Paul J. Loizeaux's grounds, Brook avenue. All are welcome.

Two New Bridges.

Freeholder Wm. Westphal is hopeful that within a short time the work of erecting two new bridges on Jackson avenue and Berckman street will be started.

Harold A. Nomer, of LaGrande avenue, left yesterday afternoon for Williamstown, Mass., where he will spend a few days. He enters Williams College in the fall.

OFFERED A SUITABLE SITE

S. D. DRAKE WILL GIVE PROPERTY FOR A NEW COURT HOUSE.

If the Somerset County Board of Freeholders Will Locate it at Bound Brook.

S. D. Drake, of Lincoln, has again come to the front by offering a desirable site at Bound Brook for a new Somerset county court house. The site Mr. Drake offers is 400 feet front and 300 feet deep, on a well-shaded avenue, on high ground and near the raliroad station. Mr. Drake says he will give the land free and clear to the Board of Freeholders if they will build a new court house on it.

This is the outcome of a article published in a Somerset county paper advocating the change of the county seat. It is argued that the change would save the county thousands of dollars. It is said that the present court and adjoining buildings could be sold for a good price, and the amount realized from that, together with the sum necessary to purchase additional land, would build a new court house. This would save the county from bonding itself for $100,000, and all taxpayers outside of Somerville and Raritan would be in favor of this saving.

It is claimed that Bound Brook is a better location for the county buildings owing to its railroad and trolley facilities. The Board of Trade of Bound Brook is now agitating the matter with the hope of accomplishing something. It is not believed, however, that Somerville will allow the county buildings to be removed from that place as they mean too much to Somerville and vicinity.

GRADUATES DANCED.

Alumni Association of the Borough High School Gave Reception to the Class of 1902.

The reception and dance given to the '02 graduates of the North Plainfield High School by the Alumni Association at the Park Club last evening, was a great success and fully enjoyed by the graduates as well as the members of the association. Music for dancing was furnished by Westervelt, of Newark.

The affair was given under the auspices of the officers of the Alumni Association as follows: President, Walter E. Hamilton; vice president, Frank Bach; treasurer, N. Douglass Drake. The latter was a house committee of one, while the decorations were in charge of Miss Grace Emmons. At midnight there was an intermission during which refreshments were served.

Played Great Golf.

An interesting golf match was played Wednesday afternoon on the Baltusrol Golf Club course between Walter Travis, F. O. Reinhart and Roy De Raismes. Travis played the best ball of Reinhart and De Raismes. The youngsters, being familiar with the course, set a merry pace for the champion, compelling him to do his prettiest to make it a halved match. The boys led most of the time, and at the fifteenth hole had Travis 2 down. De Raismes distinguished himself by outdriving Travis, though the best hole work of the boys was done by Reinhart. Travis' stroke score was the best of the three. To pull himself out of the difficulty the champion was compelled to win the last hole of the match. The scores were as follows:

Travis	5	4	4	6	4	5	5	5	3—41
Reinhart	4	5	4	6	4	4	6	4	4—41
De Raismes	4	5	4	7	5	5	6	5	4—45
Travis	4	4	3	5	5	5	5	4	3—38—79
Reinhart	4	3	4	5	4	5	6	4	4—39—80
De Raismes	4	3	4	5	4	5	6	4	4—39—84

FOWLER WILL BE NOMINATED

The Republican Congressional Convention at Belvidere Went in Session at 12:15.

WILL BE NO OPPOSITION.

Former Governor Voorhees Selected as Permanent Chairman and City Judge W. N. Runyon Will Make the Nominating Speech—Union Delegates at Belvidere House.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Belvidere, June 21—It was a rather damp aggregation of Republicans who assembled here this morning for the Republican Congressional convention of the Fifth district. As every body knew just what was going to happen, there was not the real need of buttonholing the delegates on the street corners and the politicians remained at headquarters most of the time until the time came for the convention to be called to order.

The Union county delegation arrived by special train shortly before noon and was soon ready to assemble at the Opera House for the convention. The county headquarters was made at the Belvidere House where the county delegates held a brief caucus. City Judge William N. Runyon was made chairman of the county delegation.

It was shortly after noon when George T. Pool, of Morristown, secretary of the Congressional committee, called the meeting to order and was made temporary chairman. After the appointment of committees, the convention took a brief recess to allow the committees to meet.

At the meeting of the committee on resolutions, the following platform was adopted which will be accepted by the convention:

The Republicans of the Fifth Congressional District of New Jersey, in convention assembled, do declare as follows:

1. They renew their allegiance to the policies of the Republican party as declared by it at its last national convention, and followed by it in its conduct of public affairs. By reason of the observance of these policies by the party in power, labor has been elevated, freedom and equality secured, justice established and our country blessed with a prosperity unparalleled in its history.

2. We cheerfully accord to President Roosevelt our heartiest endorsement of his conduct in public position. Assuming the grave duties and responsibilies of his office under conditions peculiarly trying, he has proved, by his wisdom, his energy and his patriotic conduct, a worthy successor to the great President whom he followed. He has with signal success fulfilled his declared purpose to continue and carry out "the policies of William McKinley."

His recommendations with reference to the treatment of the new Republic, until recently the ward of our Nation, should receive a generous prompt support. Such support is necessary if our country would fulfill its pledges made and thereby furnished to the world an example of disinterested effort in behalf of humanity without parallel in the history of nations.

3. Legitimate enterprise and commerce should not be fettered by hasty and ill-considered legislation, hampering that freedom which is so essential to success. Those combinations, however, which are formed for the restriction of trade and the destruction of competition, or which, by an unjustifiable enhancement of prices, prove hurtful to the people, should be made amenable to such laws as will subject them to control and examination and prevent them from working oppression or injustice. It is submitted that the solution of this question can be safely left to that party which has enacted the only legislation now on the statute books directed against such unlawful combinations and which has successfully grappled with and solved every great problem of government that has arisen during the past fifty years.

4. The conduct of the Republican party in the past, so far as it relates to the financial affairs of this Nation, has been such as to entitle it to the highest praise of those who have believed in protecting the business interests of our country from the evils of an unstable currency. We believe, however, that there should be some modification of our monetary system to meet the requirements of changed

THEATRICAL.

The summer season of vaudeville at Proctor's, Newark, continues with the attendance and interest at the top notch. The class of attractions fully equal the mid-season standard of excellence which brought this pretty playhouse into immediate favor from its opening date. So successful has been the plan of presenting summer vaudeville, that it has been determined to extend the season indefinitely. Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, New York, will continue its excellent bills of ideal summer vaudeville. There is always diversity and excellence in the numbers presented and the performances are continuous from noon till nearly midnight. At the Fifth Avenue Theatre the Proctor Stock Company will present "Capt. Swift," with E. M. Bell appearing in the role created by Maurice Barrymore. Up in Harlem the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street's offering will be "The New Boy," with Frederic Bond, general stage director of the Proctor Stock Company, playing the leading role. Manager Proctor has in press a pretty folder, illustrated with pictures of the leading members of the Proctor Stock Company which will soon be issued to patrons of his various theatres. The work promises to be a revelation in the printing art and is likely to be eagerly sought after by patrons of the Proctor theatres and admirers of the Proctor Stock Company.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

Permits Issued for New Building and Several Alterations.

Frank J. Wentz, of Philadelphia, agent for owners of the premises, has been granted, on behalf of the Union News Company, a permit to erect a stand under the rain shed of the Jersey Central Railroad station.

Benson & Brockway, architects, New York, have filed plans for various extensions and alterations to the dwelling of Dr. W. H. Murray, of Watchung avenue. The alterations will cost in the vicinity of $4,000. William Pangborn will do the masonry work; carpenter, C. M. Wilson.

W. H. Bohl, on behalf of Mrs. Amelia Adams, of Duer street, has been granted a permit to an extension to a dwelling house on Sixth street, near Watchung avenue. The extension is a two-story, 14x30 foot, structure, to be built as per plans on file. T. W. Warren is the architect and the masonry work will be done by James M. Lewis.

Miss Wray to Speak.

Miss Sara Wray, who will address the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, spoke in a series of meetings conducted by Colonel Hadley in this city some years ago, and she has also spoken in the Y. M. C. A. Hall at various times. She was formerly associated with Colonel Hadley in the conduct of the St. Bartholomew Mission, and is now superintendent of the Eighth Avenue Rescue Mission, of New York city. She is an interesting speaker. Miss Ethel Mae Derby, soprano soloist of the choir of Trinity Reformed church, will sing. Iced lemonade will be provided.

At Conference of Physical Directors.

Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, of the Y. M. C. A., has returned home after attending the conference of secretaries and directors at Mountain Lake, Maryland. Y. M. C. A. secretaries and physical directors were present at the conference from all parts of the Union and from Canada.

To Aid Cripple Child.

The people of Plainfield are reminded of the sale of fancy and useful articles to be held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Hill on Woodland avenue, for the benefit of a crippie child at the hospital. Refreshments will also be sold.

Temperance Sermon.

Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, will preach a temperance sermon at the First Church of Christ on Grove street Sunday evening.

Miss Etta Barcley, of Somerville, has been visiting Plainfield friends for a time.

Miss Smith, of Somerville, has been the guest of Mrs. Frank Vail, of Putnam avenue.

Miss Minnie Wyman, of Plainfield, is visiting her cousin, William Dalley, of Whitehouse.

Miss Virginia Bailly, of Manasquan, is visiting Miss Bessie Martin, of Jackson avenue.

Miss Katie Burk, of High Bridge, has been spending a few days with Plainfield friends.

Mrs. Wallace Vail, of Valley, N. J., has returned home after a visit with Plainfield relatives.

Mrs. Mary A. Huff, of this city, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Peter J. Huff, of Centreville.

Mrs. John T. Miller, of High Bridge, is spending a short time with friends in Plainfield.

Mrs. James Barr, of Centreville, has been spending several days with her mother in Plainfield.

Miss Randolph, of Plainfield, has been the guest of Miss Rittie Van Zandt, of Blawenburg.

Louis Squires and Fred Squires have returned from Williams College to their home in this city.

Miss Katherine Terry, of Albany, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. B. O. Bowers, of Franklin place.

Henry Demarest, of this city, has been visiting his sister, Miss Euphemia Demarest, of Frankfort,

Miss Florence Dodge, of East Front street, who has been quite ill for some time past, has entirely recovered.

Miss Russell, of New York, has been the guest of Miss Marion D. Woodcock, of West Seventh street.

Mrs. George H. Babcock, of West Eighth street, leaves today for her summer home at Watch Hill, R. I.

Jay VanArsdale and Anson Compton, of Pluckemin, have returned home after a visit with Plainfield friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sexton, of Bridgeport, Conn., have returned home after a visit with Plainfield friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Best, of Putnam avenue, left yesterday afternoon for the Adirondacks where they will spend the summer.

Miss Watson, of Paterson, has been spending a few days with her roommate at Vassar College, Miss Margaret Rand, of Watchung avenue.

Miss May Bryan, of Brooklyn, returned home today after spending a few days as a guest at the home of Dr. O. L. Jenkins, of East Front street.

Miss Grace E. Borroughs, of Watchung avenue, left yesterday afternoon for her home at Somerville, where she will spend the summer.

B. O. Bowers, Jr., of Franklin place, has made a flying trip home from Eastport, Me., where he is located for the summer and fall seasons.

Walter Gaston, of this city, who is general manager of the Taylor Iron and Steel Works at High Bridge, has gone to Moosehead Lake, Maine, for two weeks.

Ormond VanNest, son of Mr. and Mrs. George VanNest, underwent an operation of the throat this week from which he is rapidly recovering. Dr. Hedges performed the operation.

Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Tolles and the Misses Tolles, of Westervelt avenue, left yesterday for their summer home at Woodmont, Conn. Mr. Tolles will return next week but the others will spend the summer there.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

—Miss May Duckworth, of Duer street, has accepted the position of bookkeeper and cashier for a Front street business house.

Save the Children.

Statistics will prove that a large percentage of deaths among children may be traced to complications arising from the early souring of milk by bacteria. Cholera Infantum is the most fatal disease of infancy, and common, especially with bottle-fed infants. Perry Davis' Painkiller in the emergency is the best remedy and saves many a child's life while the doctor is coming. 25 and 50c. bottles.

FIERCE FOREST FIRES.

Towns In Washington Threatened With Destruction.

TACOMA, Wash., June 21.—The fire department of this city has sent men, engines and hose on a special train to Buckley, in this county, which is threatened with complete destruction by forest fires raging between that town and Enumclaw, King county. A great cloud of smoke hangs over Tacoma, thirty-three miles from Buckley. The Mountain mill, two miles east of Buckley, was burned yesterday. Undoubtedly many lives of mountain campers and loggers have been lost. At Buckley the efforts of a hundred men were concentrated to save a residence at the east end of Main street, eight blocks from the center of the town. The whole population is fighting the flames, but the waterworks have been burned, and the work is difficult. The wind is blowing a gale, and much farm property has been already destroyed.

A dispatch from Enumclaw says the damage to timber and buildings in the town is more than $100,000.

About forty women and children are shut off by fire from reaching the town and are suffering greatly from heat and smoke. Twenty buildings and a large mill are burning. Everybody is ready to remove, and wagons are being loaded.

Forest Fires In Colorado.

SALIDA, Colo., June 21.—Forest fires in the vicinity of Mount Ouray, southwest of this city, have swept up one gulch and down another, burning miles of valuable timber. A new fire started Thursday at Mills Switch, seven miles from the summit of Marshall pass, on the western slope and in very thick timber. It is less than fifteen feet from the Rio Grande tracks, and the smoke blinds the trainmen as they pass through.

CHILD KIDNAPED.

Girl Carried Away at the Point of Revolvers.

GREENWICH, Conn., June 21.—A carefully planned kidnaping was consummated at the Held House, Indian Harbor, late yesterday afternoon.

Frank E. Jennison, a New York broker, and his wife are suing for divorce. The wife was given the custody of a four-year-old daughter, Alice. On Sunday last Jennison seized the child in New York and brought her to the Held House, placing her in charge of a nurse. Detectives employed by Mrs. Jennison located the child on Monday. Tuesday G. H. Narcy and wife of New York registered at the hotel for the purpose of keeping Mrs. Jennison informed of her husband's actions.

During the absence of Mr. Jennison in New York yesterday Mrs. Elizabeth Dudley Jennison, accompanied by Detectives Landy and Shipman of New York, arrived at the hotel. The child was out on the grounds with her nurse, and the detectives demanded that the child be turned over to them. The nurse refused, and, she claims, Mr. Narcy, who had joined the party, knocked her down. Mr. Narcy then seized the child and stepped into a waiting carriage and drove rapidly toward the state line. The rest of the party followed closely in another carriage. At the state line the two parties met and boarded a trolley car.

Constable Nedley of Greenwich traced them as far as Rye. At this point he was unable to learn anything further as to the whereabouts of the kidnaping party.

During the scene in front of the hotel a young man, said to be Mr. Jennison's secretary, appeared and protested against the child being taken away. To strengthen his argument he drew a revolver, but the detectives also drew revolvers and covered the young man until they departed in the carriages.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A district council in County Mayo, Ireland, has voted to hoist a black flag over its chamber on coronation day.

The German emperor, at Aix-la-Chapelle, made a solemn plea for religion, declaring it the foundation of the German state.

An order was given by officers of the Miners' union to restrict the output of soft coal in northern and central Pennsylvania.

The Wisconsin supreme court has declared invalid the law prohibiting the discharge of an employee because he belongs to a union.

PEACE IN PATERSON

But Troops and Police Are on the Alert.

ANARCHISTS MUST LEAVE THE CITY

Business Men Form Secret Organization to Rid Town of Lawless and Dangerous Element—A Blacklist to Be Kept.

PATERSON, N. J., June 21.—Mayor John Hinchcliffe seems to be in complete control of the situation here, backed as he is by the entire peace controlling force of the city and a goodly portion of the state militia. The soldiers' presence has had a deterrent effect upon the reds, and they are not in evidence in the city. They have retired for the time, and once more the peaceful intelligent section of the dyers' helpers is in the ascendant.

The troops remained on duty last night and were relieved by the deputies this morning. No troops will do duty in the daytime unless there should be serious trouble.

An organization has been completed composed of fifty wealthy business men of this city to be known to the public as the Paterson vigilance committee, but the membership and proceedings are not to be made public. Private detectives have already been engaged to shadow the leading reds. The anarchists are to be induced to leave Paterson quietly if possible. If they do not go, the committee is said to have its own plan for action. One of the methods to be employed is said to be the keeping of a blacklist, and no matter where in Paterson a man on it obtains work his employer will be notified to dismiss him.

If this plan be carried out, it will starve out of the city all anarchists who may come here. It is said the committee has $250,000 pledged by the men composing it to carry out its purposes.

Sheriff Soley of Bergen county at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon telephoned to Sheriff Sturr that a mob led by women from Paterson had invaded his domain. He said that he feared trouble and asked if it became necessary if he might call upon the troops here to quell any disturbance.

Mayor Hinchliffe of Paterson as soon as he heard about the mob in Bergen county sent an order to New York for enough Winchester rifles to equip the whole police force under his command.

Every silk factory in Union Hill, with the exception of the R. & H. Simon mill, on Gardner street, is closed. In view of the riotous conduct of the strikers and their sympathizers in Paterson the mill owners have decided not to attempt to resume operations for the present.

Violators of Interstate Law Indicted.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 21.—The federal grand jury which has been investigating the alleged violations of the interstate commerce law relating to the pooling of cotton rates out of Atlanta has returned three indictments, one against five of the railroads entering Atlanta and one against individuals representing the railroads charging them with violating the law to regulate commerce and a joint indictment against both railroads and individuals for violating the Sherman antitrust act. The railroads indicted are the Southern railway, Seaboard Air line, Atlanta and West Point, Western and Atlantic and Georgia Railroad and Banking company.

Crozier's Nomination Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The following confirmations have been made by the senate: Captain William Crozier, ordnance department, to be chief of ordnance, with rank of brigadier general; S. S. Lyon, New Jersey, consul at Kobe, Japan; Henry T. Dunn, collector of customs, district of Brunswick, Ga.; William R. Logan, Indian agent for the Belknap agency, Montana; Blanchard B. Weber of Salamanca, N. Y., agent for the Indians of the New York agency. The vote on the motion to confirm General Crozier was 44 to 12.

Humbert Pictures Sold.

PARIS, June 21.—Nearly 600,000 francs, or three times the estimated value of the pictures, was realized at the sale by auction yesterday of the first batch of sixty-nine paintings belonging to Mme. Humbert, who has left Paris as a result of disclosures said to connect her with a gigantic swindling scheme and whose whereabouts is at present unknown. The picture gallery of George Petit, where the sale was held, was filled to its utmost capacity by those who came to attend the auction.

Harvard Beaten by Yale.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 21.—Yale won an easy victory over Harvard on Soldiers' field in the first of the annual series of baseball games, the score standing 7 to 2. It was Harvard's class day, and the game had been postponed one day on account of the rain. It was a contest of pitchers, although there were only five strike outs in the game. Yale scored in only two innings.

More Defeats For Castro.

LONDON, June 21.—From Willemstad, island of Curacao, a correspondent of the Daily Mail cables that the Venezuelan insurgents continue to prevail against the forces of President Castro and that bodies of guerrillas entered La Guayra and killed the leaders Carrietdo and Sarrin.

LONDON, June 21.—The board of trade has awarded a handsome piece of plate to Captain Freeman of the British steamer Roddam in recognition of his gallantry at St. Pierre, Martinique, when that town was destroyed.

COAL FAMINE LIKELY

If General Suspension of Mining Is Ordered.

SOME FIGURES BY SECRETARY WILSON

There Are Now More Than 300,000 Unionized Mine Workers—The Anthracite Organization Includes 47,000 Men.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 21.—It is estimated by W. B. Wilson, secretary and treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, that the present supply of bituminous and anthracite coal above ground would be exhausted in less than three months if there should be a general suspension of work in the mines.

According to this estimate, if the national convention of mine workers in Indianapolis July 17 should vote for a general suspension of work in support of the anthracite strike, as is now proposed, the vast industrial machinery of the United States would be so handicapped for fuel that thousands of factories would have to suspend work.

Mr. Wilson has statistics showing that there are approximately 450,000 miners in the country, scattered through thirty states. The miners of twenty-four states would be actively involved if there should be a suspension of operations. In Idaho, Nevada, California, the Dakotas, North Carolina and two or three other states brown coal, known as lignite, is mined, but the organization did not take these states into consideration when it issued a call for the national convention.

There are now more than 300,000 members of the mine workers organized. Mr. Wilson says that nearly every nonunion man would go out if a general suspension of work should be ordered. During the first anthracite strike two years ago there were only 8,000 anthracite men in the organization, yet more than 125,000 men went out.

The anthracite organization now includes 47,000 men, and since the strike was ordered a few days ago the Virginia and West Virginia men have been flocking to the union.

In Indiana 10,800 men are employed in and about the mines. The Indiana operators have a short supply of coal on hand. Probably the largest supply of coal is in the bins at Buffalo and other cities along the great lakes. Mr. Wilson says it is impossible to keep a large supply of bituminous coal long because of the liability of loss from spontaneous combustion.

Anthracite can be stored indefinitely, but the supply in the collieries is now running short. The bituminous mines in most localities are being worked at capacity, but the supply is shorter than usual.

Canada has no coal on which this country could draw if there should be a general tieup. The British isles might supply a part of the market, but at a price that would be almost prohibitive to the manufacturers and ordinary consumers. The tariff on imported coal is 67 cents a ton more than the miners receive as a rule for mining in the United States.

At the coming convention the belief is that the competitive districts, western Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, will take a hand against a general strike. These states have contracts that they do not want to break. The combined vote of the competitive district, with that of Iowa, is expected to prove strong enough to prevent the success of the proposition for a general strike.

Strikers Taking a Rest.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 21.—For the past two days there has been no new developments in the strike situation. The army of striking miners have been taking a rest, having discontinued their march for a day or so in order to be in shape for a grand march to take place today throughout the entire field. The forty odd collieries pay off their employees today, and the strikers claim that the majority of the men not now out will strike after getting paid.

Quiet at Headquarters.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 21.—Yesterday was one of the quietest days around strike headquarters since the anthracite mine workers suspended operations six weeks ago. Nothing developed, and neither President Mitchell nor the coal company officials had anything to say regarding the situation. Reports from the entire region were to the effect that all the mining towns were very quiet and that the 150,000 idle men and boys are keeping away from the collieries.

Miners Arrested.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., June 21.—Thomas Haggerty, Bernard Rice and eight or ten other organizers and discharged miners were arrested at a miners' mass meeting here for violating Judge Jackson's injunction. Mother Jones, the labor organizer, spoke for some time, but was not molested.

Epworth Leaguers Call on President.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—President Roosevelt yesterday afternoon received the officers and delegates attending the fourth general conference district Epworth league convention, which began here Thursday night. Over 200 leaguers marched to the executive mansion and shook hands with the chief executive.

Convicted of Murder.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 21.—Harvey D. Montgomery has been convicted of murder in the first degree for shooting his wife at their home near Walton, Delaware county. He will be sentenced on Monday.

SCHOOL BOARD INDICTED.

Quaker City Officials Accused of Taking Bribes From Schoolteachers.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—Twenty-four true bills of indictment have been returned by the grand jury charging Thomas F. Seixas, B. Frank Brown, Joseph Travis, Albert W. Wieder, William H. Sivel and David Johnson with conspiracy to extort money and to commit bribery in connection with the appointment of schoolteachers. All of the defendants but Johnson are members of the Twenty-eighth ward sectional school board. Johnson is said to have acted as an intermediary between persons seeking positions as schoolteachers and the directors.

The indictments were based upon evidence submitted by the board of education and strengthened by witnesses examined by District Attorney Weaver. Charges were made recently that candidates for positions as schoolteachers in the institutions controlled by the Twenty-eighth sectional school board were compelled to pay to the directors various amounts of money in order to secure the appointments. The allegations were investigated by the board of education and the district attorney, and the latter, on the authority of Judge Beitler of the quarter sessions court, presented the result of the investigation to the grand jury, the indictments following.

NO DECISION REACHED.

Republican Conference on Cuban Question Without Results.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The Republican senators held another conference yesterday on the question of Cuban reciprocity and after a three hours' discussion adjourned subject to the call of Chairman Allison without action. Almost all the Republican senators who are in the city were present. There were eight or nine speeches made in support of reciprocity and only two in opposition to that policy. This was in accord with a previous understanding that as the beet sugar senators had monopolized the attention of the conference on Wednesday night their opponents yesterday should have the greater share of the time.

The speeches in support of the reciprocity bill were made by Senators Foraker, Beveridge, Lodge, Hale, Warren, Aldrich, McComas and Hanna, Senator Platt of Connecticut adding a few words to what he had said at the Wednesday evening meeting. The two speeches in opposition to the proposed legislation were made by Senators Burton and Burrows. The speeches for reciprocity were all along the same general line and, without exception, were pleas for legislation and for party harmony.

VALET JONES FREE.

Confessed Murderer of Millionaire Rice Out on Bail.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Charles F. Jones, the self confessed murderer of Millionaire William Marsh Rice, has been released on $1,000 bail by Recorder Goff.

Recommendation for the release was made by Assistant District Attorney Osborne and was indorsed by District Attorney Jerome.

Jones was arrested with Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer, for the murder of Rice. Bail was fixed at $10,000 in each case. Jones confessed and has been under surveillance ever since.

Patrick is in the deathhouse in Sing Sing awaiting the result of his appeal.

Immediately after his bail bond was accepted Jones left for his former home in Texas, accompanied by his brother William.

B. F. Jacobs Critically Ill.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Benjamin F. Jacobs, a well known real estate man of Chicago, specially prominent for his activity in church and charitable work throughout the country, is very ill at his home from a complication of Bright's disease and heart failure. Little hope is expressed for his recovery. Mr. Jacobs has been an active organizer, having been connected with the Young Men's Christian association, several waifs' missions and the national Sunday school movement. During the civil war he was secretary of the northwestern branch of the United States Christian commission.

The President's Quarters Cramped.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The work of demolishing the interior of the White House has progressed so rapidly that the president finds himself cramped for space, rendering it difficult to transact the business of his office. Owing to this condition of affairs he has determined that hereafter he would be unable to receive any callers except senators and representatives, government officials and those having only the most urgent business.

Princeton Gives Negro a Degree.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 21.—Announcement is made here that among the degrees conferred during Princeton's commencement was the degree of master of arts upon George S. Stark, a negro and the first of his race to receive a degree from the university. He is a resident of Baltimore and last month graduated from the Princeton Theological seminary.

No Trace of Missing Teachers.

MANILA, June 21.—No trace has been found of the four American schoolteachers of Cebu, island of Cebu, who started on a day's outing June 10 and who have not been heard of since. Additional scouting parties have been sent out to look for the missing persons, and the search will be continued until definite information regarding them is obtained.

Lord Kitchener Coming Home.

CAPE TOWN, June 21.—Lord Kitchener will arrive here from Pretoria June 23 and will sail hence for England the same day.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Business Quiet In the East, but Better In the West.

NEW YORK, June 21.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Trade at the east is more quiet owing to the advancing season, and the bad effect of prolonged labor controversies is being felt in certain lines. Reports from the interior and the far west are more encouraging, bountiful harvests being expected, while the light stocks carried over from the previous season assure profitable prices. The best indication of continued prosperity is the fact that quotations do not recede even in the lines where at present there is only a moderate degree of activity. There is no evidence of yielding on either side in the coal strike.

Uncertainty regarding their ability to secure pig iron at reasonable prices is making producers of steel cautious in accepting contracts that call for delivery at even remote dates. Raw material is undoubtedly in right supply, and the anthracite coal strike has suspended work at a number of furnaces. Coke production is attaining new records each week in the endeavor to supply all requirements, and better railway facilities are making unprecedented shipments from the Connellsville region.

Quiet conditions prevail in eastern dry goods and footwear markets. Distribution of textiles from second hands is only of average volume, and it is evident that jobbers' supplies require only moderate replenishing.

It is noteworthy that prices in all textile lines are firmly held despite the slow movement, indicating confidence on the part of sellers. Shoe shops in New England have more orders, yet most factories only operate part time, and some are entirely idle. Leather is dull and foreign dry hides weaker.

Lack of rain in the southwest is the only seriously unfavorable crop indication of the week, while exceptionally encouraging reports are received from most points.

Failures for the week numbered 194 in the United States against 193 last year and 19 in Canada against 14 a year ago.

NEW YORK HARBOR SPOILED?

The Rocky Floor Found to Have Lifted Twenty-four Feet.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The engineer in charge of New York harbor has made a startling discovery. Instead of having fifty feet of water for great ocean steamers he has found that there is only twenty-six feet clear.

The Kensington recently struck a reef which was at first thought to be only a temporary obstruction, and a local contractor agreed to remove the obstacle for $600.

When he started to work, he discovered that the entire stone floor of the harbor had lifted and that it will take many thousands of dollars to scoop out enough rock to give ocean going steamers safe passage.

It is believed that the volcanic disturbances in the West Indies are responsible and that they have extended far north under the waters of the ocean.

New Yorker Gets Contract.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 21.—The contract for building the Asheville and Rutherfordton railroad has been let to George T. Canis of New York, and work will begin at once. It is understood here that the Seaboard Air line is backing the movement and that the road will be extended through the mountains to the Tennessee line.

Six Killed in a Wreck.

TALK DAY AND NIGHT

Many Speeches In House on Philippine Measure.

CANAL BILL SENT TO CONFERENCE.

Report Gains Circulation That the House Will Agree to the Senate Amendment Without a Long Struggle.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Debate on the Philippine civil government bill continued yesterday in the house from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. and at a session held last night. The speakers were given close attention, each side enthusiastically applauding its representative orators. Mr. Jones (Va.), the ranking minority member of the insular affairs committee, concluded his speech begun Thursday. The other speakers were Messrs. Hamilton (Mich.) and Kahn (Cal.) for the bill and Mr. Patterson (Tenn.) against it. Mr. Kahn's speech was largely an interesting personal narrative of his experiences in the Philippines last summer. The isthmian canal bill was sent to conference after the senate amendment had been nonconcurred in. The house reiterated the position it had taken on the army appropriation bill by ignoring the action of the senate and sending the bill back to the senate after voting to adhere to its disagreement to the objectionable army post amendments.

Soon after the house had sent the canal bill to conference reports gained circulation among members that there was not likely to be a protracted struggle in conference and that the senate amendment probably would be the basis of the ultimate agreement. One of the house conferees, Mr. Fletcher (Minn.), frankly stated to his associates that he thought an agreement would be reached on the Panama amendment. Chairman Hepburn was not prepared, however, to concede that the fight was over.

No business of importance was transacted by the senate in open session except to agree to a conference report finally disposing of the Military academy appropriation bill. Soon after the disposition of routine business the senate went into executive session and at 3:10 p. m. adjourned until Monday.

Dresden In Mourning

DRESDEN, Saxony, June 21.—The bells of this city were tolled yesterday in memory of King Albert, who died the day previous at the castle of Sibyllenort, and Dresden was hung in black. The body of the late king will be brought here tonight at 9 o'clock. It will be placed in the court church and remain there until the interment, which will take place next Monday evening at 9 o'clock in the crypt of the church. In the meantime the body of his majesty will lie in state for public view. Emperor William and a large number of the German princes will attend the funeral. The Saxon ministry has proclaimed Prince George, brother of the late king, king of Saxony. Prince George has taken the oath of allegiance.

The Newport Bank Sensation.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 21.—Cashier Anthony S. Sherman of the Merchants' bank yet hovers between life and death from a pistol wound self inflicted, and the institution, over which for many years he had unquestioned control, is closed pending an investigation. Governor Kimball has been asked by creditors of the bank to order an inquiry under the state law which provides that if evidences of bankruptcy appear a receiver may be asked for. Until these steps are taken the real reason for Mr. Sherman's desire to end his life will not be known.

Norfolk to Honor Waller.

NORFOLK, Va., June 21.—Preparations are now complete for the reception of Major L. J. T. Waller on his return to his native city, where he first saw military service in the sixties as a member of the Norfolk Light Artillery Blues. A magnificent banquet will be tendered him, on which occasion a handsome sword will be presented by his friends here. The preparations were made by the military organizations and business men of the city. The city will be gayly decorated.

Kansas Has a Heavy Rain.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 21.—A soaking rain, extending as far west as Wichita and east to the Missouri line, fell yesterday, nearly two inches of water falling at some points. Much wheat was washed out, and in many places the harvest will be delayed. Many small streams are out of their banks. At Wichita the streets were flooded. A heavy wind accompanied the rain and did some damage to crops.

British Navy Scored.

LONDON, June 21.—During the course of the discussion of the navy estimates in the house of commons Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, Conservative, scathingly criticised the deficiencies of the navy. He declared that the whole admiralty system was rotten and led to great extravagance and the general want of efficiency of the navy, on which depended the existence of the empire.

Antitrust Law Unconstitutional.

CHICAGO, June 21.—In a decision just given Judge Elbridge Hanecy of the state circuit court held that the Illinois antitrust law of 1891 is unconstitutional and void in all its parts. He ordered a finding in favor of the defendant in the case of the people on relation of the attorney general against the Butler Street Foundry and Iron company.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; fresh south winds, becoming west.

THE CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT.

The Republicans of Union county together with those of Warren and Morris, are now in convention at Belvidere, the county seat of Warren, to select a candidate to represent the new Fifth district in Congress. It is a foregone conclusion that Congressman Chas. N. Fowler will be named. There is not the slighest indication of any opposition in any of the three counties and it can be stated with a fair amount of certainty that the nomination will be a unanimous one.

A special train conveyed the delegates from this county to the scene of action this morning. A number of politicians outside of the delegations were also of the party. The only purpose of the throng will be to make a demonstration for Mr. Fowler. As they are to gather in a hot bed of Democracy it may be that such an exhibition will be of use to the Congressman in impressing the people of that section with some faint idea of his strength. There will be no chance, however, for any fight in the convention itself and all will be calm and peaceful.

Although Union county has a majority of two in the convention, it seems that most of the Republicans of Morris and Warren are willing to see the Union county man go into office. He has had considerable experience in Congress and it may be Morris and Warren would profit as much or more by his re-election as if a man were chosen from one of those counties who lacked the experience in the Congressional work.

The nomination of Mr. Flanagan by the Democrats in the old Fourth presaged his subsequert nomination in the new Fifth. That means that it will probably be Fowler against Flanagan when the Congressional campaign begins.

An article in The New York Herald affirmed that the so-called Panama hats are a fraud and are made of linoleum in Jersey City, and predicted that by July 1 nobody would wear one, relates the Philadelphia Record. The hat dealers reported that the article injured the sale of Panama hats. An advertisement by a leading firm of hatters challenged The Herald to the proof, and made so convincing a statement that the trade became brisker than ever. Publicity is effective.

It was a very pretty compliment that Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut paid the Plainfield public schools at the commencement exercises, Thursday night. He told how he had travelled in every State and territory in the Union, except four, and that in each the reputation of the Plainfield schools had preceded him. It is pleasant to know that Plainfield has won such a reputation along educational lines.

Commencement week has been a very busy one in Plainfield. With exercises and receptions to the graduating classes in the City and Borough High Schools and Leal's School, the time has been well taken up.

If the strike in the coal mines continues much longer, it is likely to seriously inconvenience the people of Plainfield as well as those of other places.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Every smoker loves a good cigar. Dobbins' cigars are all made by hand from the best tobacco.

Owing to the rain the specials advertised by Woodhull & Martin for today will be on sale Monday.

R. B. VanArsdale, the practical tile setter, is engaged at present on a number of large contracts. He makes a specialty of mantels, tile floors and grates.

Fowler's confections and ice cream are synonyms for purity. That's why they are used so extensively. Leave a trial order at the store and it will be delivered promptly.

Sebring, the Park avenue tailor, is showing an attractive line of new suitings and trousers. The quality is guaranteed and Sebring has the reputation of giving good value.

Harry Werner, the West Front street clothier, has inaugurated his annual sale of summer serges. A better opportunity to get one of these fine suits has never been offered.

People with fastidious palates should remember that Geo. Kirch, corner Liberty and Fourth streets, keeps the famous "Red Shield" groceries. No dissatisfaction if you buy from Kirch.

This is the month when Hymen is in his glory. If you think of buying a wedding present for any of your friends you will have no difficulty in choosing if you go to L. Moraller & Son's, Park avenue.

Reed and rattan couches—the easy kind, the resting and cooling kind—made for summer use are at Powlison & Jones' furniture emporium in profusion. A fine lot of new porch rockers also just received.

A summer gown to be complete should be properly trimmed and there is nothing better or more attractive than the pretty laces to be found at Peck's. He also sells exclusive designs in summer goods for dresses.

Judging by the constantly increasing trade at Woodhull & Martin's store it is evident that the people of Plainfield are pleased with the goods offered. Everything in the store is seasonable and people can save themselves a lot of money, time and trouble by shopping at such a store in preference to going to New York.

5. We commend the Honorable John Kean and the Honorable John F. Dryden, our United States Senators, for their careful attention and loyal devotion to the interests of the people of this State, and express our cordial approval of the wise and conscientious manner in which they have discharged their legislative duties.

6. We pledge our earnest efforts in behalf of the election of the nominee of this convention and we bespeak for him the support of all who believe it best to "leave well enough alone" and desire the continuance of the prosperity and good times that began with the election of President McKinley.

The committee on permanent organization selected Former Governor F. M. Voorhees as permanent chairman. It is understood that the honor of nominating Congressman Fowler will fall to City Judge William N. Runyon of Plainfield. There will be no contest and the nomination will be seconded by both Warren and Morris and made unanimously amid much enthusiasm.

PERSONAL.

Elijah Dufford, of Middle Valley, N. J., has been visiting his son, Geo. Dufford, of Somerset place.

Edward Hart and daughter, Miss Clara Hart, of New York, are visiting at the home of W. W. Hart, 30 Duer street.

Mrs. Stephen Voorhees and daughter, Miss Ruth Voorhees, of Plainfield, have been spending the week with Alfred I. Voorhees, of Griggstown.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

YOUNG FOLK BADE FAREWELL

the prayer, the fost, the vigil, the eucharist, with the placing of a sword on his back, the candidate was dubbed a knight. So, you graduates tonight, after registering a solemn vow, like them, to maintain the laws of chivalry and honor, would be dubbed knights of learning.

The interest displayed by the presence of so many people was a hopeful token. If the young people on the stage merely accumulated $1,000 the interest shown would not be half so great. It seemed as if they had come together to make a mutual pledge. In conclusion the speaker advised the graduates always to retain a high sense of honor together with a fear of God and to be able to say with King Harry: "I am not covetous of gold; such outward things are not in my desire, but if it be a sin to covet honor, I am the most offending man alive."

The valedictory, by Miss Nellie Mantz, was a clever compositions, couched in pure and elegant English, and delivered clearly and distinctly. Her topic was "Literature," embracing a broad view of English and American letters, and the effects of good literature upon national and individual life. Turning to the class she made the farewell in these words:

"Classmates, tonight we are assembled for the last time as a united class; tomorrow we enter upon a new and broader field. How large these four years seem as we look back—we did not realize how large until we had reached the end. Much we have won and let us remember the extent of our opportunity is the measure of our responsibility. From this time forth we are responsible for what we have learned and our query should be not what is in the world for me, but what is in me for the world! Truly, he that would save his life must lose it and he that loses his life saves it for the sake of the community, State or nation and finds it returning to self one-hundred fold. So let us go forth with a singleness of purpose in seeking the truth and the good; with a self-dedication for the service of society that we all may become in our several fields of labor, national benefactors."

The salutatory address by Charles Frederick Windham was a well prepared and thoughtful essay on American influence, especially in the nation's new possessions. In his introduction he spoke of the pleasure of the class, that could not be otherise than tinged with sadness, that the year's work had come to a close. No one was glad to leave the school, but all glad that they enjoyed the privilege to be in attendance there. After dealing with the effect that would be produced by American predominance in Cuba and the Philippines he closed with the prediction that "in coming years when standing on the heights of a better and nobler civilization these people would unite to do honor to America for her noble work."

The class who were graduated last evening and who occupied positions on the stage with Robert Hand, the president, seated in the centre, were:

Miss Nettie Louise Bauersachs, Miss Adelaide Carney, Miss Winifred Charlotte Carroll, Miss Elizabeth Cameron Davenport, Miss Jennie May Everitt, Robert F. Hand, Miss Nellie Mantz, Miss Alice Emily Martin, Miss Harriet Bainbridge Messersmith, Edward White Overton, Miss Ella Pearson, Miss Elizabeth M. Ryan, Raymond Sperry Stevens, Miss Elizabeth Vermeule, Charles Frederick Windham. Miss Anna Mabel Stevens, another graduate, was unavoidably absent from the exerises last evening.

The names of those who sang in the various choruses are: Misses Winifred Carroll, Agnes LaBoyteaux, Nora Schenck, Sadie Fountain, Nettie Bauersachs, Florence Conroy, Drucilla Smith, Florence Lawson, Hazel Martin and Clyde Slater, with Miss Clara VanFleet presiding at the piano.

In a short address previous to the presentation of the diplomas, James R. Joy, chairman of the Board of Education, regretted the absence of A. V. D. Honeyman and paid an eloquent tribute to S. St. John McCutchen and his interest in the cause of education. Mr. McCutchen, up to a few months ago, was president of the board and had served on that body for ten years.

Frank Hart, driver of No. 2 hose wagon, fire headquarters, leaves on a ten days' vacation tomorrow morning.

SUMMER VESTS

The Fad of the Hour

More Fancy and White Vests worn this year than for 20 years

Anticipating this I have bought from a manufacturer the balance of his stock at my own price and will place on sale for one week, beginning SATURDAY, JUNE 21, the largest and best assortment of White and Fancy Vests ever shown in Plainfield, at prices below the cost to manufacture.

This line is composed entirely of fine vests, made only for fine trade, and includes French Percales, Irish Linen Dks, Kahki, etc. Twenty styles to select from. Double breasted with and without collars, single breasted with and without collars, full dress of several different styles and shape.

Following are a few prices quoted:

Lot 1084.
Fancy stripe DK AB sold in most stores for $2.00.
My Price $1.00.

Lot 1089.
6 Buttons, high cut in front, very fashionable. Regular price $2.25.
My Price $1.10.

Lot 1162.
Pearl DK DB vest, one of the heaviest sellers among the fine trades, a fine vest. Regular price $3.75.
My Price $1.90.

Lot 1150.
White French PK double breasted 3 button vest with collar. This is an especially good thing. Regular price $3.50.
My Price 1.75.

Lot 1170.
A very fine fancy silk and linen mixed, can be used winter and summer. The garment retails at $4.00.
My Price $2.25.

Lot 1138.
This will appeal to the very fine dressers only 26 vests in the lot, very fine Irish linen double breasted with collar, worth at least $5.00. I am showing them during this sale
$3.00.

This line cannot be surpassed in quality in any store in New York, and I positively tell you that no better assortment is shown any place.

Call and see them and be convinced. I can suit you and please you with tailoring, furnishings, hats, etc.

THEODORE C. SEARCH.

Philadelphia Hat Manufacturer Wants to Be Secretary of Commerce and Industries.

Theodore C. Search, the president of the reciprocity convention which recently met at Washington, is an optimist of the first water. He says the convention marks "a great stride toward reciprocity." Nearly everybody else bade the delegates good-by with the feeling that, like the king of France, they had merely "marched up the hill and down again," for the resolutions adopted favored only that brand of reciprocity which interferes with no American industry. The average man is of the opinion that this kind of reciprocity is no reciprocity at all, for, as President McKinley said, this country must confer favors if it is to receive favors, and some lines of trade are pretty sure to be interfered with when we begin to extend concessions in exchange for foreign commerce.

Mr. Search is said to be a candidate for the new cabinet position which will be created by the establishment of the proposed department of commerce and industries. He is a Philadelphia manufacturer, and his friends say he is admirably fitted for the place. Those who are pushing his claims hint that it is his due for being identified with the original movement demanding the new department. The Chicago Post points out that Chicago business men were the pioneers in this agitation, having brought the subject before the administration four years ago. Chicago, continues that paper, should not let the Quaker City steal its thunder, and when the time comes might ask with good grace for the appointment of one of its own citizens. Illinois has one cabinet member now; but so has Pennsylvania, for that matter.

THOMAS B. FERGUSON.

New Governor of Oklahoma Once Was Cleveland's Minister to Sweden and Norway.

Thomas B. Ferguson, the newly appointed governor of Oklahoma, was appointed minister to Norway and Sweden by President Cleveland in 1894. He is a native of Maryland, credited to Baltimore, but he made his home in Washington for many years previous to his appointment. He was a member of the United States fish commission and served with great ability, using his wealth and high social position to make the commission a popular service at a time when the work was in its infancy and needed friends.

At the capital, where he is widely known and honored, he is called

THOMAS B. FERGUSON.
(Appointed Governor of Oklahoma by President Roosevelt.)

"major," and he and Mrs. Ferguson, who was a daughter of Gov. Swan, of Maryland, were prominent figures in Washington society. Their house on Highland terrace, Massachusetts avenue, was the center of the very best life in the city. Mrs. Ferguson met a cruel death a few months before her husband went to Sweden, the result of a street car accident.

Maj. Ferguson has never been active in politics, but he is known as a strong democrat. He is of kindly nature, of tact and ability, and is accredited with high merit as a diplomat.

Germans Like Our Tobacco.

In no other country in the world is the cigar so popular as in Germany, so much so that it is impossible to raise enough tobacco in the empire to supply the domestic demand. Last year Germany imported nearly $22,000,000 worth of tobacco, a little more than a third of it coming from the United States. The use of the cigarette is rapidly spreading in Germany. Last year 386 tons of cigarettes were consumed, at least five times as many as were needed ten years ago.

STORIES OF COCKRAN.

Famous New York Lawyer and Orator Has a Personal Charm That Is Irresistible.

Like several other famous New York men, W. Bourke Cockran was employed as a boy in the great dry goods store of the late Alexander T. Stewart. The strict ideas of thrift and economy that were insisted upon by the famous merchant were well known to young Cockran, as they were to every other employe in the establishment. But, like most boys, he became careless at times. One day Mr. Stewart caught him wasting string in tying up a package and discharged him.

Young Cockran never forgot the lesson and never forgave Mr. Stewart.

W. BOURKE COCKRAN.
(Lawyer, Orator and Eloquent Friend of the Boer.)

Years afterward, when he became a prominent lawyer he joined the Manhattan club, then the leading democratic social organization in New York city. One night, after the club had bought and moved into the Stewart marble mansion at Thirty-Fourth street and Fifth avenue, Bourke Cockran joined a few friends in the cafe and ordered a drink and a cigar. Of late years he has been a strict tetotaler, but in those days he took a drink with "the boys." After lighting the cigar, Cockran put his feet on the table and upset his drink on the carpet in a manner that seemed too deliberate to be accidental. His companions looked at him in astonishment. Cockran gazed into the glowing grate fire and rubbed his hands with satisfaction. Then he told about Stewart's treatment of him as a boy.

"After all these years," he concluded, "you don't know what a satisfaction it is to me to come in here and do just as I blank please in the old codger's dining-room."

No one ever talked five minutes with Bourke Cockran, says the Philadelphia Press, without falling under the spell of his wonderful personal charm, for he is as compelling in his conversation as in his oratory.

And no one has ever spoken more appreciatively of him than Mrs. William Astor, who, after he had won relations with the metropolitan four hundred, invited him to dine at the Astor board. Meeting a friend a day or two subsequent to the dinner, she said:

"I have dined with a very large proportion of the men now in public and social life on both sides of the Atlanic; Mr. Cockran is decidedly the most interesting character I have ever met."

place at noon. Only half a dozen relatives were present. Two little girls acted as bridesmaids. No reception followed the wedding and there was an entire absence of the elaborate ceremonies usually attending ducal weddings.

Alfred Douglas Hamilton, duke of Hamilton, marquis of Douglas and Clydesdale, earl of Angus, Lanark and Selkirk, lord of ten manors in Scotland and duke of Brandon of England, is 39 years old and the thirteenth in line of the duchy. This noble is one of the few who retain the medieval ducal privileges of a private army and a private chaplain. He owns 157,000 acres and lives in one of the finest palaces in Europe. Ouside of his lofty place in the peerage the present duke has done nothing to gain fame. Miss Poore, his bride, is a relative of Mrs. Poore, who married Lady Flora Hamilton in 1898.

HANDSOME GOWNS.

Artificial Flowers Are Much Used For Trimming Them.

Flowers are used on evening dresses in many ways, such as the powdering of single blossoms over the tunic and bertha or in a ruche placed at regular intervals. Ribbon is less used as a garniture, but choux of velvet or loose knots of velvet holding sprays of artificial flowers are very effective on pale gowns.

The applique craze has reached such a height that even artificial flowers and foliage are arranged in this way; but, excepting to surround a decolletage or to head a flounce, the effect is too stiff to be very successful. Garnitures of pearls, groups of tinsel butterflies or dragon flies and choux of velvet or satin edged with turquoise or coral beads are favorite ornaments for dancing gowns.

Exquisite robes of lace are shown with a heavy foot ruche of crepe de chine or chiffon, and where the pattern is sufficiently open horizontal stripes of velvet are run in and out, and tinsel ribbon is employed in the same fashion.

The subject of the sketch is a pretty pale blue mull gown. The waist is made with a tucked yoke and a bolero of lace, of which also the sleeves are made. The skirt has a yoke of the lace and is accordion plaited. The lace bolero and yoke are further ornamented by embroidery squares.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

DRESS HINTS.

Picture Gowns—Details of the Summer Muslins.

With plaited or baby bodices the belt is invariably wide at the back and narrow in front. Gold and silver tinsel is much worn on black and white gowns. The colored velvet belt is also popular, especially when choux of the same velvet are used elsewhere on the gown.

Chiffon, crepe de chine and even the old fashioned areophine are used for the now popular picture gown. Fichus of soft mull are a feature of these dresses.

The summer muslins are marvels of daintiness. They are almost all made with elbow sleeves, and quite a few are collarless. Perpendicular trimmings are marked features, together with many little ruffles. The skirts measure more around the bottom and are if anything more carefully fitted around the hips.

The majority of the ruffles are put on full, but occasionally one sees a group of gored ruffles overlapping each other regularly and edged with a narrow fluffy ruching.

A waist of white flannel useful for the beach and mountains is shown in the cut. It is made with a novel arrangement of stitching which gives a low bust effect. The stock is of white taffeta trimmed with Irish lace.

A DETECTIVE STORY.

CHAPTER XXV.

THE MURDER SYNDICATE.

"See here, Sturgis, this won't do. I forbade you to do a stroke of work to-day, or even to leave your bed; and here you are scribbling away just as though nothing had happened. I tell you when a man has the narrow squeak you have, there has been a tremendous strain upon his heart, and it is positively dangerous—"

"Don't scold, old man; I have never in my life been better than I feel to-day. And, besides, this work could not be postponed—"

"Oh, pshaw! That is what nine out of every ten patients say to their physician. They are modestly convinced that the world must needs come to a standstill if they cannot accomplish their tiny mite of work."

Dr. Thurston, who had assumed his frown of professional severity, proceeded to feel the reporter's pulse.

"Well, you are in luck; better than you deserve. Almost any other man would have been laid up for a week by the experience you have been through. And here you have the face to recover without the assistance of the medical profession, and in spite of your insolent disregard of my express orders to leave work alone for the present. Now, there is Sprague—"

"Ah, what of Sprague?" asked the reporter, anxiously.

"Sprague has had a close call. But he is safe now. If tender and intelligent nursing count for anything, he will probably be up in a day or two."

"Miss Murdock—"

"Yes. She has a professional nurse to help her; but she has insisted on taking charge of the case herself. And an excellent nurse she is, too, and a charming girl into the bargain—and what is more, a noble woman."

"Does she know of her father's death?"

"I broke the news as gently as possible. She took it much more calmly than I supposed she would. There evidently was but little sympathy between her and her father."

"On her side, at any rate."

"Yes. Her first act on learning of her father's crimes was to send for a lawyer. She refuses to touch a cent of his money, and has instructed her attorney to make such restitutions as may be possible and to turn the rest to charitable institutions. This leaves her almost penniless; for the property she held in her own right from her mother's estate amounts to very little. Fortunately, Sprague is rich enough for both. What are you doing there, if I may ask?"

Dr. Thurston pointed to a bundle which lay upon the table.

"That is Murdock's autobiography—a legacy to me. The package was found near his valise in the death chamber. He had addressed it to me at the last minute."

"Did it help you in your account of the Knickerbocker bank case for the Tempest?"

"A little; but naturally, Murdock's account of that crime was not complete. The entire journal, however, is of absorbing interest. It is a pity that it cannot be published."

"Why cannot it be published?"

"It would be dangerous to the welfare of society. Murdock was an extraordinary genius in his line; there is marvelous originality and ingenuity in his work. His crimes, numbered by the hundred, were all of capital importance in their results; all deep-laid and skillfully executed. It is hardly likely that such another consummate artist in crime will exist once a century. To publish the details of his schemes would be to put a formidable weapon in the hands of the vulgar herd of ordinary criminals, who lack the imagination of this brilliant villain.

"I tell you, Thurston," continued Sturgis, with what seemed very like enthusiastic conviction, "this man was the originator of almost every unsolved mystery which has nonplussed the police during the last 15 years. He had his agents in every important center throughout the country; agents working under potent incentives, and yet working in the dark, for few of them have ever known who held the mysterious power which directed their every move. Murder has been done wholesale; and so quietly and mysteriously has the work been accomplished that, in all but this last case, the detectives have found no clue whatever which might lead to an explanation of the sudden and unaccountable disappearance of wealthy men, whose bodies, shipped to the Manhattan Chemical company by Murdock's agents, were quietly and systematically made away with in the chemist's laboratory."

"He was the fiend incarnate!" exclaimed the physician.

"Well," said Sturgis, after a moment of thoughtful silence, "at any rate, he was not wantonly cruel. He was heartless; he was pitiless; but his cruelty was always a means to an end, however selfish and illegitimate that end might be. His cruelty is that, in a measure, of every human being destroying life that he may live and trampling upon his fellow men that he may be comfortable. Between Murdock and the rest of us there was a difference of degree, certainly, but was there a difference of kind?"

"There is one thing which I cannot yet understand," said Thurston, "and that is, why Murdock should have pushed his audacity to the point of defying you to ferret out the mystery of this crime, when he might perhaps have avoided all risk of detection by holding his tongue."

"No man is perfect," answered Sturgis, sententiously, "not even an accomplished villain like Murdock, fortunately for the rest of mankind. Every human being has his weak points. Murdock had two:—his vanity and his love for his daughter. They were the only traits which connected him with the human family. To them he owes his undoing."

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Union Avenue from North Avenue to Elizabeth Avenue; Elizabeth Avenue, from Union Avenue to Orange Avenue; and Orange Avenue, from Elizabeth Avenue to South Twelfth Street, all in the Township of Cranford, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, Nineteen Hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee, enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as estimated in advance, is as follows:

4,440 cubic Yards of Excavation.
7,783 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
2,390 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
405 square yards of Resurfacing Macadam, Two inches thick.
5 Culverts to be lowered.
8 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

Plans and Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of the Township Engineer, 25 Dix Building, Elizabeth, N. J.

THE OLYMPIAN GAMES.

President Roosevelt Suggested for Honorary President of the Great Athletic Event of 1904.

President Roosevelt as honorary president of the international Olympian games to be held in Chicago in 1904! Baron Coubertin, of Paris, the great and moving spirit in the international Olympian committee, as well as its executive, has written a letter to President Roosevelt asking him to accept the honorary position. Ambassador Porter has been given the letter, and in due time it will be placed before the president.

That Baron Coubertin on more than one occasion has shown his exceedingly pronounced friendship for

WILLIAM HALE THOMPSON.
(Chicago Head of the Olympian Games, to Be Held in 1904.)

the United States, and especially for Chicago, is known to those who were most prominent in getting the Olympian games for that city. Europe did not desire the games to go to the new world. Eastern cities, New York and Philadelphia, had out their lobbyists for the games. But the baron had carefully studied the situation and had spoken so highly of this country and the world's fair city that Chicago easily won the fight. In Europe President Roosevelt is regarded as the wholesome type of athletic enthusiast. With the international games directly under the supervision of the nation's chief, the foreigners will have great faith in the exercises at the stadium.

"Rooter in Washington for Harvard when the crimson met the blue; rooter on the side lines for the army team at Philadelphia when the West Pointers met the middies of Annapolis, and champion of all good healthy, manly sports, was and is Theodore Roosevelt," said a Chicago worker for the success of the Olympian games. "Why should not Mr. Roosevelt accept the position? We think he will."

RIGID DISCIPLINARIAN.

Bishop Charles C. McCabe Believes in the Semi-Military Government of Churches.

Bishop Charles C. McCabe, who is being harshly criticised by several members of the Emmanuel Methodist Episcopal church in Evanston, Ill. (because of his alleged autocratic methods of church government), is noted for his plain and outspoken directnessof opinion and for the general sturdiness of his mind. He has been a minister of the gospel for upwards of 40 years, and came originally from Ohio, from which state he went to the civil war in the uniform of a fighting soldier. The future bishop backed up his political principles with bullets, and after serving his term in Libby prison he left the army because of the failure of his health. His first pastorate was a little church at Portsmouth, O. Bishop McCabe's principal distinction has been his remarkable success as a collector of funds for missionary purposes, and in that capacity he stands unrivaled in the ranks of American church workers. He is 64 years old.

CHARLES M'CABE.
(One of the Most Forceful Bishops of the Methodist Church.)

Paternalism in Norway.

The paternal government of Norway has a fund of money amounting to about $500,000, which is loaned to farmers through the municipal officers to assist them in buying land. Such a proposition was advanced by the populists of Kansas some years ago and did not meet with any favor, but generally with ridicule. In Norway, however, it is actually in practice and small sums are loaned to industrious people at three per cent. interest for a term of 25 years to enable them to acquire farms and improve not only themselves, but the state.

CARE OF THE WET UMBRELLA.

Uncle Hiram Tells His Grandnephew What His Own Grandfather Had Told Him.

"My grandfather told me about it," said Uncle Hiram, according to the New York Sun, "but now my grandnephew asks me why we stand a wet umbrella to drip not tip but handle downward.

"I told my grandnephew that the reason for standing a wet umbrella on its handle rather than on its tip is that if it were stood on its tip more or less of the water on it running down the sides would, instead of running off, settle in the folds of the cloth around where the bows are joined to the stick and water-soak that part of the cloth which would remain wet or damp longer than the rest, and so have a tendency to rot and break.

"I have seen many an umbrella with a ragged edge little hole around the stick at the top that had been caused by the cloth decaying there from this cause; but you don't see so many of these nowadays as you used to for the simple reason that people are more intelligent nowadays about the care of umbrellas, as they are about all things else.

"Still, there's my grandnephew, a bright youngster, certainly, and he din't know, and there must be others; and for their benfit Uncle Hiram says, as to how to stand a wet umbrella when you bring it in from outdoors:

"Stand it on the handle."

BLOODY FIGHT OF EAGLES.

A Royal Pair in the New York Zoo Engage in a Fierce Conflict.

At the zoo in Central park, New York, there was a fierce and bloody fight the other day. The outcome, it is feared, may prove fatal to the male eagle, who provoked the battle. No one knows just how it started, but it may have been a scurrilous remark about the personal appearance of his mighty mate that drew down her wrath upon the luckless male—anyway, they fought.

Loud screams and angry thrashings in the cage first drew the keeper's attention when he discovered a frightful mix-up. The great curved beaks tore, the fearful talons struck and cut, the powerful wings beat and pommeled as the pair rolled in conflict on the floor. There was a brown nimbus of down and feathers in the air about them.

The female is much the larger and more powerful bird, says the New York Times, and at last succeeded in vanquishing her partner. He, poor, battered, featherless wretch, presented a pitiable sight when rescued by his keeper, though his eyes still flashed defiantly and his weak voice shrieked undying hatred at his conqueror. It was feared he would never recover.

FASHIONS IN WORDS.

"Lady" and "Party" Are Now Coming Back Into Favor After Long Disuse.

A word that is gradually coming into its own again after a period of neglect is "lady." After having been overworked until it lost its significance, the word was suddenly subdued and expelled from all polite, if not educated conversation.

Now there is a tendency to receive "lady" back into the modish vocabulary. The word is occasionally heard in the talk of persons who flatter themselves that they speak the latest New Yorkese. But it must be uttered with a slight emphasis in order to show that the word has just been taken up, says the New York Sun.

"Party" has after a term of banishment been restored to high favor in drawing-room conversation Only a few years ago the word was as much scorned as "lady" in circles that were supposed to be critical in details of such importance. It was never heard.

But now "party" is among the overworked words of the fashionable vocabulary and is added to every term of description.

Thus one hears of "musical parties," "dancing parties," and so on throughout the whole category.

ESTIMATING COAL SUPPLY.

Some Startling Figures as to the Unmined Quantity of Pennsylvania Anthracite.

A banking house in New York has made an estimate of the coal which remains in the anthracite beds of Pennsylvania, and finds that there are still 5,073,775,000 tons unmined. These beds are, with insignificant exceptions, the property of eight railroad corporations, which expect to mine 50,000,000 tons this season. At this rate the coal would last about 100 years; but the consumption of coal is constantly increasing, and if the estimate of the banking house is correct, the anthracite field of Pennsylvania will be exhausted long before the end of the century, says the Baltimore American.

While this coal is at present the most accessible and of excellent quality, there are other anthracite deposits which may be brought into general use within a few years that will remove all anxiety concerning the supply. The bituminous and semi-bituminous coal deposits are practically inexhaustible, and they extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific, some of the southwestern states and territories being to a large extent beds of coal.

Secret of Long Life.

A physician has declared that if only 20 minutes a day were spent in physical exercise as an adjunct to mental education most people might live to 70 without a day's illness, and perhaps prolong their lives to 100 years.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Bolsterle made a two-base hit, two safe hits, scored two runs, got left on base twice in last Saturday's game. Two is Bolsterle's lucky number, and it's not an odd number either.

Managers Johnson and Cose, of the Scotch Plains and Hope teams, have practically agreed upon two games on Labor Day. One is to be played in the 'Plains in the morning and the other in this city in the afternoon.

The Clinton Avenue team will have a shy at two of the League nines next month. On the Fourth they will meet the Y. M. C. A's. and July 5 the Hope team. Manager Squier is strengthening his aggreation in every way and hopes to get at least one victory.

The Hope Y. M. A. management went to considerable expense to place a pump on its baseball field and already some miscreant has started his contempable work. A small stand placed about it and a wooden hood used for protection, were broken in an attempt to pry off a lock with which the latter was fastened. The associa- will make an attempt to locate the perpetrator.

GOLF.

Frank O. Reinhart in competition with J. Whitney Baker beat his own best record and that of the course on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club links yesterday afternoon. His score for the eighteen holes was 73. Four times before this season Reinhart has made a 74, which is one below bogey. In his play yesterday he was 2 up on bogey in holes and 2 up in strokes. On the first nine holes going out he made 37 and on the return he scored 36. His card was as follows:

Out..4 4 4 5 4 4 4 4 4—37
In..4 6 4 3 3 4 4 4 4—36—73

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

A writer for The Trenton True American mentions Samuel S. Childs, of Somerset, as a possible candidate for Congress from this district. From what we know of Mr. Childs' wishes in this matter we incline to the opinion that he does not desire the nomination. The woods are full of gentlemen who might be prevailed upon to stand for the party. Two names that have been somewhat discussed, although neither may have appeared in print, are those of Gen. Donnelly, of Mercer, and ex-Senator Charles B. Moore, of Somerset. The latter is as well and favorably known in Mercer county as he is in Somerset.—Somerset Messenger.

There will be no international convention of Christian Endeavorers this year, but New Jersey will provide a State convention that promises to make Bridgeton, in Cumberland county, the scene of the liveliest religious gathering ever witnessed there. The programme is in the hands of persons well qualified to command attention. The New Jersey Christian Endeavorers will convene in the Central Methodist church July 16 and 17. Jersey City will be strongly represented. Rev. Cornelius Brett and Rev. Addison Moore will be among the Jersey City participants in what is likely to prove a notable convention of active New Jersey Christians.—Jersey City Journal.

Former Clerk in Chancery Lewis A. Thompson has announced his willingness to be the Republican candidate for Congress in the new Fourth district, of which Mercer county is the basis. Mr. Thompson comes from Somerset, and has been at odds there with Senator Charles A. Reed for years. The two are leaders of opposing factions, and now that Senator Reed is out of the calculations, from one cause and another, Mr. Thompson thinks he may step in and take away the honor. "My friends in Somerset," says he, "seem bent on having me enter the race. Since they became so active, and word of their movements was made public, I have received several reassuring messages from Hunterdon county. If the nomination came to me without a contest I would take it. I do not propose to make a fight for it."

The Mercer county leaders are not rushing into the Thompson camp, however, and as that county will control the convention it would seem that the former Chancery Clerk had little chance of winning out. There is still talk of so managing Moses Taylor Pyne, the millionaire Princetonian, that he will finally consent, despite his previous pointblank refusals, to accept the nomination. If he shall continue to refuse they will have to find a new man.—Philadelphia Record.

Leads Them All.

"One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says D. Scott Currin, of Loganton, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. L. W. People Who Speak Irish.

The Irish language is spoken in the Bahamas among the mixed descendants of the Hibernian patriots banished long ago by Cromwell to the West Indies. FOWLER NAMED FOR CONGRESS

Everything at Fifth Congressional District Convention Was Done as Arranged.

COMPLETE HARMONY.

Union County Delegates Went in a Special Train With Brass Band—No Opposition to Fowler—Wm. N. Runyon Made Nomination—Fowler Thanked Convention.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Belvidere, June 23—Congressman Charles Newell Fowler was nominated here Saturday afternoon as the Republican candidate in the new Fifth Congressional district, according to programme. Everybody did what they ought to have done and harmony reigned from the time that the first of the delegates to the Congressional convention gathered until the last of them bade farewell to the county seat of Warren.

The Union county delegation, to the number of 126, with fifty more politicians, arrived here shortly before noon, Saturday, and promptly marched to the opera house, headed by a brass band. The rain very conveniently let up for the moment. Warren's delegates were already in their places but the calling to order of the convention was delayed until the men from Morris arrived.

It did not take long to effect the temporary organization. Frank W. Runyon, of Plainfield, was one of the temporary secretaries named. After the appointment of committees, there was recess when the Union county crowd departed for the Belvidere House where dinner was served for them. There were short conferences of the committees before the convention met again at 2:30 o'clock.

The only change in the permanent organization was to make Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, of Elizabeth, chairman in place of John I. Blair Reilly, of Warren. Hamilton Fish Kean, of Elizabeth, headed the Union county delegation and was one of the committee which escorted Chairman Voorhees to the platform.

"I guess we dont' want any rules. I'll just run this convention myself," announced the former Governor, when the committee on rules offered a typewritten schedule. He was introduced by Mr. Reilly as a native of the old Fourth district, and in his speech on taking the chair told the delegates that he knew what it meant to be a Republican in Hunterdon or Warren.

"We are Republicans," said Mr. Voorhees, "because we believe in the principles of that party. As Republicans we cherish the memory of the loved, lovable and lamented McKinley, and rejoice in the country's prosperity, unequalled in history. We are not ashamed of the war we fought to so quick a finish for free Cuba; we are not ashamed of the party that has kept its promises thus far and given liberty to that neighboring republic. We are not ashamed of the man who was called to the Presidential chair under such trying circumstances, but has worthily followed in the footsteps of his lamented predecessor, and we are with him when he says that the party must fulfill the promises, made in national convention and by McKinley, that aid and sympathy must be extended to that suffering republic we helped to establish. There is no cause for discouragement in recent events. He has yet to lose his first fight; he knows the temperament and desire of the people of the country, and intends to have it take the form of law, or if not of law, then of treaty."

The former Governor declared that the flag in the Philippines must not come down until the islands were ready for self-government, and scored the "scolding, scoffing, sneering minority party" and "coffee cup critics" who advocated a policy to scuttle and sought to make political capital by casting reproach and discredit upon the American soldiers in the Philippines.

"In the words of the evangelist, 'Sometimes we're up, sometimes we're down, but glory hallelujah,'" concluded Mr. Voorhees, and the delegates shouted again.

The platform, as published in Saturday's Daily Press, was then adopted.

City Judge William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, nominated Mr. Fowler in an eloquent speech, reciting his biography and efforts on behalf of the

COLONEL JULIAN SCOTT COLLECTION OF CURIOS

Is a Remarkable Collection Which Has Long Existed in This City.

BUT FEW KNEW OF IT.

SAID TO BE ONE OF THE FINEST OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD.

A Few Facts Concerning the Valuable Articles Contained in the Collection—Plainfield Has So Far Made No Effort to Keep It.

There recently appeared in The Newark News a sketch of the career of the late Colonel Julian Scott, of Plainfield, together with an account of his extensive collection of curios, suggested by the fact that P. H. Scott, the executor of the estate, is at present disposing of that valuable collection made by his brother who was an artist of rare ability as well as an ardent naturalist and persistent curio hunter. The whole collection has been stored away for years on an upper floor of the Stillman building. Famous paintings, for which the painter had been offered large sums, relics of colonial days, curiosities dug up in the mounds of Arizona and New Mexico, and interesting things gathered among the Indians in the southwest are piled up there together.

This collection, which was accumulated by the colonel in a long period of time, will shortly disappear, for archeologists, curators of museums and private collectors are inspecting the things with a view of removing them to other parts. No attempt has been made on the part of the people of Plainfield, individually or as a whole, to become the possessor of the collection, which is said by experts to be one of the finest in existence.

Colonel Scott, who was widely known as a painter, spent a good part of his life here. Today his works are to be found in nearly every noted gallery of art in this section of the country, and many of his paintings are in private collections.

In his boyhood days he was a schoolmate of Admiral George Dewey in the little academy at Johnson, Vt. At the age of fifteen he enlisted as a musician in Company E. Third Vermont Volunteers. Before he completed his two and a half years of service he was appointed on the staff of General Baldy Smith. For acts of heroism during that brief period he subsequently received a medal of honor from Congress.

During his time in the service, Colonel Scott sketched from life such distinguished generals as Grant, Sheridan, McClellan, Butler, Rosecrans and Thomas. His drawings illustrated the pages of Harper's Weekly during the Rebellion. At the close of the war he entered the Academy of Design in New York, and subsequently pursued his studies in Paris. Afterward he opened a studio in New York. Twenty-seven years ago he removed to this city, and it was while here that he achieved his reputation.

In 1889 he was appointed by President Harrison as a commissioner to go to the Southwest and obtain the necessary statistics of the Indians, to be used in compiling the eleventh census. He spent two years there and gained the favor of the tribes.

Colonel Scott's paintings embrace a variety of subjects, although the majority of them are war scenes. His "Battle of Antietam," purchased by the late Colonel Elliott F. Shepard, hangs in the Union League Club, New York, and his "Rear Guard at White Oak Swamps'" is in a private collection. "The Death of General Sedgwick," which is another large canvas, adorning the gallery of the public library here, is one of his masterpieces. Just before his death the State of Connecticut offered Colonel Scott $20,000 for this work, but the negotiations were never completed. In the collection remaining here is "The Horse Race," which depicts a contest between the Moqui and Navajo tribes. Still another painting here is "The High Mesa," which is most vividly portrayed.

A life size portrait of General Winfield S. Hancock is placed in the local art gallery, and another oil of General Baldy Smith is in the collection. In the McClellan family collection is a painting of the famous general, which was purchased from the colonel by Mrs. George B. McClellan. Another one of these pictures of Lit-

FIRST FORMAL HOP AT THE NETHERWOOD

Hotel Guests and Plainfield Society Folk Mingled in the Ball Room of That Hostelry.

HELD SATURDAY NIGHT.

FIRST OF A SERIES TO BE HELD EVERY SATURDAY EVENING.

Invited Guests From Plainfield Assisted in a Delightful Social Function at the Hotel on the Hill—Excellent Music by the Orchestra.

Good music, a splendid floor, a cool evening, congenial company and all the attributes necessary for a delightful function made the first formal hop, held at the Hotel Netherwood, Saturday eveinng, a brilliant and successful affair. It was the first of a series that will be regular weekly attractions at the popular hostelry during the summer.

More than one hundred men and women in evening dress for almost three hours whirled in the mazes of the waltz and wooed the lightly tripping goddess in various forms of the poetry of motion. Others, not professed devotees of the muse, strolled leisurely through the corridors, or availed themselves of the privileges of the spacious piazza. Besides the residents of the hotel there were present a number of invited guests from Plainfield's society circles.

Many expressions of gratification were heard for the courteous attention on the part of the management. Certainly the first function at the Netherwood was an auspicious event. Following is the programme of dances:

Waltz—Rendez Vous	Rosey
Two Step—Creole Belles	Lampe
Waltz—Midsummer	Vandersloot
Two Step—The Bizzy Kazoo	Haines
Lanciers—Foxy Quiller	DeKoven
Waltz—Knighthood in Flower	Gustin
Two Step—Prince Charming	Innes
Waltz—Promenade	Ellis
Intermission.
Waltz—Autumn Bud	Lesser
Two Step—Liza	M. F. Smith
Waltz—Way Down Yonder in the Cornfield	Smith
Two Step—Clorinda	Haines
Lanciers—Tip Top	Bernstein
Waltz—My Carolina Lady	M. F. Smith
Two Step—Court Jester	L. O. Smith
Waltz—Elaine	A. I. Strauss

The music for the occasion was discoursed by the Netherwood orchestra, under the direction of Frederick H. Landolt, with J. B. Hollinger on the violin and J. J. de Pool, cello. This orchestra has more than an insular reputation, having travelled through the south the past winter, and the press of Florida and other States spoke volumes in its praise. It will be in attendance at the hotel during the summer.

Another hop will be held next Saturday evening and tomorrow an evening will be devoted to progressive euchre.

NOAH DOVE'S OFFICERS.

Were Elected at Meeting of the Encampment Last Week.

At the meeting of Noah Dove Encampment, No. 28, I. O. O. F., last week the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Chief Patriarch, Edward Bowman; high priest, Joseph Perry; senior warden, Edward Sebring; scribe, John Williams; financial scribe, William Wyckoff; junior warden, Albert Pangborn. The installation will take place the first meeting in July.

The new paraphernalia was received and accepted. It is considered to be the finest of any in the State. It will be used at the next meeting for the first.

Franklin Council's Officers.

At the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., last Thursday evening there was nomination of officers. The election will take place Thursday and a full attendance of members is desired as there will be an entire change of officers.

Nine Lives Lost.

Nine lives were ground out of existence by a trolley car on Watchung avenue, Friday evening. They belonged to a large Maltese cat owned by Mrs. Lewis Leonard, of North avenue, who valued the feline highly.

Looking at Material.

Mayor Smalley, of the borough, and Architect C. H. Smith were in Woodbridge Friday afternoon, inspecting qualities of brick to be used in the casement construction of the new fire engine house.

Small-Pox at Metuchen.

There is a slight epidemic of smallpox at Metuchen, where one death is reported. There are still two cases of the disease in the same family.

BRIDGE BUILDER.

Millionaire Mitchell, of Peapack, Has Built Bridges for Somerset County Freeholders.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 23—A millionaire clubman as a bridge builder is what the people of the village of Peapack have been watching during the past few weeks, and now that the structures are completed and await the inspection of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders they are wondering with what degree of success Clarence Blair Mitchell, who owns a palatial summer residence there, has builded.

Last winter, during the big floods, two bridges, much used by Mr. Mitchell, were washed away and he offered to rebuild them, in much finer style, at his own expense, providing the Freeholders would make an appropriation, covering such structures as they could afford to build there. As the bridges were only over creeks they appropriated $300 and Mr. Mitchell, it is said, has expended over $1,000, and erected the structures after his own fancy.

JUSTICE HAND TIED KNOT

PERFORMED FIRST MARRIAGE CEREMONY SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Young Couple Came From Newark—Trip Was Too Long, So They Stopped Here.

Saturday afternoon's heavy downpour of rain presented an opportunity to Justice Hand to perform his first marriage ceremony since assuming the office and securing the privilege

The justice was seated in his office engaged in legal matters with Lawyers William G. DeMeza and Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., when a bashful young man and blushing young woman timidly entered and advanced to his desk. On receiving an assuring smile they announced themselves as Clifford S. Bradford, aged twenty-seven, and Miss Margaret Dunlap, aged twenty-two, both of South River. They were on their way to Newark by trolley, they said, to be married but the rain induced them to drop off at Plainfield. Their query as to whether the court could act as a substitute for the Newark minister met with a ready "yes."

They took their places before the desk and while the lawyers acted as witnesses the knot was tied hard and fast. The groom's proffered fee was ignored but exercising his judicial prerogative, the justice exacted double payment from the bride's lips. With hearty congratulations and nothing but best wishes for the future accompanying their departure, Mr. and Mrs. Bradford left to commence their journey home. They will reside at South River where the groom has a lucrative position.

BAKING POWDER SEIZED.

The New York Board of Health Declares It Dangerous to Health and Dumps it Into the River.

The New York papers report that the health department of that city has seized as dangerous to health nearly two tons of cheap mixtures sold for baking powder, and dumped them into the offal scow to be destroyed. More of the powder was found in a Sixth avenue department store. The report of the analysis of the health department stated that it was "an alum baking powder" containing alum and pulverized rock.

The different health authorities seem to have different ways of repressing the sale of bad baking powders. In England they have prosecuted the grocers under the general law and broken up the traffic. In Missouri the sale of alum baking powder is actually prohibited by law. In New York they seized the unwholesome stuff and cast it into the river without any discussion. The latter way is certainly effective.

The alum baking powders are usually offered at a low price, ten to twenty cents a pound, or with some prize, as a temptation to the housewife.

Consumers can protect themselves by buying only high-grade baking powder of established name and reputation. Do not be tempted by the grocer to take something else as "just as good" or "our own brand," for the trials show that the grocer himself is often deceived by unscrupulous makers and is selling an alum powder without knowing it.

There are several good powders on the market; let the housekeeper insist on having what she knows is right, and not be induced to risk the life of the family for an imaginary saving of a few cents.—Jersey City Journal.

HEARD ABOUT STATE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

Speakers Addressed Local Congregations on Work of League in New Jersey.

WHAT IT HAS DONE.

PLANS TO INTRODUCE BILL IN LEGISLATURE THIS COMING WINTER.

Addresses Were Made at Monroe Avenue M. E., Trinity Reformed, First Baptist and Grace M. E. Churches—What Was Said.

As a result of the crusade inaugurated by the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, many of the local churches at yesterday's services devoted the usual time to temperance addresses lead by members of that organization. All were well attended and from the interest taken like services will be held in the near future.

One of the strongest addresses was made by Rev. C. R. Berger, of Trenton, at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, in the morning. After enumerating liquor traffic figures to show the hold it has upon the country, he declared the temperance question to be of equal importance to the church as home missions. He deplored the lack of temperance sermons in the churches and stated that they should be given at frequent intervals.

In the United States, he said, there are 240,000 licensed drinking places and the only way to root out the evil is through the church and Jesus Christ. The church is a saloon's recognized and most formidable enemy and the former, he said, could not afford to relax one moment in the struggle for supremacy.

Rev. J. R. Brittain, superintendent of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, occupied the pulpit at Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning and gave a strong talk on the work of the league.

Mr. Brittain related interesting incidents of the work in New Jersey, especially in New Brunswick and Newark, where an aggressive campaign against the saloons is now being prosecuted. He told of the league and of its organization in every State in the Union, the idea being to combine a strong force of temperance workers for the purpose of securing local option in every place.

The speaker stated that it was intended to present a local option bill before the last Legislature, but this was prevented for good reasons. It is proposed to work earnestly during the coming year and when the Legislature convenes next winter have everything in readiness to present the bill. At the close of the service Mr. Brittain made a plea for subscriptions to the work. Cards were distributed through the congregation and those present were asked to give something toward supporting the league.

Similar sermons, varying but little in their general import, were heard at the First Baptist church, where Rev. Dr. Clark spoke, and Grace M. E. church where Rev. C. L. Boothby, of New York, made the address.

HEARD ABOUT CAMP.

Special Service of Endeavorers of Seventh-Day Baptist Church.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church held an interesting meeting Saturday afternoon when a special programme, prepared by the managers of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, was presented. Orra Rogers presided at the meeting and made an address telling of the work at this camp. The rest of the programme consisted of recitations and special music. At the close of the meeting a collection was taken for the work.

Outing for Barbers.

The local barbers are arranging for an old-fashioned outing and picnic to be held shortly. The matter was talked over at a meeting of Local Journeymen Barbers' Union, No. 315, held Thursday evening. A further meeting, when definite plans will be decided upon, will be held Thursday evening.

Gift of Game Fowls.

R. H. McDonald, of Central avenue, has presented to his friend, Robert VanWyck, of West Fifth street, three Cuban blue game chickens valued at $115. These chickens were received from Cuba last week and Mr. VanWyck prizes them very highly.

Unity's Election.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., will elect officers at the meeting to be held Thursday.

CHIPPED IN TOWARD THE CITY'S SUPPORT

Sextette of Offenders in City Court Paid in $27 in Fines to City's Treasury.

WERE JUST MINOR CASES.

FATHER AND SON MET IN HALLWAY WITH EXCITING RESULTS.

Two Blacksmiths Were Deciding on Relative Pugilistic Ability—One Colored Man Waved His Razor on the Street.

The city court at this morning's session, did a land office business in fines. Out of six offenders placed on trial five contributed more or less dollars to the city treasury to make a total of $27.

James Eagan, Sr., and James Eagan, Jr., of McDowell street, each paid $8. They both reached home drunk, last evening, and meeting in the hallway engaged in what Mrs. Eagan, Jr., claimed to be "the most terriblest fight she ever seen." She called Patrolman Saunders and had both arrested.

Wililam Corcoran and John Russell each chipped in $3. They argued Saturday evening in the rear of a Richmond street blacksmith shop where both work, as to which was the better pugilist. They withdrew to the furthermost corner of the yard and had passed, countered and feinted through three rounds when Patrolman Higgins took a hand and arrested both.

Harrison Randolph has a loving brother, Fred, who paid $5 for him. Harrison became excited on Park avenue Saturday night and flourished a razor, "something he wasn't in the habit of doing." From what Sergeant Frederickson saw of his manoeuvres it looked as if he was pretty familiar with the weapon's use and so escorted him to headquarters before he used it with good effect.

John Dixon, of the West End, was placed on trial, charged by his wife with non-support. The evidence produced by Mrs. Dixon with the aid of her mother, two daughters and a son, seemed to affirm her complaint. By using a little tact, however, City Judge Runyon started a wrangle in court which proved conclusively that Dixon wasn't as bad as he was painted and failed to provide for his wife because her tongue-lashings drove him from the house. He agreed to a separation and will provide $8 per week for the family's maintenance.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Exercises Held by Sunday-School of Park Avenue Baptist Church Yesterday Morning.

In charge of Miss Florence Hawkins, the pupils of the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school held their Children's Day exercises, yesterday morning. The church was very prettily decorated for the occasion and in addition to the music from an augmented choir, there was melody from canary birds in cages suspended from the arches. At every opportunity the little songsters swelled their throats and warbled. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra was also in attendance.

The programme consisted of responsive readings, address of welcome by Miss Maude Harris, and exercises by primary pupils entitled, "Christ's Gardeners;" and exercises, "The Sabbath-school," by Miss Marguerite Ostrom as "Herald," Miss Arlene Brown as "Angel" and the Misses Grace Weeks, Mary Leveridge, Autumn DeLany, Anna Clarke and Ailce Brown, as "Trophies," and numbers by the Misses Cora Brokaw, Ethel Stryker and Elsie Giles.

An appropriate address was made by Rev. R. R. Doherty, of Jersey City, and benediction was pronounced by Dr. J. W. Richardson.

Fire Cracker Started Horse.

A horse driven by Fred Connolly ran away on Watchung avenue Saturday afternoon. Connolly got the horse under control before anything serious happened. The animal was frightened by the explosion of a fire cracker, set off by a young lad who was getting into practice for the Fourth of July.

Dinner at Hillside Club.

H. V. Heely, a member of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, gave a dinner at the clubhouse Saturday evening. Covers were laid for twelve.

—The Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association will hold an important meeting this evening and every member is urged to be present.

GOLFERS OUT DESPITE RAIN

But Hillside Day, With Its Special Events at Park Club, Was Postponed a Week.

HILLSIDE'S TEAM WON.

Harbor Hill's Crack Golfers Were Defeated in Team Match on Hillside Links—Regular Competitions Took Place as Usual—O. Saugstad and L. W. Hallock Won Honors.

Minor incidents, such as thunder such as thunder storms, failed to have any effect on the local golfiacs, Saturday afternoon, and they turned out in good numbers playing right through the rain. The showers had their effect on the social function, planned by the Park Golf Club, and Hillside Day with its varied attractions was postponed a week. Some of the Hillside players gathered on that course, however, and spent a pleasant afternoon in informal matches with their hosts.

The strong Harbor Hill aggregation fell a victim to the Hillside's crack team during the afternoon. At Hillside, Olaf Saugstad carried off first honors in the regular event while Leslie W. Hallock was winner in the weekly competition at the Park Golf Club.

PARK GOLF CLUB.

Hillside Day will be held at the Park Golf Club, next Saturday. It was scheduled for last Saturday, but the brisk little showers which wandered that way so frequently decided the golf committee in favor of a postponement. All the special events were therefore called off for the day and such of the Hillside members as braved the rain were entertained informally.

There was quite a little gathering at the clubhouse late in the afternoon where Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen and Mrs. George D. Hallock received the guests.

The proposed team match had attracted many of the Park golfers so that there was a good field which turned out in the weekly competition for the President's cup. Some of them failed to finish on account of the demonstrations of nature while those who did make the eighteen holes found the course very slow and wet. The honors for the day went to those who have heretofore taken no important position in the race. The leaders for the cup all failed to score. Leslie W. Hallock was low man, putting up his best game of the season.

The scores, below 100 net, were as follows:

	G	H	N
Leslie W. Hallock	102	21	81
W. de la R. Anherson	98	8	90
H. D. Hibbard	106	14	92
Charles B. Morse	110	17	93
Dr. A. W. Anderson	123	30	93
Charles L. Nichols	120	25	95
Ralph Hallock	125	30	95
S. St. J. McCutchen	115	17	98

The standing for the President's cup is:

	Points.
S. St. J. McCutchen	8
Charles B. Morse	7½
Charles L. Nichols	5½
Charles W. McCutchen	5
Charles A. Reed	4

As a result of last week's play for the Hooley cup, Miss May S. Shreve is well in the lead for that trophy. The scores made for that cup last week were as follows: Miss May S. Shreve, 74, 22—52; Mrs. C. L. Goodwin, 93, 40—53; Miss Laura Long, 78, 24—54; Miss Mabel VanDeventer, 98, 40—58; Miss Harriet Shreve, 83, 24—59; Miss Lydie E. DOCTORS TO MEET AT SHORE

ANNUAL MEETING OF MEDICAL SOCIETY OF NEW JERSEY AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Will be Held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of This Week—Local Doctors to be Represented.

One of the most notable gatherings of the season by the sea will be the one hundred and thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Medical Society of New Jersey at the new Rudolph Hotel, Atlantic City, tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday. Mayor Franklin P. Stoy will welcome the society Tuesday afternoon, and reports of committees will be heard and other business transacted.

The annual address of the president of the society, Dr. J. D. McGill, will be delivered tomorrow evening on "The Nervous System in Its Relations to Medico-Legal Medicine."

Papers will also be read by Edward E. Worl, of Newark, "Progress in State Medicine and Hygiene"; W. H. Ireland, of Camden, "Progress in Medicine and Therapeutics;" Charles Young, of Newark, "Progress in Surgery;" B. A. Waddington, of Salem, "Progress in Diseases of the Nose and Throat;" Talbot R. Chambers, of Jersey City, "Progress in Diseases of the Eye and Ear;" M. P. Ravenel, University of Pennsylvania, "Progress in Bacteriology;" Philander A. Harris, of Paterson, "Some Diseases of the Fallopian Tubes," illustrated by lantern slides; George E. McLaughlin, of Jersey City, "The Pathology of Appendicitis," from a historical research of fifty cases, with lantern illustrations.

Wednesday morning A. W. Taylor, of Beverly, will deliver an essay, "The Rural Surgeon—His Place, Privilege and Duty."

Joseph Tomlinson, of Bridgeton, will speak on "The Present Methods of Education from the Standpoint of the Physcian;" William M. Beach, of Pittsburg, Pa., will speak on "Valvotomy as a Surgical measure for the Cure of Obstinate Constipation;" Emery Marvel, of Atlantic City, "Further Report of the Use of Ethyl Bromide as a Primary Anaesthesia to Ether;" Alexander McAllister, of Camden, "The Cause of Sore Arms During the Recent Vaccinations;" Dowling Benjamin, of Camden, "The Cure of Cancer by the X-ray;" F. C. Ard, of Plainfield, "Radical Operation for the Relief of Chronic Purulent Diseases of the Middle Ear;" Alexander McAllister, of Camden, "Cause of Tetanus Following Vaccination;" Wells P. Eagleton, of Newark, "Brain Abscess of Otic Origin."

Thursday morning there will be a discussion of the question, "What Are the Best Methods to Prevent the Spread of Tuberculosis?"

PERSONAL.

Mrs. P. M. French, of Somerset street, is sojourning in the Adirondack Mountains.

Mrs. W. L. Brown, children and maid, of 1216 Ptunam avenue, left today for Cape Cod, Mass., where Mrs. Brown has rented a cottage for the balance of the summer.

Edward Nolan, of East Front street, who fell out of a window recently and sustained severe injuries, has recovered sufficiently so as to go out. His head and shoulders are still very sore.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Linbarger and son, of San Jose, Ill., are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. J. R. Linbarger, of Somerset street. Mr. Linbarger is cashier of the San Jose National Bank.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Miss Lillian E. Fritts, of Park avenue, is stopping at the Victoria, Asbury Park.

Mrs. Frederick O. Ball, of Mercer avenue, is entertaining her mother from Buffalo.

Miss Laura Streeter, of Somerville, is visiting her cousin, Miss Bessie Reighton, of Park avenue.

Miss Noel Bullock, of this city, sailed for Europe on Saturday. She will remain abroad all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Coriell, of West Front street, who have been living in New York, have returned home.

Miss Eaton, of Alfred, N. Y., has taken up her residence with her brother, Louis E. Eaton, of East Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of West Seventh street, left Saturday for Lake George, where they will remain for an indefinite time.

There is steady improvement in the condition of Mrs. George Homan, of Hillside avenue, who was operated upon for appendicitis last week.

The oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick O. Ball, of Mercer avenue, is spending some time with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ball on their house boat, Sommerheim at Bay Shore, L. I.

LITERARY.

The July "Success" opens with an article of considerable importance and timeliness, in view of the fact that the American shipping combine is one of the great questions agitating both sides of the Atlantic. This article is entitled "The American Merchant Marine as a Career," and its author is Clement A. Griscom, Jr., manager of the American Line. William Ordway Partridge, in "What America Offers Her Artists," makes a strong plea for art students to find their inspiration at home instead of abroad. Ex-President Grover Cleveland contributes a valuable paper on "The Evolution of Self-Made Men," which contains some worthy philosophy regarding the self-made man's connection with a government. An article that will further endear "Success" to the home is the second of the series, "Culture in the Home," on cheerfulness, by Margaret E. Sangster. Sharlot W. Hall, a new western poetess, contributes a fine poem for Independence Day, entitled, "The Great Flag." Other notable features are, "The Truce of the Flood," an animal story by Martha McCulloch-Williams; "A Miner and His Mascot," a true story of Colorado, by Cy Warman; "What a Young Man Should Read, Today," by Secretary of the Navy William H. Moody, and "The Rural Free Delivery and the Farmer," by A. W. Machen. The second instalment of Mrs Rebecca Harding Davis's stirring serial, "A Boy's Fight," also appears. In all, this is one of the most interesting numbers of "Success."

Chief Officer Scott, of the Roraima, one of the few survivors of the eruption of Mt. Pelee, gives in the July number of Leslie's Monthly his intensely interesting personal account of his thrilling experiences in what was the greatest natural disaster that has befallen the world in the memory of living man. Prof. C. E. Borchgrevink, the well-known scientific explorer, contributes a careful summing up of the conditions of the eruption, and these two accounts make a record of this great tragedy well worth preserving.

The greatest show that has enlivened the Anglo-Saxon world for a long time, the Coronation of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, is described with a number of elaborate illustrations. The article on the coronation is written by the Duke of Argyll, brother-in-law of the King, and there are more than thirty pictures of the King and Queen, besides some original drawings by Queen Victoria.

The last poem Bret Harte ever wrote, a ballad called "The Sword of Don Jose," lends a particular interest to the poetry of this number, and an article on the draining of the Zuyder Zee, in Holland, one of the most stupendous engineering works ever undertaken, illustrates strikingly the scope of modern enterprise.

An ingenious story of Wall Street, and an interesting study of the husband of an actress in the fiction of the magazine, together with a charming essay on Roses, help to round out a many sided number.

Ready to Yield.

"I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for piles and found it a certain cure," says S. R. Meredith, Willow Grove, Del. Operations unnecessary to cure piles. They always yield to DeWitts Witch Hazel Salve. Cures skin diseases, all kinds of wounds. Accept no counterfeits. L. W. Randolph.

CORONATION WEEK.

King Edward Attends Church and Rides Out—Health Declared Good.

LONDON, June 23.—The reappearance yesterday of brilliant sunshine after weeks of rain and murky weather gave to the first day of coronation week an air of unusual gayety and gladdened the hearts of thousands of British subjects from all parts of the empire and the thousands of foreigners who are pouring into London eager to witness as much of this week's events as possible.

The announcement that King Edward, Queen Alexandra and the court would return to London from Windsor today at noon served to quiet to some extent the flood of extraordinary rumors concerning the king's physical condition, varied in some quarters by weird tales of plots to assassinate his majesty and other fictions, all of which have been promptly denied by the officials most intimately connected with the king.

King Edward's health was authoritatively declared to be good at Windsor castle, and in the morning his majesty attended divine service, accompanied by other members of the royal family. In the evening he enjoyed a drive through the royal gardens of Windsor castle in a closed carriage.

At the command of the king many thousand persons were admitted to the east terrace of Windsor castle in the afternoon for the Sunday band performances. The terrace was crowded. The king and the queen listened to the music from the windows of their private apartments. King Edward's appearance does not justify the sensational rumors of his illness.

THE FRIAR LANDS CASE.

No Conclusion Yet Reached at Rome. Favorable Results Expected.

ROME, June 23.—The reply of Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, to the presentation by William H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippine Islands, to the Vatican of his instructions from Secretary of War Root has been received by Governor Taft. It has been translated into English, and after due consideration of the cardinal's answer Judge Taft does not deem it proper to permit its publication at the present stage of the proceedings because he fears so doing might embarrass the negotiations.

Cardinal Rampolla has submitted a copy of his reply to Judge Taft to the committee of cardinals which was formed to consider the matter of the religious orders and other church affairs in the Philippines in order to inform them of the precise scope of the questions involved and upon which it is hoped that definite results will shortly be arrived at.

It cannot be said that any conclusion has as yet been reached, but the general tenor of Cardinal Rampolla's reply gives reason to expect that Governor Taft's negotiations will be entirely successful.

Governor Taft will answer Cardinal Rampolla's letter Wednesday, June 25.

Agua Dulce Easily Captured.

PANAMA, Colombia, June 23.—The fleet of government gunboats returned here yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock with the news that the town of Agua Dulce had been captured Thursday, June 19. As the government forces approached Agua Dulce over 100 government soldiers who had previously been captured by revolutionary forces under General Herrera and had been incorporated in the Liberal army joined the government troops under command of General Berti. Agua Dulce was captured without resistance. The government gunboats went up the bay as far as the town itself. When the revolutionists sighted them, they fled the town, leaving behind 300 head of cattle and one sailing vessel full of produce.

Two Killed In Train Wreck.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 23.—A passenger train on the Sioux City branch of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad jumped the track near Ashton, Ia., yesterday. Two trainmen were killed, five others seriously hurt, and a number of passengers received minor injuries. The cause of the wreck is said to have been a misplaced switch. The train was running at a high rate of speed, and when it left the track the mail cars and smoker piled up on top of the engine.

Commencement Week at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 23.—The baccalaureate address at Yale was delivered yesterday morning in Battell chapel by President A. T. Hadley. There were many graduates back for reunion in the church as well as the usual commencement throng of visitors and friends of the senior classes. Rev. Timothy Dwight, D. D., former president of the university, pronounced the benediction.

Cornell Took All Three.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 23.—Cornell won all three of the events in the Intercollegiate Ameteur association regatta. The finishes in the various events were as follows: Varsity eights—Cornell, first; Wisconsin, second; Columbia, third. Varsity fours—Cornell, first; Pennsylvania, second; Columbia, third. Freshman eights—Cornell, first; Wisconsin, second; Columbia, third.

Ninety Americans In Philippines Victims of Cholera.

HEAVY DEATH LIST IN ISLANDS.

General Cailles Has a Good Word For Our Soldiers In Tayabas Province—Would Testify In Major Gardener's Favor.

MANILA, June 23.—Ninety American soldiers have died of cholera since the disease first broke out. Owing to the increase of cholera the health authorities here and in the provinces are enforcing stringent regulations. The total of cases and deaths from the epidemic are as follows: Manila, 1,530 cases and 1,236 deaths; provinces, 7,369 cases and 5,440 deaths.

The former insurgent general Cailles, who surrendered to the American authorities in June, 1901, has notified the board which is investigating the charges of cruelty brought by Major Cornelius Gardener against American officers and soldiers in Tayabas province, Luzon, that he is willing to testify as to the conditions which existed in Tayabas province prior to his surrender and after Major Gardener had declared the province to be pacified.

General Cailles says that he agrees with General Malvar, another former insurgent leader, who has already testified before the board, that Tayabas province was the best disciplined stronghold the insurgents had. He says he has gone to certain towns in this province where Gardener's appointees to the post of presidente would lead in the manifestations, consisting of music, balls and banquets, in his honor. General Cailles also says that he knew the people of Tayabas province well and that he never heard a single complaint of American soldiers from them.

There are still several witnesses to be examined by the board which is investigating Major Gardener's charges.

Senor Villegas, formerly presidente of Santo Tomas, has been sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment for violating in several instances his oath of allegiance to the United States.

Captain Frederick S. Wild of the Thirteenth infantry has been sentenced by court martial to be reprimanded for the burning of a native cockpit at Lingayon, province of Pangasinan, Luzon.

It is presumed that the soldiers of Captain Wild's command burned this cockpit from motives of revenge for the attempted killing of two of their comrades by natives.

Civil Service In the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Hon. W. Leon Pepperman, member of the Philippine civil service commission, is in the city, having just arrived on leave of absence from Manila. Mr. Pepperman said: "The scope of the commission has been extended gradually until it now covers 6,000 positions, ranging in salary from $15 per month to $7,500 per per year." Mr. Pepperman says that the immediate reward to successful applicants has caused a change in the old classical system of education under the Spanish regime to one of more modern character based largely on practical business lines. So great is the interest of the Filipinos in acquiring a knowledge of English that 10,000 adults are going to night school in Manila. Before the American occupation typewriters were almost unknown in the Philippines, but now at every examination held by the commission applicants are qualifying in typewriting and stenography. Of the 6,000 positions mentioned 4,000 are held by natives, the remainder by Americans. "Under Spanish rule," he continued, "women were unheard of in the government service, but just before I left Manila three Filipino young ladies had passed successful examination and had been given good positions. The Filipino makes a splendid clerk."

Premature Burning of Firecrackers.

WEST HANOVER, Mass., June 23.—The main factory of the National Fireworks company was burned yesterday, together with all machinery, stock and finished goods. The loss is about $30,000, upon which there is $7,000 insurance. The company manufactured firecrackers of all sizes, and the fire first took hold of 2,000 cases of finished goods. Explosions continued for nearly three hours, occasional detonations being felt twelve miles away.

Paderewski Aids Poland.

BERLIN, June 23.—A special dispatch received here from Lemberg, Galicia, says that M. Paderewski, the pianist, received a great ovation upon his arrival there because he bought 5,000 shares in the Polish Bank of Posen, which has been organized for the purpose of resisting the policy of the Prussian government in buying up Polish estates and settling German subjects on them.

Deadly Kentucky Feud.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., June 23.—A fight in Cabin Hollow yesterday, five miles from town, between rival divekeepers resulted in the death of Henry and James Shackelford, brothers, and the fatal wounding of Smith Overton.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Wyeth won the American Derby at Chicago. Eastern horses were distanced.

Americans lost in the polo match with the English team for the international trophy.

A violent earthquake shock was reported from the department of Calabria, Italy.

Schools and churches of Cambridge, Mass., have been ordered closed by the mayor owing to the prevalence of smallpox.

WRONGS OF MINERS.

President Mitchell Makes a Statement to the Public.

MOTIVES FOR THE STRIKE EXPLAINED

Assertions of Anthracite Operators Proved False by Their Own Reports—Average Wage of Miner Is Less Than $300 a Year.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 23.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America has issued an address to the public. It is partly a reply to the letters of the operators declining to accede to the demands of the union which were published about ten days ago. The address is as follows:

To the Public:

If the contest now in progress in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania affected only the welfare of the railroad and mining corporations on the one hand and the coal mine workers on the other, the public would have no vital interests at stake and would consequently be less concerned than it now is in the continuance, the extension or the termination of the conflict, but inasmuch as there is a third and important interest involved which, although in nowise responsible for the present strike, is nevertheless an innocent victim thereof it is but fair and proper that the general public should be fully and accurately informed upon the merits of the question in controversy. If it shall be asked why we have waited until the close of the sixth week of the strike to issue a statement of this nature, sufficient answer may be found in the fact that we have hesitated to utter any word or to take any position that would impede or embarrass easy reconciliation with the coal operators. Every delay and precaution, every conceivable conciliatory effort that honorable and conservative men could take to avert a rupture and every means that thought could suggest to bring the matter in dispute to arbitration was resorted to by the union both before the strike order was issued and since it went into effect, but without avail, the coal magnates replying to all our overtures with the declaration that there was nothing to arbitrate. This statement on their part is equivalent to saying that the coal mine workers have made unreasonable demands and have struck without real or sufficient cause. To this let plain, unvarnished facts and figures reply.

For more than twenty-five years the anthracite coal mine workers of Pennsylvania have chafed and groaned under the most intolerable and inhumane conditions of employment imaginable. Their average annual earnings have been less than those of any other class of workmen in the United States notwithstanding the fact that their work is more hazardous and the cost of living greater than in any other important American industry. The total number of persons employed in and around the anthracite coal mines is 147,500. They are employed never to exceed 200 days in any one year, and they receive as compensation for their services an average of $1.42 for a ten hour workday. It will thus be noted that they earn annually less than $300. Such pay may supply a living on a par with some classes of European laborers, but who will say that it is sufficient to support American citizenship or enable parents to educate and properly maintain their families? True it is that a 10 per cent increase in wages was granted by the coal operators as a strike concession two years ago, but it is also true that a large portion of this 10 per cent was paid back to the companies to buy the suppression of an old powder grievance. Moreover, according to reliable commercial agencies, the cost of living has increased, particularly in the purchase of foodstuffs, from 30 to 40 per cent, so that the purchasing power of a miner's earnings is less now than before the strike of 1900.

The presidents of the various coal carrying railroads have given publicity to a statement that during the year 1901 the productive capacity of mine workers deteriorated an average of 12½ per cent. In other words, the United Mine Workers' organization is accused of encouraging poor workmanship. An examination of the reports on coal production compiled by the United States government discloses the fact that the allegations of the railroad presidents are misleading and untrue, as the following figures will demonstrate:

From 1890 to 1900, inclusive, the mines were in active operation an average of 182 days per year, and for each person employed there were produced 363.58 tons of coal per year, or for each day the mines were in operation 2.16 tons were produced per employee, while in the year 1901, against which the operators so bitterly complained, the mines were in operation 194½ days, and there were produced 475.43 tons for each person employed, or for each day the mines were in operation 2.36 tons were produced per employee, thus showing conclusively that instead of a deterioration there was a decided improvement in the productive capacity of the men after they became thoroughly organized.

The railroad presidents contend that they cannot increase wages without making a corresponding increase in the selling price of their product to the consumer and have accused the mine workers of suggesting a proposition that would impose a hardship upon the public by increasing the market price of coal 10 cents a ton, the amount that would have been required to meet all the demands made by the miners. However, their solicitude for the public weal has not deterred them from advancing the market price of their coal more than $1 per ton since the strike was inaugurated without giving any part of this increase to the mine workers. In substantiation of our claim that the coal companies can afford to pay increased wages to the mine workers without increasing the cost of coal to consumers we submit the following extracts from the government reports showing the selling value of coal loaded on cars at the mines for the eleven years beginning with 1890 and ending with 1900 as compared with 1901.

The average home value of all coal mined and sold during this period was $1.48 per ton, while a press bulletin recently issued by Charles D. Walcott, director of the United States geological survey, says that for the year 1901 "the increase in the value of the anthracite product received at the mines showed a gain of $27,746,169, or more than 31 per cent, over that of 1900. The average price for the marketed anthracite coal—that is, the product shipped to market or sold to local trade—was $1.87, the highest figure obtained since 1888." In other words, while, according to President Olyphant, 13 cents per ton represents the operators' increased cost of production in 1901, 39 cents per ton as compared with 1900 represents the increased value of the product to the operators. In view of the fact that this enormous increase in the selling price of coal has been extorted from the consumer by the coal trust can any one say that the demands of the miners for a small portion of the increased wealth their labor has produced are unreasonable or unwarranted?

Further evidence of the ability of the coal mine operators to pay increased wages is found in the sworn testimony of Mr. John Markle, managing partner of the G. B. Markle Coal company. This firm operates three mines in the Lehigh region and is known as an independent operator. In the supreme court of Pennsylvania in re Markle versus Wilbur (Pennsylvania State Reports, p. 200), "John Markle was sworn and during his testimony swore that he was appointed superintendent or manager by the articles of copartnership at a salary of $15,000 per year and that under his management from 1890 to 1894, inclusive, the partnership made large profits of over $1,000,000."

During the five years referred to by Mr. Markle the government reports show that the home value of coal produced by the anthracite coal companies was $1.51 per ton. If the G. B. Markle company could make a profit of over $1,000,000 in five years when the selling price of their coal at the mines was $1.51, does it not seem reasonable to suppose that the larger companies, whose cost of production is necessarily less, could make a sufficient profit in 1901, when the home value of their coal was $1.87 per ton, to enable them without detriment to their business to pay the anthracite mine workers the small pittance asked for by them?

In his annual report to the directors of his company President Truesdale of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western says in substance: "The year 1901 will pass into history as one of the most satisfactory if not the banner year for the anthracite coal interests of this country. The tonnage mined, purchased and handled was much greater than any previous year in the history of the company. The rate per ton per mile earned on coal hauled was 8.91 mills. The present outlook is favorable for an indefinite continuance of these favorable conditions."

The Commercial and Financial Chronicle in commenting upon the report of President Olyphant of the Delaware and Hudson says that "the average of anthracite selling prices for 1901 must have been from 30 to 40 cents higher than in 1900, and the profits of the coal mining operations of the Delaware and Hudson in 1901 was $1,407,307."

In connection with this subject attention is respectfully directed to the fact that a ton of coal as the consumer understands it is not a ton of coal as the miner is paid for it—that is to say, when the consumer purchases a ton of coal he receives 2,240 pounds, a legal ton. When the railroad companies transport coal to market, they receive tariff upon 2,240 pounds, a legal ton, but when the miner is being paid for his labor he is required to produce and load from 2,740 to 3,190 pounds for a ton, and it is against this flagrant injustice that the anthracite mine workers so vigorously and justly protest. The operators say, of course, that the excess weight is required to compensate for impurities and refuse matter that is loaded with the coal and cannot be marketed. But if their statement be true why is it necessary to continue a system of docking by which at times they arbitrarily deduct from a miner's earnings from 10 to 15 per cent of the total as a penalty for loading impurities for which they have already penalized him in excess weight? It must be obvious to every intelligent observer that the coal companies derive a considerable income from the continuance of this system of measuring the earnings of their employees, as they thus receive a large amount of marketable coal for which they return no compensation to the miner. The miners have asked that the coal they produce shall be honestly weighed and correctly recorded.

This recital of facts disposes of the operators' claim that they cannot afford to pay living wages for faithful service and unceasing toil amid surroundings constantly fraught with the gravest danger.

The reports of the mine inspectors' bureau of the state of Pennsylvania show that during the past decade the average yearly fatalities in the anthracite coal mines were 437 and that for the year 1901 there were 484 fatal and 1,256 nonfatal accidents. This means that for every 119,000 tons of coal brought to the surface one person is killed and more than two seriously injured; it means that for each day the mines are in operation more than two persons' lives are sacrificed and more than five persons are injured. Indeed it is a matter of record that eight times as many men and boys are killed and injured annually in the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania as were killed and wounded in the American ranks in the Spanish-American war in Cuba.

As we said in the opening paragraph of this statement, we have done all that honorable men could do both to avert and to end this strike. It is now apparent that the real purpose of the coal operators is to destroy organization among their workmen. If by any chance they should succeed in their design, which is not at all likely, another labor organization will spring from the ruins of the United Mine Workers of America, and the contest for living wages, for humane conditions of employment, for better education, for higher citizenship, will go on until the men who produce coal, the originating motor power which drives the wheels of commerce and industry, the product that is so essential to the welfare of society, the mineral which is the very foundation of our national prosperity, shall receive for their labor sufficient compensation to relieve them of the necessity of sending their boys and girls of tender years and frail physique to the mines and mills, there to destroy their youthful vigor in an effort to assist their underpaid parents to maintain their families.

Conscious of the great responsibility resting upon us, apprehensive of the danger threatening our commercial supremacy should the coal miners of the entire United States become participants in this struggle, we repeat our proposition to arbitrate all questions in dispute, and if our premises are wrong, if our position is untenable, if our demands cannot be sustained by facts and figures, we will again return to the mines, take up our tools of industry and await the day when we shall have a more righteous cause to claim the approval of the American people.

RECIPROCITY FAILS.

Beet Sugar Republicans Prevent the Promised Aid to Cuba.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The sessions of the senate during the present week will be devoted to odds and ends of legislation. It was the purpose of the Republican steering committee to make the Cuban reciprocity bill the order of business after the disposition of the interoceanic canal bill, but the two Republican conferences have rendered it evident that there could be no reciprocity legislation this session, so the steering committee has abandoned its purpose.

Senators generally predict that the congress will disperse between the 1st and the 4th of July. The session probably will be extended somewhat by the necessity of concluding consideration of the Philippine government bill, as all the appropriation bills could be finally disposed of during the present week. The conference between the two houses on the interoceanic canal bill has been arranged, and it is expected that an agreement will be reached during the present week.

It is possible that the Cuban committee will report the reciprocity bill before adjournment, but if it should do so there will be no effort to secure action on it in view of the well known opposition of a large part of the senate.

The friends of the policy of reciprocity, however, are quite determined to bring the matter up the next session and repeat what they said in Friday's conference—that they will not desist until they accomplish their purpose. Whether in the end they will do this through a bill or through a treaty they do not now undertake to say.

It is generally understood about the senate a reciprocity treaty with Cuba is well under way, but it is not believed that there will be any effort to ratify it during the present session even if the document should be sent to the senate. Senators generally do not count on an extra session immediately in case a treaty should be sent in.

Strikers Block Toronto Car Lines.

TORONTO, Ont., June 23.—The first attempt made by the Toronto Street railway to run their cars with men hired to take the places of the striking motormen and conductors was met with violence. Only one effort was made to reopen the traffic, and the temper shown by the strikers and their sympathizers convinced the officials that it would be impossible to run cars without strong protection. It was therefore decided to appeal to the authorities for troops and to suspend operations until their arrival.

Volcanic Explorers Return.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The Quebec line steamer Fontabelle has arrived here from the West India islands with sixty-one cabin passengers. Among the saloon passengers were George Kennan, the well known traveler, and Professor Heilprin of the Philadelphia Geographical society, who ascended recently to the crater of Mont Pelee.

Milner Governor of Transvaal.

PRETORIA, June 23.—Lord Milner, who was British high commissioner in South Africa, took the oath as governor of the Transvaal here in the presence of a large assemblage of people. His excellency the governor was heartily cheered by those present, and a salute in his honor was fired from the fort.

Serious Italian Railway Wreck.

MILAN, Italy, June 23.—Forty-nine persons were injured Saturday night, several of them seriously, as a result of the collision of two trains on the electric line between Bionschio and Porto Ceresio.

Frost In Maryland.

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 23.—A heavy frost has injured vegetation in the higher altitudes of western Maryland and West Virginia. At Elkins, W. Va., the temperature was down to 47 degrees.

FIRES IN FAR WEST.

More Than Half a Million Damage In Portland, Ore.

FORESTS SWEPT BY FIERCE FLAMES.

Among the Property Destroyed Were Iron Works, Shipyard and Shipping, the Standard Oil Plant and Freight Warehouses.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 23.—A fire that started shortly before midnight in the Phœnix Iron works, formerly the Wolff & Zwicker plant, burned for four hours and destroyed six blocks of buildings valued at $500,000. The insurance amounted to about $200,000. It was long after daylight before the fire burned itself out.

Ten minutes after the fire was discovered the entire plant of the Phœnix works was in flames. The fire spread to Johnston's shipyard and to the East Side Lumber company's mill, destroying both. Several hundred thousand feet of dry lumber in the millyard fed the flames.

In the Johnston shipyard a schooner awaiting repairs and a barge under construction were destroyed, together with a lot of valuable machinery.

The fire spread to the east, taking in the Standard Oil company's plant and the warehouse of Parlen Orendorff & Co., implement dealers. The Standard Oil company's warehouse and two oil tanks were next destroyed.

Two spans of the Madison street bridge across the Willamette river were burned and fell into the river. Then the warehouse and freight depot of the Portland City and Oregon Street railway, adjoining the bridge on the west, were attacked and quickly destroyed. The free swimming baths moored at the bridge were in imminent danger, but were towed away in time. The fire department was badly handicapped by lack of water, and it was after 1 o'clock in the morning before the fire was got under control. The engines could not reach the river and, the main water pipes being too small, the supply was inadequate. The city has no fireboat, and it was impossible to fight the fire from the riverside.

Much Valuable Timber Burned.

TACOMA, Wash., June 23.—Standing timber to the amount of 550,000,000 feet has been burned in the districts along the line of the Northern Pacific. This timber comprises a splendid forest of fir and all readily accessible because it grew within a few miles of the railroad. Two days ago these trees reared themselves in an unbroken mass, covering sixty-three square miles of territory. Today all that remains of them are smoldering, blackened trunks. The value of the timber destroyed is placed at $1,100,000. A special from Hot Springs, Wash., says that Lester is now the threatened point. The forests on each side of the village are in flames, and an increase in the velocity of the wind would likely doom the town.

Forest Fires In British Columbia.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 23.—Forest fires are raging along the British Columbia coast. Their existence was evidenced by the smoke laden air about this city. Out on the gulf of Georgia is a mass of smoke, and smoke is so thick in the harbor that it is impossible to see the opposite shore. Read island, 130 miles north of this city, is being devastated by fire, according to a report brought to the city by passengers who arrived from the north. Vessels crossing the gulf bring word that great quantities of smoke are coming from the neighborhood of Chemanus.

Roundhouse and Contents Burned.

FRESNO, Cal., June 23.—The roundhouse of the Southern Pacific railway and twelve locomotives were destroyed by fire early yesterday; estimated loss, $200,000.

Fresh Troops For Pawtucket.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 23.—Three companies of infantry and two divisions of the naval reserve were relieved yesterday after eleven days' duty in connection with the street railway strike riots. In their stead an equal number of militiamen have been called into service. There were a dozen cases of stone throwing in this city, in which two employees were injured. With police protection the cars were run in Central Falls, but obstructions were piled upon many of the lines.

Chinese Cruiser and Crew Destroyed.

LONDON, June 23.—A dispatch to the Central News from Shanghai says that the Chinese cruiser Kaichi was wrecked yesterday by a terrific explosion while lying in the Yangtse river. The Kaichi sank in thirty seconds, and 150 officers and men on board were killed or drowned. Only two men on board the cruiser escaped death. The Kaichi was of 2,153 tons displacement. She was 260 feet long, constructed of steel and had one screw. She was built in 1882.

Consul Ayme Returns.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Among the passengers who arrived on the steamer Caracas from Venezuela and San Juan, Porto Rico, were Louis H. Ayme, United States consul at Guadeloupe, and Captain Yates Shilling of the United States naval station at San Juan.

Fifty Years a Priest.

CLEVELAND, O., June 23.—The Rev. Father Camillus, C. F. M., celebrated his fiftieth year as a priest here yesterday in St. Joseph's church. The jubilarian celebrated mass, assisted by Father Benedict of St. Louis and Father Andrew of Quincy, Ill.

WELL GOVERNED CITY.

Those who are acquainted with the municipal governments of New Jersey and the adjacent States can bear testimony that Plainfield is one of the best governed cities to be found in the east. For the amount paid out by the taxpayers, Plainfield gets more actual benefit than do the vast majority of cities. This can be accounted for in two ways.

Plainfield does not possess a very complicated system of municipal government. There is very little red tape as compared with some cities and that means a considerable reduction in the cost of running the city's affairs. Where some cities are burdened with a host of office holders, who are all drawing fat salaries, Plainfield has comparatively few, only enough to actually transact the city's business and none of these are paid more than justice demands, many of them serving with no financial reward at all.

A second reason is that the municipal machinery is singularly free from corruption. The men, who are in charge of the city affairs, may make mistakes occasionally but their integrity is above question. In the Common Council, a place where corruption finds its way in many cities, the city's interests are particularly well guarded. While all may not agree as to the judgment of the Councilmen in certain acts, there is no one who can point out a single case of dishonesty or anything that savors in the slightest of it.

This is the city to which it is proposed to add the borough of North Plainfield. While North Plainfield is equally free from such unpleasant features today, the people of North Plainfield need have no fear for the future when they shall be joined with Plainfield. The city is cleanly and well governed and the interests of the borough will be just as well cared for as are now the interests of the city.

It was a decided honor for Plainfield when City Judge William N. Runyon was elected as the man to make the nominating speech for Congressman Fowler at the Congressional convention at Belvidere, Saturday. Although a young man, Judge Runyon possesses the faculty of saying the right thing at the right time and so he was asked to make the speech which nominated the present Congressman in the new Fifth district.

DUNELLEN.

A case in tort was tried Saturday before Justice Warden and a six-men jury in an action between George Huff and Mrs. Fismer, the plaintiff claiming that the latter had not fully paid for services rendered in removing goods from New York. W. A. Codington represented the defendant. The jury promptly brought in a verdict of no cause for action.

A number of subscriptions for the fund to raise the mortgage on the Methodist church have been received by solicitors appointed for that purpose during the last week and it now looks as if the entire amount will soon be raised.

Mr.' Blair, superintendent of the Watchung Water Company, has finally resigned his position to accept a partnership in a large grocery house in Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wyckoff entertained a number of their friends on Saturday evening at the residence, corner Front street and Jackson avenue.

George Gaston, engineer of the 5:30 morning train, met with a painful accident Saturday evening by being hit on the head with a piece of iron.

Mrs. Catharine Meier and the Misses Hunt attended mass at Clinton yesterday and afterwards visited the father of the late Rev. Kerr.

Both morning and evening services at all the churches were largely attended on account of the very pleasant weather.

Quite a large number of friends called on Mrs. Vliet yesterday, who is quite ill at her home on West Front street.

NEW MARKET.

Mrs. Addie A. Randolph, widow of the late Ephraim F. Randolph, died at her home in this place Saturday evening after a long illness with diabetes. She was formerly Miss Campbell, of Bound Brook. She was sixty-six years of age and for years was a member of the New Market Baptist church. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of Robert Pierce and at 2:30 o'clock from the New Market Baptist church. Rev. Frank Fletcher will officiate and Mrs. Robert Giddis will sing. The interment will take place at Bound Brook.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Rev. Mr. Bindenberger, who has been pastor of the Methodist church for the past three months, has been obliged to resign his charge on account of his health. Mr. Bindenberger has only been pastor of the church for a short time but his pastorate has been a very successful one and his many friends regret to learn that he has been obliged to retire from the ministry for the present at least. If his health will permit it is hoped to have him return as patsor in the fall. Mr. Bindenberger preached his last sermon Sunday.

Manager Johnston, of the baseball team, denies that he has closed two games for Labor Day with the Hope chapel team, of Plainfield, one to be played at home and the other on Hope' grounds. While there is no doubt but the two teams will meet later in the season, it would not satisfy the lovers of the game in town to play away from home on a holiday as this is the only chance many have of seeing the team at play.

Officer Pangborn gathered in a helpless drunk Saturday afternoon who persisted in making the sidewalk near the Baptist church a resting place. The man was placed in the lockup. Later in the evening, after sobering up, he was brought before Judge Clark. The man claimed Newark as his home and with the promise of leaving for there at once the court suspended sentence.

No baseball game was played on Saturday afternoon on account of the rain but the fans will have the pleasure of seeing the Springfield aggregation on the local diamond later in the season, as Manager Johnston in arranging his schedule, placed Springfield for four games.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, exchanged pulpits Sunday morning with Rev. J. A. Cubberley, of South Plainfield. Rev. Mr. Cubberley is no stranger to a Scotch Plains audience and his sermon was enjoyed by a large congregation.

Miss Sadie Reger, of the corps of teachers, has left for her summer vacation, which will be spent at Boston, Mass., and at her home at Succasunna, Morris county, this State.

Amanda M. Douglass, the well known writer of Newark, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglass, of Park avenue.

"Practical Humility" was the subject of the weekly meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union held in the church parlors last night.

Rev. Mr. Bindenberger led a very large and interesting meeting of the Epworth League in the Methodist church last night.

John B. Stillger and family, of Roselle, have been visiting at the home of Mr. Stillger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stillger.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Henry, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George A. Clark, of Front street.

Frank Hollingsworth, of Philadelphia, is visiting at the home of his father, Loftus Hollingsworth.

Roger Haskard, of Boston, is spending several weeks with his mother, Mrs. John R. Haskard.

Walter Holborn, of East Orange, is spending a few days with his friend, Hervey Marsh.

George W. Marsh is able to be around again after an illness of several days.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Ladies' Aid Society and the Missionary Circle of the local church will hold a joint meeting Thursday, June 26, at the home of Mrs. Fred LaTourette. There wil be a short entertainment followed by refreshments. The societies will not meet again until September.

Rev. G. M. Shott, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, addressed the Baptist Sunday-school of this place, yesterday, at 12 o'clock.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley spoke to the Sunday-school of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, yesterday, on the lesson subject.

Peter LaTourette, of Clinton avenue, has recovered from an attack of rheumatism.

HILLSIDE CLUB.

Owing to the heavy shower Saturday morning the weekly play for the Boys' cup on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course had to be called off. The rain arrived just at a time when it would be impossible for the contestants to start and finish within the prescribed limit. The heavy thunder shower nearly postponed the scheduled events for the afternoon, but the rain stopped early enough to allow them to be played. The team from Harbor Hill arrived and this match was played over a wet and rather slow course.

In the team match Hillside won by the good margin of 11 to 4. Howard Wright scored 9 of the 11 points and helped the team out materially. N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., was the only other member of the team to score. He made 2 points. The visiting team failed to show up as strong and the Hillside team had little trouble in carrying off the honors. The scores of the match are as follows:

Hillside.		Harbor Hill.
J. W. Baker	0	Fiske	1
Howard Wright	9	McKnight	0
W. L. Glenny	0	Hollis	0
N. P. Rogers, Jr.	2	Scott	0
Robert Abbott	0	Tobin	2
Morris Dumont	0	Conrow	1

The other events of the afternoon were the weekly play for the Golf Committee cup and the regular first play for the Reinhart cup, men's handicap, for active members only. The same scores counted in each event. Olaf Saugstad won first honors in the weekly competition and scored the first win for the Reinhart cup with a net score of 80. There were three contestants tie for second honors for the Golf Committee cup, W. L. Glenney, Robert Abbott and Howard deP. Wright. Each one made an 82 net. This does not change the standing for the Golf Committee cup. H. F. Baker still holds the lead with 8 1-2 points, while Glenney and Abbott improve their position with an additional one point and Wright receives his first point.

The scores for the cups are as follows:

	G	H	N
Olaf Saugstad	95	15	80
Howard Wright	82	0	82
Robert Abbott	82	0	82

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. COLONEL JULIAN SCOTT COLLECTION OF CURIOS tle Mac is in the collection in the Stillman building.

His portrayal of Indian life was one of his great achievements. In the collection here is a large oil depicting a snake dance, weird in its conception.

No less important than the pictures are the relics, which have been preserved. Scattered about the rooms in the Stillman building are all sorts of curious trinkets which he gathered during his several stays in the wilds of the far West. Indian war bonnets, elaborate in design, elegantly beaded papoose cradles, and large wampum breastplates are among the interesting specimens. A number of Kiowa and Moqui quivers, with the accompanying bows and arrows, fancy beaded moccasins, heavily beaded buckskin suits, and the like as well as arrow heads, idols, war clubs and pipes attract the eye. Some of the pipes are marvlleously made. In a collection of tomahawks are several unique ones. These consist of combination tomahawks and pipes, well decorated. The Indian smoked from the very instrument with which he dealt death to his foe. Indian saddles, queerly put together, and a Navajo handloom, peculiar looking things, arrest the eye for the moment. Among a collection of Indian musical instruments, which the Colonel collected, are a drum, flagellette, goard rattler, turtle shell rattler and horn, and among a group of Indian maiden's ornaments large rings, bracelets and anklets, all of solid silver. Squaws' leggins and tiny Indian dolls are in the big collection as well.

There are also specimens of Indian pottery, gathered by the artist in New Mexico and Arizona. The majority of these curios were found in the neighborhood of Zuni, N. M., and they consist of kitchen utensils, garden implements and things generally of use in a red man's home. There are altogether about sixty specimens, and they form a novel collection.

Supplementing the paintings and curios are a lot of relics of the Revolutionary and Civil Wars. The sword which Colonel Scott's great-grandfather, Lieutenant Jonathan Scott, carried in the Revolution, is preserved. Together with a number of flintlock guns, flintlock pistols, swords, sabres, powder pouches and horns, are specimens of wearing apparel, incuding military uniforms. The buckskin knee breeches, coat and hat, said to have been worn by General Washington's bodyguard, is in this collection. Spinning wheels, lanterns and other things of colonial days were also carefully collected by the colonel. Representing the period of the civil strife are guns, caps and the like picked up on the battlefields at Gettysburg, Antietam and elsewhere. In one room in the Stillman building is a collection of more than 1,000 rare old volumes printed at various times and in various countries.

Standing in a corner, obstructed from view, is a handsome cup, perhaps two feet high, made of bronze. This was presented to Colonel Scott by General George B. McClellan, between whom there was an intimate friendship. Another valuable article is a bronze medallion, commemorating the treaty signed between this country and Great Britian at the close of the War of 1812.

Colonel Scott possessed an original death mask of Napoleon Bonaparte, and his heirs claim that they can easily establish its genuineness. It is said to be one of the three made at St. Helena. According to the generally accredited story, Dr. Spooner, who lived there years ago, purchased this mask in France, during his many travels abroad. After his death it was given to Rev. Mr. Embery, of North Plainfield, and when he died a dealer in second-hand goods purchased it, not knowing its value. Colonel Scott obtained it from the shopkeeper at a trifling cost. This mask is now on exhibition here, together with a death mask of Abraham Lincoln, which is also known to be genuine.

During Colonel Scott's life Plainfield people knew little about the man, but after his death they awoke to the fact that a great artist had lived among them. Now his collections are to be taken away. H. P. Scott, the artist's brother, has left his law practice in Kansas City temporarily, while he attends to his duties as executor of the estate, and appears to be a match for the curators and art collectors who are inspecting the collection.

nattied Bridegroom's Mistake.

A young couple were married in Fenelon Falls the other day, and a number of their friends and relatives assembled at the railway station to see them off on their honeymoon. Old slippers and rice were showered on the happy pair as they boarded the train.

When they got comfortably seated in the car the groom noticed a boot in the aisle, and, thinking it was one that had been thrown into the car by some of his jovial friends, threw the boot out of the window as the train was moving.

It happened that the boot belonged to a Toronto commercial traveler who had removed it to ease his weary feet. On the arrival of the train at Lindsay the bridegroom was compelled to purchase a new pair of boots for the drummer.—Toronto Globe.

The Inevitable Result.

"John, you were at your club last night?"

"Yes."

"By the way, this Martinique eruption has been going on for a week or so, hasn't it?"

"Certainly, my dear. What's the idea?"

"Nothing, except you came home last night weeping great gobs of fermented grief and declaring that Vesuvius had hurled 50,000,000 of our loved ones into eternity without a moment's warning. Of course it's all right if you want to mourn the dear departed, and switch Vesuvius over into the West Indies, and of—"

But the door slammed viciously and he had went hence.—Baltimore News.

Regard for Women in Austria.

In Austria a woman, no matter what she may do, is never regarded or treated as a criminal. She may rob, burn, kill—set every law at defiance, in fact, and break all the commandments in turn without a fear of ever being called upon to face a gallows. She is not even sent to an ordinary prison to do penance for her sins; the hardest fate that can befall her is to be compelled to take up her abode for a time in a convent.—Indianapolis News.

The Important Thing.

"He told me it would probably be a bitter fight," said the man who had just been to see a lawyer.

"But he convinced himself of the justice of your cause," suggested his wife.

"Well, no; not right away," replied the prospective litigant. "He first convinced himself that I had money enough to make a fight."—Chicago Post.

An Intuition.

She—There are times when I question the reality of your friendship for me.

He—How can you say that?

"But I do. I sometimes feel as if you were having a struggle with yourself not to kiss me."—Puck.

POCKET HANDKERCHIEFS.

The Reason They Are Made Square Instead of Oblong Is of Interest.

It is not generally known why pocket handkerchiefs are always made square. The reason is interesting. In the year 1784, on September 23, a decree was issued by the king of France ordering that the length of all the pocket handkerchiefs made in the kingdom must be equal to the breadth and since that time pocket handkerchiefs have been made in the shape of a square all over Europe, says the New York Commercial-Advertiser.

Apropos of linen lore, a most instructive little booklet, just brought out, gives a comprehensive history of linen, ancient and modern. More than 4,000 years ago the cultivation, spinning and weaving of flax gave employment to many of the world's inhabitants. Until the establishment of spinning mills in 1828 the scutched flax was spun into yarn by the farmers' wives and daughters, originally by a distaff and spindle, which was afterward replaced by a spinning-wheel worked by the foot. Now these are employed more for ornament than use and have been superseded by new methods. The German linen trade dates back to A. D. 600, and Russia, Norway and Sweden have not been neglectful of their linen manufactures. Ireland, being able to grow flax and spin the yarn and weave and bleach the linen, has always taken a first place in this industry, even as far back as Henry III. In William III.'s reign an act was passed to permit its import into Enguand, and the trade has gone on and prospered ever since.

WHOOPING-COUGH EPIDEMIC.

Introduced by Two White Children, the Malady Ravages British New Guinea.

Mr. G. F. Le Hunt, in his annual report on British New Guinea for 1900, according to the London Express, says:

"Owing to the introduction into Samara from Cooktown of the whooping cough by two white children, the vessel having a clean bill of health, though the sickness was rife at Cooktown at the time, lives innumerable have been and are being sacrificed to a blunder, which may be compared to the fatal introduction of measles—a child's complaint—into Fiji, resulting in an estimated loss of 40,000 natives.

"In this case, unfortunately, there was no medical officer at Samara, and no one realized the danger from that center of traffic. The malady spread with frightful rapidity, and swept first the coasts, and is now ravaging the interior.

"But the mischief does not end there, for, as each village is attacked and as no death can in the belief of the natives be the result of any natural cause, but must have been compassed by some unknown enemy, who can only be discovered by witchcraft, the sorcerer is at once consulted, and some unfortunate village or some other tribe is designated as the culprit, and a midnight massacre of innocent people is the result."

QUEERLY ACQUIRED RANCH.

Immense Tract Granted to Syndicate for Building Texas' State House.

Texas is noted for the number and extent of its ranches. Of a total of several thousand, they vary in size from a few thousand to several million acres, the large ones averaging 50,000 acres. The greatest is the "X. I. T." in the Panhandle, which embraces half a dozen counties and contains nearly 3,000,000 acres.

It belongs to the "Capitol syndicate," a company of men who received this vast territory some 20 years ago in return for providing the magnificent state house at Austin. The ranch is divided into seven sections, each managed by a foreman and each connected with the headquarters by means of telephones. The whole is run with the system and dispatch which characterizes all great industries, says the Review of Reviews.

On this ranch now run considerably over 100,000 head of cattle, and an idea of its size may be gained from the fact that the pasture fence extends 210 miles in one direction and 25 miles in another, making a total of about 5,000 square miles. From time to time small parcels of land have been sold, and meanwhile valuations have appreciated from 50 cents an acre to four times that amount.

Siamese King's Mistake.

The king of Siam is not as yet a Shakespearean scholar. On the recent occasion of his visit to Denmark he accompanied the crown prince to Helsingfors, and was duly conducted to the grave of Hamlet, prince of Denmark. Here he took off his hat and stood for a moment in reverential silence. Then, turning to the crown prince, he said, with deep sympathy: "A relation of your royal highness, I presume. Has he been long dead?"

Dairying in New York.

Outside of the business of supplying New York city with milk, the farmers of New York state have an investment of $43,450,000 in cows, and a corresponding amount in dairy farms and fixtures, the total being not less than $150,000,000.

Sultan's Pet Lions.

Among the pets of the sultan of Morocco are seven lions. These he permits to range the courtyards of the palace at night, to act as guards to the royal harem.

The Great Duststorm.

Scientific study of the storm of dust that swept over southern and central Europe from March 9 to March 12, 1901, shows that it was one of the most remarkable phenomena of the kind ever observed. It began in northern Africa, on the borders of the Sahara, crossed the Mediterranean sea, swept over the chain of the Alps and extended as far as Denmark, thus traversing 25 degrees of latitude. The dust was sand from the desert, and the particles that fell became finer and finer as the storm progressed northward. The advance was at the rate of more than 43 miles an hour, a high atmospheric current carrying the dust along the course of a barometric depression moving toward the Baltic sea. In Austria-Hungary and farther north the dust-fall was accompanied everywhere by rain, snow or sleet. —Youth's Companion.

Location of Taste.

It is a generally accepted belief that the sense of taste lies in the tongue and the palate. People speak of a fine palate, and many persons express astonishment that they can enjoy a delicacy as well after having had a plate fitted to their mouths by a dentist as they could before they paid a visit to that clever gentleman. But it appears from observations made by an Italian doctor that the sense of taste is not confined to the tongue and palate, but extends down the throat. You taste also with the epiglottis, that little valve at the base of the tongue, and the larynx, to which the epiglottis acts as an assistant, also takes part in the process. Concerning the palate, it is noteworthy that we taste with the soft part, which is at the back of the mouth, but not with the hard (or front) palate that explains the mystery of the dental plate.—Chicago American.

As His Child Saw Him.

A prominent real estate man in Los Angeles had an experience a few evenings ago that kept him guessing for a little bit as to whether he should feel complimented or otherwise. He was at home with one little daughter while his wife and another of the children were downtown. Darkness was coming on and the little girl was anxiously watching for her mother's return. Her nervousness grew apace, in spite of the father's attempts at reassurance. At length the little one burst into tears, saying:

"I just can't help it! I need mamma, and I must have her!"

"Do you do this way when your mamma is here and I'm away?" asked the father.

"No, of course not," replied the little one. "'Cause then there's some grown-up person about the house."—Los Angeles Herald.

Respect for Americans.

The American entering the studios will be well received if he comes prepared to submit in a jovial manner to a litle Beaux Arts joking. If he can dance a jig he will be sure to be welcomed with open arms as a demi-god, to be put up on the model throne and worshiped between the rests. None of the harmless imitations involving personal humiliation will be tried upon him. The Frenchman has very substantial reasons for not doing so, seeing that hardly a month passes in the studios in Paris without some American or Englishman standing up for his rights in a manner not compatible with decency in France, and these frequent, and, as the French say, absolutely uncalled for outbursts of the "sauvage" (savage) in our temperaments has made the Frenchman rather cautious in attempting much fun at the American or Englishman's expense.—Ladies' Popular Monthly.

What He Wanted.

PARASOLS AND BOAS.

Handles Set With Precious Stones. Chiffon Fichus.

The new parasols are even prettier than those of last season. Many show borderings of black velvet, while others are masses of tiny chiffon ruffings edged with fine lace. The handles are very rich. The favorite is a plain stick, with one large stone set in or an initial worked in brilliants. The all white or cream parasol is no doubt the most useful, and women should be careful in buying a parasol to choose one covered with a material which will not crumble and look passe after it has been used a few times.

Hats are growing larger and larger. They are also just as flat as formerly.

All over Irish lace is much used for waists.

The new chiffon boas are flat on the shoulders, with a cape effect. Many of them resemble fichus. The handsomest are thickly sewed with flower petals. They are expensive and perishable and therefore not for the woman with a small dress allowance.

A smart little blouse of all over Irish lace is shown in the cut. It is made in the shape of a bolero, falling over a crushed belt of satin. There is a fitted collar over the shoulders, and from under this two ends of chiffon start and are brought together in a big bow down the front. The sleeves are large and have full puffs gathered into cuffs of lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SUMMER EVENING GOWNS.

They Are Made With Excessively Long Trailing Skirts.

The summer evening gowns are models of grace and elegance. They are made with excessively long trains and fronts and sides which more than touch the ground. This long style of skirt is almost universally becoming, as it tends to lessen whatever defects there may be in the figure.

Floral garnitures are a striking feature of nearly all the smart evening dresses. The garniture may range from a simple bunch of artificial violets smothered among loops of chiffon to a long, trailing branch of flowers reaching from the shoulder to the bottom of the skirt.

Tiny rosebuds are intermingled with puffings of pale pink chiffon, and they are used all over a gown after the manner of insertion.

Flowers appliqued flat are no longer the style. There must be a raised effect in the shape of petals or heavy embroidery.

The favorite combination is still the low neck with the short elbow sleeve.

A smart evening gown for summer hops is here shown. The material is white dotted chiffon, with the upper half of all over ecru lace touched here and there with a faint tracery of black embroidery. The elbow sleeves consist of three straps of lace and a lace and chiffon ruffle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

BELTS, STOCKS, GUIMPES.

Little Things Which Help Make a Gown a Success.

Belts are playing a very important part in the fashions of the moment. Black and white elastic bands decorated with cut steel paillettes are still worn, but they are somewhat giving way to satin and glace bands boned and fitted as carefully as a bodice. Then there are all sorts of pale colored kids and leathers arranged with gold buckles. Soft girdles in suede are novelties. They are allowed to wrinkle as they please and are finished with straps and buckles like a saddle girth.

The little accessories of a summer wardrobe count up to quite a deal, especially this year, when daintiness is the keynote in everything. Handmade lawn collars supposed to be washable and trimmed with medallions of lace are to be worn with the soft French white waists.

Linen belts, with the collar to match, are among the novelties. In some cases there are also cuffs and a strip to wear down the shirt waist front. These sets are embroidered on pale colored linens having buttonholed edges.

A couple of guimpes are a necessity for the woman who has a limited wardrobe. She will find that by means of them many of her evening muslins may be utilized for smart afternoon wear.

The dainty dress accessories shown will prove useful additions to the wardrobe of the summer girl. The collar is made of pale blue linen embroidered in red. The flowers are done in outline stitch, and the border is worked in French knots. The belt is of linen stitched on a canvas foundation. It is of blue linen also to match the collar. The sailor collar is of white linen with a border of navy blue linen, and the embroidery is done in blue and white wash silk. The little tucked lawn tie is ornamented in pale green feather-stitching. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHIONABLE HATS.

Smart Caps For Automobiling. Coarse White Straw.

Smart caps for automobiling and yachting are made of dull red linen. Coats of red linen strapped with black taffeta are among the latest automobile fancies.

Burnt straw has been done to death, and there is a revival of pure white straws in all the fashionable shapes.

One of the most useful hats for everyday wear has a rolling brim and a very short back. It is worn slightly tilted on the left side, and the sole trimming consists of a chiffon veil draped loosely around the brim with long ends behind. These veil hats, as they are called, are very smart when made of rough straw, the brim being bound with an edge of taffeta of the color of the suit.

The dressy hats are models of simplicity, but they are also expensive, as handsome lace forms part of the trimming of nearly every one of them. In many cases the sole trimming consists of a wreath of small flowers thinly veiled by a scarf of lace.

In the picture there is shown a picture hat of tucked black chiffon. This has the irregular upturned sides so fashionable now. For trimming on the right side there is a rosette and under the left brim a group of three black ostrich tips. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright, 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

CHAPTER I.

In the days before New Orleans became a modern city with trolley cars and sky-scraping buildings—was it yesterday or the day before?—there was a dingy little cafe in the newspaper quarter which was well beloved of journalism, notably of that wing of the force whose hours begin late and end early.

"Chaudiere's," it was called, though I know not if that were the name of that wizen little Gascon who took toll at the desk; and it was particularized for its gumbos, its stuffed crabs and its claret, which was neither very bad nor very dear. For the rest, it had a clean, sanded floor, marble-topped tables for two, and an old-world air of recreative comfort which is rarer now, even in New Orleans, than it was yesterday or the day before.

It was at Chaudiere's that Griswold, late of New York and the coasts of bohemia, had eaten his first breakfast in the Crescent city and it was at Chaudiere's again that he shared a farewell supper with Bainbridge of the "Louisianian." Six weeks lay between this and that; forty odd days of discouragement and failure superadded upon other like days and weeks and months. The breakfast, he remembered, had been garnished with certain green sprigs of hope; but at the supper table he ate like a barbarian in arrears to his appetite, recking not that he was another man's guest.

Bainbridge had just been billeted for a run down the Central American coast to write up the banana trade for his paper. He was boyishly jubilant over the assignment, which promised to be neither more nor less than a pleasure trip; and, chancing upon Griswold, in the first flush of his elation, had dragged him around to the cafe to play second knife and fork at a small parting feast. Not that it had required much persuasion. Griswold had fasted for twenty-four hours and he would have broken bread thankfully with an enemy, to say nothing of Bainbridge, who, if he were not a full-fledged friend, was at least a friendly acquaintance.

Now, a hungry man is but poor company at best; but Bainbridge, the elated, contrived to talk for two until he had relieved his mind upon the subject of his windfall.

Then it occurred to him that Griswold was rather more than usually unresponsive—a fault not to be condoned under the circumstances. Wherefore he protested.

"What's the matter with you to-night, Kenneth? You're more than commonly grumpy—and that's saying a good deal."

Griswold took the last roll from the plate and buttered it methodically.

"Am I? I was more than commonly hungry. But go on; I'm listening."

"That's comforting as far as it goes, but I should think you might say something more or less appropriate. You don't have a chance to congratulate lucky people every day."

Griswold looked up with a scowl that was almost ill-natured, and quoted cynically: "'Unto everyone that hath shall be given; and from him that hath not, even that he hath shall be taken away from him.'"

Bainbridge laughed tolerantly. "By Jove, Kenneth, a man up a tree would say you envied me."

"I do," rejoined Griswold, gravely. "I envy any man who can earn enough to keep the ban-dog of hunger from biting him."

"Pshaw! anybody can do that," said Bainbridge, with the air of one to whom the struggle for existence is as yet a mere phrase.

"I know that is your theory, but the facts disprove it. I can't, for one."

"Yes, you could, if you'd side-track some of your own theories and come down to sawing wood like the rest of us. But you won't do that."

Griswold was a fair man, with a skin that was quick and sensitive like that of a woman, and a red flush of anger swept over his face.

"That is not true, and you know it, Bainbridge," he contradicted, speaking slowly, lest his temper should break bounds. "Is it my fault that I can do nothing but write books for which I can't find a publisher? Or that the work of a hack writer is quite as impossible to me as mine is to him?"

Bainbridge laughed, but he was ready enough to make amends when he saw that Griswold was moved.

"I take it all back," said he. "I suppose the book is home again, and a returned manuscript excuses anything. But, seriously, Kenneth, you ought to get down to hard facts. Nobody but a phenomenon can find a publisher for his first book, nowadays, unless he has had some sort of an introduction in the magazines or the newspapers. You haven't had that; and, so far as I know, you haven't tried to get it."

"Oh, yes, I have—and failed. It isn't in me, and there isn't an editor in the country who doesn't know it by this time. I came down here, as you know, to write up the sugar situation for Horton. It was a humiliating failure, like everything else of the kind I have ever set myself to do."

"Did you send in anything?"

"Yes; and it was rejected. Horton said to try it on some of the reviews; that it might go with them, but was no good for a newspaper. It's no use talking, Bainbridge; the conditions are all wrong when a man with a message to his kind can't get to deliver it to the people who want to hear it."

Bainbridge ordered the demi-tasses and lighted a cigar. "That's about what I suspected. You couldn't keep your peculiar views muzzled even while you were writing a bit of a pot-boiler. That brings us back to the old contention. You drop your fool socialistic fad and write a book that a publisher can bring out without committing commercial hari-kari, and you'll stand some show. Light up and fumigate that idea awhile."

Griswold took the proffered cigar. "It doesn't need fumigating; if I could consider it seriously, it ought to be burnt with fire. You march in the ranks of the well-fed, Bainbridge, and it's your business to be conservative. I don't, and it's mine to be radical."

"What would you have? The world's as it is, and you can't remodel it."

"Yes, I and my kind can remodel it, and we will some day when the burden has grown too heavy to be borne. The aristocracy of rank went down in fire and blood in France a century ago; that of money will come to its end here when the time is ripe."

"That's rank anarchy. I didn't know you'd gotten so far along."

"Call it what you please; names don't change facts. Listen"—Griswold leaned across the table and his eyes grew hard and the blue in them was steely—"For more than a month I have tramped the streets of this accursed city begging—yes, that's the word—begging for work of any kind that would suffice to keep body and soul together; and for more than half of that time, I've lived on one meal a day. That is what we have come to—we of the submerged majority. And that isn't all; the wage-worker himself is but a serf, a chattel among the other possessions of some fellow-man who has acquired him in the plutocratic redistribution of the earth and the fulness thereof."

Bainbridge applauded in dumb show with his thumb-nails. "Turn it loose and ease your mind, old man," he said, indulgently. "I know things haven't been coming your way lately. What is your remedy?"

Griswold was fairly started now, and ridicule was as fuel to the flame.

"The money people have set us the example. They have made us understand that might is right; that he who has may hold—if he can. The answer is simple; there is enough and to spare for all, and it belongs to all—to him who has sown the seed and watered it as well as to him who has reaped the harvest. That is a violent remedy, you will say. So be it; it is the only one that will cure the epidemic of greed. There is an alternative, but it is only theoretical."

"And that?"

"May be summed up in seven words: 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' When the man who employs—and governs—uses the power that money gives him to succor his fellow-man, the revolution will be indefinitely postponed."

Bainbridge looked at his watch. "I must be going," he said; "the 'Adelantado' drops down the river at eleven. But in passing I'll venture a little prophecy. You're down on your luck now, and a bit hot-hearted in consequence, but some day you will strike it right and come out on top. When you do, you'll be a hard master, or I'll lose my guess."

"God do so to me and more, if I am."

"That's all right; when the time comes you remember my little vaticination. But before we shake hands, let's get back to concrete things for the minute. How are you fixed for the present, and what are you going to do?"

Griswold laughed mirthlessly. "I am 'fixed' to run twenty-four hours longer, thanks to your hospitality. For that length of time I presume I shall conform to what we have been taught to believe is the natural order of things. After that—"

He paused, and Bainbridge put the question: "What then?"

"Then, if the chance to earn it is still denied me, and I am sufficiently hungry, I shall stretch forth my hand and take what I need."

Bainbridge fished in his pocket and found a ten-dollar bill. "Do that first," he said, offering Griswold the money.

The proletary smiled and shook his head. "No; not to keep from going hungry—even to oblige you, Bainbridge. It is quite possible that I shall end by becoming a robber, as you paraphrasers would put it, but I shan't begin on my friends. Good-night, and a safe voyage to you."

The Ubiquitous Microbe.

Ruthless bacteriologists destroy, one by one, our fondest illusions. Now faith in the purity of glaciers must go the way of other popular fallacies. Hitherto the man in the street had imagined that were all the waters of every city and plain polluted he would still find immaculate springs in the Alps. But M. Binst, who presides over a chemical laboratory at the Pasteur institute, having no such faith, obtained some ice from the glaciers of Mont Blanc itself and placed it under his pitiless microscope. His verdict shatters the dreams of mountaineers. It appears that even the summit, which so long remained untrodden by human feet, has lost its purity, if it ever had any. The ice in question, and water melted therefrom, were found, on bacteriological analysis, to be "peopled with colonies of microbes." The statement which follows is particularly terrifying. It appears that "the germs in question were found to belong to the most varied families of bacteria." M. Binst accounts for the pollution of the Mont Blanc glaciers by surmising that the microbes have been conveyed to the mountain peaks by the winds sweeping the cities in the valleys.—London Telegraph.

The Cigar of Peace.

"Every attention is being paid to the Boer leaders, whose comfort in the matter of lodging has been well looked after." Thus the report from Pretoria, and in the interests of peace it is to be hoped that the comforts include some reasonably choice cigars, the reduction of which to ashes forms the best basis for an agreement between men who differ and smoke. By much tobacco Bismarck reduced Thiers to acceptance of the German terms, and the Spanish-American peace commission after the war of 1898 proceeded but lamely until the delegates kindled the pipe of peace. At the fifth meeting, little progress having been made, Senor Rios, on behalf of his colleagues, proposed an escape from the formal atmosphere. "I have observed," he said, "that the American commissioners are accustomed to smoking. May I suggest that we join together in our one bond of sympathy and light our cigars and cigarettes?" This being done, the negotiations speeded happily, thereby proving that a smoke in time saves much firing.—London Chronicle.

The Effects of Artillery.

It has long been a commonplace that the effects of artillery are mainly "moral," but for all that the introduction of the new explosive—lyddite, especially—and of quick-firing guns had insensibly revived the belief in the great material value of artillery. It would be gratuitous to say that artillery has had a great downfall in general estimation—among those who have always taken a sane view of its uses we do not think it has—but we may fairly say that relatively to artillery the rifle has gained in reputation. We know now that lyddite, although it may make short work of the mahdi's tomb, is of little use against earthworks, especially when it falls on very soft ground, and that the stories of men whose senses left them and whose teeth shook in their heads because they happened to be within a quarter of mile of an explosion of lyddite were mere moonshine.—London Spectator.

Wrong Diagnosis.

"What seems to be the matter, doctor?" asked the sick man's wife as she waylaid him in the hall.

"Stomach trouble," replied the pill dispenser. "What he needs is a change. I don't believe the water here agrees with him."

"Water nothing!" exclaimed the wife, in a tone that was calculated to choke off any further argument. "I don't believe he has tasted a drop of water in ten years."—Chicago Daily News.

Wanted All Good People Nice.

Those who have complained that virtue is uninteresting have usually been branded as cynics, or, worse, as people trying to be clever. To all such this true story of a little girl may come as consolation, for "out of the mouths," etc.

Little Alice had been put to bed, and told to say her prayers. "O God," she prayed, "make all the bad people good, and make all the good people, all the good people—all the good people—nice!"—N. Y. Tribune.

A Sure Sign.

Hotelman—Why didn't you demand payment in advance from that couple? They didn't have any baggage.

Clerk—Oh! he's got barrels of money.

"How do you know?"

"Because he's old and ugly and his wife is young and pretty."—Philadelphia Press.

It Was Up to Him.

Mr. Williams (Fanny's admirer)—Is your sistah going to the seaside this summah, Tommy?

Tommy—That all depends on you. I heard ma say if you and Fanny were engaged before the season opened there wouldn't be any sense in her going.—Stray Stories.

ODOR FOR CHRYSANTHEMUM.

Florists Are Now Seeking a Means to Add to the Flower's Attractions.

How to impart perfume to the chrysanthemum is a feat the accomplishment of which is just now earnestly being sought by florists, both professional and amateur, in all sections of the country. The development of the chrysanthemum within the last few years from an unattractive flower to its present high state of perfection, beauty and commercial value is one of the wonders of horticultural history. To English florists is due the credit of this development, but this country has not been slow in cultivating that flower, and the correctness of the commercial instinct of the professional florists in this direction can be realized when it is known that their revenue from this flower alone was $500,000 last year.

More flowers are said to be bought in New York than in any other city in the world, and the prices paid are higher. In this connection it is not uninteresting to note that the flower industry of the whole country, says the Washington Star, is assuming large proportions and is increasing in perhaps a more rapid ratio than other commercial enterprises. The government figures are available for the year 1989, and show that during that year $2,738,426 was expended for the labor in the flower industry in this country. The value of the whole product is placed at $11,928,822, which commercial florists have thought too low an estimate. The land on which the flowers were raised and the value of the buildings in use is estimated at $35,469,487.

UNCLE SAM'S RAILROAD.

A Six-Mile Line That Is Used to Transport Ordnance Up and Down Sandy Hook.

The United States is operating a railroad of its own, and does not make a cent out of it from one year's end to the other. Only a few miles from New York, on the Sandy Hook peninsula, is a six-mile steam railroad, with Fort Hancock as one terminal and Highland Beach as the other. This road, says the Express Gazette, while limited in its rolling stock to one locomotive, one combination baggage and passenger car and several freight cars, is in touch with the whole country, as it connects at Highland Beach with the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Large operations in the line of ordnance tests are secretly conducted at the Sandy Hook proving grounds by the ordnance department at Sandy Hook, and it is the transportation of this ordnance, together with ammunition and supplies, that furnishes the bulk of business of this railroad. The passenger traffic is small, as it is limited to those having passes issued by the military authorities of the United States. Aside from the inscription "Sandy Hook Proving Grounds," which appears on the cars and locomotive, there is nothing about the train to suggest the ownership of the road. Nevertheless, it is Uncle Sam's own railroad, with an artillery sergeant as conductor, and a traffic manager, Col. J. B. Burbank, who is at present in command at Fort Hancock.

NEEDLEWORK OF THE NUNS.

The Art of Embroidery Has Reached Perfection in Some of the Convents.

The most beautiful needlework in the world comes from the convents. The fact is unquestionably due to the training the young apprentice receives on less than a quarter of a yard of cloth all the fundamental rules of sewing. Industriously she plies her needle on this bit of cloth, mastering inch by inch all the finer arts of the delicate needlework; one of the greatest object lessons to mothers with growing daughters, who are permitted to destroy valuable silks and linen, ruining both temper and goods over something that is pure Greek to the crude beginner. How often materials so eagerly and hopefully purchased become useless in the hands of the person whose brain has no knowledge whatever of the vastness of the undertaking before her.

The nuns, with whom wastefulness is a deadly sin, teach every stitch most carefully, nor is this practice made tedious and difficult by giving the student long hems, heavy coarse garments and yards of tucking. A tiny piece of goods of moderate weight, a thimble fitting perfectly, not too heavy, a needle in size to carry 70 or 80 thread, are the implements of practice. The young women who learn the sewing are the consecrated women, so called because they have consecrated their lives and daily labor to God.

The Home of Kisses.

As many kisses as shots are exchanged on a big field-day with the Russian army. The emperor kisses his officers, the officers kiss each other, men embrace lovingly; old generals kiss; in fact, everybody is kissing and being kissed when the czar reviews his troops. On a public holiday the mistress of the house salutes all her servants, both male and female, with a morning kiss, while her lord and master scarcely enters or leaves the room that day without first bestowing a kiss on the forehead, cheek or hand of his spouse.

A Liner's Metal Works.

The boiler tubes on a liner, if placed in a straight line, would reach nearly ten miles, and the condenser tubes more than 25 miles. The total number of separate pieces of steel in the main structure of the ship is not less than 40,000.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

No Leagues games were played, Saturday afternoon. Both contests were called off by the umpires and managers at 1 o'clock as the condition of the diamonds would not warrant playing if it had stopped raining. The postponed games will take place on July 5, which is one of the dates left open for that purpose.

The Park Athletic Club nine defeated the Scotch Plains school team on the latter's diamond Saturday afternoon by the score of 14 to 4. Marsh and Herman did the twisting for Scotch Plains; Conover and Webster were in the box for the Parks, with Emmons behind the bat. The Park Club has another game on for Wednesday.

Two baseball teams from Wetumpkah and Miantonomo tribes of Red Men, of this city, journeyed to Dewey Park, yesterday, and battled for supremacy on the diamond. It was a rather close match with Miantonomo gaining and holding the advantage in the latter part of the game, beating their opponents by a score of 17 to 13. Frank Perry and Robert Perrine formed the battery for the Miantonomos and William Waters and Robert Sebring for the Wetumpkahs.

REFORM HALL MEETING.

Rev. L. E. Livermore Was the Speaker at Yesterday's Service.

The meeting at Reform Hall yesterday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock was led by Rev. L. E. Livermore. There was a large attendance and Mr. Livermore gave an excellent talk. He likened the rum traffic and the spread of intemperance to the locusts in Joshua's time. The devotional exercises were conducted by R. W. Hand and by request he sang "Is Your Light Burning, My Brother?" The new management is receiving and desires the cooperation of Christian people in order to make the services a success.

Regret His Departure.

Linden Bridgeman, who was one of the graduates from the City High School last week, left yesterday for his home in Astoria, borough of Queens, New York. Mr. Bridgeman has been a resident of Plainfield for six years past, and during his stay here made many friends who will regret his departure. FOWLER NAMED FOR CONGRESS party in which the Union man was declared to be one of New Jersey's most illustrious sons, a valiant warrior and a close student of economics, whose currency bill was the culminating masterpiece of a splendid career, yet in the heydey of its youth and promise. Thomas Hillary, of Morris, and County Judge George M. Shipman, of Warren, made speeches seconding the nomination.

"There is no flaw in his honor, no stain on his shield," declared the latter in lauding the nominee. "There is talk of corruption in our borders. We know the Warren Democrats spend money to get out Democratic votes, and that in our Board of Freeholders Democratic office-seekers spend money to defeat Republican candidates, but now we are going to overcome all that, and the time will soon come when Warren will walk alongside or ahead of Union in the Republican column. To be true to Republican principles is to be true to God and the Bible."

Then the delegates, after the secretary had cast the vote making Mr. Fowler the nominee, decided that in case of a vacancy on the ticket before fall the Congressional district committee should call another convention on five days' notice and reselect the former members of the Congressional committee. They are C. F. Hopkins and George H. Poole, of Morris; Dr. Charles B. Holmes and Charles J. Fisk, of Union, and Dr. E. M. Beasley and Walter Ingham, of Warren.

While a committee was looking for Mr. Fowler to take him before the convention the deleagtes listened to speeches from Congressman Robert W. Taylor, of Ohio, and Ebenezer J. Hil, of Connecticut. Both entered Congress with Mr. Fowler in 1894.

There was an enthusiastic tumult when Mr. Fowler entered the hall.

When the band stopped playing and the delegates stopped shouting the nominee made a brief speech of thanks, but attempted no discussion of issues. A rainbow following a heavy shower had been succeeded by the reappearance of the sun shortly before his arrival, and he wove the incident into a pretty rhetorical fancy prophetic of Republican success in the new district. Then the nominee declared the keenness of his appreciation of the convention's action, said he hoped at the end of the next term he expected to serve the people of the district would be able to thank him for faithful service, predicted greatness for the district, spoke of its diversified interests and industries, and urged hard work on the part of Republicans in the campaign.

"I am a party man," announced Mr. Fowler. "I believe in organization. Our government is one that must be controlled by parties and I want to see a party organization in every political sub-division of this district. We are partners in this matter. I don't believe in bossism or boss control. I want you to help me and I want to help you. But when you send a man to me for office be sure he is such a man as you would employ yourself before you ask me to recommend him to the government I serve."

John A. Buttz, of Sarepta, Warren county, who had intended to celebrate his ninetieth birthday by being present at the convention as a delegate and making a speech, was unable to attend because of the storm earlier in the day.

Leads Them All.

"One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says D. Scott Currin, of Loganton, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. L. W. Randolph.

MAY EXTEND CALL.

Stamford, Conn., Baptist Church Talks of Recalling Former Pastor, Rev. J. W. Richardson.

A story from Stamford, Conn., was printed in yesterday's New York Sun, telling of the action of the Baptist church of that place in requesting the pastor, Rev. George L. Braker, Jr., to resign on the ground that the church is losing ground. According to the story, Mr. Braker succeeded Rev. Charles L. Rhodes and it is said to be the church's intention of extending a call to Rev. J. W. Richardson, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, to become the pastor of the church. Mr. Richardson was a former pastor of this church.

Mr. Richardson was seen this morning by a representative for The Daily Press and he stated that he had heard nothing of the matter, except that printed in The Sun. He did not say whether he would or would not accept if a call was extended.

FEW NEW LAWYERS.

Smallest Class for Several Years Passed Examinations Last Week.

The result of the recent attorneys' and counselors' examinations, held under the new rules promulgated by the Supreme Court, was announced last week by the examiners, Charles H. Hartshorne, Frank H. Sommer and Howard M. Cooper.

Of a class of twenty-nine attorneys who took the counselors' examinations, nine failed, while fifteen of a class of forty-eight candidates for admission to the bar as attorneys did likewise. This reduced the number of new lawyers to thirty-three, the smallest class admitted for several years.

Met a Post.

A horse attached to a covered wagon on which was seated August Norwey, started to run away at the corner of Park and North avenue this afternoon. The animal proceeded only a few yards when the wagon collided with a post, breaking the shafts. The timely intervention of William Hand prevented the horse from resuming his gallop.

GIVEN DAMAGES FOR BEING CALLED THIEF

Miss Susan Hayes, a Colored Domestic, Won Suit Against Her Former Employer.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

DEFENDANT IN THE CASE WAS FREDERICK K. FISH, JR., OF THIS CITY.

Miss Hayes Had Been Arrested on Mr. Fish's Complaint, But Case Could Not be Proven to Satisfaction of Court—The Result.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 24—In the district court before Judge Atwater yesterday, Frederick K. Fisk, Jr., of Plainfield, was defendant in a suit for $300 damages brought against him by Miss Susan Hayes, a young colored woman, who sought to recover for alleged injury to her character and reputation by being publicly proclaimed a thief and for false arrest. W. A. Coddington, of the firm of Reed & Coddington, of Plainfield, represented the plaintiff and Lawyer G. W. V. Moy, of Plainfield, the defendant. The jury was out seven minutes when a verdict for the full amount, $300 and costs, was given the plaintiff.

The plaintiff who is twenty-three years of age, was in the employ of the defendant early in November. November 13 several articles of silverware and a handkerchief mysteriously disappeared, whereupon Mr. Fish and his wife accused Miss Hayes of having stolen them.

This accusation was stoutly denied, and, according to her story, rather than remain in the house a suspected thief, she left.

Mr. Fish, insisting that the plaintiff had robbed him, went before Justice Elmore D. Moffett, at Plainfield, and endeavored to have a warrant issued for her arrest. The Justice, however, on hearing Mr. Fish's story, was of the opinion that the grounds presented were not sufficiently strong and declined to issue the warrant asked for.

The defendant then went to the office of Justice Hezekiah Hand and procured a warrant on which the girl was arrested. She demanded a hearing which resulted in her discharge from custody. This did not satisfy Mr. Fish and he carried the case before the Grand Jury, which, after hearing the testimony against the girl, refused to return an indictment against her, throwing out the case.

Mr. Fish having failed to prove her a thief, Miss Hayes through her counsel, William A. Coddington, brought suit against Mr. Fish. Among the witnesses who appeared against Mr. Fish and who testified to the girl's good character, were J. Frank Hubbard, director of the Board of Freeholders, Ernest C. Kiebe, and S. M. McAnneny, of Fanwood; Justices Moffett and Hand, Richard Norwood, Nelson Scott, Mrs. Nelson Batts and Mrs. Reed, of Plainfield, and J. K. English, of Elizabeth.

Mr. Fish testified in his own behalf and his wife was also a witness, together with Mrs. Rogers, colored, of Plainfield. There were many amusing incidents in connection with the trial, some of the testimony on the part of the colored witnesses being ludicrous.

FOR WORTHY CAUSE.

Fair Given for Benefit of Cripple Child at Muhlenberg Hospital Was a Success.

The fair, given by Mrs. J. R. Hill, of Woodland avenue, on the grounds of Mrs. A. R. Dyett's residence, yesterday afternoon, in aid of a cripple child now at Muhlenberg Hospital, proved a great succes. A large number of people attended, including many guests from the Hotel Netherwood.

The fair was in progress from 3 to 7 o'clock and during these hours, there was a sale of various articles, refreshments were served, and the future was disclosed to many by a competent fortune teller.

Those in charge of the affair were Mrs. W. Gross, Mrs. A. J. Beal, Mrs. Walter Platt and Mrs. Walter Peterson at the table of useful articles; Miss Antoinette Hill was at the fancy table, assisted by Miss Helen King and Miss Christina Scott; Mrs. Platt presided at the candy table, and Mrs. Boubaine at the dry goods table. The gypsy fortune teller was Miss Bonnell, of Westfield. Miss Constance Wilcox had charge of the fish pond.

Election at Unity.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., will meet Thursday evening and elect officers.

BETTER SERVICE FOR NEWARK

JERSEY CENTRAL WILL INAUGURATE NEW SCHEDULE SUNDAY.

Will Include the Early Morning Train From Somerville to Newark.

Work on track elevation on the Newark branch of the Central Railroad of New Jersey is considered by the officials so well in hand that particular attention has been given to Newark passenger traffic in the new summer schedule that goes into effect next Sunday. All the trains withdrawn at the time the work of raising the tracks was begun have been restored, and on week days twelve new trains have been scheduled to run between Newark and New York. One of the new locomotives of the suburban type is now in service, and others are expected before the end of the month. When the full complement are placed in service nearly all the trains on the Newark branch will be moved by the new modern engines.

The new trains from New York to Newark will leave as follows: 2, 2:30, 3:55, 4:20, 7 and 7:20 in the afternoon. From Newark to New York trains will leave Broad street at 11:20 and 11:40 in the morning and at 1:30, 2:10, 3:10 and 3:30 in the afternoon. With the additional trains under the new schedule, the Central have taken a long stride toward the twenty-minute service promised when the track elevation work is complete.

With the new timetable a solid through train will be placed in service between Dunellen and Newark, arriving at the latter place at 7:50 in the morning. The train is intended for the use of Newark business people who live on main line points of the Central, and who are required to be at their offices at 8 o'clock or shortly after.

Several of the fast express trains to Philadelphia and seashore points will, under the new schedule, stop on signal at Elizabeth or Elizabethport for the accommodation of Newark passengers. Travel on the through express between Newark, Long Branch and Point Pleasant has increased to an extent that will require the placing of additional coaches on the train.

FOUND BICYCLE ON TRAIN

SUPPOSED THIEF BRAVED BULLETS AND MADE HIS ESCAPE.

Wheel Was Found to be the One Stolen From Druggist Miller Last Evening.

Quick work on the part of the local police recovered for Druggist Dudley Miller, last night, his new Wolff-American wheel. The mount was stolen from in front of his Park avenue pharmacy shortly after 9 o'clock but at 1 o'clock this morning it was intercepted at Cranford on its way to New York.

As soon as a description of the wheel was furnished Sergeant Frederickson, he telephoned to all the nearby places, asking the police to be on the lookout. A return message came from Cranford early this morning saying a wheel answering the description had been taken from a freight car on a train which stopped at the water tanks. A colored man wearing a light suit sprang from the train and ran away at the approach of the officer. A shot was fired after him but he refused to stop and disappeared in the woods.

Chief Kiely visited Cranford today and found the wheel to be Mr. Miller's.

Played on Cornell's Nine.

Douglass K. Brown, who has just been graduated from Cornell University, is now the guest of his brother, Wallace M. Brown, at the Hotel Netherwood. Mr. Brown figured prominently in sports at college, being the crack second baseman of the baseball team.

Quarter Century of Life.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the W. C. T. U. will be celebrated Thursday evening in Vincent chapel. Mrs. Boole, president of the New York W. C. T. U., a very talented speaker, will make the address.

No Meeting on Fourth.

Owing to the fact that the Fourth of July falls on Friday, the regular meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the First Baptist church will not be held next week.

To Practice Law.

G. W. V. Moy, who recently sold out his drug business to Dudley S. Miller, will now devote his entire time to the practice of law.

HISTORIC TIMES IN SPRINGFIELD VILLAGE

One Hundred and Second Anniversary of the Revolutionary Battle of Springfield.

BRET HARTE'S POEM ON IT

THE INCIDENT OF PASTOR CALDWELL AND HIS HYMN BOOKS.

Continentals Ran Short of Wadding and He Gave Them the Books to Use Instead—An Interesting Story of That Famous Fight.

Yesterday was the one hundred and second anniversary of the Battle of Springfield, about which the residents of the little township just inside the eastern border line of Union county never tire telling. The brave stand made by the "minute" men from the countryside against a band of Hessian troops who endeavored to advance from Elizabeth to Morristown; the pillaging and burning of all but four houses, one of which is still standing, and the subsequent repulse of the enemy, is a never-to-be-forgotten event in the annals of Union county.

Many stories have been recounted of incidents connected with the struggle, but none are more inspiring than the narrative of Parson Caldwell, whose deed on that memorable day is immortalized in a poem written by Bret Harte, who died a few weeks ago. Parson Caldwell was pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Elizabeth, but enlisted as a chaplain and moved his family to Connecticut Farms, where he thought they would be safe. On the very day, however, that the Battle of Springfield was fought his wife fell an innocent victim to the bullet of one of the enemy.

From Union the Hessians proceeded toward Springfield, marauding and killing in their path. At the Rahway river bridge, on the eastern end of Springfield, they met determined opposition and were held at bay for half an hour by Colonel Israel Angell and a small company of men. The latter were finally compelled to fall back to the second bridge, near the centre of the town, where another stand was made. There, in some way, Parson Caldwell learned of the fate that had befallen his wife, and, goaded to desperation, he seized a musket and plunged into the thick of the fight.

The patriots fought with deadly effect, but were soon hampered by the scarcity of wadding. "Parson" Caldwell was equal to the occasion. Rushing into the Presbyterian church, nearby, he seized the hymn-books, tore them up and distributed the paper among his brothers-in-arms for use in ramming down the charges.

This incident is set forth in Bret Harte's verses as follows:

Here's the spot. Look around you.
Above on the height
Lay the Hessians encamped By the church on the right
Stood the gaunt Jersey farmers. And here ran a wall—
You may dig anywhere and you'll turn up a ball.
Nothing more. Grasses spring, waters run, flowers blow
Pretty much as they did ninety-three years ago.

Nothing more, did I say? Stay one moment; you've heard
Of Caldwell, the parson, who once preached the word
Down at Springfield? What, no? Come, that's bad. Why, he had
All the Jerseys aflame! And they gave him the name
Of the "rebel high priest." He stuck in their gorge
For he loved the Lord God—and he hated King George!

He had cause, you might say! When the Hessians that day
Marched up with Knyphausen they stopped on their way
At the "Farms," where his wife, with a child in her arms,
Sat alone in the house. How it happened none knew
But God—and that one of the hireling crew
Who fired the shot. Enough; there she lay,
And Caldwell, the chaplain, her husband, away!

Did he preach—did he pray? Think of him as you stand
By the old church today; think of him and that band
Of militant plough boys! See the smoke and the heat
Of that reckless advance, of that straggling retreat!

Keep the ghost of that wife, foully slain, in your view,
And what could you, what should you, what would you do?

Why, just what he did! They were left in the lurch
For want of more wadding. He ran to the church,
Broke the door, stripped the pews, and ran out in the road
With his arms full of hymn books, and threw down his load
At their feet! Then above all the shouting and shots,
Rang his voice, "Put Watts into 'em boys; give 'em Watts!"

And they did. That is all. Grasses spring, flowers blow
Pretty much as they did ninety-three years ago.
You may dig anywhere and you'll turn up a ball,
But not always a hero like this—and that's all.

The church itself was shortly afterward burned to the ground.

In the upbuilding of the town, after the battle, the present Presbyterian church, standing near the site of the former structure, and the Gilmore homestead, a short distance further east, were among the first buildings to be erected. The year following the battle and the cruel death of his wife, Mr. Caldwell was murdered at Elizabeth.

DR. POCOCK HURT.

Fell From Hose Wagon While Returning From Fire and Dislocated His Shoulder.

Becoming choked by an accumulation of soot, a chimney in the Compton building on West Front street refused to draw, early last evening, when the workmen in W. W. Warnock's bakery started their fires. The smoke backed up into the shop and a passerby through the fire department was needed and turned in an alarm from box No. 12. The trouble was soon located and the chimney was cleaned thoroughly today.

As No. 2 hose wagon left in response to the alarm, Dr. L. S. Pocock, the department veterinary, attempted to catch on the rear. He slipped and fell with his arm doubled in under him. It was dislocated at the shoulder and he suffered numerous contusions. Drs. Fritts and Jenkins were summoned and after placing him in bed in the fire house reduced the fracture. Today he was very much better.

O BE JOYFULS.

Elected New Officers and Made Plans for the Future.

At the regular quarterly meeting of the O Be Joyful Club, held last evening, the following members were elected: President, Clarence T. Brokaw; vice president, William B. Kennett; secretary, George L. Bird; treasurer and manager, J. L. Pope; sergeant-at-arms, Harry N. Blimm. Reports were read and the club was shown to be in a flourishing financial condition. It was voted to completely refurnish and carpet the club rooms and make it one of the handsomest meeting places in the city.

Death of Mrs. August Utzinger.

Mrs. August Utzinger, of Jackson Jackson avenue, died at her home at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The funeral services will be held at St. Joseph's R. C. church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

COUNCIL WILL SELL PROPERTY FOR TAXES

Action Taken at Special Meet- of the Common Council Held Last Evening.

SOME OTHER BUSINESS.

COLLECTOR SMITH AUTHORIZED TO ACT UNDER MARTIN ACT.

Will Sell Property for Delinquent Taxes—License Granted to The Hotel Netherwood—Other Business Done.

The special meeting of the Common Council held last evening was not of long duration as there was not much business to consider. All the members except Mr. Mellick were present. In the absence of Clerk MacMurray, his placed was filled by George Wean.

The principal business that called the members together was the report of Collector Frank H. Smith. This report included a schedule of lands and real estate upon which the taxes and assessments have remained unpaid for two years from and after the time when due and payable and which have not been adjusted by the commissioners of adjustment which met June 18, 1902. The collector was authorized by the Council in the resolution confirming the report to advertise and sell this real estate at public auction to the highest bidder according to the provisions of the Martin Act.

Those who have failed to pay the taxes and interest will have an opportunity to redeem their property, but they will have to pay the cost of advertising in addition to the taxes and interest on the same.

Councilman William L. Gloak reported back the license application of F. W. Coleman to serve liquors at meals at the Hotel Netherwood, and moved that it be granted. This is a special license and provides that liquor can be served during the following meal hours: Breakfast, 6 to 10 o'clock; dinner, 12 noon to 4 o'clock; supper, 6 to 10 o'clock in the evening. The license was granted, all voting for it. This concluded the business and the Council adjourned.

VAULT CAUSED WRECK.

Too Heavy for Flat Car Which Parted in the Middle—Vault Was Not Seriously Damaged.

Word has been received by the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works officials, of this city, notifying them of a wreck on the Pennsylvania Railroad near Altoona, Pa., Saturday, caused by one of their immense vaults.

The massive piece of steel weighing nearly twenty tons was loaded on a flat car but it was unable to stand the strain. When rounding a curve the car parted in the middle and the vault was throw into a ditch, just escaping going down a steep embankment. A number of cars following were piled up in a mass of wreckage.

Workmen were sent from Plainfield to examine the vault and found it intact. A number of the glass doors in the interior were cracked otherwise there was no damage. The vault was intended for a bank at Uniontown, Pa.

For Baby Camp.

The Daily Press received yesterday $2 from the Friends' First-Day School for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain, making $12 in all thus received through The Press for this institution.

Needed Two Cars.

The travel on the Arlington avenue trolley Sunday was very heavy and warranted the operation of two cars on that line. With the one car people travelling over the line were obliged in some cases to wait a half hour to get back and forth from the city and the cemetery.

Purchased Property.

The property on Elmwood place occupied by Joseph Randolph was purchased last week by W. A. Woodruff, of East Second street. Mr. Randolph will still continue to live in the house.

Preparatory Service.

Preparatory services will be held at the Crescent Avenue church Friday evening and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed Sunday.

Church Business Meeting.

There will be a business meeting of the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow evening and every member is urged to be present.

HOTEL GUESTS ON THE HILL

INFLUX OF GUESTS AT THE HOTEL NETHERWOOD CONTINUES.

A Number of Distinguished People Have Already Registered at That Hostelry.

The influx of guests to the Hotel Netherwood during the past seven days has kept pace with the record-breaking registry of the previous week. The hotel continues to grow in public favor and as a resort for rest and recreation bids fair to become the Mecca whence many who seek a high-class appointment, will wend their way to forget the anxiety of life or to increase the pleasures of living.

The guests include men high in the political councils of the nation, others active in the military sphere, and several prominent in the world of finance. People from out of town who have come to Plainfield to participate in social events have also made the Netherwood their headquarters.

Among those registered are: Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Cannon, New York; H. H. Seaman, a member of the firm of J. H. Lane & Company, importers, and Mrs. Seaman, New York; Edgar Deal, of Edgar Deal & Company, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, accompanied by his mother and sister; Angel Vega, Theodore Ancona, M. Montero and Romon Montero, students from Seton Hall, registered for the summer; Mr. Alexander, president of the Corn Products' Company, and owner of some of the fastest trotting horses in the country, accompanied by Mrs. Alexander; Mr. Sullivan and Mrs. Sullivan, well-known European travellers, registered for the summer; ex-Congressman W. Irving Comes, Brooklyn Heights; Mrs. Zella Bogardus and Miss Bogardus, Brooklyn Heights.

During the week there was registered a party consisting of Mrs. Gilman H. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. Craig Powers, Alex. H. Price, Wm. Perkins, E. D. Perkins, and John P. Bowman, who came here to attend Miss Ginna's wedding; also a party composed of Mrs. Jas. R. Ludlow, Mrs. Clarence A. Wray, Chas. S. Neff and wife, who were present at the High School commencement exercises.

CHICKENS SCRATCHED CORN

AND THE COURT COMPELLED OWNER TO PAY FOR THE DAMAGE.

New Market Quite Excited Over a Remarkable Chicken Case Tried There Yesterday.

Chickens, belonging to Mrs. Mary Hague, of Clinton avenue, in order to reimburse their owner for losses sustained, should begin to follow the example of their famous ancestral mother, who laid that golden eggs. Mrs. Hague's chickens scratched too vigorously in the vicinity of young corn belonging to a neighbor, Robert Reutsch.

Yesterday Reutsch brought suit for $200 damages against Mrs. Hague in Justice von Minden's court at New Market, and after the jury had listened to the evidence on both sides, they concluded that corn to the value of $7.50 had been consumed by the chicks, and that owner of said chickens should pay the costs of suit.

The trial did not call for any handwriting experts, but an expert on corn was absolutely necessary, and Richard Baldwin fulfilled that position to the satisfaction of the court. The value of corn in its various stages of growth was learnedly discussed. It is presumed that the jury, who fixed the damages, were possessed of both chickens and corn. From the trouble and expense that these gallinaceous birds have given their owner, they are now entitled to be called royal shanghais, serene bantams, and should certainly be designated as a full blooded variety.

The twelve jurymen, tried and true, were: Charles N. Blackford, Robert N. Pierce, Aaron Brower, David Lawson, Wm. Clawson, Stanley Day, A. G. Nelson, E. V. Dunham, N. V. Dunn, J. Maitland, Mike Molly, A. Herlich. W. S. Angleman was attorney for the plaintiff while S. S. Swackhamer represented the interests of the owner of the chickens.

Too Much Shade.

An improvement which would greatly benefit the condition of West Front street near Washington avenue would be trimming of the large trees at that point. In the summer these trees have so much shade that the sunlight cannot reach the street and dry it properly. The street is invaribly at this season very wet and unhealthy.

SPENCER CONWAY TOLD MAYOR HOW IT WAS Explained in Court This Morning Why His Horses Wandered at Large.

TOO MUCH FOR MAYOR.

MAYOR JENKINS ADJOURNED THE CASE UNTIL CITY JUDGE RETURNS.

Deacon Conway and Christopher Columbus Maden Were Both Up on the Same Charge—What They Had to Say About It.

Never in all Mayor Jenkins' brief but eventful career on the bench as a dispenser of justice in the city court has he listened to a more eloquent appeal for clemency than that poured into his ears this morning by Deacon Spencer Conway. The natural and easy flow of oratory, tinged with a slight southern accent, with which the Deacon is wont to stir gospel campaign attendants to a religious frenzy, rose and fell in an effort to secure his suspension on a charge of allowing his blooded equines to run at large. Backed up by the less flowery but more artful excuses of Christopher Columbus Maden, who shared the charge, the effect was more than the Mayor could withstand and he adjourned the matter until Saturday when City Judge Runyon will dispense justice.

The Deacon is the possessor of three Kentucky horses which during the week assist him in gaining his livelihood by hauling ashes. C. C. Maden lays claim to two pedigreed animals. On Sunday the Deacon turns his out on his front lawn for a well deserved gambol while he attends church and Maden escorts his to a field in the West End, not being the possessor of a grass plot. Sunday all five horses wandered from the usual grazing places and unrestrained by bridle, bit or clattering ash-laden vehicles, cavorted about the Boulevard, kicking up heels and seeming to enjoy the consternation of the Hebrew storekeepers who made haste to get their wares off the sidewalk. Patrolman Higgins hove in sight and after corralling the bronchos, drove them home.

The owners were served with summons to appear in court and explain—but list while the Deacon speaks from the fulness of his heart:

"May it please, Ye Honah, dese hosses ob mine, am ordinarily weary tractable, but dey am all jumpified. Yassir, dey am all jumpified, dat is when dah's no one about, dey all brek loose and jumps around lak as if dey were circumlocuted. I always has taken special care ob my horses and if dey have disturbed the morals of the city, dey did so while I was at church. Now under dese circumstances and as I know wery well dese Jew storekeepers have animals on de street unloosened all day, I reckons we'se entitled to a len'ency of sentence. Ef yo' Honah will consider and as Ah solm'ly promises mah hosses will rammificate on Sunday's no moh me and Mr. Maden had ought to go free."

Columbus Maden insisted that his horses hadn't been on the street because he had permission to put 'em in a field and he knew right well he had carried em 'ere and had carried 'em back home. The Mayor suggested that Spencer and Christopher get the storekeepers mentioned and rehearse the matter all over before the City Judge Saturday morning.

Fire Horses Ran Away.

The two white horses, used for drawing the fire steamer, tired of the monotonous life of common though highly-fed steds, broke out of their quarters in the engine house on West Second street yesterday afternoon and raced down Park avenue to Front street. After giving some of the firemen a lively chase they were finally rounded up and brought back to their stalls.

Temperance Programme.

There was a special programe of interest at the Mt. Olive Baptist church Sunday-school Sunday afternoon, when recitations and special music relative to temperance was presented by the pupils and members of the W. C. T. U. During the afternoon an able address was delivered by W. D. Williams.

More Contracts.

THEATRICAL.

"A Chinese Honeymoon" is plunging into its third big week at the Casino, New York, like a record breaker. An enterprising management which keeps the pretty theatre delightfully cool, neat and clean and which is constantly re-decorating the lobby, approaches, foyer and auditoriums has a great deal to do with this. But aside from these pleasant features the play is so merry and tuneful and Messrs. Shubert, Nixon & Zimmerman have such an exceptionally clever cast that there is no reason why it should not keep the standing room only sign busy for a long time.

The success of summer vaudeville at summer prices in Newark has induced General Manager J. Austin Fynes to keep Proctor's open throughout the year. It is possible that within a few weeks an opera company may be introduced to diversify the style of entertainment, and it is, furthermore, possible that the Proctor Stock Company may present a few of the many comedies which have found favor in Manager Proctor's New York theatres. But the determination to keep the theatre open all summer is definite.

The Fifth Avenue and the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatres, New York, will likewise remain open uninterruptedly. Here the Proctor Stock Company, embracing an assemblage of local favorites, will present light comedy bills, with a weekly change. Stage Director Frederic Bond will often be seen in active stage harness, and among the other favorites will be found Adelaide Keim, Edna Archer Crawford, Beatrice Morgan, Mrs. Ada Levick, Florence Leslie, Bessie Lea Listina, Helen Sallinger, Adelina Raffetto, E. M. Bell, Sol Aiken, William Gerald, Frederic Truesdell, James Castle, Charles M. Seay, Duncan Harris, Julian Reed, Sumner Gard and Geo. Friend.

At all the Proctor theatres vaudeville is a factor in the entertainments. The best acts of foreign and American fame are weekly presented, the Twenty-third Street Theatre being solely given over to vaudeville bills, offered in continuous performance. Twenty-third Street was, by the way, New York's first home of the continuous, and has for several years maintained an enviable reputation for the refined and diverting bills which have been there presented.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—George Andrews, of Athol, Mass., has taken a position at the Pond Tool Works.

—Miss Bessie Ross, of Bound Brook, has accepted a position at Woodhull & Martin's.

—The Lord's Supper will be observed at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday, July 6.

—The Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg hospital, will hold a regular meeting Friday, June 27.

—The Plainfield Trust Company is constantly increasing its business, which is gratifying to the officers and directors of this new institution.

To Move Telegraph Office.

The telegraph office and baggage department at the North Avenue station will soon be removed to the north end of the station to make room for the United States Express Company which is to occupy the vacated room. The new telegraph office will be thoroughly equipped with the latest instruments and everything will be up-to-date, as will also the baggage department room.

Postmaster E. H. Bird was detained at his home yesterday by illness.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The attention of the Civil Service Commission should be drawn to the fact that the assistant postmaster of Elizabeth is to act as the conductor of the special train which is to convey the Union county delegates to the Congressional convention at Belvidere on Saturday. It is possible, however, that the official might be able to escape a charge of pernicious activity on the ground that he will not have to collect tickets.—Newark News.

Governor Murphy has announced that he may make an appointment of a brigadier-general to command the Second Brigade before the end of the week. If he does, it will remove one of the anticipated interesting features of the encampment at Sea Girt next month. Should no appointment be made, Colonel Gillmore would be, by virtue of his seniority, in command of the brigade, and would have as his staff the officers who served under the late General Cooper. These staff officers have been helping to make war on Colonel Gillmore because of the report that he did not favor their reappointment, and the members of the National Guard were anticipating a most delicate piece of strategy to prevent an open clash. Now, if an appointment is made, it will be the same old story at Sea Girt of military routine, without keeping officers and men on the qui vive for something out of the ordinary in military tactics.—Newark News.

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Union Avenue from North Avenue to Elizabeth Avenue; Elizabeth Avenue, from Union Avenue to Orange Avenue; and Orange Avenue, from Elizabeth Avenue to South Twelfth Street, all in the Township of Cranford, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, Nineteen Hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee, enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as estimated in advance, is as follows:

4,440 cubic Yards of Excavation.
7,783 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
2,390 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
405 square yards of Resurfacing Macadam, Two inches thick.
5 Culverts to be lowered.
8 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

HAGGLING AT ROME.

Negotiations Regarding Philippine Lands Proceeding Slowly.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Secretary Root declines to discuss the details of Governor Taft's negotiations at Rome until they are complete. They are proceeding steadily and in the usual course, each side seeking to make the best possible bargain, with the result that there have been several exchanges since the original proposition of Governor Taft touching the friars' lands.

These are reported by the governor to Secretary Root by cable almost daily, with full explanatory comments by himself and suggestions to govern the framing of counter proposals. The last report from him came to Washington Sunday night in the shape of a copy of the proposal of the committee of cardinals, and the answer to this was dispatched yesterday afternoon. It is said at the war department that, while there naturally have been some wide differences between the negotiators, there has been no such thing as an ultimatum or serious hitch, and there is no reason to doubt that a satisfactory agreement will be reached.

Captain Hines Acquitted.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., June 24.—Captain John L. Hines, quartermaster of the Twenty-third United States infantry here, who was tried before a general court martial last week on a charge of "conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline in violation of the sixty-second article of war," has been acquitted. Captain Hines was tried on two specifications, on both of which and on the charge as a whole the court found him not guilty and honorably acquitted him, and he has been released from arrest and returned to duty. It was charged that he ordered Private Penlow of his company strung up by the thumbs to make him confess his accomplices in a robbery which occurred while the Twenty-third regiment was in Jolo, in the Philippines.

Colored Cubans Demand Rights.

HAVANA, June 24.—At a meeting of the colored inhabitants of Cuba held here the participants voted to petition the Cuban congress to annul the existing military orders which make distinctions against the blacks. They denied any intention of rising and said they were not conspiring, but simply claiming their rights legally and with dignity. They declared the country belonged to them equally with the whites and expressed a desire to live in peace. As a result of the recent clamor raised by the blacks for office they have been offered eighty places on the police force and twelve positions as letter carriers.

Census Bureau Reduction.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The final reduction of the census personnel will occur next Monday, when 200 employees engaged on special work will be dropped from the rolls, leaving a permanent census force of 750 clerks. The permanent census act, which becomes operative July 1, legislates out of office Assistant Director Wines, one of the first appointees in the census, J. W. Langley, now filling the offices of both appointment clerk and disbursing clerk, will remain as disbursing clerk.

SILK WORKERS IDLE

Twenty Per Cent of Hands Stay Away From Mills.

ANARCHIST LEADER UNDER ARREST

McQueen, Said to Be the Inciter of the Recent Riot In Paterson, Is Captured by the New York Police.

PATERSON, N. J., June 24.—It is estimated that 20 per cent of the employees of the silk mills for whom looms were ready yesterday stayed away from work. No general strike of the silk workers has been ordered, and none is likely for a day or so if at all. The committee of the general conference of silk workers appointed Saturday night to wait on the boss dyers and ask them to come to some agreement with their dyers' helpers met with partial success.

Two of the committee called on Jacob Wiedmann at his home. Mr. Wiedmann informed them he would meet the full committee. In the afternoon the visit was paid. Mr. Maas of Knipscher & Maas was also present. The formal request that the boss dyers confer with their men was made. Mr. Wiedmann replied that the bosses were ready to do so and had been from the start, but that they insisted that the men send committees from each shop to treat with each boss.

Detectives have arrested Frank Schneider of this city. He is charged with having shot Patrolman Charles Robinson during the fight about the Ramford mills Wednesday last. Schneider is a dyer's helper. He denies absolutely that he fired the shot.

The requisition papers for McQueen, who was arrested in New York, have been prepared and will probably be placed before Governor Murphy today.

Strike at Summit Mill.

SUMMIT, N. J., June 24.—A delegation of the Paterson striking silk workers came here, and as a result the 750 employees of the Summit Silk mill went out yesterday on a sympathetic strike. There is no dispute among the Summit workers and their employers. A delegation of the Summit workers went to Paterson to try and make arrangements that will enable them to return to work, as they are adverse to remaining out.

Anarchist McQueen Caught.

NEW YORK, June 24.—William McQueen, who is wanted by the authorities of Paterson, N. J., on charges of having incited a mob of striking mill workers to riot in that city and who is under indictment there, has been arrested in this city by Detective Sergeants Delaney, Sullivan and Barrett of Captain Titus' staff.

Victorious Crews Welcomed Home.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 24.—For the first time since 1876 citizens of Ithaca welcomed yesterday three winning Cornell crews at one time. As the train bearing the victorious oarsmen pulled into the station cannon boomed a welcome, and the cracking of small arms in hundreds of hands added to the din. Every factory whistle in the city was tied down for half an hour as the cavalcade marched through the principal streets. Two thousand persons joined the line of march, and on almost every house Cornell's colors were displayed, as were new brooms to symbolize the clean sweep made by the oarsmen last Saturday. All stores were closed, and business generally was suspended. After spending several hours marching around the town the procession halted at the Ithaca hotel, where an elaborate banquet was tendered the athletes. President J. G. Schurman of the university offered the oarsmen hearty congratulations on their victories, while the populace accorded a magnificent ovation to Coach Charles E. Courtney.

Enormous Sugar Supply.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—It is to be expected that the visible supply of sugar in the world on Aug. 31, 1903, the end of the European season, will continue to show an enormously overstocked market, says Consul Diedrich, at Bremen, Germany, in a report dated May 25 and now made public at the state department. The average shortage in this year's sowing of beets, the consul says, is about 17 per cent, but this decrease, he declares, would not bring about such a diminution in the production of sugar as to relieve the present glutted market, especially if the United States and the cane growing countries should increase their production.

Unrest In Haiti.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 24.—The Cameron line steamer Paloma has arrived from Haiti. She reports that intense excitement prevails in that republic and that the feeling is growing with the approach of the elections. Serious fighting is considered certain to occur in spite of the efforts of the provisional government to maintain peace.

No Harmony Where Cleveland Is.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 24.—The absence of W. J. Bryan from the Democratic harmony dinner at New York is pretty well explained by a statement just given out by Mr. Bryan, commenting on the dinner. At the outset Mr. Bryan says there is no such thing as Democratic harmony where former President Cleveland is concerned.

Boxers Murder and Burn.

PEKING, June 24.—An American missionary named Canright has telegraphed to Peking from Chingtufu, in the province of Szechuen, saying that a Methodist chapel there has been destroyed and ten Chinese converts killed by Boxers. Mr. Canright says also that the Boxer movement is spreading in that region.

MITCHELL ANSWERED

Statement of Miners' Leader Criticised.

AN OPERATOR'S VIEW OF THE CASE

No New Developments In Bituminous Strike—Report Current That Certain Anthracite Companies Are Preparing to Operate Mines.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 24.—Independent operators and superintendents have been interviewed on President Mitchell's address to the public. None of the officials seen would permit his name to be used, and there is no one in the region who is authorized to make a statement or give an opinion for the big coal companies. Such official statements or interviews can come only from the presidents of the big companies in New York or Philadelphia.

In the opinion of most of the officials here the address is "cleverly written" and will appeal to those persons who are not familiar with the conditions in the mining regions. One superintendent whose views were similar to the others said:

"President Mitchell touched on only one of four demands made by his union, and that one was on the question of wages. He did not say anything on the uniform wage scale, the weighing of coal at all mines or the recognition of the union. These are vital points on which the companies are making a strong stand. Regarding his claim that the productive capacity of the mine workers is increasing rather than decreasing, we do not know where he gets his figures. The statistics for last year have not yet been completed, and the companies have thus far been unable to determine that question. In speaking of the alleged exorbitant freight rates on hard coal Mr. Mitchell failed to state that the cost of loading anthracite coal is much greater than the handling of soft coal.

"There is only one kind of soft coal, but nearly a dozen sizes of hard product. It takes a great deal of work and time to sort the sizes and get them on the cars."

The superintendent went on to say: "The assertion that the miner does not get paid for all the coal he mines is not true. The miner is paid for a 2,240 pound ton, and he has to send to the surface on an average 2,700 to 3,000 pounds of coal, slate and other impurities to get the ton of pure coal. Only about 10 per cent of the coal production is paid for by weight, the other 90 per cent being paid by measure."

The superintendent added that Mr. Mitchell's statement that the mine workers receive an average of $1.42 for a ten hour day is not a fair one. "In finding this average," he said, "the wages of boys, who make up between 30 and 40 per cent of the 147,500 persons spoken of in the statement, are included."

There are no developments in the bituminous phase of the coal strike. News from the west as to how the miners there stand is eagerly awaited. There is still much speculation as to what the special national convention will do.

It was reported here that the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, the Delaware and Hudson and the Scranton Coal companies are jointly making up a roll of names of men who have applied for work for the purpose of operating one or two collieries within the near future. This cannot be confirmed here.

A MISLEADING STATEMENT.

President Olyphant Says No Arbitration—Claim of Poor Pay Denied.

NEW YORK, June 24.—President R. M. Olyphant of the Delaware and Hudson company made the following comment on the statement of President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America issued in reply to that of the operators in which the correspondence leading up to the strike was made public:

"Mitchell's statement is misleading and unreliable as to facts and figures. If Mitchell proposed to call out the bituminous miners and paralize the entire industries of the country, he will find that he has taken upon his shoulders a job bigger than he is able to cope with.

"There will be no arbitration; that is certain. We will operate our mines again with the men that are on strike now. They will be only too glad to come back, and no strike leader will be able to keep them out."

A representative of the operators said:

"Mitchell says the miners are paid very poor wages, but the earnings of the miners per hour for actual time averages from 35 cents to 90 cents, according to their skill and ambition.

"Another thing the union wants to do is to limit the output. A man may be capable of filling six cars a day, but the union would say that he can only fill four cars a day, and he must stop when the fourth car is filled.

"The miners earn more than twice as much per hour as locomotive engineers, who receive about 27½ cents an hour, but who make about $3.25 a day. The miner is the best paid workman in Pennsylvania."

Small Movement of Anthracite.

HAZLETON, Pa., June 24.—Two Delaware, Susquehanna and Schuylkill trains of anthracite coal left the Roan yards, south of here, yesterday, bound for Perth Amboy, N. J. This is the first consignment of anthracite coal sent from here to tidewater since the strike went into effect. Coxe Bros. & Co. have over 300 cars of anthracite stored on sidings at their various collieries.

BUENCAMINO AT CANTON.

Filipino Leader Visits Mrs. McKinley and the McKinley Tomb.

CANTON, O., June 24.—Mrs. McKinley yesterday afternoon received from Felipe Buencamino, a former member of Aguinaldo's cabinet and now a leader of the Federal party in the Philippines, the greetings and memorial of the party which he was commissioned to personally carry to her. He came from Washington, accompanied by Frank L. Jeannini of the war department, serving him as interpreter. They were received by Mrs. McKinley and later entertained by former Secretary of State Judge Day, with whom they visited West Lawn cemetery and afterward dined at his home. The Filipino was much affected by his meeting with Mrs. McKinley, whom he afterward described as a fine model for "Dolorosa," and tears streamed down his cheeks as he addressed her.

The address contained references to the distress which the Federal party of the Philippine Islands felt at the assassination of President McKinley. It stated that he was the protector of the Filipinos and that the Federal party was honored in being allowed to tell the widow of the deceased president of its esteem for him. Mrs. McKinley was assured of the love of 6,000,000 Filipino Christians.

At the cemetery the visitors were admitted to the vault in which rest the remains of the late president, and General Buencamino as he silently looked upon the casket again wept. They also visited the site on which it is proposed to erect the McKinley monument and the family burial lot for the McKinleys. Buencamino before he left for Washington last night said he would remain at the capital until after the vote on the Philippine bill, when he would go to New York to work on behalf of a plan to colonize the Philippines with people from some of the crowded districts of the United States. He said he hoped to interest Mayor Low in a plan to send a thousand of the people out of the 11,000 on every square mile in New York to occupy and develop the 20,000,000 acres of land owned by the government in the archipelago.

BOLOMEN ATTACK.

American Soldiers In a Fight With Moros.

MANILA, June 24.—Five soldiers of the Twenty-seventh infantry, forming an advance guard which was escorting a wagon train half a mile from Camp Vicars, island of Mindanao, were attacked during the day by ten bolomen. One soldier had an arm badly cut, and another was seriously wounded in the head. The Moros captured a rifle and escaped uninjured.

The Badinglam Moros say the attackers were Moros from Bonolod who went on the warpath in the morning for the avowed purpose of killing negligent Americans.

Lieutenant Colonel Frank D. Baldwin, from the island of Mindanao, reports that the Moros have held a big conference at Bacolod. The sultan urged a policy of friendship with the Americans, but two of the dattos (chiefs) said they would die first. Others declared that if the two dattos caused war they would not assist them.

Three towns in the western part of the island are inclined to be unfriendly. Colonel Baldwin hopes to win them over to peace.

The First and Second Separate brigades have been consolidated.

King Albert's Funeral.

DRESDEN, Saxony, June 24.—The funeral of King Albert of Saxony, who died June 19, which took place here last evening, was most impressive. The Catholic court church, where the funeral service was held, was draped in black. The coffin of the king was covered with a red satin pall. At the service the nave of the church was occupied by members of the diplomatic corps here and extraordinary missions to Dresden to attend the king's funeral. The royal mourners arrived at the church in a long procession. They included King George and the princes of Saxony, Emperor William of Germany and Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, the Grand Duke of Baden and others. The widowed Queen Karola and the empress of Germany, together with the Saxon princesses, occupied two pews in the church.

Three Men Crushed to Death.

SEA GIRT, N. J., June 24.—The partially completed rifle range caved in at 6 p. m. yesterday, catching three men who were trying to escape between the toppling front walls and the rear wall, crushing them to death instantaneously. General Bird W. Spencer, the inspector general of rifle practice of New Jersey, and his assistant, Lieutenant Colonel Richard B. Reading, who had only the moment before stopped to talk to the men while on inspection of the work, had most miraculous escapes from the same fate.

Roosevelt Vetoes a Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—President Roosevelt has sent to the house a veto of the bill removing the charge of desertion from the record of Ephraim H. Gallion, who served in a Tennessee volunteer regiment during the civil war. The president cites the records of the war department to show that the record of desertion should be allowed to stand.

College Professor Killed.

FENNVILLE, Mich., June 24.—Professor John C. Johnson, member of the faculty of the Wisconsin State university at Madison, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon near Pier Cove by falling from a load of goods he was moving to his summer cottage. A wheel of the wagon crushed his head. He leaves a wife and three children.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

House Discusses Philippine Measure. Agreement Likely on Canal Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Debate on the civil government bill warmed up in the house yesterday and henceforth promises to be of a much livelier character. The increased interest is due to the injection into the debate of a comparison of the cruelties charged to have been practiced in the Philippines with those which occurred during the civil war. The subject has been lightly touched upon once or twice before, but attracted little attention until Mr. Grosvenor (O.) yesterday revived the memory of the extremities to which Grant and Jackson were put during the civil war. This was followed late in the day by a speech from Mr. Mahon (Pa.) in which he paraded the horrors of Andersonville and Libby prisons. He predicted that in the coming elections the American people would stand by the "boys in blue."

The friends of the Panama project have been making a canvass of the strength of the senate amendment in the house and are confident that a motion to concur can command a majority. This, however, may become complicated by propositions to attach conditions to the concurrence.

A motion was entered formally in the senate by Mr. Quay (Pa.) to discharge the committee on territories from further consideration of what is known as the omnibus territorial bill, a measure to admit as states the territories of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. Mr. Quay spoke briefly but forcibly in support of his motion, maintaining that both political parties in national convention had pledged themselves to the admission to statehood of the territories. Mr. Beveridge (Ind.), chairman of the committee, said the measure had been put over until next session by the committee because it was not believed there would be time now to consider it properly. No action was taken on the motion.

Toronto Strike Quickly Ended.

TORONTO, Ont., June 24.—The strike of the street railway employees is practically ended by the signing of the following compromise on behalf of the employees and the company: The wage scale which was established by the company last Friday to stand until the 1st of July. In the meantime the employees may hold a meeting to be called under the auspices of the board of trade committee, and if the majority of the regular and relief men vote by ballot to substitute the scale of 13 cents per hour for the first year of service and 20 cents thereafter the company will substitute it for the present scale. The company will not interfere with the freedom of the railway employees to organize under any form of constitution, but the company declines to give recognition to the union or to receive a grievance committee from the union.

Murder and Suicide.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 24.—Joseph R. Conkling, a machinist, shot his wife dead and then put a bullet through his own brain. He threatened his youngest daughter, but she finally escaped from the house. The couple had just had a quarrel, and Mrs. Conkling was preparing to leave the house when she was killed. Conkling had been in poor health.

Oberlin Gets Rockefeller's Money.

OBERLIN, O., June 24.—At the meeting of the trustees of Oberlin college it was announced that the institution would get the fund of $500,000 started by John D. Rockefeller, who offered $200,000 provided the trustees would obtain $300,000 from other sources. The latter has been secured.

THE KING IN LONDON

Grand Dinner Party at Buckingham Palace.

EDWARD WEARY, BUT NOT ILL.

London Streets Are Thronged With Sightseers From All Parts of the World—Coronation Ceremonies Rehearsed.

LONDON, June 24.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra gave a grand dinner party last night at Buckingham palace to seventy royal personages who practically represented the sovereigns of all the monarchies of the world.

The list of their majesties' guests was headed by the czarewitch of Russia, who arrived in London yesterday evening, and included an imposing array of princes and princesses and all the members of the British royal family.

Buckingham palace was beautifully decorated, and the bands of the Grenadier and the Coldstream guards discoursed throughout the evening. The dinner was followed by a brilliant reception which was attended by the members of the suits of all the foreign potentates now in London.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra returned to London from Windsor yesterday. They arrived at Paddington station at 12:32 o'clock and drove in semistate to Buckingham palace. They were warmly acclaimed along the route.

None of the great crowd which saw the king on his arrival in London yesterday could have any doubt as to his ability to carry out the onerous programme of the coronation and other functions. There was no sign of illness in his appearance or demeanor. He is evidently a weary man, but he left the train at Paddington station and walked to his carriage unassisted. He was rather pale and moved somewhat slowly and made real use of the stout walking stick which he carried. He stopped for a moment on the platform to chat with Major General Sir Stanley Clarke, equerry in waiting to his majesty.

The public welcome to the king reached such proportions as to be the first gala event of this week of festivities. Long before 12:20 p. m., when the train was due, crowds began to assemble at the station and in the neighborhood. Every inch of the station itself except the arrival platform was crowded.

Millions of Englishmen and visitors from all over the world spent the day in traversing the streets included in the route of the short royal procession of Thursday from Buckingham palace to Westminster abbey and the longer route of Friday's procession, when the king and queen, followed by the princes of the royal houses of all Europe and Asia and special embassadors of all the nations of the earth, will show themselves to the multitude after their crowning at the abbey.

Every wheeled vehicle in mighty London, from costers' carts to tallyhos, is impressed into service to enable the people to go over the routes of the processions and view the decorations. Even hearses are in use, and two of these crawled slowly through Fleet street, their roofs covered with children, to whom the drivers pointed out the noblest decorations. Every bus within a radius of fifteen miles of the Mansion House is plodding slowly over the routes, every seat inside and outside being filled despite the fact that the bus companies have trebled and quadrupled the ordinary fares.

The crowds were so great last night in Trafalgar square and in the various thoroughfares leading from this point that the omnibuses found it almost impossible to proceed. The congested condition of traffic above ground was practically repeated on the various underground routes, and the travel resources of the twopenny tube and the steam underground lines were heavily taxed. Passengers on these lines had to wait long before they were able to board the overcrowded trains.

A full and strictly private rehearsal of the coronation ceremonials to be held in Westminster abbey took place in the afternoon.

Sent to Madhouse For Life.

BARNSTABLE, Mass., June 24.—Miss Jane Toppan, who was placed on trial here yesterday in the superior court on the charge of poisoning Mrs. Mary E. Gibbs, for whom she acted as nurse, was found not guilty late yesterday afternoon by reason of insanity. By order of the court she was committed to the Taunton Insane asylum for the rest of her life. The trial of the woman suspected of being implicated in the mysterious deaths of at least ten persons brought scores of Cape Cod folk to this town. Even from the remote sections they came, anxious to see the accused woman.

Hotel Collapsed.

DALLAS, Tex., June 24.—The center section of the St. James hotel, a three story building at Main and Murphy streets, collapsed without warning early in the morning. Thirteen men were carried down with the debris without a single fatality. For a few minutes after the crash it was thought several lives had been lost, but by quick work firemen and policemen rescued all those who had not escaped through their own efforts.

BETTER LAWYERS.

The changes in the entrance examinations to the New Jersey Bar have had the desired effect. They have proven so difficult that the number of young men who successfully passed them in the June examinations, was the smallest that this State has seen for several years. Some of the older members of the Bar had come to the opinion that New Jersey's legal mill was doing much business for the good of the community and so the Supreme Court acted and the standard was raised.

Of course, it comes as a distinct hardship to many young men who had been working hard for four years and had prepared to take the examinations in their old form. Many made no attempt to take the examinations this spring and others were barred by the new educational qualifications. For them it means much more hard work. To those who are not well provided with this world's goods, it means a further struggle for support until the new features are prepared.

Despite these facts, there is no doubt that the change will be of decided benefit to New Jersey. The only trouble is that the change should have been made years ago. There is no class of which a better education should be demanded than the lawyers. Theirs is an honored profession and it should be kept to the high standard of the olden days. While there is no examination which will serve to eliminate the rogues who occasionally find their way into every walk of life, more careful preparation and a better education are factors which are bound to work for the good in that direction.

One of the best proofs of the value of newspaper advertising, comments the Philadelphia Record, is offered by the manager of the telephone establishment at Milwaukee. He says he tried for a year to work up enough subscribers to a "five-cents a day" telephone scheme to make it pay, but failed. Then he inserted every day in the newspapers a small, but conspicuous advertisement, and the demand for telephones became greater than he could supply.

Saturday saw the first of the City Baseball League games postponed. Heretofore the baseball enthusiasts have had remarkably good luck as far as weather conditions were concerned. July 5 is an open date in the league so it simply means that Saturday's games were put off two weeks.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

For fireworks at New York prices, go to Benj. F. Snyder, Jr., 43 Somerset street.

Nothing so pleasant as a drive throughout the country this weather. The best rigs are at T. S. Love's livery stable, East Second street.

A special sale of little boys' tan shoes at VanArsdale's this week, will afford a good opportunity to get something good real cheap. See his ad.

Reports from all sections go to show that bicycling will again be a popular recreation this summer. VanWinkle, North avenue, has some fine wheels for sale.

Vacation is the time that tries boys' shoes. Then's when they get more knocking about than all the rest of the year together. VanArsdale has the kind that resist to the limit. Men's sizes, too.

Spring lamb is in evidence at Fred Endress's West Front street market. So are many other good things in the meat lines to say nothing of the well stocked seafood department. All orders delivered.

On exhibition in the drug store of T. S. Armstrong, Park avenue, is a revolving book case, filled with volumes of the Tabard Inn library. Mr. Armstrong is the Tabard representative in Plainfield.

Bonn, the West Front street milliner, says that he has had an unusually busy season. There has been a great demand for his hats and he still has a large stock to select from at reasonable prices.

Painters and decorators declare that this is an ideal season for the painting of a house inside and out, and the New York Painting & Decorating Company can do this work for you satisfactorily and quickly.

At Hodge's pharmacy in the Y. M. C. A. building is one of the finest prescription departments in the State. Proprietor Hodge is in entire charge and none but experienced clerks are allowed to dispense medicines. Delicious soda water at the large fountain.

An exceptional opportunity is offered by Jacob A. Fass at the Paris Cloak and Fur Store on West Front street, where a dissolution sale is now being held. He has a fine line of women's shirt waists and skirts for the summer season. Just the thing for outing or home wear.

DUNELLEN.

At an election recently held the following officers were elected for the Sunday-school of the Presbyterian church: Superintendent, A. A. Lake; assistant superintendent, Chas. Day; secretary and treasurer, Frank Truzeaou. All members of the Sunday-school over eighteen years of age were eligible to vote.

The Dunellen A. C. will play the Scotch Plains team Saturday afternoon on the home grounds. At their last meeting Scotch Plains was victorious by a large margin but since then the local aggregation has been strengthened and the coming contest will doubtless be a good one.

Miss Mabel Walker had the misfortune this morning to lose her pocketbook containing her commutation ticket to New York with her name in it. She will be exceedingly grateful for its return to the postoffice. A black silk bag which the pocketbook was in was also lost.

While at work on one of the bridges on the Central last week, Joseph Hill slipped and fell and struck his head on the sharp edge of an adze. The tool gave him a painful cut under the ear.

George Liable, the Dunellen midget, is gaining considerable prominence through a recent trial in which he figured with a giant in the circus with which they are both traveling.

The Dunellen brass band will be an attraction at the strawberry and ice cream festival in the Park Thursday evening.

W. Mead has moved his family to Philadelphia as he is obliged to be there on account of business.

Miss Grace Giddes and Miss Hattie McLoughlin, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with friends in town.

Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold its regular weekly meeting this evening.

The foundation of the new factory for Craig Manufacturing Company has been finished.

George Reusch and wife, of Cranford, spent Sunday at the home of Paul Reusch.

The Dunellen Juniors have finally decided not to hold any fair this year.

Miss Houston, of Elizabeth, spent Sunday at the home of Chas. Ross.

Ernest Peek spent Sunday in Peapack. He drove there and back.

Mrs. Bernard Siriski took a pleasure trip to Glen Island on Sunday.

Chas. Vail and Ernest Peters spent Sunday in Plainfield.

George Staples is recovering from a slight illness.

NEW MARKET.

The music pupils of Miss Irene Day gave a very creditable exhibition at her home last evening in a concert and recital. The good effects of Miss Day's careful training were evident in all the selections. Miss Day's pupils are Miss Alice Apgar, Kathie Sampson, Edna Vail, Carrie Smith, May Arden, Louise Arden, Bessie Kenyon, Nellie Brown, Grace Squires, Maud Rupell, Ida Conover, Emma Foster, Mabel Whitford, and Leora Wenzel and Walter Foster. Friends of the pupils from Plainfield and Bound Brook to the number of seventy-five were present. Refreshments were served before the close.

A large number of boys assembled on the pond every day on more or less successful attempts to capture the elusive bass.

The swimming season has commenced and the iron bridge is thronged with boys daily.

Miss Minnie Carton, of New Brunswick, spent yesterday in town.

Stanley Day and Miss Irene Day visited in Plainfield yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church will hold a monthly business meeting in the church Wednesday evening. After a short business session the members will enjoy a social hour. These meetings are to be held once a month in the future, the purpose of the society being to get the members together in a social way and awaken new interest in the society.

Manager Johnston of the local baseball team has closed the morning of the Fourth with the Rahway Field Club, of Rahway. The afternoon date is still open but he is negotiating with several of the semi-professional teams of New York and expects to close the date this week.

The house committee of the Public Library will hold a cake and cream sale in the Library Rooms Friday afternoon and evening from 4 to 10. As the library is a benefit to all there is no doubt but the sale will be a financial success.

The trolley company was running cars on a seven-minute schedule on Sunday but even this improvement in the service could not begin to accommodate the crowds so as to make riding a pleasure.

Rev. G. M. Shott was in New York Monday attending the weekly ministers' conference meeting held in the Twenty-third Street Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Maguire, of Union avenue, are entertaining their niece, Miss Hoagland, of Greenville, for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schmidt have started housekeeping in the Cook house on Westfield avenue.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The contract for building the new school house at East Bound Brook has been signed and awarded to Mr. Hummer, the carpenter. Walter Clawson will do the mason work. The cellar is being excavated today, and the process of construction will be hurried, so that the building will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the next school year in September. The plan of the building, as approved by the State, is the same as that of the South Plainfield school house, with a few modifications. The first payment on the contract will be made July 4, when the work of construction is expected to be well started.

The first of the wells, which the Middlesex Water Company is drilling near the pumping station, has attained a depth of 200 feet. Work will be begun on the second well tomorrow.

A strawberry and ice cream festival will be held at the Mount Pleasant chapel, tomorrow evening. The affair will be for the benefit of the chapel.

Douglas K. Brown, of the Hotel Netherwood, visited his uncle, William E. Smith, yesterday.

Mrs. Lewis, of New York, has returned home after a week's visit with Mrs. Fred LaTourrette.

Admitted to Jersey Bar.

Henry Crane, of East Fifth street, and Lucius Gilbert, of Crescent avenue, were among those who passed bar examinations at Trenton recently. The latter is a New York lawyer and was admitted to the New Jersey Bar. Mr. Crane has been a student in Lawyer W. G. DeMeza's law office. These lawyers will take the oath at Trenton tomorrow.

Business is Increasing.

The steady increase in business at the City National Bank is a source of pleasure to those who manage this sound financial institution. This year there has been a large demand for the safe deposit vaults, many people believing that to be the only safe way to leave valuables.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to call through death our beloved brother and fellow cititzen, H. Newton Spencer, from our midst, and,

Whereas, We, the members of the Exempt Firemen's Association, not only conscious of our own loss, but in sympathy with the deep sorrow of his bereaved family, do hereby Resolve, That we extend to those nearest and dearest to our departed brother our heartfelt sympathy in their great loss, that of a loving husband and a tender father; while we mourn the loss of fraternal companionship with one endeared to all his associates, an honored citizen, respected in his official duties, and whose genial smile was a glad welcome to all.

Resolved, That these resolutions be placed upon our minutes, published in the daily papers and a copy sent to his bereaved family.

Guillermo Thorn,
E. M. Laing.
Committee.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has seen fit to call home from an earthly pilgrimage our esteemed brother and associate member, Wm. M. Wooden, therefore we, members of the Exempt Firemen's Association, desire to bow in humble submission to the will of Him "who doeth all things well," at the same time bearing testimony to the many noble qualities of our departed brother, not only as a citizen, but as a companion whom we loved to honor, and whose memory we shall ever cherish. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to his beloved wife and family our sincere sympathy in their deep affliction and loss, trusting that the Divine Comforter may assuage their grief in the hopes of a glorious reunion. And be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our association, published in the daily papers and that a copy be sent to the family of our deceased brother.

A Golf Cape Exchanged.

A Plainfield woman has been searching for the party who, by mistake, took her golf cape at the Josef Hofmann recital, April 11, and left in its place a new cape with Altmann's green tag hanging on the button. As the cape taken was a large size and the one left a small size, the exchange is a decided misfit. An advertisement in another column describes the capes.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

Too Late.

During the inquisition of the police department on the saloon question by the grand jury one of the range members made himself notable for his persistency in asking questions, and he went into every possible way of violating the Sunday laws, like one who knew his game.

A member of the force who speaks a good Scotch brogue was one of the witnesses. After he had testified that he knew nothing of the saloons being open contrary to law, and that he had tried several side doors without success, the inquisitive juror suggested:

"You know that any one wishing to buy a drink could get in the back door at No. —— Superior street last Sunday by knocking in a certain way?"

"I did na ken thot. I wish I could ha' found somebody wi' experience to tell o't airlier," replied the witness.

Then some of the other jurors smiled, but the inquisitive juror never saw the point.—Duluth News-Tribune.

Italians in the Church.

The influence of the Italians in the affairs of the church can be better understood when it is known that more than half the members of the college of cardinals are Italians. There are now 67 cardinals, of whom 61 have been appointed by Leo XIII. since he was elected pope, in February, 1878. Of these 37 are from Italy and 30 from the rest of the world—eight from France, seven from Austria, five from Spain, two from Germany, two from Ireland and one each from Poland, England, Portugal, Belgium, Australia and the United States. Three of the Italian cardinals are from Sicily, representing a population of 3,682,766, while there is only one in all America, with a population of 76,000,000. Twenty-two cardinals reside at Rome and are in actual control of the affairs of the church. Of these 19 are Italians and three are foreigners.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Testifying to Great Cures.

Wheaton (Ill.) lady, who had "tried everything in vain until I commenced taking your valuable remedy," has written, if the Wheaton News can be believed, the following testimonial to a country druggist who is booming a new tonic

"Dear Sir: Before taking your medicine I was too weak to spank the baby, but now I can lick my husband. Heaven bless you!"

This reminds one of the Shakopee man who was nearly blind and took Dr. Sawyer's wonderful elixir. He wrote: "Dear Sir: Before taking your elixir I could not see six inches before my face. Yesterday I saw wood. I feel that I ought to let these facts be known. Send me another bottle."—N. O. Times-Democrat.

From Cairo to Khartoum.

The temple, tombs and ruins of Egypt prove that the government of the Pharoahs spent 10,000 years in getting from the pyramids, Cairo, to the First Cataract, and there it died! It took Kitchener 13 years to get from Cairo to Khartoum, and, on his arrival, Mahdyism, with all its lusts, rapacity and cruelty, died the same day, and was buried beyond hope of resurrection. To-day a traveler can do the same distance in 5¾ days.—From George Eade's "Egypt—Then and Now," in The Four-Track News.

Force of a Cyclone.

Careful estimates of the force of a cyclone and the energy required to keep the full-fledged hurricane in active operation reveal the presence of a power that makes the mightiest efforts of man appear as nothing in comparison. A force fully equal to over 400,000,000 horse power was estimated as developed in a West Indian cyclone. This is about 15 times the power that can be developed by all the means within the range of man's capabilities during the same time.—Science.

Appearances Against Him.

Kind Old Lady—You poor man! You say you swore you only broke the plate glass window with a brick to get a loaf of bread when you were starving, and yet they put you in the state's prison for three years!

Punctured Peterson—Yes'm. You see, I was so full I didn't notice dat it was de window of a jewelry store an' dat I'd grabbed a tray of diimonds!—Brooklyn Eagle.

An Unfeeling Father.

Mrs. Nubbins—My husband is a perfect brute.

Friend—You amaze me!

"Since the baby began teething nothing would quiet the little angel but pulling his papa's beard—and yesterday he went and had his beard shaved off."—London Tit-Bits.

Great Vibration.

"How those telephone wires quiver," said the eastern traveler. "Is the wind blowing?"

"No, sah," responded the Arkansas native, "that air' people with ague chills talkin' over the line."—Chicago Daily News.

Pity to Punish Both.

Strenuous Father — Tommy, this hurts me as badly as it hurts you!

Tommy—Well, then, pop (boo-hoo!) seems to me there's no use of two sufferin' for the faults o' one! Let's call it off!—San Francisco Bulletin.

Tommy—Pop, what is a diplomat?

Tommy's Pop—A diplomat, my son, is a man who, when he can't have his own way, pretends that the other way is his.—Philadelphia Record.

Sweetness That Sours.

The sweetness of revenge often sours a man's disposition.—Chicago Daily News.

Preparing Dates.

The preparation of dried dates is carried on largely at Awabi, and as the season had now commenced, I took the opportunity to observe the process, and was taken round the factories by the sheik. The dates selected are picked before they are quite ripe. The factory had a chimney about 15 feet high, and contained several open, circular, copper boilers, capable of holding five gallons each, and nearly full of water. Into these vessels the dates are put, and allowed to simmer over a slow fire. As the water in the copper decreased from evaporation, it was filled up again, but it gradually became inspissated by the extraction of the juice of the date. The fruit is left in the water about half an hour, and is then taken out and spread on mats or cloths in the sun to dry, after which it becomes hard and of a pale red color. It is exported in large quantities from Muskat to India.—Geographical Journal.

Sailing Over a Mountain Range.

Modern exploration of the ocean bottom has shown that the sea has its mountains as well as the land, even including those that are of a volcanic character. Ships sail over these mountains of the sea as eagles pass above the Alps, but owing to the darkness that reigns in the ocean depths, we cannot look down and see their peaks, slopes and ranges lying far beneath the keels of our vessels. But we can discover them by feeling, as it were, that is to say, by means of soundings that reveal their outlines. One of the remarkable chains of submarine mountains discovered in this manner lies about 100 miles east of the coast of Australia. It was found in surveying a track for a cable to Norfolk Island. The sea over the tops of its highest summits is about 1,500 feet deep, but around them the plummet sinks to a depth of two or three miles.—Youth's Companion.

Electromagnets as Lifters

The use of magnets for handling great weights of steel and iron has of late been quite common. The magnets, composed of soft iron, are connected with electric power circuits so that their attractive force can be instantaneously developed or destroyed by the turning on or off of the current. Attached to a crane, the magnets take the place of the hooks, or chain fastenings, ordinarily employed. Lifting magnets usually have a capacity of five tons each, although they are seldom called upon to exert their full strength. Experience has shown that magnets will lift and successfully handle material in cases where a chain would slip.—Youth's Companion.

A Luckless Queen.

The queen of the Belgians, who has just celebrated her sixty-first birthday, comes of the most ill-fated royal house in Europe—the house of Hapsburg—and her cup of grief is more than full. Her hair is said to have been white while she was still in her thirties. The queen's only son, the duke of Brabant, died suddenly under circumstances which suggested poisoning; her son-in-law was the Crown Prince Rudolph, who ended his life in a most tragic manner; her favorite nephew was killed in an accident, and her sister is in a lunatic asylum not far from the palace at Brussels.—Detroit Free Press.

Bows 700 Times an Hour.

When passing through the streets to perform some ceremony the king of England takes off his hat on an average of 12 times a minute, that is, the almost incredible number of 700 times an hour. The king requires a new brim to his hat every fortnight. Being very economical in his headgear, he does not buy a new hat every time the brim requires renewing.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Serious Case.

Late one evening a doctor received a note from a couple of fellow-practitioners, saying:

"Pray, step across to the club. We are one short on a game of poker."

"Emily, dear," he then said to his wife, "I am called away again. It appears to be a very serious case, for there are two doctors already in attendance."—London Tit-Bits.

An Awful Smoker.

The champion smoker of the British army, a private in the Third battalion, Royal Warwickshire regiment, had from his youth on regularly consumed 1½ pounds of tobacco every week until his regiment was drafted out to South Africa, when the curtailment of his supply almost broke his heart.—Chicago Chronicle.

Fowls Consumed in London.

It is the opinion of leading salesmen that London consumes no fewer than 15,000,000 fowls a year, which, if evenly divided among the population, would allow about three per head per annum.—Indianapolis News.

Encouragement.

Tom—I don't think I'll ever get up enough courage to ask you to marry me. You know "faint heart never won fair lady."

Belle (blushing)—B-but I'm a brunette.—Philadelphia Record.

Something Like It.

Muggins—I cannot grasp the idea of eternity.

Buggins—Hasn't your wife ever called to you when you were going out that she would be ready in just a minute?—Philadelphia Record.

when the first shovel full of our COAL begins to burn. Heat radiates them in no uncertain quantity. Cold is dispelled as though by a midsummer sun. It is fuel economy to use this coal.

It is not a rapid burner. It is very clean. Little ash remains. Free from excess of smoke.

LONG GARMENTS.

The Newest Are Made of Colored as Well as Black Silk.

Long wraps are very popular this summer. They are made of unlined silk and are most useful to protect light costumes from the dust. Long coats of pongee are trimmed with heavy brown lace and softened with chiffon ties of the same tint.

Coats of blue, brown and gray taffeta are newer than the black ones and are considered very smart. Moire unlined makes an ideal wrap, as it has body and looks rich.

Long coats of lace with linings of accordion plaited chiffon are used for carriage and very dressy wear.

The lose box plaited coat sloping at the waist line has gone out of fashion as far as really smart people are concerned. It was at best an exaggerated garment and not in good taste.

VEILING SUIT.

Three-quarter length box coats are being worn by tall women, to whom the full length loose coat seems too trying.

The smart tailor made of veiling seen in the cut has the jacket tucked and box plaited into a loose blouse with straight open fronts. The vest is of stitched white silk. The skirt has a straight front gore, and the rest is composed of three box plaited ruffles. The applique trimming is of silk.

The hat is of tulle trimmed with roses and a lace scarf.

DRESS TRIFLES.

Fashionable Colorr Are Pale—The New Sashes.

All tints of rose will undoubtedly be much worn this summer, but the paler and more delicate tones will be the most fashionable. Blue and green in the very palest tints will be smart, and the combination of black and white or of delicate mauve with either black or white lace will be used on many costumes.

Cottage roses and wild roses are seen on many of the most costly hats. Chrysanthemum straw and dainty satin straws are deservedly popular, and in many cases these straw hats are simply trimmed with a wreath of flowers.

The pearl cabochon has been imitated so that it can be now purchased for a few cents; therefore it will soon disappear from smart millinery. The osprey is also being imitated so successfully that women will no longer have the excuse of wearing the real article.

Sashes are to be as popular as ever, only the bows are to be more complicated, with many knots and more than two ends.

The pretty waist in the cut is made of liberty satin. It has a double bolero effect, with chiffon front and undersleeves. It is trimmed with heavy guipure lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Sip Your Milk.

"Try sipping it," says a physician to a patient who rebelled at the milk diet prescribed. Sipping was tried with perfect success. Cream, even, or milk into which cream is poured may be assimilated by the sipping process, when to drain a glass suddenly prohibits digestion.

POPULAR LINEN DRESSES.

They Are Made With Strapped Seams and Trimmed With Coarse Lace.

Linen dresses are to be very smart this summer. There is a new shade of reseda green much used for dresses of this kind. It is trimmed with heavy white lace and touches of black velvet.

Linen dresses are made with fairly long skirts heavily strapped and are worn with Russian blouses decorated with lace or the smartest of coats with Irish crochet collars. Scarlet and navy blue are perhaps the most useful shades, but there is just now a demand for purple and mauve, which make up charmingly with ecru lace.

A linen dress is harder to make than one thinks, and many a beautiful piece of material has been spoiled by a sagging skirt and a sloppy looking waist. Linen requires careful fitting and accurately stitched seams to look at all well after even a couple of wearings.

A very smart linen suit is shown in the illustration. The material is striped ecru and white, and it is trimmed with strapped applications of plain ecru linen. The blouse has a collar of all over lace over a pale blue foundation. With this is worn a waist of tucked batiste, a pale blue sunshade and a hat of black and white straw trimmed with a pale blue and a tan ostrich feather. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THIN DRESSES.

They Are Much Tucked and Inlet With Insertions.

Gowns of soft texture are much tucked and inlet with insertions and medallions of lace, and so popular are flounces that many net and gauze skirts are covered almost to the waist with tiny frills. Tunic draperies are entirely tucked or alternately tucked and inserted from the top of the skirt, and flounces or frills of varying dimensions surround the hem.

Glace or satin slips are usually made with a separate flounce, but so arranged with a stitched strapping over the seam that the effect is almost that of a plain skirt, but the edge is extremely full, and the back spreads out well. The heavier makes of Roman satin form delightful slips for the present limp trailing fashion of skirts, and with one in white or cream and another in black several variations can be effected with transparent robes.

This dainty muslin gown has both waist and skirt tucked in a down point. The sleeves end at the elbow and are supplemented by undersleeves of tucked white muslin. The neck is collarless, and the wide flounce at the bottom of the skirt is headed and edged by two narrow flounces. The costume is trimmed with perpendicular bands of lace insertion.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright, 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

CHAPTER II.

The fruit steamer "Adelantado," outward bound, fell away from her moorings; forged slowly ahead, until the current caught and swung her prow riverward; and, circling majestically in midstream, began to pass the lights of the city as she steamed at half speed down the river.

Bainbridge was on deck when the steamer left her berth, and, remembering the stuffy little stateroom he had inspected earlier in the day, was minded to go aft and finish his cigar in the open air. Accordingly he found a settee on the portquarter and sat down to watch the lights wheel past in orderly procession as the Adelantado swept around the great crescent which gives the city its unofficial name.

While the comfortable feeling of elation, born of his unexpected bit of good fortune, was still uppermost to lend complacency to his reflections, he yet found time to be honestly sorry for the man from whom he had just parted. Sorry, but not greatly apprehensive. He had known Griswold in New York, and was not unused to his socialistic vagaries. To be sure, his theories were incendiary and subversive of all civilized dogma; but at bottom, Griswold the man was nothing worse than an impressionable enthusiast who had tormented himself into a fancied condition of utter ruthlessness by dwelling overmuch upon the wrongs of others.

So Bainbridge thought; and he knew his opinion was shared with frank unanimity by all of Griswold's friends, who agreed in calling him Utopian, altruistic, visionary. What milder epithets could be applied to a man who, with sufficient literary talent—not to say genius—to make himself a working name in the ordinary way, must needs run amuck and write a novel with a purpose!—a novel, moreover, in which the purpose so overshadowed the story as to make the book a mere preachment.

As a matter of course, the publishers would have nothing to do with the book. Bainbridge remembered with considerable satisfaction that he had prophesied its failure, and had given Griswold no little good advice while it was in the process of writing. But Griswold, being to the full as obstinate as he was impressionable, had refused to be counseled, and now the consequences of his stubbornness were upon him. He had said truly that his literary gift was novelistic and nothing else; and here he was, penniless and desperate, with a dead book on his hands, and with no chance to write another, even if he were so minded, since one cannot write fasting.

Thus Bainbridge reflected, and was sorry that Griswold's invincible pride had kept him from accepting a friendly stop-gap in his extremity. Yet he smiled in spite of his sympathy. It was amusing to think of Griswold, who, as long as his slender patrimony had lasted, had been emphatically a man not of the people, posing as an anarchist, and up in arms against the world. None the less, he was to be pitied.

"Poor devil! he is in the doldrums now, and isn't quite responsible for what he says or thinks—or for what he thinks he thinks," said the journalist to himself. "Just the same, I wish I had made him take that—Why, how are you, Griffin? Where in the mischief did you drop from?"

It was the inevitable steamer acquaintance who is always at hand to prove the exceeding narrowness of the world, and Bainbridge made room for him on the settee.

"I didn't drop, I walked in. More than that, I kept step with you all the way down from Chaudiere's to the levee. You'd be dead easy game for an amateur."

"Confound you!" said Bainbridge, laughing. "Can't you ever forget that you're in the shadowing business?"

"Yes; just as often and just as long as you can forget that you are a news hunter."

The shadowed one laughed again, and they smoked in silence until the Adelantado doubled the bend in the river and the last outposts of the city's lights disappeared in the blackness. Then Griffin said:

"Who was the fellow you were talking to in front of Chaudiere's? His face is familiar enough, but I can't place him."

"I SHALL END BY BECOMING A ROBBER."

The question fell in with the reporter's train of thought, and he answered it rather more fully and freely than he might have at another time under different conditions. From telling who Griswold was, he slipped by easy degrees into the story of his ups and downs, ending with a vivid little word-painting of the scene in Chaudiere's.

"To hear him talk, you would think he was a bloody-minded anarchist of the thirty-third degree, ready to sweep the existing order of things off the face of the earth," he added; "but in reality he is one of the best fellows in the world, gone a bit morbid over the social problem. He has a heart of gold, as I happen to know. He used to spend a good deal of his time in the backwater, and you know what the backwater in a big city is."

"Yes."

"Well, one night he stumbled into a cellar somewhere down in the lower levels on the East side. He was looking for a fellow that he had been trying to find work for—a crippled 'longshoreman, I believe he was. When he got into the place he found the man stiff, the woman with the death-rattle in her throat, and a two-year-old baby creeping back and forth between the dead father and the dying mother—starvation, you know, pure and simple. Griswold jumped into the breach like a man and tried to save the woman. It was too late; but when the mother died, he took the child to his own eight-by-ten attic and nursed and fed it till the missionary people took it off his hands. He did that, mind you, when he was living on two meals a day himself; and I fancy he skipped one of them to buy milk for that kid."

"Humph! And he calls himself an anarchist, does he? It's a howling pity there ain't a lot more just like him," said the detective, sententiously.

"That is what I say," Bainbridge agreed. Then, with a sudden twinge of remorse for having told Griswold's story to a stranger, he changed the subject with an abrupt question.

"Where are you headed for, Griffin?"

The detective chuckled. "You don't expect me to give it away to you—a newspaper man—do you? But I will, seeing you can't get it on the wires. I am going down to Guatemala after Mortsen."

"The defaulter? By Jove! you've found him at last, have you?"

Griffin nodded. "It takes a good while, sometimes, but I don't fall down very often when there's enough money in it to make the game worth the candle. I've been two years, off and on, trying to locate that fellow; and now I've found him he is where he can't be extradited. All the same, I'll bet you five to one he goes back with me on the next steamer. Have a fresh smoke? No? Then let's turn in; it's getting late."

HERE AT HOME.

Plainfield Citizens Gladly Testify.

It is testimony like the following that has placed "the little conqueror" so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Plainfield citizen:

Mr. Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for two or three years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp, shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew so stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicine for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after two or three days I felt better. I continued their use until the pain disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Proposals.
Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Walnut Avenue, in the Township of Cranford, from South Avenue to the Lehigh Valley Railroad, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, nineteen hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.
At the above-named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.
All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.
Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.
The work to be done, as nearly as can be estimated in advance, is as follows:
3,800 cubic yards of Excavation.
5,756 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
1,404 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
2 Bridges and 2 Culverts to be lowered.
9 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.
Plans and Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of the Township Engineer, 25 Dix Building, Elizabeth, N. J.

DEATH BY GARROTE.

How Four Criminals Were Executed Recently at Ponce, Island of Porto Rico.

Four men were garroted at Ponce, Porto Rico, recently, for one of the most atrocious crimes ever committed in Porto Rico, the murder of Antonio Delgado de Pino, at Guayo, near Adjuntas, and the robbery and ill treatment of his family and servants, on the night of September 30, 1898.

The scaffold was erected during the night in the court yard of the prison, a few feet from the cells in which the four men—Bernabe, Acevedo, Jose Torres, Ramon Troche Cadeno and Juan Torres—were confined.

Priests were with each of the condemned men until the end, leading them to the scaffold. When the instrument had been adjusted to their necks, all of the prisoners, who had previously denied their crimes, made confessions.

Jose Torres, who had become a fanatical spiritualist, violently resisted attempts to adjust the garrote, and insisted that he should die with his face uncovered. It was 15 minutes before he was subdued.

They were all put to death within 50 minutes, and the average time taken to kill each man was two minutes. None, it is thought, suffered pain, as death was practically instantaneous, though violent twitchings of the limbs continued for a minute or two afterward.

Evidence at the trial of the men showed that a band of about 25 went to the house of Delgado and called upon him to open the door in the name of the American police and municipal judge. When Delgado opened the door the outlaws rushed into the house and seized Delgado and about six others.

The men were tied to the stairs leading to the roof. The women were locked up in a room, while two of the bandits took Delgado into a shed adjoining the house, and, after tying him hand and foot, hung him up by the feet.

They then beat him and cut off his ears, afterward putting a rope around his neck and hanging him to one of the beams. He died in the morning of October 1, of strangulation.

In the meantime the other bandits were ransacking the house. After several attacks upon the women, the band departed with their stolen goods.

father, Joseph R. Wilson, was a prominent divine of the Southern Presbyterian church, and was himself a native of Ohio. Woodrow Wilson studied in the primary schools of Atlanta, Ga., and was later a student in Princeton, from which he was graduated in 1879. He next entered the law department of the University of Virginia, and subsequently began practice, but abandoned it to take up general study in Johns Hopkins. There he began his work in history and politics, and in 1885 took a position as instructor in these branches in Bryn Mawr. Johns Hopkins gave him Ph. D. in 1886. In 1888 he became a member of the faculty of Wesleyan university, of Middletown, Conn., and 12 years ago was called to the chair of jurisprudence at Princeton. Dr. Wilson has published "The State Elements of Historical and Practical Politics," "An Old Master and Other Political Essays," "Mere Literature," and "George Washington," a historical and biographical study of the first American president. The new head of Princeton is a fine scholar and eminently qualified for the position he is about to assume.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

Manager Cose has assigned "Teddy" Shortman, his newest acquisition, to third indefinitely. Monro will take the bench for a short time.

League games for Saturday are as follows: Hope against Y. M. C. A. on St. Mary grounds; St. Mary against Safe Works on Hope grounds. No League games are to be played on Independence Day.

Chicago defeated Pittsburg, Sunday, by a score of 3 to 2 after playing nineteen innings. It is one of the longest games on record and the best seen in Chicago for many years. The score was tied in the ninth inning and remained so until the end.

The St. Mary team has undergone a slight shake-up. Dick Scott has been permanently assigned to second and at his own request, Art Lederer will cover center field. Casey and Sullivan, the latest additions to the team, have been relegated to the bench.

It is rumored that William Rushmore, of this city, who signed with the Montclair A. C. during the forepart of the season, has severed his contract and expects to pitch for a Plainfield team. He is practically a semi-professional man and is one of the best artists in the State.

Mason and Smith, two Bound Brook players, have been signed by Manager Squier, of the Clinton Avenue team. They are all round men and will be tried in different positions until they are best located. Manager Squier has also secured Eames, who started the season as catcher for the Y. M. C. A's.

Tommy Muir has been made assistant manager of the Hope team. He will assume charge of all games during the absence of Manager Cose. He is possessed of considerable experience in the managing end of the game having controlled several minor West End teams during the past few years.

Pitcher Fred Booth has secured his release from the Safe Works aggregation. He has also resigned his position at the factory and is thinking of entering the professional baseball ranks. He now has under consideration a lucrative offer for the season from the North Ends, of Phillipburg, champions of the northern section of the State.

Although it was announced yesterday the postponed League games from Saturday would be played on July 5, this will be impossible as far as the Hopes are concerned. Manager Cole filled that date with the Clinton Avenue team a week ago. A later date will have to be selected for the Safe Works game.

The Middlesex Juniors defeated the Middlesex B. B. C., in a ten-inning contest at South Plainfield, yesterday, by a score of 9 to 8. The batteries were Hoffman and Connor for the Juniors and McDonough and Arrowsmith for the B. B. C. The playing of Clarence Hoffman and Chester Huff was especially commendable.

ROD AND GUN.

Freeholder Lutkins, in company with that veteran fisherman, John Case, of Somerset street, is angling for bass in New Market pond. An enormous catch may be expected.

PERSONAL.

Miss Anna Young, matron of Muhlenberg Hospital, is recovering from a several days' illness.

Augustus Caesar was discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning, after a week's detention for medical treatment.

Other Endeavorers Invited.

At the meeting of the Trinity Reformed church Christian Endeavor society, held last evening, an invitation was received from the First Baptist church society, inviting the members to participate in a patriotic service to be held July 1. Rev. Joseph Sullivan, of Paterson, will make the address.

Slept Off His Jag.

In a complete state of paralysis, Frank Huntington, of Raymond avenue, was picked up by Patrolman Overbaugh on East Front street, last night. He slept off his "jag" in a cell and this morning Mayor Jenkins allowed him to depart.

Reward for Attendance.

Miss Ethel Rogers, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church Sunday-school, received a handsome gold badge, star shaped, Sunday, as a reward for not being absent from Sunday-school once in five years.

Dr. Yerkes in Charge.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes conducted the opening devotional exercises at the First Baptist church Sunday morning, when Rev. Dr. Clark, of New York, preached a sermon.

Wash Tonight.

Warren Engine Company will go out for a "wash" this evening at 8:15. All members of the company are requested to be on hand.

Election in Somerset Council.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M. will hold its election of officers this evening.

PARK TROUBLES.

C. A. Pomeroy in Court to Answer to Charge of Assault Preferred by Frank Curtis, Sr.

Within the dingy precincts of the borough police court last evening from 7 to 9 o'clock there was an assemblage unaccustomed to such surroundings. Charles A. Pomeroy, of Park place, appeared in court on a warrant sworn out by Frank Curtis, Sr., of Mercer avenue.

It appears that recently boys in that vicinity have been making life miserable for Mrs. Pomeroy by running over her lawn and performing pranks of a like character. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Pomeroy caught young Frank Curtis around his front door, and justly or injustly cuffed his ears. Frank Curtis, Sr., immediately swore out a warrant for Pomeroy's arrest and the case came before Recorder Doud at 7 o'clock last evening.

The Recorder found Pomeroy guilty but suspended sentence, and incidentally lectured a gang of boys who were in court as witnesses.

MOTHER AND SON.

Appeared in City Court as Complainant and Defendant.

Bernard Egleton, a strapping young Scotchman, was placed on trial in the city court, this morning, charged by his mother, about half his size, with beating her. She at first claimed her body was a mass of bruises but afterward said he had hit her with his cap and struck her one blow in the breast. She retracted a number of other statements made. Mayor Jenkins thought the evidence insufficient to warrant holding the defendant.

The Inn is Open.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Holbrook, of Troy, have taken charge of the Mountain Park Inn, which has opened for the season. The Inn will be under the management of Chas. L. Strong and Mr. Holbrook. A number of guests are expected to arrive tomorrow. The Inn is now thoroughly equipped and in better condition than ever and should be very popular this season.

Couldn't Pay the Fine.

Charles Leonard, a teamster, was arrested by Patrolman Saunders on Grant avenue, last evening, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. In the city court, this morning, he was sent to Elizabeth for thirty days not having the $8 imposed by Mayor Jenkins.

Taken to Hospital.

Mrs. Charles Warnock, of East Second street, was taken seriously ill, yesterday afternoon, and was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital in the ambulance. An operation was performed and today she was reported as being much improved.

After a Shore Dinner.

Harry Werner, of West Front street, chaperoned a party of friends to Milford, Conn., Sunday, where all enjoyed a shore dinner at the River View Hotel.

ENDED LIFE WITH BULLET

Henry L. Kliner Shot and Killed Himself Yesterday Afternoon at His Home.

NO REASON FOR ACT.

It is Supposed That Recent Illness Caused Temporary Insanity—Was a Prospering Business Man—Leaves Wife and One Child—Member of Firm of Winans & Kliner.

Henry L. Kliner, of Somerset street, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Jacob J. Kliner, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by shooting himself in the right temple. Mr. Kliner was a married man, father of one child, and a member of the firm of Winans & Kliner, blacksmiths, doing business on Somerset street, near the end of the trolley line. He was twenty-seven years of age and up to the time of his death had taken an active interest in the Republican politics of Somerset county.

No direct reason can be assigned for Mr. Kliner's act. He was an ambitious young man, anxious to succeed, and his business was in a most flourishing condition gradually growing every year. He was a man with no bad habits of any kind, entirely devoted to the interests of his family.

Monday he had attended to his work along with his brother in the blacksmith shop, and he was apparently in the best of humor all day. Yesterday when his mother and his wife left home at 2:30 o'clock Mr. Kliner was to have accompanied them down town, but he complained of feeling unwell and concluded to stay home.

When his wife returned home at 4 o'clock she found her husband lying on the bed with a revolver clasped in his hand, and a bullet through his right temple. She immediately ran screaming to the shop where his brother was working, but was so overcome with excitment that she could not make known her gruesome discovery. Mrs. Kliner is still prostrated with grief over the sad event and, lies very ill at her home.

Since the first of April Kliner has been ill with malaria, which has preyed severely on his constitution and caused him much mental worry. He has only worked at intervals during the intervening time and on Monday when he came to the shop his brother advised him not to work that day. Nevertheless he applied himself to his labors as usual, but yesterday he was feeling much worse than heretofore, and it is thought that a fit of temporary insanity, superinduced by his illness and mental anxiety, caused him to take his own life.

Mr. Kliner was a member of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and had made application to join Jerusalem Lodge, F. and A. M.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at his late residence at 2:30 o'clock and afterwards at Wilson Memorial chapel at 2:45 o'clock. The services will be in charge of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Another Justice at New Market.

R. P. F. von Minden, who recently qualified as a justice of peace in Piscataway township, is located at New Market on the Hallett place. He is a graduate of the law department of Yale College and practiced as an attorney in Connecticut. He also was a justice of the peace in the latter State. He was recently admitted to the New Jersey Bar. Justice von Minden studied law with W. R. Codington in 1893.

Patriotic Service.

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church a patriotic service will be held in the church Tuesday evening, July 1. The address of the evening will be delivered by Rev. Mr. Sullivan, pastor of the Baptist church at Paterson.

New News Stand.

The work of erecting a news stand will be commenced at the new railroad station by the Union News Company within a short time. The company has secured permission to build the stand, which will be placed under the sheds.

Engagement Is Announced.

The engagement is announced of Miss Elizabeth Reynolds, of Rochester, N. Y., to Samuel Hollingsworth, of Scotch Plains.

—Neuman Brothers have Indian river pineapples for canning, blackberries, strawberries, huckleberries and raspberries.

ROBBED LOCKERS.

Caddies at Park Golf Club Tried Their Hands at Something New.

During the brief absence of the steward, Monday afternoon, some of the caddies at the Park Golf Club entered the locker room in the rear of the clubhouse, broke open several lockers and helped themselves to the golf balls. The theft was soon discovered and the identity of the youthful offenders found out. Most of the stolen balls have since been returned but the case has been reported to the authorities and punishment is soon to be meted out to the participants.

FAIR ACRES RACE MEET

THE INDEPENDENCE DAY PLANS ARE ABOUT COMPLETED.

Little Track, Near Westfield, Will See Some Good Contests There on July 4.

Arrangements for the second grand race meet to be held at the pretty half-mile track of the Fair Acres Driving Club, near Westfield, on the afternoon of July 4, are about completed, and the programme for the afternoon promises to be one of great amusement. National Association rules will govern the races.

The programme will include three purse races for $200. Horses will go in the 2.25, 2.30 and 2.40 class. The races will be the best three in five heats. There will be four divisions of money—50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent. of purse. The sport will begin at 1:30 o'clock.

Entries for the races closed on Friday. The list has not yet been published, but there is no question about them having filled. The chances are that the fields will be large. The track is pronounced to be in elegant shape. Fifteen new stalls have been added to the stables, and other improvements to the grounds for the comfort of patrons.

The Aeolian brass band will furnish music for the day, and there will be a refreshment stand on the grounds under the care of Arthur S. Flagg. One of the principal features will be Neil Alcyoner, the guideless wonder, owned by Dick Halsted, of New York. This horse has a record for going a half mile without harness or driver in 2.08.

Stages will convey the people to the grounds and track. There will be no baseball game at Westfield on the afternoon of July 4; the races will be the principal feature of attraction in that section.

THE NINE MET.

Reunion of Those Who Formerly Gave Active Assistance to the Y. M. C. A.

Tuesday evening, in the Y. M. C. A. hall there was a very pleasant reunion of the original Ladies' Nine, an organization that formerly extended active assistance and took a prominent interest in Y. M. C. A. work in this city.

The members of that coterie have been separated for the past six years, but with the arrival here on a visit of the Misses Demarest, of Freeport, Ill., the nine were once more all in Plainfield and the opportunity was immediately seized for a social reunion.

The names of those who were present at the affair who formerly composed the first Ladies' Nine are: Mrs. Stephen R. Struthers, Mrs. H. W. Rankin, Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, Mrs. Roger F. Murray, Mrs. J. W. Gavett, the Misses Jennie L. and Eleanor Demarest, Freeport, Ill., Mrs. Harry Manning and Miss Carrie Dewey.

Room for All.

Many people in passing the City National Bank admire the fine vault which may be seen through the window. There are yet two other vaults and these are their storage vaults. Their walls are very thick and are lined with heavy steel plates. The dimensions of the largest vault are more than two thousand cubic feet. It can thus be seen that while safety and absolute protection were first considered, ample accommodation is also assured.

Given a Piano.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Babcock, of Clinton avenue, will celebrate the fourth anniversary of their wedding Saturday. A substantial gift has been received by Mrs. Babock from a husband in the shape of a piano.

Fell From Cherry Tree.

A few days ago Albert Utzinger, of L. W. Randolph's pharmany, fell from a high ladder in a cherry tree. That he did not break his limbs is a miracle. He is very lame and sore as a result of the tumble.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR FIREWORKS THIS YEAR

The Dealers Say That Business Promises to be Particularly Heavy This Season.

THE REASONS FOR IT.

A NUMBER OF NOVELTIES ARE TO BE INTRODUCED THIS YEAR.

After Firecrackers, Whistling Pieces Prove the Most Popular—Sentiment is Now Against the Use of the High Explosives.

This promises to be a banner year for the dealers in fireworks. The man in charge of the fireworks department of a firm that handles a large amount of goods in that line, both wholesale and retail, dealing largely with Plainfield, said last week that the sales this year would probably be larger than any in the past. The only chance of his prediction not being fulfilled, he said, was wet weather. The manufacturers and wholesale dealers are delivering the goods, and the retail men are taking them with the expectation of disposing of them without trouble. Other dealers spoke in the same way. None of them could advance any particular reason except that the use of fireworks for the celebration of Independence Day has been increased largely, year by year, for the past decade or more. The greatest increase was during the trouble with Spain, when the war fever ran high. The high water mark in the trade was reached in 1900. The business fell off last year, but no more than the dealers expected, as a reaction of the year before.

"I think that the Fourth is being observed more fully every year," said one dealer, "and as long as it is the small boy, and for that matter grown people, too, must have a vent for their feelings. Then fireworks are both interesting and, in most cases, beautiful to behold. As they are reserved by the public for just one day in the year, it is only natural that their use on that occasion should become greater as time goes by.

"Another thing that helps business is that manufacturers are getting out something new every year. There are several novelties on the market this season; besides a number of things that were tried as experiments last year, and having proved successful, are on the market now in large quantities. One thing that was made this year for the first time is the whistling cannon cracker. This is about the same as the ordinary Chinese cracker of large proportions except that it makes a whistling sound from the time the fuse is lighted until it explodes. Whistling things proved very popular last season and the manufacturers have taken the hint. All manner of fireworks that emit a shrill whistling sound have been prepared in larger numbers than ever. Besides the whistling cannon cracker, the new ones include whistling bombs, which explode with a particularly loud report; whistling rockets and cloudbursts and whistling chasers, that run on the sidewalk or any other smooth surface. The latter came out last season and were very popular. Most of these goods are made to retail at one and five cents each, according to size. Other articles that are strictly new this year are dragon flies, eagle screamers, skyscrapers and reporting gold fountains, all of which are in five cent pieces.

"There is less demand this year for high explosive crackers. The trade is going back to the Chinese goods, as the latter do not contain high explosives and are much safer. These are about the only kind of fireworks made in China and they are far superior to anything in that line made in the United States. Some States have legislated against the manufacture or sale of fireworks containing dynamite, which at one time was commonly put in the cannon crackers. The old style small cracker is going out of favor. The mandarins are the popular cracker now. They are put up in fancy packages, are well made and give loud reports. They sell at five cents a package. They also come in rolls of one, two and three thousand. The way to use these is to tie one end of the string to a pole or to stretch the roll between two posts or trees and then light the fuse. The effect is very fine, particularly at night. The rolls sell from sixty cents up.

"Another novelty that found favor last year and which are, therefore, expected to sell well this season are the red, white and blue canes. There is a place in the bottom of these that holds a cap, which explodes when struck against anything hard. These canes were not expensive last year, but although there is the cheap kind to be had now, some of them are more elaborate, with animals' heads on the top and other attractive features. Another experiment last year that has been improved upon was the marble that had a thin coating of some harmless explosive. Few of these will be seen now, as their place has been taken by what are called kango clubs. The latter, when struck together, give out a loud report. They are put up two in a box and sell for ten cents a pair.

"There is not much change in either price or quality of the larger pieces—those used for night displays. One novelty in this line, however, is the rattling battery, which is merely a lot of Roman candles bunched together. It is made with either forty or ninety shots. Its popularity is already assured. The Chinese or Japanese lanterns, which are really made in those countries, are to be had in newer and more attractive designs."

GREATEST JUNE CROWD EVER SEEN AT PARK

Summer Visitors Are Flocking to Asbury Park Despite Lack of Attractions.

FEW AMUSEMENTS OPEN.

BISHOP FITZGERALD IS TRYING TO INDUCE THE PRESIDENT TO SPEAK.

List of Summer Excursions is Remarkably Large This Year—Some of the Principal Events—A Big Sign on the Auditorium.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, June 25—The June crowd now in the twin cities is the largest ever known. The boardwalk has been kept busy for a week in spite of a day or two of bad weather, despite the absence of lights and the fact that only a few of the amusements are open. Even music is lacking. The contract with Dr. Conterno, of New York, is off, and no band has yet been secured to take his place. Bandmaster Voss, of Newark, whose bid was rejected when Dr. Conterno's was accepted, returned a decided "No" when the music committee offered him the contract. The only band which has offered its services is the Young American, a representative of which is in Asbury Park.

Mayor Bradley is endeavoring to have Wesley lake, which divides Ocean Grove from Asbury Park, entirely under the management of the latter. The Mayor owns the Asbury Park side and desires to lease it to the city. He has also written to Rev. A. E. Ballard, vice president of the Ocean Grove Association, asking his co-operation in having the lake placed under the city's jurisdiction.

Postmaster John Hubbard has competed arrangements for the receipt and despatch of a Sunday mail during the summer. The service was inaugurated last Sunday. The mail will arrive at the Interlaken station about 11 a. m. The outgoing mail will close at 3:30 p. m. One collection, about 1 p. m., will be made. The postoffice will be open only between the hours of 12 and 1. There will be a private delivery to a number of the larger hotels.

Bishop Fitzgerald, of Ocean Grove, is endeavoring to induce President Roosevelt to speak at the auditorium this summer. Three years ago, when Governor of New York, Mr. Roosevelt spoke to an audience of twelve thousand in the auditorium. At that time he told the bishop that he would make a return trip to the Grove.

The list of summer excursions this year is unusually long. The principal ones will come later in the summer. Thursday, August 21, will be American Day, when at least ten thousand of the Junior Order of American Mechanics in New Jersey will be in the city. On Saturday, August 2, the employes of the Clark thread works at Kearny will have their outing here, and on Labor Day the New Jersey Ancient Order of United Workmen will arrive. There will be daily excursions from Newark, New York, Trenton, Philadelphia and other cities, as well as the usual complement of Sunday-school trips.

A huge electric sign is to be placed on the roof of the Ocean Grove Auditorium, bearing the words "Ocean Grove" in twelve-foot letters, visible ten miles out to sea. Another sign, "Auditorium," will be placed over the entrance to the building.

GOOD MUSIC RENDERED AT ANNUAL MUSICALE

Delightful Affair at Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest Last Evening.

BY THE LADIES' GUILD.

DETAILED PROGRAMME AND THOSE WHO TOOK PART.

In Addition to Musical Numbers, Miss Mary Adelaide Luckey Gave Several Excellent Recitations—Refreshments Were Served.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild, a delightful and well attended musicale was given at the Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest, last evening. All the artists with one exception were from this city. In addition to the musical numbers Miss Mary Adelaide Luckey contributed several excellent recitations.

The programme as rendered was as follows: "Selection From the Opera," Gounod, Professor Pierre; soprano solo, "Angel Land," Pinsuto, Miss Elizabeth Forster; tenor solo, "O Restless Sea," White, Fred Tallamy; quartette, "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," Foster, Juan Babcock, Miss Grace Phillips, Mrs. E. E. Brown and Fred Tallamy; recitation, "The Musicale," Miss Mary A. Luckey; contralto solo, "The Clang of the Wooden Shoon," Malloy, Mrs. Lewis H. Morgan; quartette, "Come Where the Lilies Bloom," Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Morgan, Mrs. E. E. Brown and Fred Tallamy; Tarantella in E minor, Smith, Professor Pierre; contralto solo, "A Winter Lullaby," DeKoven, Miss Grace Phillips; recitation, "Tabitha Tubbs at the Sewing Circle," Miss Mary A. Luckey; baritone solo, "Good Night, Little Girl, Good Night," Macey, Juan Babcock; soprano solo, "Perhaps Sometime in the Gloaming," Eversole, Mrs. E. E. Brown, final chorus, "Kentucky Babe," quartette.

During an intermission refreshments were served and an enjoyable half hour was spent. The proceeds from the affair will amount to a neat sum and will be devoted to church interests. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. William VanNorden, Mrs. E. E. Brown and William Burke.

DOCTORS AT SHORE.

Annual Meeting of Medical Society of New Jersey is in Session at Atlantic City This Week.

The one hundred and thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Medical Society of New Jersey is being held this week at Atlantic City, where a large number of physicians from all parts of the State are in attendance. The programme comprises a variety of subjects presented for treatment and discussion, including one by Dr. F. C. Ard, of this city, on "Radical Operation for the Relief of Chronic Purulent Disease of the Middle Ear." An interesting subject for discussion tomorrow morning will be "What are the Best Methods to Prevent the Spread of Tuberculosis?"

Among the present officers of the society is Dr. E. W. Hedges, of this city, who is the corresponding secretary.

Going a Fishing.

Homer J. Wightman, principal of the North Plainfield High School, will leave for Thursday for Ithaca, New York. Mr. Wightman is a devotee of the quaint and gentle Izaak and the greater part of his vacation will be spent angling for speckled beauties in northern New York.

To Act on Resignation.

There will be an important meeting of the First Baptist church tomorrow evening when action concerning the resignation of Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes will be taken and other business transacted relative to the pastorate of the church. A full attendance of members is desired.

Private 'Phone Line.

The Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company now has a telephone wire for private use from the company's office on Watchung avenue to the headquarters at Westfield. The line will shortly be extended to the Fourth street barns.

In Railroad Shops.

Cyrus Kinsman, of this city, who is a student at Cornell College, is now at Akron, O., devoting his time to the study of engineering in the works of the B. & O. R. R.

Odd Fellows to Elect.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, and Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will elect officers Monday evening.

DOG RUN OVER.

A Valuable Spaniel Belonging to Harry Brittain Was Killed.

A large black cocker spaniel, owned by Harry Brittain, of Evona avenue, was run over by a careless carriage driver, yesterday afternoon, on West Front street. The animal was badly injured and was put out of its misery by a well directed pistol shot. The driver of the wagon who was speeding at a reckless rate, drove on without stopping to learn the extent of the damage he had caused. Brittain claims the canine was a pedigreed one and captured several blue ribbons at dog shows.

NEEDS OF FRESH AIR HOME

WHAT IS NEEDED AT THE NETHERWOOD CHARITY AT PRESENT.

Donations May be Left With The Daily Press or Sent to the Treasurer of the Camp.

Since writing one week ago, we have had much reason for thankfulness because of the liberality of the response to our appeal for furnishings for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. There are still more necessities required before we can throw open the doors of the home on Tuesday next, and we would urge that the responses to this appeal be made as promptly as possible.

In planning to give to this work, friends should remember that the children are very young, none being older than six years and some as young as six months old, therefore baby carriages, go carts, baby toys and picture books will be very acceptable.

We have received as many beds as we have room for, but no chairs or chests of drawers; we will need twelve small chairs and three or four rockers for the mothers. If any one has stoop or lawn chairs to spare they would be most useful.

Lend a hand! Do not think because yours is small,
Or because from its fingers no riches
may fall,
It was meant you should render no
succour at all.—J. Wolcott.

We wish to call the attention of the public to the Fresh Air Fund that has been started by The Daily Press for the two charities; we gratefully acknowledge the receipt of $10 contributed through this fund. Any one not desiring to use this fund as a medium for their gifts may send directly to the treasurer.

We will send for donations if notified. Any further information regarding our work may be obtained by telephoning No. 1121.

EUCHRE AT HOTEL.

Guests at Netherwood and Plainfield Society Folk Played Progressive Euchre Last Evening.

Progressive euchre was the pastime for the guests at the Hotel Netherwood last evening. A goodly number of Plainfielders attended, one of whom was among the prize-winners. Sixteen tables were necessary to accommodate the players and W. H. Class, of New York, acted as master of ceremonies.

The prize-winners were as follows: First, Mrs. Paul Sheldon, New York; second, Mrs. Dr. Hickok, Brooklyn, and Mrs. C. B. Rogers, tie; Mrs. Hickok won the play-off. Among the men four tied for first place, Ex-Congressman W. Irving Comes, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Kelley, of Plainfield, who played as a man; Bertram Sears, of New York, and Mr. Thorne, Brooklyn. Ex-Congressman Comes won the play-off, with Mrs. Kelley, of Plainfield, second.

During the intervals the Netherwood orchestra discoursed music, and several times during the evening bulletins were received from the New York Herald relative to the king's condition.

Completed Second Year.

Richard McCullough, son of Richard H. McCullough, of the borough, has completed his second year at Annapolis with honors. He is now off on a cruise along the Potomac. He anticipates a visit to his home next September.

Preacher Secured.

The members of the First Church of Christ have secured Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, to preach for them every Sunday evening. Of late there has been an increased interest and attendance.

Fourth of July Oration.

Rev. Dr. Henry Elliott Mott will deliver the Fourth of July oration on the Washington Camp ground at Bound Brook. Plans are being formulated for a grand celebration.

WILL RETIRE FROM COUNCIL

Geo. P. Mellick Gave Dinner to Announce His Retirement From Public Life This Year.

COULD NOT BE THERE.

Illness Prevented the Host From Being Present, But Mrs. Mellick Received the Guests—Former Councilman Barrows Acted as Master of Ceremonies.

A delightful affair of last evening was the entertainment of the members of the Common Council and other city officials at the summer home of Councilman and Mrs. George P. Mellick near the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. Mr. Mellick had planned the dinner, but unfortunately because of illness, he could not be present. Mrs. Mellick very hospitably received the guests and made them feel perfectly at home. The event was intended by Mr. Mellick as a time and place for the announcement that this will be his last term as a Councilman, it being his purpose to retire from this position at the close of his present term. It was the sentiment of all present, however, that Mr. Mellick should not retire, that he is a capable and efficient official and the city cannot afford to lose so valuable a member of the Council. There were many expressions of deep regret that Mr. Mellick could not be present last evening and many kind expressions were made in his behalf. The bungalow was most attractively arranged and decorated for the occasion and the illumination by candle power was very pretty. In the absence of the host, Elliott T. Barrows, a former councilman, acted as toastmaster, and in a very happy vein he conducted the programme. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock and after the most excellent menu was partaken of, the rest of the evening was devoted to speechmaking and a good social time. The speeches were of a high order and were listened to with a great deal of interest.

Among some of those present were Councilmen B. Frank Coriell, Leslie M. Daniel, E. E. Pray, Jan. vanHerwerden, R. I. Tolles, J. F. Buckle, William L. Gloak, Frank DeW. Randolph, Robert L. Lee, Clarence L. Murphy; City Stenographer George B. Wean; Former Councilman J. B. Dumont; Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk; Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, Fire Chief T. O. Doane, Chief of Police P. S. Kiely, City Treasurer William F. Arnold, Tax Collector F. H. Smith, and Former Councilman E. T. Barrows.

A feature of the evening were the funnygraphs by Mr. Fitch, of New York, who helped to entertain the guests with comical stories. He was repeatedly recalled and his supply of amusing stories seemed exhaustless. It was 10 o'clock when the guests returned home and everyone was loud in their praise of Mr. and Mrs. Mellick for the good time provided.

Carried Off Prizes.

At the closing exercises last week of the College of St. Elizabeth, Convent Station, New Jersey, one of the oldest colleges for girls in the east, Miss Fannie Hillman, of Plainfield, daughter of J. H. Hillman, of West Seventh street, carried off prizes in philosophy, Greek, and for an English essay. Previous to entering the institution named, Miss Hillman was graduated from St. Mary's school, this city.

Liked the City Department.

Captain Burtis, of No. 133 Engine Company, Brooklyn, returned home Sunday after spending a few days at fire headquarters, Plainfield, the guest of W. F. Townley. The captain is off on a twenty-seven days' vacation and took in this city on his tour. He thinks highly of the Plainfield department, as well as of the city in general, and intends to take up his residence here when he retires from active service.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A familiar figure on the Jersey City boulevard these days is Miss Edna Sebring, of Somerset street, seated on her beautiful pony, Foster. Foster is an admired animal in Jersey City.

According to a story from New Brunswick the postal authorities have awarded the contracts for furnishing new mail pouches for the postal service to the United States Postal Service Company, of New York, for four years at $35,000 a year. It is said that the present mail bag used by letter-carriers is considered too heavy and that in consequence the carriers are becoming lopsided. The new bags are to be lighter and will be made of imitation or process leather, making the burden about half as heavy as at present. Of course, if such a change is made, the Plainfield carriers will come in for the improvement and none of them will be sorry.

THEATRICAL.

"King Dodo," the merriest of the comic opera productions the local stage has seen the present season, is now in its last two weeks at Daly's Theatre, New York, and the seventh week of its present run. This work of Pixley and Luders is withdrawn only because the general welfare of the company imperatively demands such action on the part of the management. When closing comes on July 5, the organization will have completed the fifty-eighth week of consecutive presentation and as people who sing must rest their voices sometimes, Henry W. Savage, who is directing the affairs of "King Dodo," has decided to withdraw the amusing comic opera while it is still at the height of its prosperity for there has been no falling off in the receipts at Daly's even in the hottest weather. Monday evening Miss Marion Ivell replaced Miss Greta Risley in the role of Queen Lili. The young woman has just closed a most successful engagement with the Castle Square Opera Company and will be with that organization the coming season. Raymond Hitchcock, Cheridah Simpson, Flora Zabelle, Margaret McKinney and all the other favorites will remain with "King Dodo" until the finish of the engagement and will then take their short vacation prior to beginning the new season.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

DEADLOCK OVER LIBRARY

NEW BRUNSWICK'S LIBRARY TRUSTEES CANNOT SETTLE ON NEW SITE.

Mayor Will Wait Until Term of One Expires and Appoint a Man of Other Views.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, June 25—The board of trustees of the New Brunswick Public Library is deadlocked over the question of a site for the library building to be erected with the $50,000 which Andrew Carnegie has promised the city. A second attempt, made at the meeting last week, to secure the adoption of a resolution providing for the purchase of the Livingston avenue site, was a failure, three trustees voting for the resolution and three against it. The Livingston avenue site has been chosen by a joint committee of the trustees and of the Common Council, but the opponents of that site in the board of trustees refuse to abide by the decision of the joint committee.

At the meeting last week a petition was presented, signed by 700 citizens, representing the most prominent business and professional men of the city. In addition, there were present a number of advocates of the Livingston avenue site. A resolution providing that the board certify to council that it is expedient to purchase a site, and that an issue of bond to the sum of $12,000 is necessary, was adopted unanimously.

A second resolution was presented making the site the Livingston avenue lots. This provoked a general discussion, which terminated, on the call for the question, in the defeat of the resolution by a tie vote.

Mayor Viehman has announced his intention of simply biding his time until the term of a trustee expires, or until one of them resigns, when he will appoint a trustee who will break the deadlock.

BRINGS SUMMER BOARDERS.

A Large Metropolitan Newspaper Which is Helping the Summer Resorts.

The Brooklyn Eagle several years ago established a Bureau of Information in Brooklyn, where the public could, free of charge, secure details of hotels and boarding houses for the summer. The idea at once became popular, and branch bureaus were opened in Manhattan and other cities. Country hotels and boarding houses by sending to this Bureau can secure a listing blank, fill it out and return it and then be represented free of cost, and send their circulars and cards for free disribution.

The Brooklyn Eagle has also been considered for years the best medium for summer boarders in New York City.

The Rocky Point Inn, in the Adirondacks, said: "We are giving the Eagle a larger share of advertising than most other papers, as experience has demonstrated its value to us in past seasons."

Chauncey B. Newkirk, of Wurtsboro, Sullivan, county, said: "Last season one small ad brought me five guests."

La Rue Bros., proprietors of the American Hotel of Sharon Springs, N. Y., wrote: "Our house is full and mostly by Brooklyn people. Daily we recieve applications for rooms, and all on account of our standing ad. in the Eagle."

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Union Avenue from North Avenue to Elizabeth Avenue; Elizabeth Avenue, from Union Avenue to Orange Avenue; and Orange Avenue, from Elizabeth Avenue to South Twelfth Street, all in the Township of Cranford, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, Nineteen Hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee, enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as estimated in advance, is as follows:

4,440 cubic Yards of Excavation.
7,783 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
2,390 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
495 square yards of Resurfacing Macadam, Two inches thick.
5 Culverts to be lowered.
8 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

Plans and Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of the Township Engineer, 25 Dix Building, Elizabeth, N. J.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

Senate Passes Trust Reserve Bill and Ratifies Indian Treaty.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The senate yesterday passed bills creating a national forest reserve in the southern Appalachian mountains and ratifying the agreement between the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians of the Indian Territory and the United States.

The first bill provides for the purchase of 4,000,000 acres in the southern Appalachian system at a cost not to exceed $10,000,000. The secretary of agriculture is to designate the lands to be purchased and is to take measures to preserve the hard wood forests which they bear.

Mr. Quay (Pa.) was unable to secure consideration for his motion to discharge the committee on territories from further consideration of the omnibus statehood bill, but gave notice that he would demand that it be taken up today.

Two notable speeches marked the closing of the general debate on the Philippine civil government bill in the house. They were made by Mr. Landis, an Indiana Republican, and by Mr. Williams, a Mississippi Democrat. There were big demonstrations after each concluded.

Cuba's Payments For Reciprocity.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—F. B. Thurber, who testified before the senate Cuban committee regarding payments received from the military government in Cuba for the promotion of reciprocity sentiment, has sent a letter to Chairman Platt saying he desired to correct his testimony so as to make it show that he received four vouchers of $2,880 each, or $11,520 in all.

POISONED THIRTY-ONE.

Nurse Toppan Confesses to Wholesale Murder.

BARNSTABLE, Mass., June 25.—In good spirits and apparently but little concerned over the fact that she was bound for an insane hospital, to which she had been committed for the rest of her life, Jane Toppan, who was tried for the murder of Mrs. Mary D. Gibbs, has been taken from Barnstable jail to the Taunton Insane hospital.

Suspected of the death of eleven persons, but indicted for murdering only three, Miss Toppan has confessed that she has killed during her career as a professional nurse no less than thirty-one human beings. This statement was made to Judge Fred M. Bixby of Brockton, senior counsel at the trial at Barnstable.

Morphine was Miss Toppan's agency for producing death. Many of her victims were unsuspecting and most intimate friends. Others were the patients of reputable physicians who employed her on account of accomplishments as a nurse. Miss Toppan was so expert in her knowledge of how to employ drugs and poisons that she was able to escape detection for years.

VENEZUELAN CRISIS.

Cablegram Received at Washington Gives Threatening News.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The state department has received a cablegram from United States Minister Bowen, at Caracas. The officials declined to make public the text of the dispatch, but it is understood that it makes out a critical state of affairs arising from the present revolutionary movement against President Castro, which is generally recognized as the strongest that has yet threatened him.

The navy department stands ready to meet almost any exigency which may arise in Venezuela. The Cincinnati and the Topeka are lying at La Guayra, and the gunboat Marietta is en route to San Juan, Porto Rico. The department's intention is to have the Marietta proceed thence to Colon and relieve the Machias, but she will lie at San Juan until it appears assured that her services will not be needed to re-enforce the Cincinnati and Topeka in protecting American lives and property in Venezuela.

A Crank at the White House.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—James King, thirty-two years old, a Canadian who has spent twenty years of his life at Tonawanda, N. Y., was arrested at the White House and held for examination into his mental condition. He said he wanted to convince the president that there were four quarters of the globe, and he wanted "a pair of dividers" to locate the United States.

Taft Has Succeeded.

ROME, June 25.—There is no doubt about the negotiations of Judge Taft, governor of the Philippine Islands, with the Vatican regarding the disposition of the friars' lands in those islands ending in success for the American proposals in all essential points. All reports of serious hitches are denied by those who are best entitled to know.

UNION LEADERS IN CONFERENCE.

They Claim the Defection Amounts to Nothing, Yet Are Evidently Disturbed Over It—Litigation to Follow the Listing.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 25.—While the leaders at strike headquarters say the slight defection at Nanticoke yesterday does not amount to anything when it is remembered that more than 147,500 men are on strike, the actions of the union officials did not show it. District Board Member John Fallon spent almost the entire day there, and last night District President T. D. Nichols arrived here and held a conference with President Mitchell. Later in the night he went to Nanticoke.

There will be a meeting of night shift engineers, firemen and pump runners at that place today, which President Nichols will attend. It is said that the action of the night shift, if any is taken, will be binding upon the day shift. The Susquehanna Coal company officials still refuse to talk, but it is learned from a trustworthy source that all of the pumping machinery at the collieries is working, with a full force of men.

Outside of the Nanticoke move there were no developments in this valley. President Mitchell had nothing to say of either the anthracite or the West Virginia strike.

The Susquehanna Coal company, which is controlled by the Pennsylvania railroad, claims to have scored a partial victory, having succeeded in getting several engineers, firemen and pump runners to return to its collieries at Nanticoke.

The men held a secret meeting, and most of them decided to return. The exact number who went to work is not known at this time, as the company officials will not discuss the matter. The men were distributed among the four or five collieries located in and about the borough. Most of those who went back were members of the union.

Many Suits Against Unionists.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 25.—Litigation to the extent of possibly 300 prosecutions for criminal libel and as many more suits for damages will result from the posting of the first of the "unfair" lists which the miners' strike headquarters in Wilkesbarre directed the local unions to prepare and publish. Monday morning the dead walls of the Kingston region were covered with posters containing the names of sixty-four who refused to join in the strike and four milkmen who continued to sell these men milk after warning by the strikers to refrain from so doing. The poster is headed "Unfair List, U. M. W. of A.," and at the bottom appears the names of the five men comprising the committee which presumably compiled and published the list. Agents of the companies secured copies of the list, and at one of their offices in this city the statement was made that the companies will cause their respective "listed" employees to bring suits against the committee and all others whom the company's detectives can connect with the preparation and publication of the posters.

Miners Return to Work.

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 25.—The miners of the Austen Coal and Coke company at Newburg, W. Va., who struck on Monday, returned to work yesterday. Dixie and Vulcan mines resumed today, leaving only two small mines idle in the Newburg field.

Murder at Coney Island.

NEW YORK, June 25.—David S. Burnside, twenty-four years of age, residing in Brooklyn, shot and killed his wife, Lillian, aged twenty-two years, in a concert saloon on the Bowery at Coney Island last night and then fired a bullet into his own head with probable fatal effect. The couple had been married two weeks, but failed to get along amicably together.

Fusion For Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 25.—The Populist state convention has decided to accept the terms of the Democrats and will nominate the officers in accordance with the fusion plan previously arranged. This plan was adopted by a safe majority, but there are a large number opposed to it, and these threaten to bolt the convention. A night session will be held.

CORONATION OFF.

King Edward Undergoes an Operation.

ALL LONDON IN DISMAY

Distinguished Patient Rallies and May Recover.

WEEK'S FESTIVITIES ABANDONED

The General Opinion Is That Should the King's Case Progress Favorably the Date of the Coronation Will Be At Least Three Months Hence—Grave Fears That It Will Never Occur.

LONDON, June 25.—With dramatic suddenness the king has been stricken down upon the event of his coronation. He lies in a critical state at Buckingham palace.

In spite of the intensity of this tragic interruption the lower elements of London last night went "maficking" through the flag decked streets, and a portion of society, in coronation gowns and jewels, gathered at what was called a gala coronation dinner at one of the fashionable hotels. Even at the gates of Buckingham palace, within which the ablest surgeons and physicians constantly remained in the hope of saving the sovereign's life, the tooting of horns and the sound of other revelries could be plainly heard. Wagon loads of boisterous rowdies were on the streets driving in all sorts of vehicles and waving flags and hugging demijohns of liquor, making their noisy way from the east end to Whitechapel. They represented that section of the British public which no tragedy can sober into decency. They have tasted license unrestrained by law in the celebrations in connection with the war, and, king or no king, they will celebrate the coronation.

Indescribable consternation prevails throughout the country, and this consternation is reflected in the cablegrams received from all the centers of the universe.

KING EDWARD.

King Edward is in a room facing the beautiful gardens of Buckingham palace and far from the street and the crowd. If present progress is maintained, he will probably tide over the effects of his severe operation, which has successfully removed the local trouble, but should any complication occur, such as septic peritonitis or blood poisoning, it is feared his majesty's present physical and nervous condition would prove unequal to the strain involved. There is consequently intense anxiety as to the outcome.

The king's doctors believe that his majesty would have been dead before now except for the operation. His condition became so alarming Monday night that at one time it was feared death might ensue before the surgeon's knife could afford him relief. Intense swelling of the extremities, accompanied by alarming symptoms of mortification, constituted the emergency which demanded an immediate operation. To the last the king tried to avoid this, and he was willing to be carried to the abbey for the coronation ceremony in order that it should occur as arranged. The influence of Queen Alexandra was enlisted, however, and at an early hour yesterday morning the royal patient was prepared for the operation which, even in the skillful hands of England's best surgeons, was fraught with grave danger.

Shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon his majesty was moved from his couch to the operating table, and the anaesthetic was administered. Sir Frederick Treves made the incision near the patient's groin and carried it upward, with an outward slant, for nearly four inches. The obstruction was removed, and a tubing was placed in the affected intestine.

King Edward's first words when he returned to consciousness were to ask for "George," and the Prince of Wales, who was waiting in the next room, was immediately admitted to his father's presence.

While the operation was being performed the great central courtyard of Buckingham palace, so lately the scene of such brilliant gatherings, was utterly deserted, and an impressive silence reigned throughout the building. The equerries talked in whispers, servants tiptoed about, and the tension grew almost unbearable. Then the word was passed around that "all had gone well."

Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour then went in to congratulate Queen Alexandra, and afterward an informal and perhaps historic discussion occurred between the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught and Lord Salisbury, Mr. Balfour and several other members of the cabinet.

Perityphlitis, the affection from which King Edward is said to be suffering, is an inflammation of the loose areolar tissue surrounding the upper portions of the large intestine and upon which they rest. In a very large majority of cases the inflammation is not confined to the surrounding tissues, but involves the vermiform appendix. Less than a score of years ago appendicitis was unheard of, and intestinal diseases, whose foci could be definitely said to be in the right iliac fossa, were described under the two heads, typhlitis and perityphlitis.

Before the end of the afternoon over 2,000 callers, who included nearly all the foreign representatives in London and members of the house of lords and the house of commons, had inscribed their names on the visitors' book at Buckingham palace. All the royal princes called personally on the Prince of Wales and bade him goodby. The majority of them left London today for their respective countries.

In striking contrast to the happy anticipations of a few hours ago is an order issued by the archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, and the archbishop of York, the Most Rev. William D. Maclagan, appointing special forms for the intercession services to be held tomorrow. The archbishop of Canterbury also asks for "the public and private prayers of all in behalf of the king in his serious illness."

A brief notice has been published in the Gazette, as a result of which the entire state, social and business arrangements throughout the country are paralyzed. The order is dated from the earl marshal's office and reads as follows:

"I have to announce that the solemnity of the coronation of their majesties King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra is postponed from the 26th to a date hereafter to be determined."

The best informed opinion places the date of the coronation in about three months' time, provided King Edward progresses well in the meantime.

In spite of the royal wish that the provincial celebrations be carried out as arranged many towns have abandoned the festivities which were to be held, although at Liverpool and other large cities hurried meetings were called and it was decided to carry out all the charitable arrangements as previously made. The leading business houses of London have decided to keep open June 26 and 27, although the banks will probably be closed those days.

Among the hundreds of postponements caused by the sudden illness of the king is that of the publication of the list of coronation honors.

Portsmouth is perhaps the keenest sufferer among all who lose financially as a result of the postponement of the coronation. The harvest Portsmouth expected to reap from the naval review will now be lost to the city.

The bonfires which top the hills of the United Kingdom from John O'Groat's to Land's End will not be lighted. They will be kept intact, however, in the hope of the celebration being held at a later date.

Queen Alexandra has borne the strain of the past week with the bravest spirit. She was always fearful of what might happen. Her majesty took her part in the festivities at Ascot and elsewhere without revealing any sign of her inward anxiety, and when she was told that an operation was imperative and that the coronation would have to be postponed she quietly answered, "Have I not felt that this would happen?" and asked, "How does the king bear it?" Upon receiving an assuring reply Queen Alexandra exerted herself to appear cheerful and to devise means to lessen the king's grief and disappointment, although she was evidently greatly distressed.

The pope and the king of Italy and other monarchs have cabled anxious inquiries concerning King Edward's progress, and dispatches received from all parts of the world reflect the intensity of feeling occasioned by the unexpected news of his majesty's illness and sympathy with the British nation.

The London morning papers refer editorially to the dark shadow which has fallen over the nation and to its utterly unprecedented character. While they strive to maintain an air of hopefulness, they have difficulty in concealing their anxiety at the danger which will hang over the king's life for some days to come. They exhort the public to abandon all idea of festivity and to return soberly and prayerfully to the duties of everyday existence as most befitting the dignity of the nation.

At various times during the last year it has been predicted that King Edward would never be crowned. Many believed his health would not survive, and others saw ominous signs of coming distress in every little turn of the coronation preparations.

When the white coronation robes were decided on, it was pointed out that they had only been used on three occasions, and, curious enough, each wearer came to a violent end. Richard II. was crowned in white satin. Next was the unfortunate Henry VI. Despite the strong persuasion of the Earl of Pembroke Charles I. was also invested at his coronation in white satin.

In order to protect themselves many persons, tradesmen principally, took out insurance on the king's life. They stood to lose large sums if the coronation should not take place.

The king has always had a superstition that he would never be crowned. There is an old story that at the time of Edward's birth a prophecy was made which ran:

"King shall Edward be, but never shall he be crowned."

On Saturday and Sunday society was discussing the reports of the king's illness, and though their circumstantiality, detail and sources from which they came precluded entire disbelief there was a disposition to doubt the stories, and when the positive, categorical denial was officially issued they were dismissed as being unfounded. Hemorrhoids, apoplexy and lumbago were a few of the king's maladies discussed in the clubs and drawing rooms.

Those discussing them recalled the stories how the king even quite recently reiterated his belief that he would never live to be crowned.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA.

The latest bulletin issued announces that the king's condition is as good as could be expected after so serious an operation. His strength is maintained, there is less pain, and his majesty has taken a little nourishment, but it will be some days before it will be possible to say that King Edward is out of danger. It is signed by Treves, Laking and Barlow.

ROOSEVELT AT HARVARD.

President and Party Attend Commencement—Will See Boat Race.

BOSTON, June 25.—President Roosevelt arrived here from Washington this morning. With the president were Secretary Cortelyou, Dr. Urie, the president's physician, and Stenographer Latta. The president shook hands with a number of those assembled about the train.

The party was driven at once to the Hotel Somerset, where breakfast was served. Following breakfast they were taken to Cambridge, where their programme for the day is as follows: Meeting in Sanders' theater; short visit to President Eliot's house; luncheon given by Mr. Morris Gray at University hall. The president and party will then be escorted to Massachusetts hall and at 2 o'clock will go to the commencement dinner in Memorial hall and attend the exercises of Alpha Delta Phi club, where the president is to present a gold medal on behalf of the club to Dr. Edward Everett Hale.

The president and party will then return to the Somerset and at 6:30 will attend the dinner of the Spanish war officers at the Algonquin club. Following this a brief visit will be made to the dinner of the International League of Press Clubs.

At midnight the party will leave Boston for New London, the president's cars being sidetracked in New London until 10 p. m. tomorrow, when the return trip to Washington will be made.

Mrs. Roosevelt will come up from Oyster Bay on Thursday morning on the Dolphin, and the president will witness the Harvard-Yale boat race from that vessel. At the conclusion of the race Mrs. Roosevelt will return to Oyster Bay.

Nebraska Democrats Nominate.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 25.—The Democratic state convention convened at 2 o'clock yesterday, with over 1,000 delegates in attendance. The convention nominated Constantine J. Smyth, former attorney general, for governor. At 10 o'clock last night the Populist convention nominated M. F. Harrington for governor. The Democrats are staying by Smyth. Both conventions will continue to ballot on governor until Smyth or Harrington has received a majority of the votes of both conventions.

Governor Milner Takes Oath.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Orange River Colony, June 25.—Lord Milner, governor of the Transvaal and British high commissioner in South Africa, arrived here yesterday and took the oath as governor of the colony. The constitution of the colony was promulgated in the presence of military and civil officers. General De Wet and other prominent Boers were present.

Agricultural Implements.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The census bureau has made public a bulletin giving statistics of the extent of the manufacture of agricultural implements in the United States. It shows that in the 715 establishments reporting there was an invested capital of $157,707,931, with an annual product of $101,207,428. The wages paid amount to $22,450,880.

School Children In Cuba.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—United States Minister Squiers, at Havana, has sent a dispatch to the secretary of state giving the result of the school census of Cuba taken a short time ago. He says all children from six to eighteen years of age are included, making a total of 396,255 of all races, with 70 per cent white and 51½ per cent male.

CUBA IN HARD LINES

Sugar Plantations Doing Almost Nothing.

A SERIOUS FINANCIAL CONDITION.

President Palma Cutting Down Expenses on Every Hand—People Patient and Uncomplaining. Europe After Island's Trade.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Among the arrivals on the Morro Castle from Havana was Charles M. Pepper, St. Louis world's fair commissioner to Cuba, who has been in the island for the last four months.

"The industrial conditions," said Mr. Pepper, "are bad and are growing worse. The big sugar plantations are doing almost nothing toward next year's crop, and this throws a large number of people out of work. I have been on many of the plantations and have found them all alike. Commercial circles in Havana are undergoing a distressing crisis, though but little is said of it publicly.

"The difficulties of the new government have been increased enormously by the economic situation. President Palma is cutting down expenses by the wholesale, abolishing offices and reducing salaries, and it may be that they will be able to keep the ordinary cost of administration within their income, but that does not meet the real trouble, which is the depression in the sugar industry. The country people are patient, and there is little disorder, yet one of the first measures found necessary is to increase the rural guard with the intention of putting General Maximo Gomez at the head of it. There is intense pride among Cubans of all classes in maintaining order, and they will sustain President Palma in whatever he does.

"The diplomatic relations of the new republic," continued Mr. Pepper, "have been easily adjusted. Minister Squiers has made a very good impression, and now there is no disposition among other nations to question the primacy of the United States. Guatemala also has its minister accredited to Cuba, and the minister from Great Britain is to be presented in a few days. I understand that the Cuban government has been notified of the intention of Spain, France, Mexico and Germany to accredit ministers within a short time. All the European countries are looking after Cuban trade."

Chinese Royalty Receives Rodgers.

PEKING, June 25.—The emperor and the dowager empress received Rear Admiral Frederick Rodgers, U. S. N., commander in chief on the Asiatic station, and his staff and the staff of the United States legation here in audience yesterday. Both the emperor and the dowager empress requested Rear Admiral Rodgers to convey assurances of their esteem to President Roosevelt.

Madman Killed Two.

EDINBURGH, June 25.—Daniel McClinton, a porter at Surgeons' hall, in a fit of insanity shot and killed Dr. Ivison Macadam, professor of chemistry, and James Forbes, the professor's assistant. McClinton was overpowered after he had fired five shots from a rifle.

Twenty-five Killed at a Funeral.

MADRID, June 25.—While a funeral was being held in a church at Pinerlo, in the province of Orense, the building was struck by lightning, and as a result twenty-five people were killed and thirty-five injured.

LITTLE EVIDENCE.

Towering well above the city are the two high iron stacks of the power house of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company. From each rolls huge clouds of black smoke, an evidence visible for miles of the use of soft coal in the furnaces. While the company is undoubtedly unable to get hard coal at the present time, as a matter of fact, soft coal has been burned there at times before the strike began and these two columns of black smoke are nothing new.

The only time when the people of Plainfield, a side from a few who are directly interested in the coal business, get a practical illustration of the lack of hard coal and its consequences is when a train passes through Plainfield and the wind carries the ill-smelling and dirt-laden smoke into their faces. It is not pleasant breathing it and it leaves its mark behind on clean linen. These visitations are not frequent enough, however, to cause any more than a moment's complaint.

Those, however, who are daily called upon by business duties to visit the great city twenty-four miles away, return each evening with a full realization of the nuisance of soft coal when used as a fuel. Despite the best efforts of the New York Board of Health, soft coal is being burned there and probably will until some time after the great coal strike ends. The reputation of Pittsburg, commonly known as the "Smoky City" threatens to have a rival, for the time being at least, in New York.

The fact that there are so few manufactories in Plainfield is largely the reason that this city has been so comparatively free from this nuisance which has so troubled New York. Most of the factories here are now burning soft coal but they are so few in number as not to be noticeable except, perhaps, in the immediate neighborhood.

The Daily Press stands as ready today as it ever did to publish any fair communication from either side on the subject of annexation and consolidation. Our own belief that the establishment of a Greater Plainfield is best for the community has never interfered with our policy to give all sides a equal show. So we gladly renew the invitation, given so many times, to those who have anything to say on the subject to use our columns. The communications must be fair and personalities, which have nothing to do with the movement itself, eliminated. The columns of The Daily Press are always open for a fair and honest discussion of any public question. The "antis" cannot honestly say that they have not been given every opportunity to present their arguments to the public.

It is interesting to see that the officials of the Jersey Central Railroad are not a bit discouraged because the "white fence" at the North Avenue station did not remain white very long. It is now receiving a second coat of white paint and will soon receive a third one. While the dust and dirt of the passing trains may take away the freshness of the white paint, it will still leave the fence a color that will make it easy to see, a state of affairs which was long desired.

The Philadelphia Record records that G. T. Brodnax, one of the leading merchants of Memphis, writes to the Commercial Appeal, of that city, that until recently he confined his advertising to the daily newspapers and found the results satisfactory. He now considers it expedient to issue booklets, but his experience teaches that his chief reliance must be on his newspaper advertising.

The Common Council is again going to take advantage of the provisions of the Martin Act to get something back for taxes which have long since been due. The Martin Act has made it possible for the city to actually have a balance in its treasury.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

At St. Bernard's church, this evening, will take place the wedding of Miss Susie Bonan, formerly of New Market but now of New York, to John Newman, of New Brunswick. The maid of honor will be Miss Nellie Gelligan, of New York, and the best man, Edward Leimpeter, of this place. After the ceremony the couple will go on a short wedding trip and then take up their residence in New Brunswick.

William Giles, shortstop on the Dunellen A. C., who has been out of the game for several weeks because of illness, will probably play against Scotch Plains Saturday.

Letters are advertised at the post-office this week for Mrs. May V. Spencer and G. T. Dunham.

The exterior of G. T. Schenck's house has been finished and work has been started in painting.

The case of Cole against Giddes was tried yesterday afternoon in Justice Warden's court.

A trolley car passing through town yesterday lost a wheel from the trolley pole.

Miss Louise Doolittle will sail on Saturday for a pleasure trip to Europe.

Garretson & Gray will furnish stone for macadamizing some of the county roads.

The Dunellen Juniors will play the Park A. C., at Plainfield, this afternoon.

Mrs. Godlip Staats, of New Brunswick, is visiting Mrs. Barney Siriski.

Prayer meeting will be held in the local churches this evening at 7:30.

Mrs. R. J. Swackhamer entertained out of town friends yesterday.

The band will hold its regular weekly practice this evening.

From the noise the younger boys are practicing for the Fourth.

Some good tennis was played on the Park court yesterday.

W. H. Terry is still recovering from his recent illness.

NEW MARKET.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Hannah Randolph were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of Robert Pierce where she had lived and at 3 o'clock from the First Baptist church. Rev. Frank Fletcher was the officiating clergyman and interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

A duck lawn party will be held on the evening of July 1 on the lawn of Miss Mae Brower's residence. Dancing will be a feature of the affair.

The ball team will play a game on the home grounds Saturday.

Charles Holland, of Bound Brook, spent yesterday in town.

Abram Nelsons' house is being wired for electric lights.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

There is some talk of organizing a second ball team in town to be known as the Scotch Plains second team. There is plenty of good material for a second team, but it is hardly likely that the village could support two teams unless the juniors should arrange for games away from home.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held a large and interesting semi-monthly meeting in its rooms last night. One more candidate was admitted to membership, Samuel Hollingsworth being initiated into the mysteries of the order.

The Thursday evening teachers' meeting of the Baptist Sunday-school will be held this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Dunn, of Westfield avenue.

The semi-annual nominations of council officers will be held by Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., at its meeting in the library rooms tomorrow night.

Readers of The Daily Press leaving town for their summer vacation can have The Press mailed to them during their absence for 10 cents per week.

The pipe organ in the auditorium room of the Baptist church is being repaired and will soon be doing duty again.

Mrs. Douglass and Mrs. George Squires, both of Rahway, were the guests of friends in town Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. S. Terry, of Plainfield, has been visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. James Buckley.

The borough firemen met in the company rooms last night. Routine business only was transacted.

A business and social meeting of the Epworth League will be held in the Methodist church tonight.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held in the school parlor last night.

There will be dancing at Ivany's pavilion tonight, music by Naylor's orchestra.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A party of young people will make a trip to Mount Pleasant, tonight, on their wheels. They will attend the strawberry and ice cream festival to be held at the Mount Pleasant chapel of that place.

Miss Nellie B. Manning and Miss E. May Higgins are preparing to spend a short vacation in the Catskill Mountains. They will make the trip about the middle of July.

There will be an evening social at the home of Miss Nellie M. Gage, this evening, at 8 o'clock.

The boys are enjoying the swimming season here. A number went to the iron bridge, today.

Prayer meeting was held in the Baptist church last night.

GRADING EQUIPMENT.

Wm. Hand Will Dispose of It at Auction Saturday Afternoon.

There will be an auction sale at 136 East Second street, Saturday afternoon, June 28, at 2 o'clock, when Hezekiah Hand, auctioneer, will sell for Wm. Hand, all of the latter's carts, tools, etc., used for grading. The list includes carts, lumber wagon, harness, plows, harrow, shovels, etc., also two stages. All goods will be sold to the highest bidder. Mr. Hand has decided to dispose of these goods, owing to the recent death of his son, and he will devote his time entirely to carting.

Low Fares to Colorado and the Pacific Coast.

On account of various conventions to be held during the summer in Colorado and on the Pacific coast, the Lehigh Valley Railroad announces a number of dates on which round trip tickets will be sold at one-way fare. These tickets will bear especially liberal limits, and will afford some interesting and delightful tours. Information as to dates, etc., may be obtained of any agent of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, or by addressing Charles S. Lee, general passenger agent, 26 Cortlandt street, New York. c

Gave a Musicale.

In honor of several New York relatives, John Honan, of West Fourth street, gave a musicale at his home, last evening. Twenty young people were present and enjoyed the hours in various ways. The host favored the gathering with a number of piccolo solos that were excellently rendered. Refreshments were served at the close.

Franklin's Election.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will elect officers Thursday evening.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Flowers and plants of many varies, and floral design work of the highest artistic quality at Stanley's, the North avenue florist.

Wm. W. Wilson, the West Third street grocer, has in his meat department a large stock of lamb, mutton and heavy prime beef.

Stop and see Callahan & Son's line of specialties this week. The best they have ever offered and the prices simply court buying. Orders telephoned will receive careful attention.

The Sorosis shoe is styled "America's best shoe." If quality and price are considered they are certainly good value. John H. Doane carries a complete stock in all sizes and he can fit any foot.

For this week, Gavett, the West Front street crockery man, is offering a 112 piece dinner set at a ridiculously low price. It is decorated artistically and is in every way high grade. See his line of stone water coolers.

Warnock's ice cream is rapidly taking the lead over all other local makes. It is delivered daily at the best homes in the city or borough or is served in the cool parlor on West Front street. It is made in all the popular flavors.

A special sale of hosiery opened at Hill & Shupp's store yesterday and there is a very complete assortment to select from both in hosiery for men, women and children. All sizes are being offered at special prices. The quality of the goods is all right and a purchaser is sure to receive full value. A glance at the advertisement will convince one of this.

SOMERVILLE WEDDING.

Miss Mabel S. Leigh Became Wife Guy H. Noble, of Morristown, Last Evening.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 25—A social event of note last night in the First Reformed church was the wedding of Miss Mabel Smith Leigh, daughter of Mrs. Wm. Leigh, of this place, and Guy Hinchman Noble, of Morristown. Rev. Wm. Stockton Cranmer performed the ceremony, in the presence of a host of friends from far and near.

Miss Elizabeth Anderson, of this place, was maid of honor and the bridemaids were Miss Katherine M. Moran, of Ossining, N. Y., and Miss Bessy P. Shaw, of Brooklyn. The best man was Newton S. Noble, of Morristown.

The bride wore white satin crepe de chine and carried roses. The bridemaids and maid of honor were dressed in white organdie and carried white sweet peas and asparagus ferns. Hart's orchestra, of New Brunswick, played the Lohengrin wedding march and subdued music during the ceremony.

A reception followed at the home of the bride on West Cliff street. The couple then left for a tour.

OLD PATRIARCH GONE.

One of the Alanthus Trees Cut Down on a Netherwood Farm.

A species of tree that was at one time very prolific in this section of New Jersey many years ago, but now seen only, and then rarely, was cut down on a Netherwood farm by Thomas Hand, yesterday. It was an alanthus tree and by some was considered to be 364 years old. It was a hardy specimen and had been for a long time a familiar landmark.

The alanthus trees were at one time as numerous in this vicinity as maples and elms now are, but the varying climatic conditions killed them gradually until now only a few old patriarchs remain.

Work on Camp Progressing.

The work on the addition to the baby camp on the mountain is progressing rapidly, and the new portion of that deserving institution will be ready for occupation Sunday. The work will cost in the vicinity of $275. Anyone wishing to contribute to the expense may leave the donation at the office of The Daily Press.

New Primary Rules.

The city Republican executive committee will meet this evening to consider the new rules for adoption. William Newcorn, the secretary, has completed the drafting of the rules for presentation.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement is announced of John S. Abrams, of East Fifth street, to Miss Jeanette Scrymser Raymond, of Scotch Plains. The wedding will take place next month.

No Substitute Wanted.

No! I did not ask for a bottle any cheaper, or twice as large, or one made by yourselves. I did ask for and will not have any substitute for Perry Davis' Painkiller; I have used it, my father used it, and I would not be surprised if my grandparents did so too; there is no imitation that can equal it. That I am sure of—for stomach ache.

THOSE WHO COME AND GO

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFIELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

Miss Lillian E. Epner, of East Front street, has recovered from a recent illness.

Mrs. Henry M. Humphreys, of Hillside avenue, is visiting relatives at Plainfield, Vt.

Robert A. Suffern, of Sycamore avenue, is registered at the Victoria Hotel, Asbury Park.

Harry Molleson, of East Third street' is out after a month's detention at home by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansen, of Philadelphia, have been the guests of friends in the borough for a few days past.

H. Pierce, of the Lehigh Valley Railway, is spending a few days' vacation with his parents on Lincoln place.

The Misses Tina and Della Voehl, of the borough, are spending a few weeks at Monticello, Sullivan county, N. Y.

Miss Sadie M. Travers, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a visit to Mrs. James A. Stafford, of West Front street.

The Misses Day, of Mercer avenue, have left town, planning to spend the summer at Lake Champlain and in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. J. S. Harberger, who has been spending the past season in New York, has returned to Plainfield for the summer months.

Mrs. C. C. Lister and Miss Frances Lister, of Willow avenue, have gone to Asbury Park, where they will remain for the summer.

Frank L. Cobb, formerly with A. M. Griffen & Co., of this city, now the Chicago representative of Sargent & Co., New York, is visiting friends in Plainfield.

FOURTH NOT HERE.

Police Will Gather in All Those Who Forget That Fact.

The usual ante-Fourth celebrations are being held by the small boys and as a result numerous runaways and the narrow escapes of pedestrians from flying bombs, exploding crackers and torpedoes are being reported to the police. Few boys realize there is a heavy penalty for this offense and Chief Kiely is resolved to make several arrests, at least, to make the remainder aware of the existence of an ordinance covering it. The patrolmen have been instructed to take into custody all persons they find setting off explosives and fines will follow.

CHANGING POWER.

Kerosene Engine, Which Has Caused Trouble, is Being Removed.

In order to prevent further danger from a serious conflagration, the management of the Herzig & Kapp skirt factory has decided to change its motive power from kerosene to gasoline engines. A heavy soot is thrown off by the former and several times the roof of the rink building has caught fire through an accumulation becoming ignited by gases.

The entire force of employes was laid off yesterday and workmen were started making the alterations. It will probably require several days to complete them and the factory will not resume operations until Monday.

PLAY FOR THE HOOLEY CUP

MISS MAY S. SHREVE STILL IN THE LEAD FOR THAT TROPHY.

Weekly Competition at Course of the Park Golf Club Yesterday Afternoon.

Ideal weather brought out a good field in the weekly competition for the Hooley cup on the course of the Park Golf Club, yesterday afternoon. The course was in the best of condition, but no remarkable scores were made.

Miss May S. Shreve now leads for the Hooley cup with Miss Laura Long, who won first honors yesterday, a close second. The standing for the cup is now as follows:

	Points.
Miss May S. Shreve	9
Miss Laura Long	7
Miss Harriet Shreve	4½
Mrs. C. L. Goodrich	4
Miss Elizabeth Curtis	3
Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux	2
Miss Edna L. French	½

The day's scores were as follows:

	G	H	N
Miss]Laura Long	75	23	52
Mrs. C. L. Goodrich	94	37	57
Miss]May S. Shreve	76	18	58
Miss Elizabeth Curtis	102	39	63
Miss M. VanDeveventer	103	40	63

Miss Edna French	120	40	80

L. T. L. PICNIC.

Thirty-Five Members and Friends Enjoyed the Annual Picnic at Dewey Park Yesterday.

Thirty-five members and friends of the Loyal Temperance Legion, accompanied by several mothers, enjoyed the annual picnic at Dewey Park, yesterday afternoon. The legion was in charge of the superintendent, Miss May E. Howlett, and she was assisted by several women who are associated with her in the work. The party made the trip to Dewey Park and back by trolley.

At the park the young folks, as well as the older ones, had a jolly good time playing games and in other ways. During the afternoon a bountiful repast was served. A feature of the outing was the taking of a picture of the party in a group. This picnic marks the closing of the season for the legion. One more meeting will be held before the legion will adjourn for the summer.

Improving Home.

John F. McIntyre has just completed making a number of excellent improvements about his property on West Fourth street, occupied by John Goff. The house has been entirely overhauled, a new porch added and a number of large trees which obscured the lawn have been removed.

Social by Young Women.

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the First M. E. church will hold a social in Vincent chapel Friday evening. A feature will be the playing of numerous games and incidentally there will be cakes for sale for those who wish to buy. There will be no admission.

Bankruptcy Cases.

Among the petitions and orders received in the United States District Court Monday to show cause why bankrupts should not be discharged, returnable July 21, was one in the case of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Noe, of Plainfield.

Ragtime Social.

A ragtime social under the auspices of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, will be held at the home of Mrs. William Thompson, East Fifth street, near Lee place, tomorrow evening.

Picture of Mrs. Rogers.

An excellent picture of Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers appeared in the illustrated magazine accompanying the Mail and Express last Saturday, together with several other well-known golfers.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL]

Pursuant to the provisions of the statute, the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., for the years 1902-1903, met at the Court House, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on Wednesday, May 14th, 1902, at 11 o'clock a. m.

The new members of the board were sworn in by Judge B. A. Vail, of the Court of Common Pleas.

The board was called to order by S. Rusling Ryno, clerk of the last board.

The roll was called by cities and townships as follows, viz:

Clark Township—Freeholder Benjamin King.

Cranford Township—Freeholder E. K. Adams.

Elizabeth City—Freeholders Frederick Miller, Jacob Brucklacher, Joseph McCandless, August Gerstung.

Fanwood Township — Freeholder John Robison.

Linden Township — Freeholder Henry Krouse.

New Providence Township—Freeholder John Wahl.

Plainfield City—Freeholders Frank Hubbard, Wm. A. Westphal.

Springfield Township — Freeholder N. W. Bonnel.

Summit City—Freeholders Wm. H. Swain, John N. Cady.

Union Township—Freeholder Noah Woodruff.

Westfield Township—Freeholder W. W. Connolly.

Roll call showed all members present except Freeholder Frederick Miller—1.

The clerk stated that the first business would be the election of director, and called for nominations.

Freeholder Cady nominated J. Frank Hubbard for director. There were no other nominations, and Freeholder Brucklacher moved that the clerk cast the ballot, which was so ordered.

The clerk requested Freeholders Swain and King to act as tellers.

The clerk then cast the ballot, and J. Frank Hubbard was declared elected as director of this board for the ensuing year.

Director Hubbard was then escorted to the chair by the tellers, and briefly returned his thanks for his re-election as director, and for the honor which had again been conferred upon him.

By Freeholder King:

Resolved, That the salary of the clerk be fixed at $600 per annum.

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

Freeholder Cady nominated S. Rusling Ryno for clerk. There were no other nominations, and Freeholder Brucklacher moved that the director cast the ballot for S. Rusling Ryno for clerk, which was so ordered.

The director re-appointed Freeholders Swain and King to act as tellers.

The director then cast the ballot for S. Rusling Ryno for clerk, and declared him elected as clerk for the legal term.

The clerk was at once sworn in by the director.

The clerk briefly returned his thanks to the board for the honor again conferred upon him.

By Freeholder Farrell:

Resolved, That the salary of the county attorney be fixed at the sum of $300 per annum.

Freeholder Robison moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

Freeholder Cady nominated W. R. Codington for county attorney. There were no other nominations, and Freeholder Swain moved that the clerk cast the ballot, which was so ordered.

The clerk cast the ballot for W. R. Codington for county attorney, and the director declared him elected for the legal term.

Mr. Codington briefly returned his thanks to the board for the honor again conferred upon him and referred to the many pleasant associations he formed in the past while acting as county attorney.

By Freeholder Adams:

Resolved, That the salary of the county physician be fixed at the sum of $700 per annum.

Freeholder Krouse moved the adoption of the resoluiton, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

Freeholder Cady nominated F. W. Westcott, M. D., for county physician. There were no other nominations, and Freeholder Robison moved that the clerk cast the ballot, which was so ordered.

The clerk cast the ballot for F. W. Westcott, M. D., for county physician, and the director declared him elected for the legal term.

Dr. Wescott returned his thanks for the honor again conferred upon him.

By Freeholder King:

Resolved, That the proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders be published in the following papers, at the compensation of one hundred dollars each per annum, viz: Elizabeth Daily Journal, Daily Leader, Freie Presse, The Evening Times, Courier-News, Daily Press, Summit Record, Westfield Leader, Union Co. Standard, Cranford Citizen, Passaic Valley News, New Jersey Advocate and Union Democrat.

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was adopted receiving 16 ayes, 1 nay (Westphal); absent, Miller, 1.

By Freeholder Tillman:

Resolved, That the county collector be authorized to have his annual report printed in pamphlet form, at a cost not to exceed one hundred and twenty-five dollars ($125.) Freeholder Krouse moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Wahl:

Resolved, That the rules governing the last board be approved as the rules of this board.

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Resolved, That the director be and is hereby constituted a member of all committees.

On motion of Freeholder Robison the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Farrell:

Resolved, That all special committees heretofore appointed be continued to act until the object for which such committees were appointed is accomplished, the director to fill any vacancies existing in such committees.

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Cady:

Resolved, That the director and county collector be and are hereby authorized to borrow in anticipation of taxes a sum not to exceed one hundred thousand dollars.

Freeholder Woodruff moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was adopted on roll call, receiving 16 ayes, the director being excused from voting.

Absent, Freeholder Miller—1.

By Freeholder Adams:

Resolved, That the regular meeting of this board be held on the first Thursday in each and every month, except when said Thursday falls on a legal holiday, and then the regular monthly meeting shall be held at such time as the board may direct.

On motion of Freeholder Swain the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Tillman:

Resolved, That when this board adjourns it stands adjourned to meet again on Thursday, May 29th, 1902, at 2:30 p. m.

On motion of Freeholder Woodruff the resolution was adopted without dissent.

The director announced the appointment of the following committee on appropriations, viz:

Freeholders Farrell, Westphal, Krouse, Brucklacher and Woodruff.

Adjourned meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, State of New Jersey, held on Thursday, May 29, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll-call showed the following members present, viz:

Director Hubbard, and Freeholders Adams, Brucklacher, Cady, Connolly, Farrell, Gerstung, Krouse, King, McCandless, Swain, Tillman, Wahl, Westphal and Woodruff—15. Absent—Freeholders Bonnel, Miller and Robison—3.

Owing to the absence of the clerk, Mr. E. M. Wood was designated and appointed to act as clerk pro tem.

Mayor Ryan and Comptroller Carlton of Elizabeth, being present, were granted permission to address the board. They said in part that any considerable increase in appropriations made by this board for the coming year would be detrimental to the interests of said city. The tax rate of said city was now very high, and they strongly urged that this board take no action which would tend to increase the same. If new bridges were necessary they hoped that this board would provide for the same by the issue of bonds. The director announced the appointment of the following standing committees for the ensuing year, viz.:

Collector's Bond—Connolly, Miller, McCandless.

Publications—Adams, Robison, Gerstung.

Discharge of Prisoners—Wahl, Robison, Connolly.

Settle With Collector — Krouse, King, Brucklacher.

Audit Accounts—King, Cady, Woodruff.

Lunacy—Miller, Adams, Swain.

Public Grounds and Buildings—Farrell, Cady, Woodruff.

Jail Inspection — Westphal, Wahl, McCandless.

Stationery, King, Wahl, McCandless.

Settle With Sheriff—Robison, Tillman, Swain.

Miscellaneous Accounts and Agreements—Tillman, Connolly, Gerstung.

Legal Questions—Cady, Tillman, Bonnel.

Appropriations—Farrell, Westphal, Krouse, Brucklacher, Woodruff.

County Roads — King, Adams, Krouse, Brucklacher, Swain.

Elizabeth Drawbridges — Miller, Westphal, Gerstung.

Rahway Drawbridges—Farrell, Tillman, Bonnel.

The board then, on motion, took a recess for fifteen minutes.

On reassembling, after recess, roll-call showed all members present except Freeholders Bonnell and Miller.—2.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By the Committee on Appropriations:

Resolved by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, That the sum of two hundred and eighteen thousand dollars be raised by tax for the use of said county for the year 1902-1903, to be appropriated, together with twelve thousand dollars of the uncollected taxes and assets of the county, for the following purposes, viz.:

To be assessed and collected in the manner and at the times prescribed by the laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in the cities of Elizabeth, Plainfield, Rahway and Summit, in said county, respectively; and that the board hereby direct the assessors of the respective townships and wards in said county to assess the said sum of $218,000 on the inhabitants and their estates, agreeable to the law for the time being for the raising of money by taxation for the use of the county of Union, State of New Jersey; and that the said assessors meet at the Court House in the city of Elizabeth on the third Monday of July next, at 10 o'clock a. m., to adjust and ascertain the proportion of said sum to be levied in each township and ward in said county; and that the clerk of the board send a copy of this resolution to each of said assessors.

(Signed) John Farrell,
W. A. Westphal,
Henry Krouse,
Jacob Brucklacher,
Noah Woodruff,
Commitee.

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution as the report of the committee, and on roll-call it was unanimously adopted.

NEW BUSINESS

By Freeholder Woodruff:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine the old bridge near Pine Tree on the road leading from New Orange to Springfield, and report the necessity and cost at the next meeting.

On motion the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the director appointed as said committee, Freeholders Woodruff, King and Robison.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine the bridge in Fourth avenue in Aldine near the B. & O. Railroad, and report at the next meeting of the board.

On motion the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the director appointed as said committee, Freeholders Krouse, Connolly and Woodruff.

Freeholder Farrell moved to adjourn which was carried and the director declared the board adjourned until Thursday, June 5, 1902, at 2:30 p. m.

KENTUCKY TALES.

Two Amusing Stories from That State in Which Lawyers Figure.

An old lawyer here tells of two amusing things which, he alleges, occurred in Kentucky many years ago, says the Louisville Times. On one occasion a wealthy man died, leaving a fortune, and the heirs became so dissatisfied with his will that they went to court to break it. One witness was called who furnished fun for the crowd. In giving his testimony he stated that the deceased did not wish to make a will because of a dream he had had. He was intensely superstitious, and this vision rather dampened his enthusiasm with regard to making a will. "And pray," asked one of the lawyers, "what was this remarkable dream your friend had?"

"Well, sir," replied the witness, "he dreamed that he made a will, and just as he signed it he saw a lawyer coming in the room with a big bag to take all his money away."

At another important trial which kept things lively a witness was a vain, conceited woman, who fancied she could teach the lawyer a thing or two. While one of them was cross-examining her she became very saucy, grinned at her husband, who sat in sight, and remarked tartly: "Mr. Blank, you needn't worry me with them questions; you jest can't cotch me."

"Madam," said the lawyer, "Heaven knows I don't want to cotch you, and your husband looks like he was sorry he ever did."

She was swept up and carefully removed from the stand.

It Was Old Enough.

"Mum," said the Emerald servant, "thos is a poor mon at th' door askin' for cast-off clothes."

"Well, Nora," responded the lady, "give him the oldest coat in the house."

Later Nora returned.

"Well, did you find a coat?"

"Oi did, mum."

"What kind of a coat was it?"

"It wor th' coat av ar-rums off th' wall. Oi hur-rud yez say thot wor vire old."—Chicago Daily News.

UP TO DATE HATS.

Fashionable Tricorne Shapes—Hats Made of Foliage.

Hats are crazier in outline this season than ever before. The tricorne undoubtedly leads for everyday wear; next follow the walking shapes turned up at both sides and trimmed with ruches of ribbon or flowers. All white ribbon trimmings on black hats are considered extremely smart.

Chiffon hats are not so stylish as last season. Fine straw shapes are taking their place. The wide brims of these straw hats are inset with lace figures, from underneath which the straw is cut out so as to give a transparent effect.

Hats made of rose or violet leaves are trimmed with huge bows of pale colored ribbon. The favorite ribbons for trimming hats are moire and soft louisine.

Transparent striped straws are in great demand for picture hats. They are trimmed with rosettes of tulle and narrow velvet ribbons. Many trimmings are appliqued flat on the hat.

The illustration shows a hat of tuscan straw lined with tucked pale blue chiffon. Under the brim are a single pale pink rose and two narrow velvet straps held down with jeweled buttons. The upper part of the hat is very simply trimmed with a softly draped scarf of black and white net.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A SEASON OF COLOR.

But the All Black Gown Still Holds Its Own.

Although this will be a season of color, yet the smart black dress is indispensable to every woman's wardrobe. It is a sort of general utility gown and fills up many gaps. It can be made more or less smart or bright according to the accessories and finishing touches. Crepe de chine is an ideal fabric for a dressy gown, as it tucks, plaits or gathers equally well and can be worn over silk, satin or moire silk.

Taffeta will be used for complete gowns, and a taffeta skirt is useful with a black blouse and a silk or cloth coat. It forms either a day or evening toilet if judiciously selected. Taffeta is very smart when inlet with insertions left transparent. It can then be worn over a white or colored slip or again over black, with the accessories following the same line of color as the slip or arranged to contrast. Several quite distinct effects may be produced in this way.

A pretty pale blue batiste gown is shown in the illustration. The bolero and upper part of the skirt as well as the upper part of the sleeves are enriched with buttonhole embroidery. The ruffles also carry out this style of ornamentation. The vest of the gown is of the plain material trimmed with tiny tucks and white insertion.

The hat is of black straw and chiffon.

CHAPTER III.

Two days after the Adelantado cleared for the banana coast; or, to be more accurate, in the forenoon of the second day, the unimpetuous routine of the business quarter of New Orleans was rudely disturbed by the shock of a genuine sensation.

At ten o'clock, Mr. Galbraith, president of the Bayou state bank, entered his private office in the rear of the main banking apartment, opened his desk, and addressed himself to the business of the day. Punctually at ten-five the stenographer, whose desk was in the anteroom, brought in the mail; five minutes later the cashier entered for his morning conference with his superior; and at half-past the hour the president was left alone to read his correspondence.

Mr. Galbraith was a serious-minded man whose hobby was method; and it was his custom to give himself a quiet half-hour of inviolable seclusion each morning in which to read and consider his letters. During this interval the stenographer, acting as usher, was instructed to deny his chief to callers of whatsoever degree. Wherefore, when the door of the private office opened at twenty minutes of eleven to admit a stranger, the president was justly annoyed.

"Well, sir?" he said, with an accent irritant, taking the intruder's measure in a swift glance shot beneath his bushy white eyebrows.

The visitor was a young man not over thirty, of prepossessing appearance, with a figure rather slight for his stature; fair, with blue eyes, and a curling brown beard and mustache, the former trimmed to a point. So much the president was able to remark at a glance, and to remember afterwards.

"Well, sir!" he repeated, when the stranger stopped to carefully close the door, "if you have business with me, I shall have to ask you to excuse me for a few minutes. Be good enough to take a seat in the ante-room till I ring. McFarland should have told you."

The young man drew up a chair and sat down, ignoring the request as if he had not heard it. Now Mr. Andrew Galbraith's temper was ordinarily the temper of an elderly gentleman with a long upper lip, worn clean shaven, but such a deliberate infraction of his rules was not to be borne patiently, and he got up to ring for the janitor. But when his hand sought the bell-push, he found himself looking into the muzzle of a revolver in the hands of the intruder, and so was fain to fall back into his chair, gasping:

"Wha—what do you mean, sir! Who are you and what do you want?" he stammered.

The reply was most succinct and to the point.

"I am a poor man, and I want money. If you call for help, I shall shoot you."

"You would murder me?" The president's hands were clutching the arms of the chair, and he was fighting desperately for courage and presence of mind in his extremity.

"Not willingly, I assure you; but most certainly, if you attempt to give the alarm. But there is no occasion for needless anxiety. It is merely a question of money, and if you are amenable to reason your life is not in danger."

"If I'm—but I'm not amenable to your reasons, sir!" exclaimed the president, recovering somewhat from the first shock of terrified bewilderment. "I refuse to listen to them. I'll not have anything to do with you. Go away."

The young man smiled in a way to show his teeth.

"Keep your temper, Mr. Galbraith," he said, coolly. "I say you shall listen first and obey afterward. Otherwise you die. Which is it to be? Choose quickly—time is precious."

The president yielded the first point, but ungraciously, as one under strict compulsion.

"Well, well, then; out with it. What have you to say for yourself?"

"This. You are rich; you represent the existing order of things. I am poor, and I stand for my necessity, which is above any man-made law or custom. You have more money than you know what to do with; I have not enough to buy the next meal, which is already twenty-four hours overdue. I came here this morning with my life in my hand to invite you to share with me a portion of that which is yours only by the right of possession. If you do it, well and good; if not, you die. Do I make myself sufficiently clear?"

The president glanced furtively at the clock. It was nearly eleven, and McFarland would surely come in on the stroke of the hour. If he could only gain a little time. He searched in his pockets and drew forth a handful of coin.

"You say you are hungry; well, I'm not that well off that I canna remember the time when I knew what it was to be on short commons mysel'," he said; and the relapse into the mother idiom was a measure of his perturbation. "Take this now, and be off with you."

The younger man glanced at the clock in his turn and shook his head.

"You are merely trying to gain time, and it won't do. My stake in this game is more than a handful of silver; and I don't do you the injustice to suppose that you hold your life so cheaply—you who have so much silver and gold and so few years to live."

The president put the little heap of coins on the desk, but he did not abandon the struggle for delay.

"What's your price, then?" he demanded, as one who is willing to compromise.

"One hundred thousand dollars—in money."

"But, man! you're clean daft! Do ye think I have—"

"I am not here to argue the possibilities,"—the interruption was sharp and incisive. "Take your pen and write out a check payable to your own order for one hundred thousand dollars, and do it now! If that door opens before we have concluded, you are a dead man!"

Then Andrew Galbraith saw that his end was nigh, and gathered himself for a final effort at time-killing. It was absurd; he had no such balance to his credit; such a check would not be honored; it would ruin him irretrievably. In the midst of his vehement protest the stranger stepped back a pace and raised the weapon.

"I tell you you are trifling with your life! Do it while there is yet time!"

The sound of subdued voices came from the anteroom, and the beleaguered old man stole a glance at the face of his persecutor. There was no mercy in the fierce blue eyes glaring down upon him, but rather madness and fell murder. The summons came once again.

"Do it quickly, I say, before we are interrupted. Do you hear?"

Truly, the president both heard and understood, but he hesitated yet one other second.

"You will not? Then may God have mercy—"

The hammer of the leveled pistol clicked twice. Andrew Galbraith shut his eyes and made a blind grasp for pen and check-book. His hands were shaking as with a palsy, but the fear of death steadied them suddenly when he came to write.

"Indorse it!" was the next command. The voices had ceased in the anteroom, and the silence was broken only by the labored strokes of the president's pen and the tap-tap of the typewriter in the anteroom.

"Now come with me to your paying teller and get me the money. Make what explanation you see fit; but remember that if he hesitates you die."

They left the private office together, side by side; the young man with his right hand under his coat. The president breathed a little freer when they reached the lobby of the main apartment and was not without hope that chance might still intervene to save him.

It did not. There were but few customers in the bank at that hour, and the president tried in vain to catch a responsive eye.

At the paying teller's window there was only one person instead of the group which Andrew Galbraith had hoped to find there; a young woman who was getting a draft cashed. She saw them and would have stood aside, but the robber forbade it with a gesture, and they waited for a few trying moments until she was served.

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Walnut Avenue, in the Township of Cranford, from South Avenue to the Lehigh Valley Railroad, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, nineteen hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above-named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as can be estimated in advance, is as follows:

3,800 cubic yards of Excavation.
6,756 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
1,404 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
2 Bridges and 2 Culverts to be lowered.
9 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

Plans and Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of the Township Engineer, 25 Dix Building, Elizabeth, N. J.

Feared Disgrace in Next World.

Recently a Chinese boy was brought into the Peking hospital terribly injured by a heavy log falling upon him. The doctors, to save his life, decided to cut off his leg. The mother came, apparently to help to nurse the lad. The patient, however, almost immediately afterward died, and expert examination showed that his mother had given him arsenic. Her reason, it is supposed, was to prevent her son from the disgrace of reaching the next world in a maimed condition. This is a very strong point with the Chinese, who always pickle an amputated member to have it buried with them when they eventually die. In this instance, the family being poor and a whole leg being difficult to pickle, the simpler course was taken of poisoning the boy, so that he and his leg might go together.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Green Tea and Black Tea.

The difference in color between green and black tea has been ascribed to various causes. Recently Mr. Aso, of the agricultural college at Tokyo, has investigated the subject, and he offers, in substance, the following explanation: In making green tea the leaves are steamed as soon as gathered; in the case of black tea the leaves are allowed to ferment before drying. The result is that the finished black tea contains much less tannin than the green contains. The original tea-leaf possesses an oxidizing enzymne which is destroyed in the green tea by steaming. In black tea, during fermentation, the enzyme oxidizes the tannin and gives rise to a brownish-colored product.—Youth's Companion.

In Memoriam.

"This is the first time I ever saw black chips in a game of poker."

"Well," said Broncho Bob, "there was two of the best fellers you ever saw got the drop on each other sorter simultaneous the other day. They both arrived over a year ago an' they got into a dispute about which was the oldest inhabitant of Crimson Gulch, an' the fust thing us innocent bystanders knew, we had to send east fur bullet proof shirts. But finally they met, face to face."

"But the black poker chips?"

"The black poker chips! Oh, yes. They both stood mighty high in this community, an' us fellers thought it was only proper to do somethin' in the mournin' line."—Washington Star.

Then He Ran.

The other day, just as a train was about to go out of Broad street station, a boy ran up to a ticket inspector, and whispered:

"Sir, there's two men traveling in this train, and neither one of them has got any tickets!"

Then, seeing his informer standing near the entrance to the station, he shouted:

"Where are the two men without tickets?"

"On the engine!" shouted the boy.—N. Y. Herald.

An Evilly-Disposed Roof.

The Tartar general of Canton has been troubled by an evil influence in his yamen which in one month caused the death of his wife and daughter, as well as of a former Tartar general. A fung shui professor was finally called in. He looked over the city, and decided the evil influence was the roof of the library of the government school for foreign languages. The roof, which was a peaked one, was at once removed and is now being replaced by a flat one.—Hong-Kong Press.

An Artificial Island.

A scheme is on foot to create an island in the center of the Lake of Neuchatel, in Switzerland. In the middle of the lake there is a submerged mountain six or seven feet below the water, and it is on this mountain that the island will be constructed. A large hotel will be erected on the island. The capital, which is already subscribed, will come from England and America.—N. Y. Sun.

Not Afraid of Automobiles.

"Is he afraid of automobiles?" the elderly lady asked the liverman who had the only horse that could be found in town, for it was the year 1916.

"Not a bit!" responded the liveryman, reassuringly. "The only thing that might make him shy a little would be to come suddenly upon some vehicle being drawn by a horse, but that isn't at all likely."—Chicago Tribune.

Customs Duties on Teas.

The customs duties on the $11,000,000 of tea imported into this country amount to $9,000,000. All adulterated and impure teas are excluded from coming into this country by the tea inspection law, which was passed in 1897. If tea is adulterated the adulterations are added in this country.—Washington Star.

The Old Style.

Mr. Konseet—I expect to be famous some day because I am industrious.

Mr. Tweedles—So do I, but I don't base my claim on being industrious.

"On what, then, pray?"

"I was born in a log house."—Ohio State Journal.

Painful Complaint.

Hicks—What makes Bjenkins look so blue?

Wicks—Oh, he heard that a woman said about him yesterday: "What a pretty man he is!"—Somerville Journal.

Letting Him Down Easy.

She—Now, dear, break the news of our engagement gently to papa.

He—How shall I start in?

"Oh! You might begin by saying that I have just died!"—Puck.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The postponed St. Mary-M. Y. C. A. game will in all probability be held a week for Saturday. Neither team has any other game scheduled for that date and both managers are willing the contest should take place.

Manager Muir is putting his men through a severe course of training for Saturday's game with the St. Mary's. The entire nine is out every evening and a close watch is kept for weak points. He is confident his team is in shape to pull away from last place within a very short time.

At a meeting of the League executive committee held last evening, the umpires for Saturday's games were apportioned as follows: Hope-Y. M. C. A., on Hope grounds, Brown and Young; St. Mary's-Safe Works, on St. Mary grounds, Townley and Bodine. The matter of postponed games was left over until the meeting of next week.

The Belmont Field Club yesterday defeated the Fark Athletic Club by a score of 10 to 4 on the North Plainfield High School grounds. The battery for the Belmonts was Walsh and Ulrich; for the Parks, G. Ovens, W. Nischwitz and H. Conover took turns in the box, with Webster behind the bat. A home run was made by L. Bock of the Belmonts.

The Decatur A. C's., of New York, who are scheduled to play the Hope Y. M. A. team two games on the Fourth of July, are doing "things" to the Metropolitan amateur teams. They have suffered but one defeat this season and that by an acknowledged semi-professional nine. The Hopes are not in the least daunted, however, and expect to send the Gothamites back home Independence Day night minus their scalps.

Local baseball cranks are heartily in favor of selecting the best of the League players to go up against the arrogant Westfield team. With a nine formed by Montross and Allen, for battery, Egan on first, Lederer no second, Keen at third, Martin, short, Roseberry, Taylor and Gordon in the field, the Plainfield boys would give the semi-professionals down the line a "right smart" rub. The various League officials favor the idea and the attempt may be made before the season closes.

GOLF.

Frank O. Reinhart intended to play on the Baltusrol Golf Club team against Morris County last Satnrday, but the inclement weather prevented.

Among those who have been invited to take part in the invitation golf tournament on the course of the Morris County Golf Club is Frank O. Reinhart, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. The tournament will commence tomorrow.

Somerset's Election.

At the meeting of Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A., last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Councillor, P. H. Latourette; vice councillor, Albert Atkins; recording secretary, Walter Walker; financial secretayr, George Allan, treasurer, Jesse Scull; conductor, Charles Huff; warden, Charles VanCamp; inside sentinel, J. Bulmer; outside sentinel, J. Gano.

Dunellen's Share.

At the annual meeting of the Middlesex county Board of Assessors held at New Brunswick, yesterday, the taxable valuation of Dunellen and Piscataway were apportioned as follows: Dunellen, $453,275; Piscataway, $1,514,401. The apportionment of taxes was placed as follows: Piscataway, State school, $2,678; county, $10,408: Dunellen, State school, $801; county, $3,115.

Birthday Party.

Fritz Bechtel, Jr., of Duer street, gave a birthday party in Saengerbund Hall last night to a number of his friends. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable social evening was spent.

—There will be a meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps Friday evening. A full attendance of members is desired.

LITTLE ONES IN COURT.

Three Small Boys Arraigned on the Charge of Stealing Shirts—Are Said to be Incorrigible.

Willie Peel, Oliver Peel and Willie Richter, three boys who the police say are incorrigable, were arraigned before Mayor Jenkins in the city court, this morning, charged by Patrolman McCarthy with the attempted theft of a number of shirts from in front of a West Front street store.

It was only one of a series of offenses which the police say the trio has committed during the past week and Chief Kiely has determined to do something with them. Oliver Peel appears to be the ringleader and only last week was arrested for stealing a bicycle.

At the chief's request the boys were paroled in the custody of their parents to appear before City Judge Runyon, tomorrow morning.

PROMINENT WOMAN.

Mrs. Boole Will Speak at W. C. T. U. Anniversary Exercises.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be celebrated tomorrow evening in Vincent chapel, when Mrs. Ella A. Boole, Ph. D., of Brooklyn, president of the W. C. T. U., of New York State, will make the address of the evening and there will be other interesting exercises in commemoration of the event. The Whitehall, N. Y., Chronicle, has the following to say concerning Mrs. Boole:

"Mrs. Ella A. Boole lectured in the Presbyterian church, last evening. The address was one of the most practical we have ever heard, and was delivered in a natural style without any attempt at elocutionary display or to work upon the emotions of those present. Her arguments were logical and convincing, nor were her remarks lacking in wit and true eloquence."

FREEDOM CASTLE'S OFFICERS.

Were Elected at Meeting of Knights of the Golden Eagle Last Night.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, met last evening and elected officers as follows: Noble chief, Raymond Carver; vice chief, Frank S. Bowman; sir herald, C. B. Vail; venerable hermit, Louis M. Hummer; [trustee, 18 [months, R. V. Kinney.

Following the business of the evening the quoit tournament was resumed and a very interesting time was had by the contestants. The new officers will be installed at the next meeting by District Grand Chief Powelson and staff from Somerville.

FUNERAL OF MRS. UTZINGER.

Took Place at St. Joseph's R. C. Church This Morning.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. August Utzinger, of Jackson avenue were held at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Joseph's R. C. church, and afterwards at the grave in St. Mary's cemetery, where the body was interred. Rev. W. H. Miller was the officiating clergyman. The pallbearers were Michael Harrington, John Hughes, Thomas McDonald and Albert Utzinger.

Shoemakers at Blows.

Two shoemakers, instead of sticking to their last, got into a lively scrap on Watchung avenue this morning. It seems that one knight of the awl sold out his business to a brother artist, on a condition made by the buyer that the seller of the business should not start a shop within a radius of ten blocks. When the buyer saw the seller entering his own house this morning loaded down with boots and shoes, he put up a stiff argument, so stiff that the pair came to blows, and one man now has a sore face.

August Pulpit Supply.

Announcement is made of the following pulpit supplies for the Crescent Avenue church during August: August 3—Dr. James McLeod, of Scranton, Pa.; August 10—Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago; August 17—Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago; August 24—Rev. T. C. Beattie, of Albuquerque, N. M.; August 31—Rev. Eliott W. Brown, of Glen Ridge, N. J.; September 2—Prof. J. S. Riggs, of Auburn Seminary.

Receipts of Lawn Festival.

The receipts frow the lawn festival held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Truell on Central avenue last week under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church were about $70. The expenses were nominal thus making it possible for the society to net a good profit.

Lecture by Dr. Snodgrass.

"Impressions of England," will be the subject of a popular lecture by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of Central avenue, in the Dunellen M. E. church on Thursday evening, July 17. The proceeds will be used toward clearing the church of its indebtedness.

Ready to Yield.

"I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for piles and found it a certain cure," says S. R. Meredith, Willow Grove, Del. Operations unnecessary to cure piles. They always yield to DeWitts Witch Hazel Salve. Cures skin diseases, all kinds of wounds. Accept no counterfeits. L. W. Randolph.

—A. D. Thompson has moved his real estate offices from the building at the corner of North and Watchung avenues to 207 North avenue, in the store formerly occupied by the water company.

Says They Fought in Bound Brook.

Mr. Brown, proprietor of a blacksmith shop on Richmond street, wants the people to understand that it was not in the rear of his place that the two men, arraigned in city court yesterday, were fighting. He understands that the fight in question took place at Bound Brook.

F. K. Fish, Jr., Will Appeal.

Frederick K. Fish, Jr., of Grant avenue, who was defendant in the suit for damages tried at the district court at Elizabeth, Monday, says that he did not call the young woman a thief but that he did suspect her of being one. He intends to appeal the case at once.

Life on the New York.

A letter was received recently from "Dolph" Giles, who is on the U. S. S. New York, stating that he is enjoying the best of health. Within a short time the New York will return to New York for general overhauling and repairs.

Trolleyed to Boynton.

A party of young folks chaperoned by the Misses Blimm, of Somerset street, enjoyed a trolley ride to Boynton Beach last evening. At the beach the young folks had a dance and returned home at an early hour.

Primary Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Plainfield Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union will be held July 1. The scene of festivities will probably be at Glenside Park, Scotch Plains.

Did Not Wash.

Warren Engine Company will go out for a "wash" tomorrow evening. The company did not go out last evening for that purpose, as was announced they would do.

Will Enter Medical School.

Elwood Davis, of Bound Brook, who recently was graduated from Rutgers College, will enter Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, next fall.

Day at Boynton.

Mrs. Frank E. Hammann, of La Grande avenue, chaperoned a party of young folks on a trolley trip to Boynton Beach yesterday.

Netted $50.

As a result of the festival held at Avon Park last week for the benefit of Marconnier chapel over $50 was the net profit.

WU'S ART CRITICISM.

Chinese Minister's Frank and Uncomplimentary Comment on a Noted Painter's Work.

Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, is noted for his quaint, plain speaking. One day he was exploring the Corcoran art gallery, evidently with the idea of impressing on his mind the fundamental difference between the oriental and the occidental brands of art, says a Washington report.

Hubert Vos, the noted Dutch painter, happened to have on exhibition in the Hemicycle a number of portraits of representative types of various races. Mr. Vos had strayed far afield in collecting his gems, and the display included the presentments of Thibetan lamas, Indian rajahs, Arabian chiefs, Japanese nobles and Chinese mandarins. Among the latter were the portraits of Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang.

The artist, with the diplomat in tow, paused before these canvases.

"Who is that?" asked Mr. Wu, pointing toward the picture of Ching.

"That is Prince Ching," replied Vos.

"It doesn't look like him," was his only comment, and the party passed on to Earl Li.

"Who's that?"

"That is Li Hung Chang."

"It doesn't look like him," said the minister again.

"But it's only three-quarters view, you know," said the artist, apologetically.

"It doesn't look three-quarters like him," said Wu.

ROSE TEA AT HILLSIDE CLUB

Successful Social Affair Given on Lawn and in Clubhouse Yesterday Afternoon.

A MUSICAL PROGRAMME.

Chief Feature Was the Production of the "Florodora Sextette" by Twelve Young Society People—Given on Lawn—Rain Caused Adjournment to Clubhouse.

Without doubt the social success of the season at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was the rose tea and musicale given yesterday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock. The clubhouse was made attractive through pretty decorations consisting of roses and other flowers. The weather for the afternoon was perfect for the affair, a delightful breeze adding comfort to the guests. There were nearly three hundred people present. Rain came in the evening but the guests found the clubhouse equally as pleasant.

The first part of the programme was devoted to the musicale, which opened with a piano solo by Mrs. A. H. Atterbury. She rendered a pleasing selection and received hearty applause. The next number consisted of two soprano solos by Mrs. E. T. Newkirk, who sang in good voice. Her first number, "Happy Days," was given with violin obligato by Fullerton Waldo. The other number was "Tale of a Bumble Bee."

"The Golden Ring," and "Nymphs and Shepards," were the titles of two soprano solos by Miss Rosabel Schroeder, which won much commendation. A violin solo given with much expression by Fullerton Waldo preceded two soprano solos, "May Morning" and "A Memory," by Mrs. George S. Ring which were given to the delight of all. The two bass solos, "Creole Love Song," and "My Little Love," by Raymond A. McGee, were most cordially received. The programme was concluded with two soprano solos "I Love and the World is Mine," and "Spring Song," well rendered by Mrs. Roy Mack, with violin obligato by Fullerton Waldo. The whole programme was excellently rendered and unstinted praise was accorded those taking part.

Following this programme, all adjourned to the lawn back of the club house where the "Florodora Sextette" was given in true style. There was a sudden change in the orchestra, by reason of the fact that those engaged to play were unable to play by note and it was necessary for the male members of the sextette to carry the piano from the clubhouse to the lawn, where Mrs. A. H. Atterbury presided, and Fullerton Waldo assisted on the violin. A tent served the purpose of a place for the performers to conceal themselves until they appeared before the audience.

The pretty and attractive dance was given in a charming manner and so well did it take an encore was given. Those taking part went through the dance in graceful style and the singing was a decided hit. The whole affair was effectively given by the following: Mrs. Lemuel W. Serrell, Miss Rosabel Schroeder, Miss Daisy Elsberg, Mrs. Roy Mack, Miss Edith L. Burt, Miss Scott and Irving Stewart, W. de la R. Anderson, Roy Mack, F. W. Goddard, A. Willis West and Raymond A. McGee.

During the afternoon there was a decidedly pleasant social feature to the affair, while home-made candy and lemonade was offered for sale and light refreshments were served. Those in charge of the candy table were Mrs. Edward M. VanBuren, Mrs. James R. Blake and the Misses Holly. At the lemonade table were Mrs. Lewis E. Waring, assisted by Miss Lucy Smith. The refreshments were served by several young women.

Hartley Mellick, Robert Abbott and Dudley H. Barrows assisted by receiving tickets and the money for admission. That the affair was a success financially can be judged by the number of people present. The majority were women, but later in the afternoon many men arrived.

In the evening the "Florodora Sextette" was repeated in the clubhouse for the benefit of those who did not see it in the afternoon, the rain preventing its production on the lawn as had been planned.

The purpose for which the affair was given was to raise funds for the installation of a women's locker-room at the clubhouse.

NEXT SEASON'S STAFF AT BOROUGH SCHOOLS

Corps of Instructors Who Will be at North Plainfield Public Schools Next Fall.

ARE SEVERAL CHANGES.

THREE OF LAST YEAR'S TEACHERS HAVE RESIGNED THEIR POSITIONS.

Almond E. Clarke, of Amherst, Will Take Charge of Departments of Mathematics and Science in the High School.

There are few changes in the personel of the teaching staffs of the North Plainfield public schools for the coming year. But three of last year's instructors have resigned their positions. Arthur P. D. Tobien, professor of mathematics and the sciences in the High School department, goes to Somerville High School, where he will be instructor in mathematics alone. Miss Paulding, in the primary department, has accepted a more lucrative and advanced position in the public schools of Oceanic, N. J. Charles L. Lewis, of Plainfield, who has taught vocal music in the borough school, will be superseded in that duty by Miss Ethel Whelen, who comes here highly recommended for the work.

Mr. Tobien's place will be filled by Almond E. Clark, who has this year been graduated from Amherst College. Mr. Clark is a graduate of Cortland Normal School, Cortland, N. Y., and before entering Amherst spent four years in the active duties of his profession in New York State. In addition to his pedagogic abilities Mr. Clark is an athlete of some note and a star baseball player. This year he was on the first nine of Amherst College, and in several games did the pitching for his team, which ranks high among college clubs. In Mr. Clark the Board of Education has secured an efficient and able teacher, and the athletic association of the school will have a man to put vim and energy into life on the campus.

Miss Whelen, who will be the instructor in vocal music, belongs to South Hedley, Mass. Of large experience she has been associated with the supervisor of music in the Boston public schools, and last year taught music in Barnard College, New York.

Miss Whelen intends to take up her residence in Plainfield, and while still retaining her position at Barnard, will devote the earlier part of each week to the North Plainfield school. Miss Abbie Hanna, who replaces Miss Paulding, was graduated from Cortland Normal School this afternoon. She has had the advantage of considerable experience in the teaching line, before entering on the course just concluded at the Cortland Normal.

The names of those who will compose the entire teaching staff of the borough schools during the next year are as follows:

High School Department—Homer J. Wightman, principal; Almond E. Clark, Misses Susie E. Glass, Gertrude Snodgrass, Myrtie E. Montague, Marion Bush and Robert Lander.

Grammar School Department—Misses Alberta E. Waterbury, Laura M. Sydenham, Mary Yoran, Mary Gillette, Mary Weller, Minnie Green, Della Filkins, Jessie M. Hill. Ruth C. Hill.

Primary and Kindergarten Department—Misses Elizabeth Kiernan, Rebecca Tracy, Sarah Mackey, Grace Anderson, Minnie Filkins, Mary Hart, Abbie Hanna, Lizzie Southworth, Mary Ege, Florence Macdonald, Emma Tantum, Elizabeth Claypoole, Clara Atheton, Mabel Hare, Enid Walker, Elsie Horton, Edna French.

Miss Bessie Taylor will have charge of the cooking school and Miss Clara VanFleet will be the teacher of instrumental music.

Staff Captain March Coming.

Staff Captain Emily C. March, who has quite recently returned from a very successful evangelistic campaign in churches in Pennsylvania, will address the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Ensign Grimshaw will sing. This meeting promises to be of unusual interest. Miss March is a favorite speaker in Plainfield and a great treat is in store for those who are able to be present.

Lawn Party.

The Willing Workers of Trinity Reformed church will hold a lawn party at the home of the Misses Lindsay on Mountain avenue tomorrow afternoon.

POSTPONED EVENTS TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Hillside Day Will Then be Observed at Course of the Park Golf Club.

EVENTS FOR THE DAY.

THE TEAM MATCH BETWEEN THE TWO CLUBS WILL BE MOST IMPORTANT.

Reception at the Clubhouse During the Afternoon—The Course Open to Hillside Members All Day—The Competitions.

Frequent showers prevented the holding of Hillside Day at the Park Golf Club, Saturday afternoon, although a few members of the visiting club did brave the rain and play. Arrangements were then made by the golf committees of the two clubs to postpone the events for a week until next Saturday when the programme, announced for last Saturday, will take place. The Park Golf Club course will be open to the members of the other club for play all day but the afternoon will see the competitions which have been arranged.

Because the event had to be postponed a week is going to make no difference in the success of the affair. The committees of the Park Golf Club are making every effort to entertain their friends from the other side of town in as hospitable a manner as possible. A reception will be held at the clubhouse during the afternoon to which all members of the two golf clubs and their friends are cordially invited. Some of the women of the club will be on hand to welcome the guests. The lawn close to the clubhouse will afford an excellent opportunity to view the finish of the team match and the driving and approaching and putting contests.

Of the events arranged for the day, the most important will be the club team match. The play will be scratch, match play, eighteen holes. While the regular Hillside team will be busy that afternoon with the team from Montclair, it is hoped that the other Hillside members will line up in goodly numbers against their Park opponents. A prize will go to the club that wins. The team match is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

In order to give the Hillside members who play on their own course a chance to participate, the driving contest will not start until 5 o'clock. It will be held from the first tee. Each contestant will have three trials, the best aggregate within bounds to win.

While the driving contest is being completed, the approaching and putting contest will start at 5:30 on the ninth green. It will be open to mixed couples from both clubs. Each pair will have three approaches and the least aggregate score will win the event.

Greenkeeper John Calder is now hard at work putting the fair greens in the best of condition. The Park links are in better condition this year than ever before and he expects to have them in ideal condition for Saturday's play. The recent rain has improved them and a few days more of dry weather will make them as fast as ever.

LITTLE TOTS GATHERED.

For Little Arthur C. Millard's Third Birthday Party.

Arthur Colin Millard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Millard, of 319 East Second street, very happily celebrated the third anniversary of his birthday yesterday afternoon, when a number of his young friends, as well as a company of older ones, gathered to join in the festivities.

The young folks were served with refreshments. The table was perttily decorated and in the centre was a birthday cake on which were placed three lighted candles. Ice cream and cake were served. Young Mr. Millard was well remembered by his friends. He received many useful presents, also toys and games and nearly $10 in money.

The young folks present included Ruth Klein, Louise Klein, Martha Klein, Wilhelmina Klein, Madeline Blair, Marion Blair, Harvey Thorn and Charles Beckman.

Lads Will be Cared For.

The charge of attempted larceny against Oliver and Willie Peel, and Willie Richter was dismissed in the city court, this morning. Oliver Peel has been taken in charge by L. W. Randolph who intends placing him in a good home away from the city. The other boys were placed in the custody of their parents.

SIMPLY WEDDED.

Daughter of Police Sergeant Frederickson Became the Wife of James Stewart Yesterday.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Police Sergeant Christian Frederickson, of Leland avenue, yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when his daughter, Miss Dorothea M. Frederickson, was made the wife of James Stewart, of this city. Only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First M. E. church, of which the bride is a member.

In the parlor where the nuptial knot was tied, flowers had been used lavishly in decorating and the young couple stood in a pretty bower. They were unattended. Miss Frederickson looked charming in a simple gown of white material and held a cluster of bridal roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held after which Mr. and Mrs. Stewart left for a week's wedding trip. On returning they will reside on Belvidere avenue, where the groom, who is a builder, has erected a home.

COLLISION SAVED HER LIFE

RUNAWAY HORSE NEARLY RAN DOWN YOUNG WOMAN ON WHEEL.

Collided With Wagon and Threw the Other Horse Squarely on Its Back.

Park avenue was the scene of a thrilling runaway shortly before noon today, which for a time threatened to result in serious injury to the many wheelmen which lined the thoroughfare. But for a timely collision and stop, one girl, Miss Marjorie Phillips, of Madison avenue, would undoubtedly have been killed.

August Laggren, a driver for the Morey-LaRue Laundry Company, left his horse standing on Park avenue, near Front street, while he started to deliver a package. Hardly had he reached the Laire building before the animal started off, first on a trot and then, as several men tried to halt it, broke into a furious gallop. There was a frantic scurrying of wagons and teams to give it a clear path and a dozen barely escaped being run into.

At Park avenue and Fourth street, Stewart Todd in one of the Rogers' Seafood Company's wagons, was unable to get out of the way and the runaway crashed full force into the side of his rig. But for this intervention the runaway would have struck Miss Phillips who, totally unconscious of the peril behind her, was riding her wheel toward Fifth street.

The Rogers' horse was thrown on its back while the frightened animal broke from the harness and ran to Watchung avenue and Fifth street where it was caught by Kalmon Rottberg. The laundry wagon was overturned and both were badly smashed. Todd escaped injury by jumping just as the crash came.

WRITTEN POPULAR SONGS.

James W. Casey, Author of Many Well-Known Ones, is in Town.

James W. Casey, the noted song writer and composer, was a pleasant caller at The Daily Press office, yesterday, and incidentally left copies of some of his greatest successes. He is the author of "Sing Me a Song of the South," of which over a quarter of a million copies have been sold and which has been sung from Maine to California and also "I Can't Forget I Love You, Eloise" equally as catchy and which is becoming better known every day. It is a decided pleasure to meet Mr. Casey and during his short stay in this city he has made many warm friends.

Stone Crushed Italian's Hand.

While Gulielmo Smith, an Italian laborer living in the borough, was working at the Wilson stone quarry, above the "notch" yesterday morning a heavy stone fell on his hand, crushing the member and necessitating several stitches in a deep gash between the thumb and left finger. Dr. A. H. Dundon dressed the wound.

Building a Kitchen.

Progress is being made in the work of building an addition to the Sunday-school room of the First Presbyterian church. It will be used for a kitchen, giving more room for the Sunday-school in the chapel.

To Receive Bids.

There will be a regular meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital Monday evening, when the bids for the new hospital will be received and opened.

—Neuman Brothers have placed a special rate on quart and pint bottles of olive oil which they import themselves.

HOW DEMOCRATIC EYES VIEWED A CONVENTION

Democratic Comments on the Recent Republican Convention Held at Belvidere.

PICTURE OF HARMONY.

BY TRENTON CORRESPONDENT OF THE PHILADELPHIA RECORD.

Does Not Believe That Fowler Will Support Kean for the U. S. Senate—Some Other Comments by Charles R. Bacon.

It is interesting to note how the happenings of the Fifth Congregational District convention impressed a Democrat. Charles R. Bacon, the veteran Trenton correspondent of the Philadelphia Record, comments at length on the convention and the reasons for the remarkable exhibition of harmony displayed. He says:

"That was a very pretty picture of harmony presented to the army of organization followers at the Republican Congressional convention at Belvidere on Saturday, when Congressman Fowler was renominated 'with a whoop' for his fifth term. Just as though there had never been the slightest differences between them the happy Congressman and Hamilton Fish Kean, the Union county chairman and brother of the United States Senator, sat together in the train and chatted pleasantly all the way home. No one saw any concealed knives, but all those who saw the picture wondered how soon it would fade. Some of those who shouted most loudly for Fowler were among the most active adherents of the Kean wing of the party in Union, and there seemed to be no differences between them at all.

"What it all means is not so apparent. Some wise ones have professed to see in it a solid delegation from Union county for Senator Kean two years hence, but others say that the Kean forces are not so slow as that. They say that consent to the renomination of Fowler is for the purpose of getting him out of the way; that in the present shape of things in the State and country there is almost sure to be a triumph for the Democratic candidates for Congress in a number of the districts and that there is a very good chance that Fowler may be one of those who will go down. Congressman-elect Flanagan is very likely to be his Democratic opponent, and the latter has shown the stuff he is made of as a campaigner, even if he had no opposition in the recent election in the old Fourth district.

"In the coming fight Union county will have to give about all the Republican majority for the candidate, and it must give enough to overcome the probable Democratic vote of Warren. Morris, faction-torn as it is, cannot be counted upon for any considerable Republican majority, if any at all. With Senator Johnston Cornish, who was Flanagan's sponsor, in the management of his campaign, Warren is more than likely to give even more than its usual Democratic majority, so that there is no safe gambling that Fowler will be re-elected. Thus the Kean forces can well afford to shout for him and to sit down to the feast with him. Perhaps he may cease to be a factor in the organization by the time for the election of a United States Senator and a Governor shall have arrived.

"Some of the Democrats of the new Fourth district are urging former State Senator J. H. Blackwell for the Congressional nomination, and in view of the difficulties of the Republicans there he would appear to be a very strong proposition. One of his weak points would be Hunterdon county, because he was not with the Bryanites in '96. The Republicans of the district have as yet found no one to carry the banner for them. No date has been set for their convention, and they seem to be all at sea as to their move."

St. Mary's Schools Closed.

St. Mary's parochial schools closed last Friday afternoon without the usual formality of closing exercises The programme that has been a feature of the closing in past years and the distribution of premiums was dispensed with.

Events at The Inn.

It is being planned to have several hops at the Mountain Park Inn during the season and the affairs will be made pleasant. The mode of conveying passengers back and forth from the trolley will be better than heretofore.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO CHOOSE NEW PASTOR

Congregation of Crescent Avenue Church Named Representatives Last Night.

AT MEETING OF CHURCH.

COMMITTEE WILL ACT WHEN RESIGNATION IS FORMALLY TENDERED.

Will Consist of Fifteen Members Representing the Session, the Trustees, the Deacons and the Congregation in General.

In the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last evening, a business meeting of the congregation was held to take some preliminary steps leading to the selection of a pastor to fill the place of Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards when the latter will have formally tendered his resignation. Charles Place, president of the Board of Trustees, was chairman of the meeting. Rev. W. E. Honeyman led in prayer after which A. J. Gavett was selected secretary.

After some discussion of a routine nature, a resolution was presented providing for the selection of a committee of fifteen for the purpose of choosing a new pastor, this committee to consist of four members of the session, three of the trustees, two of the deacons, and six representing the congregation in general. The session, deacons and trustees have chosen their representatives and along with six members suggested as representatives of the congregation were designated in the resolution. After some general discussion of the matter, it was decided to amend the resolution so that the congregation might elect its own members of the committee by an informal ballot.

The ballot was taken at once and the whole committeee as constituted stands:

From the congregation—Charles F. Abbott, John F. Harmon, Henry B. Newhall, Ira W. Travell, T. F. Budlong, W. D. Murray; from the session—John Leal, E. W. Hedges, Henry M. Squires, L. N. Lovell; from the trustees—I. W. Rushmore, E. R. Ackerman; from the deacons—J. D. Miller, S. H. Whitney. The committee was given power to fill any vacancies that might occur on that body.

While the ballots were being counted, a work that occupied considerable time, some touching references were made to the illness of King Edward, and prayer was offered by several members of the congregation for his speedy recovery.

WEDDED AT JERSEY CITY

Miss Minnie I. Force, of This City, Became Wife of Wm. W. Cook, of Johnstown, Pa.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, June 26—A very quiet wedding took place at high noon yesterday at the home of Dr. W. B. Force, 648 Jersey avenue, when his sister, Miss Minnie Irene Force, of Plainfield, and William Cook, of Johnstown, Pa., were united in marriage.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes, and the full service of the Methodist Episcopal church was used. The bride was given away by her father, David N. Force. Mrs. W. B. Force, sister-in-law of the bride, acted as matron of honor and the wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Miss Margaretta V. Barnes.

The wedding party was made up of intimate friends of the contracting parties, and after a wedding breakfast the newly-married couple left for their wedding trip. They intend making their home in Johnstown, Pa.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Force, of Somerset place, Plainfield, and both she and her husband, who formerly lived in Plainfield, have a host of friends who will be interested in their marriage.

Found Defendant Here.

Mrs. Wilson Bellis, of Bayonne, preferred charges of non-support against her husband at that place, recently. He could not be found at Bayonne and the police sent the warrant to this city suspecting this is where he would be. He was found by Patrolman Higgins, this morning, on West Front street. The Bayonne police were notified.

Preparatory Services.

Preparatory services will be held at the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow evening and the Lord's Supper will be observed Sunday morning.

ACCEPTED HIS RESIGNATION

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes Was Then Made Pastor Emeritus of First Baptist Church.

CHOICE OF SUCCESSOR.

Pulpit Supply Committee Will Fill the Pulpit While Committee Appointed Will Look for a New Pastor — Words of Praise for Pastor—Accepted With Regret.

The interest manifested in the welfare of the First Baptist church was evidence last evening at a meeting of the members of the church and congregation called for the purpose of considering the resignation of Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes and transacting other business relative to the pastorate. There was an unusually large attendance.

Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, a member of the Board of Trustees, presided at the meeting and O. B. Leonard, church clerk, was in his place. Mr. Randolph made some impressive remarks after the opening exercises. He spoke of the solemn occasion and of the necessity of proceeding deliberately. He referred to the service of Dr. Yerkes extending over a period of nearly forty years and said that there is not a man, woman or child in the church that does not love Dr. Yerkes and that there is not a family in that church that does not highly esteem and admire every member of his family. He expressed great pleasure that Dr. Yerkes and his family are to remain in the church and he felt sure that whatever is done will be in the line of his approving love. Mr. Randolph then announced that the resignation would be considered.

At this point Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, also of the Board of Trustees, made a few remarks expressing pleasure in echoing the sentiments of the first speaker. He said that the resignation of Dr. Yerkes may have been anticipated, but nevertheless it came as a great surprise and with feeling of deep regret. It meant the severance of a tie of forty years strength and that covers that part of his life in which he has given his best effort. He referred to the many sacred memories that now loom up of how faithfully the pastor had filled his position. Mr. Gilbert stated that those present were to consider the future of the church as well as the pastor's resignation. He then offered the following resolutions:

Whereas our much beloved pastor, owing to ill health, has felt constrained to tender his resignation after a successful pastorate of nearly forty years, during which time by his upright and consistent life and his unfailing devotion to his work, he has endeared himself not only to the members of this church and congregation, but also to the whole community, and

Whereas, the severance of the tie which has so long united him to the church brings a feeling of sadness to the church and a desire on its part to make manifest to him the love and affection of its members toward him and their continued interest in his welfare, therefore be it

Resolved, That the resignation of Rev. D. J. Yerkes, D. D. as pastor of the First Baptist church of Plainfield, N. J., is accepted and that in consideration of his long and faithful service, and as an expression of our love and esteem for him he is hereby appointed the Pastor Emeritus of this church.

Resolved, That his salary as pastor of the church be continued until the appointment of his successor, at which time an appropriate salary shall be fixed for as Pastor Emeritus.

Resolved, That a committee of six, two from the Board of Deacons, two from the Board of Trustees, and two from the church at large be appointed by the chair with power to add to its numbers if deemed necessary, to select and name to the church at as early a date as possible a successor to Dr. Yerkes in the pastorate.

Following the reading of the resolutions, Mr. Leonard spoke briefly of the early years. He said that he was the clerk of the church when Dr. Yerkes first became its pastor and he wrote the official call to him in August 1863. He referred to the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Drake as a living and faithful one and to that of Dr.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Perth Amboy is throwing up its hat over the prospect of a Raritan bridge, but the people do not yet realize what it means to this section in the way of added comfort. Monmouth is a county of rich farm land. Middlesex, this side of the bridge, is mostly a place of consumers. Once a wagon bridge is built we shall have such markets as they have down the shore, fresh fruit and vegetables in plenty, and probably less expensive than they are now. At present nearly everything eatable that is sold in this city comes via New York, with the cost of transportation added to the price and the freshness entirely gone. The advantage to the farmers of Monmouth will be as great as to the hungry folks in Perth Amboy.—Perth Amboy Republican.

Charles N. Fowler has been renominated for Congress in the new Fifth District, with apparently the utmost harmony prevailing in the ranks of the Republican party. No other candidate appeared at the convention in Belvidere to question his claim to the position which he has already filled for four terms. There is no question, however, but that Mr. Fowler has awakened a strong spirit of antagonism in the breasts of a considerable portion of his party, and it is questionable whether he will be able to secure the united support of the Republicans of Union county. It is true that Senator Kean, the head of the faction that has opposed the Congressman in the past, has publicly stated that he believes Mr. Fowler will be triumphantly elected, but there is a suspicion, which may or may not be well founded, that he will not be able to bring his followers solidly into line for the nominee, even should he so desire.

Mr. Fowler will need the full strength of his party in the district in order to feel assured of success. The man who has been tacitly agreed upon as his Democratic opponent is an unknown quantity in politics, and may develop unexpected strength. There is no apparent reason why the voters of the district should desire to send such a man as DeWitt Clinton Flanagan, the Morristown millionaire, who has been chosen as the representative of the old Fourth on a fluke, to Congress for a full term, but there is no accounting for the idiosyncrasies of the popular will as expressed at the polls. If Mr. Fowler would insure his election he must make his peace with the Kean forces and energetically push his campaign in Union, Morris and Warren counties.—Newark News.

COMMISSIONERS NAMED.

Appointed by Judge Vail to Assess Street Improvements in Plainfield—Cuff Sentenced.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 26—On application made in the Court of Special Sessions yesterday, Thomas Hughes, M. Chamberlain and Andrew Gavett, of Plainfield, were appointed by Judge Vail as commissioners to assess certain street improvements in Plainfield.

Leroy Cuff, colored, who, a week ago, pleaded guilty to the larceny of dishes in Plainfield, was arraigned and sentenced to thirty days in jail, as was also J. Raymond LaFere, colored, who recently pleaded non vult to an indictment for assault.

William Beekman, Jr., charged with the larceny of a silver watch and articles of clothing, pleaded non vult. Sentence was deferred for one week.

—The election at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., this evening, will be for all the elective officers.

—The Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will hold its regular meeting tomorrow morning.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Maynard, of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, were in Orange yesterday attending a district meeting of the colored churches.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Under the caption of "The Man in the Street," The Sunday magazine of The New York Times has, as one of its features, a series of anecdotes by or about well-known men. Each week prizes are awarded to the best three of these stories. Last Sunday the second prize story was about William DeLong, a former Plainfielder, but now of New York. The story was published last Sunday and is as follows:

William DeLong, Commissioner Dougherty's right-hand man in the Department of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity, tells this:

"There used to be a Dutch barber who kept a place in the city here. He had an assistant who was just about as Dutch as the boss, but the assistant thought the boss about the meanest man on earth. Every time he got a customer in the chair he would tell him all about the boss. One day he had a man all fixed, face lathered, and head laid back. Then he began his tale of woe as he stropped the razor:

"'Mine poss iss der meanest man. He charches me 10 cends if I cud a man und a quarter if I gash him.'

"The assistant went on stropping and the man in the chair was beginning to get uneasy, for it seemed to be a settled thing that every customer would have something happen to him. He waited in silence. Presently the assistant resumed:

"'Pud I don't care today.'

"'Why?' inquired the customer.

"'Pecause I vun fife dollars on der races yesterday, und I mide as vell spend id dat vay as any odder.'

"The customer suddenly remembered that he had to catch a train."

THEATRICAL.

It would be very hard to plan a more enjoyable afternoon or evening than is provided for its patrons by Keith's Theatre, New York, during this hot weather. From an ice chamber beneath the theatre great currents of refrigerated air are swept through a complicated system of piping to all points of the theatre and there discharged into the auditorium, while, far above the heads of the audience, a tremendous exhaust fan does its part of the work necessary to keep the theatre at a temperature many degrees below that of any roof garden. The programme for the coming week is a very strong one, and will be headed by Ida Melville & Co., in "Sis Hopkins Sister," a sketch which has added to the gaiety of nations, presented by the sister of Miss Rose Melville, who was the original "Sis Hopkins." Arthur Deming, the Minstrel Comedian, has some jokes and stories, which he makes affidavit are brand new; Jordan and Welch are as splittingly funny as ever in "Just Two Hebrews," to which has been added much new matter; The Farrell-Taylor Trio, eccentric comedians, have a very funny sketch with a pretty dance; Miss Amy Forssland, a soprano soloist of whom great things are expected will make her professional debut here; while Johnson and Wells, the colored entertainers will live up to their reputation of "hilaritators." Twenty-one other strong features, with new pictures for the Biograph and Stereopticon make this a characteristically good Keith bill.

CORONATION HONORS.

Men of Literature and Science Prominent on the List.

LONDON, June 26.—The coronation honors are announced in the Official Gazette.

The list of names is remarkable in that the number of men honored for contributions to literature and science almost equals the number of those rewarded for services in war and government.

Dr. Conan Doyle, the novelist; Gilbert Parker, the traveler and author; Francis C. Burnand, the editor of Punch, and Leslie Stephen, president of the Ethical society, are made knights.

Sir Frederick Treves, senior surgeon to the king, and Sir George Henry Lewis, the well known lawyer, and Sir Thomas Lipton are created baronets.

The order of Knight of the Garter is bestowed on the Duke of Wellington and the Duke of Sutherland.

The Duke of Roxburghe and the Earl of Haddington are made Knights of the Thistle.

The Earl of Enniskillin and Baron de Roscommon become Knights of St. Patrick.

Sir Robert Bond, the premier of Newfoundland, is made a privy councilor.

The Earl of Hopetoun, governor general of the commonwealth of Australia, who recently resigned, is raised to a marquisate.

Lord Milner is raised to the rank of viscount.

Peerages are conferred on the Right Hon. William Jackson, Conservative member of parliament for North Leeds and former chief secretary for Ireland; the Right Hon. Sir Ughtred James Kay-Shuttleworth, Bart., Liberal member of parliament for the Clitheroe division of Lancashire and an educational reformer; Sir Francis Knollys, private secretary to King Edward, and Arthur Hugh Smith Berry, chairman of the National Union of Conservative Associations, who married a daughter of General Wadsworth of New York.

TO CURTAIL OUTPUT.

One-third Reduction of Soft Coal Decided On.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 26.—The order of the subdistrict presidents of the central Pennsylvania bituminous district curtailing the output of soft coal in that region one-third went into effect yesterday. The miners in that territory have decided not to work on Wednesdays and Saturdays until further notice. How many men laid off is not yet known, but leaders at strike headquarters here say they expect every union man to obey the order.

The engineers, firemen and pump runners on the night shift of the Susquehanna Coal company met at Nanticoke. The meeting was called at the instance of the mine workers, who are bringing every pressure to bear to have these men reconsider their action taken on Monday night, when they decided to return to work. District President Nichols attended the meeting and addressed the men. The meeting was not the success the leaders had hoped for.

Engineers Return to Work.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., June 26.—Three of the striking mine engineers here returned to work at the Henry Clay colliery, operated by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company. They are running the water hoist and keeping the water from flowing into the upper level and flooding that as well as the Sterling mines, which connect. The company had threatened to abandon these workings, and the engineers were urged by citizens and business men to return to work and prevent the rise of the water.

The Statehood Question Goes Over the Term.

AGREEMENT REACHED ON CANAL BILL

Senate Amendment Accepted Entire by House—Slow Progress Made on the Philippine Civil Government Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—In a few minutes yesterday the senate disposed for this session of the omnibus statehood question, which has been pending for several days. Mr. Beveridge (Ind.), chairman of the committee on territories, announced that a report on the bill before the committee would be made on the third day of the next session. This was satisfactory to Mr. Quay (Pa.), who, after securing an agreement that the committee's report should be the unfinished business on and after the 10th of December until it was disposed of, withdrew his motion to discharge the committee from further consideration of the measure.

The conference report on the army appropriation bill was agreed to, thus passing that measure and eliminating the friction which has existed between the two houses over it.

Conferees on the isthmian canal bill have reached a unanimous agreement in favor of accepting the senate amendment, which contemplates the building of the Panama canal if the president can secure a clear title to that route. The final conference lasted only half an hour.

Before the decision was reached Mr. Hepburn on behalf of the house conferees endeavored to secure a modification of the senate amendment limiting the president to six months' time within which the title to the Panama route is to be perfected.

When this failed, Mr. Hepburn made no further opposition, and the senate amendment was concurred in in exactly the form that it passed the senate.

The Philippine civil government bill was thrown to amendment in the house. Very slow progress was made, only fifteen of the fifty pages of the bill being completed.

The house adopted a proposition agreeable to the senate with reference to the disputed items in the army bill and by a vote of 63 to 95 refused to agree to the senate amendments to the naval bill providing for five submarine torpedo boats.

International Auto Race.

PARIS, June 26.—The great international automobile race from Paris to Vienna started this morning at half past 3 o'clock from the village of Champigny, twelve miles east of Paris. The contestants in the Paris-Berlin automobile race last year were started from this same village. The keenest interest is evinced in the present contest, in which the number of entries has reached the record. These total 214 as compared with 155 entries for the Paris-Berlin race. The competitors in today's contest include ten Belgians, five Austrians, twelve Germans, three Englishmen and three Americans. The Americans are Foxhall Keene, Lawrence Waterbury and W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr.

Missouri Republicans.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 26.—The Republican state convention, which met Tuesday, has adjourned sine die after unanimously re-electing Thomas J. Akins chairman of the Republican state committee, nominating a ticket and adopting a platform unreservedly indorsing the administration of President Roosevelt and declaring him to be the logical candidate for 1904. The following ticket was nominated: State superintendent of instruction, Professor J. U. White of Brookfield; warehouse and railroad commissioner, long term, W. S. Crane of Jasper county; short term, Barney Fruenthal of St. Louis.

The Kiel Regatta.

KIEL, Germany, June 26.—Ninety-five racing and fifty-two pleasure yachts are lying in the roadstead here awaiting the beginning of the regatta today. There are also twenty-six men-of-war present, and the latter include eight German battleships. Emperor William is determined that the visitors to Kiel shall see the finest vessels of the new navy. The sky is cloudless and the scene on the water most brilliant. Among the sixteen competitors in the special class today will be one American, two French, two English, one Swedish and eleven German yachts.

Fierce Storm In Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 26.—The most terrific storm in many years has just swept over central Indiana. Telegraph and telephone wires have been torn down along its trail, and communication with the storm swept section is almost entirely interrupted. A conservative estimate places the loss by yesterday's storm at $2,000,000. Only two persons are known to have been killed. The injured number fifty.

Crisis Imminent In Haiti.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 26.—Mail advices received here from Haiti say the situation is more serious in that republic. Party feeling is extremely high. The adherents of the presidential candidates are guarding the latter's houses nightly. Several men were killed in a riot at Cape Haitien a couple of days ago.

Ruhlin Too Much For Sharkey.

LONDON, June 26.—Gus Ruhlin of Akron, O., defeated Tom Sharkey of New York in eleven rounds. "Denver Ed" Martin, the American fighter, defeated "Sandy" Ferguson, the Englishman, in five rounds of fighting.

HOPE FOR THE KING

Physicians Report Conditions Satisfactory.

NOURISHMENT IS TAKEN

Anxious Crowds Wait For News at the Palace Gate.

CORONATION HONORS ANNOUNCED

What Was to Have Been Coronation Day Is Being Observed as a Day of Intercession and Prayer For Edward's Life.

LONDON, June 26.—King Edward's condition is even more satisfactory than has been indicated by the last bulletins. He has made a decided improvement, and the feeling at Buckingham palace is very hopeful. His majesty is able to take nourishment. He had scrambled eggs and a little hock and soda last evening, and with his own hands he opened several telegrams.

The latest bulletin issued is regarded as intensely satisfactory. This bulletin is generally taken as being the first occasion upon which the king's doctors have allowed themselves to express even to a small degree the hopeful feelings they undoubtedly even though privately entertain. Two days have now elapsed since the operation was performed, and the absence of complications creates hopefulness in all quarters, although, as has been frequently said in these dispatches, several days must pass before the possibility of danger can be eliminated.

Notwithstanding the fact that it was the eve of the intended coronation day and that London was even more crowded with people than it was Tuesday the scenes witnessed on the streets last night were in marked and pleasant contrast with those of Tuesday evening. The reckless rejoicing which was then so disgracefully prominent was quite unheard. Traffic pursued its way unimpeded, and even the most popular thoroughfares were comparatively deserted. No illuminations dispelled the natural gloom which settled over the metropolis. The moon failed to penetrate the darkness over the city, and a rather cold wind was blowing.

Quiet and distressed, the crowd waited outside Buckingham palace for the night's final news of the sovereign. For several hours they kept their patient vigil, wandering aimlessly, but with palpable anxiety, about the open space which fronts the royal residence.

Inside the palace all was still. Queen Alexandra, who had been in the vicinity of the sickroom the entire day, dined with a few members of the royal family. The callers who came to the palace in the course of the evening contented themselves with driving up to the outer gates, where they alighted and walked in to inquire at the equeries' entrance for the latest news. There they met only liveried servants and small knots of reporters.

Shortly before 11 o'clock the tension of the crowds was relieved by the appearance of a footman bringing a bulletin. This was put up on the palace railing, and instantaneously the crowds converged toward the notice. In the uncertain shadows cast by the gas lamps the hundreds of hurrying figures produced a weird picture. The welcome words were read in silence, and then the crowds slowly dispersed.

Among the comments made on the bulletins one could hear the half whispered words, "Thank God!" from women who had waited for hours to hear the best or the worst and the gruffer "That's good!" from the men, many of whom were in evening dress. After midnight the king's palace was practically deserted.

Today, instead of a day of coronation and rejoicing, is one of prayer and intercession. At noon all England prayed that the life of the king might be spared.

Thousands of persons visited Westminster abbey for the sake of viewing even from the street what would have been the center of the national festivities. Neither inside nor out has the abbey been touched, and everything there remains as it was when, with cruel mockery, a dummy king was crowned by the archbishop Monday evening.

The Duke of Norfolk, the earl marshal, has not yet decided to take any steps whatever.

The announcement of the coronation honors is an evidence of the king's desire to do all in his power to lessen the depression of the people incident to the postponement of the main ceremony. It was suggested that the announcement be postponed, but his majesty insisted that the list be published according to arrangement.

According to present arrangements the flag will be hauled down from the United States special embassy today, when Whitelaw Reid, the special embassador of the United States, will pay his final official visits previous to his departure for the continent.

EXPERT MEDICAL OPINION.

The British Medical Journal says:

"Should the king's symptoms pursue the course they have hitherto followed there is good reason to hope for his majesty's restoration to health. Owing to the nature of the affection and the character of the dressings used it is inevitable that his convalescence should be somewhat prolonged, but we believe if no complications arise that there is no reason to fear his recovery will not be complete.

"The condition of the parts made clear at the operation was such as to assure the surgeons that the abcess was due to one of those unexplained inflammations which occur with remarkable frequency in the neighborhood of the vermiform appendix and that it was not due to any organic disease of a more serious nature or to any malignant growth, as rumor has suggested.

"Up to the present there is no indication of the occurrence of any complication, and should none arise his majesty may live for many years."

The Lancet, while declaring it is impossible to disguise the seriousness of the king's condition, says:

"It is our joyful privilege to be able to contradict flatly some of the sinister rumors which have been prevalent for the last forty-eight hours throughout the world. The idea that some dreadful news is being kept back ought to be dispelled, and the absolute sincerity of every bulletin issued should prevent the public from heeding these wild rumors."

LONDON'S HEAVY LOSS.

The business section of London is slow in recovering from the stunning effects of the sudden developments. While the barriers around Westminster abbey have been removed, the decorations have been completed for the benefit of the crowds today and Sunday. The demolition of the stands has begun and goes on slowly.

Hotel keepers and provision dealers are hit the hardest. Thousands of pounds of perishable food of the most expensive kinds are crowding every refrigerator in London, while orders for many tons more telegraphically canceled will remain a source of litigation or compromise. The caterers of the fashionable west end establishments have already announced that they are willing to share the losses of their patrons who had given large orders for delivery today and Friday.

"Few of the caterers of hotels availed themselves of insurance, the recently offered Lloyd's rate of 10 per cent being considered too high. Many proprietors of reviewing stands were thus protected. But the important question remains as to whether the money paid for seats will necessarily be refunded. Only a few seats out of nearly half a million were sold with any specific proviso on this point.

Manufacturers of the medals and souvenirs are badly hurt.

A Day's Time Gained.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The first week's operation of the new fast mail service started on the 15th inst. between New York, Chicago and St. Louis and intermediate cities, according to special reports received at the postoffice department, has resulted in a gain of one business day in St. Louis and all points beyond, and practically the same gain is reported at Pittsburg and all Pennsylvania points west of Altoona. There are a great many side lines on which the gain will be at least as great as on the through lines.

Lived For Months With Broken Back

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 26.—After living fourteen months with a broken back Charles Bruhl, aged twenty-six years, is dead. He fell from a telegraph pole April 10, 1901. Since that time skilled doctors have attended the case and became greatly interested.

Dattos to Submit.

MANILA, June 26.—Lieutenant Colonel Frank B. Baldwin, operating in the island of Mindanao, expects the complete submission of all the dattos June 27, when the murderers of the American soldiers and the horses and arms of the latter will be given up.

FUSION IN NEBRASKA.

Democrats and Populists Unite on a Ticket—Mr. Bryan Pleased.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 26.—After twenty-four hours of almost continuous session the Democratic and Populist state conventions completed a fusion ticket late yesterday, with a Democrat at its head. Five places on the ticket were allotted to the Populists and three to the Democrats. They are as follows: Governor, W. H. Thompson of Hall county, Democrat; lieutenant governor, E. A. Gilbert of York county, Populist; secretary of state, John Powers of Hitchcock county, Populist; state auditor, Charles Q. Defrain of Jefferson county, Populist; state treasurer, J. N. Lyman of Adams county, Populist; attorney general, J. M. Broad of Lancaster, Democrat; commissioner public lands and buildings, B. C. Brennan of Douglas county, Democrat; superintendent of schools, Claude Smith of Dawson county, Populist.

While the contest over the head of the ticket was spirited, stubborn and at times almost bitter, in the end the utmost harmony apparently prevailed.

Five different men received the unanimous nomination of one or the other of the conventions for governor before both bodies finally agreed on one man.

After adjournment had been taken William J. Bryan expressed himself pleased with the successful accomplishment of fusion, saying he would lend his entire effort in support of the ticket.

VENEZUELAN CRISIS.

Government Forces Again Defeated. Looks Dark For Castro.

PORT OF SPAIN, Island of Trinidad, June 26.—The Venezuelan government forces have been defeated again near Urica, in the state of Cumana, by the rear guard of General Matos' revolutionary army. Deserters and fugitives are entering Cumana and Barcelona by the hundreds. Among them is Garido, son of the war minister. The new disaster complicates General Castro's position in Barcelona, the headquarters of President Castro's largest army. General Velutini, the chief commander, quarrels daily with General Castro, who is a brother of the president, and he will abandon the command.

The situation is more than critical. The government is compelling importers at Carupano to pay again the duties collected on goods received during the late occupation of the town by the revolutionists. The first payment was made to the revolutionists, which causes a new diplomatic incident.

The United States vice consul, Juan A. Orsini, has left Carupano for Trinidad. His life was daily menaced by soldiers for having tried to protect the interests of French citizens, he being also consul for France.

PATTISON FOR GOVERNOR.

Pennsylvania Democrats Nominate. A State Issue Platform.

ERIE, Pa., June 26.—For the third time in twenty years ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison of Philadelphia was nominated for governor of Pennsylvania yesterday by the Democratic state convehtion. George W. Guthrie of Pittsburg was the unanimous choice of the convention for lieutenant governor. James Nolan of Reading was nominated by acclamation for secretary of internal affairs. The platform makes no reference to national questions, which indicates that the campaign will be made strictly on state issues.

Pattison appeared before the convention and made a brief speech of acceptance.

The real contest was on the question of the representation from Philadelphia. Sixty delegates were elected, but State Chairman William T. Creasy ruled that that county was entitled to only twenty-nine. The chairman's ruling was sustained by the credentials committee and also by the convention.

ROOSEVELT HONORED

Harvard Bestows LL. D. on the President.

SPEECH AT COMMENCEMENT DINNER

Head of the Nation Lavish In Praise of Faithful Officials, Especially Root, Taft and Wood.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 26.—Commencement at Harvard university, also an event which brings together a distinguished gathering, was of unusual interest yesterday because of the presence of the president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt, a graduate of Harvard, class of '80, who was to receive the honorary degree of LL. D. from the university.

There were other notable guests at the commencement, including Secretary of State John Hay and former Secretary of the Navy John D. Long, ex-governor of Massachusetts.

At the Harvard commencement dinner the president made a noteworthy speech in praise of college men. Among other things he said:

"Before I say what I had intended to speak of let me speak for all of you, I am sure—let me speak for all Americans today when I say that we watch with the deepest concern and sympathy the sickbed of the English king and that all Americans in tendering their hearty sympathy to the people of Great Britain now remember keenly the outburst of genuine grief with which all England last fall greeted the calamity that befell us in the death of President McKinley.

The president then spoke feelingly of some well known Harvard men, among them ex-Secretary Long, Senators Hoar and Lodge and Secretary of State John Hay, and continued as follows:

"Gentlemen, I want to speak of three other college graduates because of the service they have done the public, a graduate of Hamilton college, Elihu Root; a graduate of Yale, Governor Taft, and a fellow Harvard man, Leonard Wood, men who did things.

"Leonard Wood four years ago went to Cuba, has served there ever since, has rendered services to that country of the kind if performed 3,000 years ago would have made him a hero mixed up with the sun god in various ways, a man who devoted his whole life to these four years and who thought of nothing else, did nothing else, save to try to bring up the standard of political and social life in that island, to clean it physically and morally, to make justice even and fair in it, to found a school system that should be akin to our own, to teach the people after four centuries of misrule that there were such things as governmental righteousness and honesty and fair play for all men on their merits as men. He did all that. He is a man of slender means. He did it on his pay as an army officer and as governor of the island. Sixty millions of dollars passed through his hands, and he came out having had to draw on his slender capital in order that he might come out even when he left the island.

"And Taft, Judge Taft, Governor Taft, who has been the head of the Philippine commission and who has gone back there—Taft, the most brilliant graduate of his year at Yale, the youngest Yale man upon whom that institution ever conferred a degree of LL. D., a man who, having won high positions at the bar and then served as solicitor general, with all his tastes impelling him to a judicial career and was appointed to the United States bench, was asked to give up the position in order to go to the other side of the world to take up an infinitely difficult, an infinitely dangerous, problem and to do his best to solve it. He has done his best. He came back here the other day.

"He said to me: 'Mr. President, it has always been my dream to be in the supreme court, but if you should offer me a justiceship now and at the same time congress should take off entirely my salary as governor I should go straight back to the Philippines nevertheless, for those people need me and expect me back and believe I won't desert them.' He has gone back; gone as a strong friend among weaker friends to help them upward along the stony and difficult path of self government, to do his part and a great part in making the American name a symbol of honor and of good faith in the Philippine Islands.

"And now Elihu Root, who, unlike myself, Mr. President Eliot, but like most of you present, comes of the old New England stock, whose great-grandfather stood beside Leonard Wood's great-grandfather at Concord Bridge—Elihu Root, who had worked his way up from being a poor and unknown country boy in New York to a position where in a year or two he had the leadership of the bar of the great city within his grasp, gave it up, made the very great pecuniary sacrifice implied in giving it up and accepted the position under President McKinley of secretary of war, a position which for the last three years and at present amounts to being not only the secretary for war, but the secretary for the islands, the secretary for the colonies at the same time; who has done the most exhausting and most responsible work of any man in the administration, more so than the work of the president. He has done this and done is absolutely disinterestedly.

"These three men have rendered great service. I can do nothing for them. I can show my appreciation of them in no way save the wholly insufficient one of standing up for them and for their works, and that I will do."

MR. MELLICK'S RETIREMENT.

The announcement that Councilman George P. Mellick intends to retire from public life at the close of the year was received with much regret by his associates in the Common Council and the other city officials when it was made at the dinner given by him, Tuesday evening. When the public at large read the news in last night's Daily Press, there were many words of regret that such a capable city official should leave the city's service. Mr. Mellick has certainly served the city well and it will be too bad if he should not reconsider his determination.

Councilman Mellick is the type of the men who have played a very important part in the welfare of Plainfield in the past. There are few cities where men of their calibre and ability are willing to give up their time without any remuneration save the consciousness that they have done their duty. Mr. Mellick is a man of unquestioned integrity and with much experience in the financial world. His business interests demand much time but he has nevertheless found time to serve the city well and faithfully as a councilman. This is his fourth year in the governing body.

As long as such men as Mr. Mellick and other members of the Common Council are willing to serve the city as members of that body, the citizens need have no fear that corruption will get its clutches on the city machinery. They conduct their official duties as they do their personal business and the city has the full benefit. There are few privileges and no pay with the offices in the Common Council and no end of criticism. It is well when such men are willing to go into the Council and it is greatly to be regretted when any of them feel that their period of service is over. It is sincerely to be hoped that Mr. Mellick will change his mind and reconsider his determination.

Those who have objected to becoming a part of the city of Plainfield on the ground that the city taxes were high and the corresponding advantages not sufficient would do well to take a look at the city of New Brunswick. The tax rate for that city has just been fixed and it is announced as 2.55. Plainfield's rate this year will not be over 2.50 and may not be quite so high. Look at the difference between the two cities. New Brunswick has no good roads at all, excepting its one boulevard. The difference in the police and fire departments is remarkable. The whole management of the city affairs is on radically different principles and yet New Brunswick citizens have to pay more money than do the tax-payers of Plainfield.

The Philadelphia Record quotes an expert in advertising who says that "since advertising has been applied to modern commerce there have been created dozens of commodities and branches of trade which did not exist before its advent. The $600,000,000 annually spent for publicity in this country has set many hundreds of millions running in wholly new channels."

Paterson is again achieving some notoriety. Of all the cities in Jersey, that unfortunate one appears to be having enough trouble for the entire State. Fire and flood have swept down upon it and now mob rule and anarchy threaten its peace. Never has a New Jersey community suffered such a variety of disaster before.

It seems quite likely that the Democrats of the new Fifth Congressional district will hold their convention in Warren county. If the reports are true, they wish to counteract the favorable impression made by Congressman Fowler in that county and keep Warren well in the Democratic column at the next election.

A few more experiences like the present one will result in some inventor bringing forward a system of electric heating which will answer all requirements and yet be economical. Then the great strikes in the coal regions will have little effect and the soft coal nuisances will be a thing of the past.

Judge William Lanning, of Mercer county, is now mentioned as a Republican possibility for Congress in the new Fourth district. If his boom develops, it means farewell to Somerville's hopes of seeing Former Chancery Clerk L. A. Thompson nominated for Congress.

There will be no public Independence Day celebration in Plainfield this year but some of the local organizations are planning enough excitement to give the people of Plainfield plenty of entertainment on that day.

Walter Holborn has returned to his home at East Orange after a pleasant visit of several days with Hervey Marsh.

Mrs. Andrew Rogers, who has been visiting her parents, has returned to her home in Brooklyn.

Miss Susie L. Parse was the guest Wednesday of friends in Plainfield.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

An important social event took place last night, when Miss Musa Woodruf, of this place, was married to Albert Green, of Metuchen, at the bride's home. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's minister, of Metuchen. After the ceremony, the young couple departed for Washington. The boys of town gave them a hearty serenade.

The union meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Women's Missionary Circle of the Baptist church was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. LaTourrette.

Mr. Norman, the hotelkeeper, has engaged Stillman Randolph to build a large shed in the rear of the Fitzgerald property.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Major have returned home after a visit with relatives at Rocky Hill and Newark.

Camp No. 41, P. O. S. of A., will meet this evening at Washington Hall.

At Rescue Mission.

There will be an interesting entertainment at the Rescue Mission, on Grove street, tonight. Miss Von Ohl and others will recite and special music will be provided.

E. H. Booth and family, of Central avenue, has left town to spend the summer.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

WAS STRICKEN AT HIS HOME

JOHN FRANKLIN MOORE, A PAINTER, DIED SUDDENLY LAST NIGHT.

He Was Apparently in the Best of Health—He Leaves a Wife and Three Children.

John Franklin Moore, a painter, living on Chatham street, died very suddenly at his home last evening shortly after 8 o'clock.

Mr. Moore had been working for the last two weeks on Trinity Reformed church, and yesterday attended to his duties as usual. All day he complained of a slight pain in the region of his heart, but when he returned home from his work in the evening, was to all appearances as well as usual. He ate a hearty dinner, and sat down to read the paper, when he was suddenly taken ill, presumably with acute indigestion, causing pressure of blood from the heart. Dr. Clawson was called in attendance but it was too late to give any relief to the stricken man. He died ten minutes after the attack.

Mr. Moore leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss. The eldest child a litle girl, eleven years old, and there are two boys, seven and five years respectively. For the past fourteen years he had been employed as a painter with the firm of Woolston & Buckle. He was always known as a thoroughly reliable man, of good habits, devoted to the interests of his family, and up to the moment of his death was apparently in the best of health. Mr. Moore was a member of the union organization of painters.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

The balance of the Rockfellow Grocery Company's stock will be sold at auction commencing tomorrow.

The best of confectionery, always fresh, is to be found at John Wirth's West Front street bakery. He delivers all orders at the time agreed upon.

Apricots, plums, apples and bananas, luscious and tempting, at prices to attract the multitude, are on sale at R. W. Barnes', the Park avenue grocer.

If you want pure, wholesome ice cream this summer you can get it at Campbell's confectionery on West Front street. He also sells pure home-made candies.

Every variety of indigenous flower may be obtained from Wm. H. Brower's Sons, the New York florists. Floral design work is a specialty. Orders are received at the residence of John L. Brower, of East Fifth street.

It is not sufficient to have a suit of clothes look well. To receive full value they must wear well, and this is true of the clothes made by Cashin, the Park avenue custom tailor. He also carries a full stock of men's furnishings.

No home looks well without pictures, set in the right kind of frames. The Plainfield Art Store, in the Y. M. C. A. building, does framing that compares with the best in the city, and at prices that other stores cannot compete with.

The Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's local store has made a sweeping reduction in the price of canned Bartlett pears. They are the New York State variety and are simply delicious. The low price will prevail for this week only.

So many families have had trouble this summer with the milk that they are buying. It has failed to keep well even when put on ice. There is no such trouble experienced with the milk sold by William Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, as a trial will convince you.

BURGLARS AGAIN.

Several Dunellen Homes Were Entered and Robbed Last Evening—Captured Some Booty.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, June 26—Dunellen's semi-annual scare of burglary occurred last night and as a result several homes present a slightly reduced condition of finances. As usual the tramps who have infested the neighborhood for several weeks are suspected as the authors of the scare. Some unusually tough looking characters were seen on the streets last night and it is probable that they did the burglarizing.

The homes entered were those of Percy Ising, Harry Swackhamer, W. S. Fredericks and John Blaine, all on or near the same street, Dunellen avenue. In each case entrance was effected through a window on the lower floor. The only places anything was secured was at Isings, where $8.60 was secured and at Swackhamer's where $8 was taken.

Dunellenites are promising themselves at present that the next batch of tramps that comes to town will depart in greater haste than it came.

No Truth in It.

The story appearing in several other newspapers Tuesday evening, relating an alleged midnight somnolent walk of E. C. Woodward, of the Babcock annex, is declared by him to be false in every fibre. The story was as much of a surprise to him as it was to his friends, and he is of the opinion that it originated in the fertile brain of an over-zealous reporter.

Grand Fourth of July Excursion to Mauch Chunck and Glen Onoko via the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Special train will leave South Plainfield at 9:09 a. m., and returning will leave Glen Onoko, 5:30 p. m.; Mauch Chunk, 5:45 p. m. Fare for the round trip, adults, $1.50; children, 75 cents. Tickets with coupon for ride over the Switchback Railroad, 50 cents additional. 6 26 28 7 1 3

Graduated From Yale.

Carroll Trow Runyon, of East Ninth street, was graduated yesterday from the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University. He prepared for college at Leal's School, before which he also attended the Plainfield High School, where he won The Daily Press medal for the all-round athletic championship of the school.

Dr. Hedges Re-Elected.

At the annual meeting of the Medical Society of New Jersey, now being held at Atlantic City, Dr. E. W. Hedges, of this city, was nominated and re-elected corresponding secretary.

Mrs. E. W. Mills and daughter, Miss Fanny Mills, of the Stillman building, went to Brooklyn yesterday, where they will attend the wedding of a relative.

Yerkes as the same. He said that Dr. Yerkes had been with his people in joy and sadness for a long time and he was always willing to help others.

S. St. John McCutchen added his testimony of tribute to Dr. Yerkes and he spoke most highly of the long and faithful service given. He said that he had never known any other pastor and that Dr. Yerkes always sympathized with him promptly and cordially in his own affairs. He considered the pastorate a remarkable one and referred impressively to the fact that Dr. Yerkes as he now retires can look confidently into the future. Mr. McCutchen spoke of Dr. Yerkes as the dear old pastor and as the tried warrior who had fought a good fight, and concluded by saying that he would always be a pastor to those in the church so long as he lives.

George A. Chapman stated at this time that he would like to amend the resolutions so that the committee mentioned can be enlarged if necessary. This amendment was accepted. The resolutions were then passed by a rising vote given unanimously.

Mr. Randolph appointed the following persons on the committee according to the resolutions: Deacons, Henry E. Needham, E. L. Bonney; trustees, Alexander Gilbert, T. S. Armstrong; at large, Charles W. McCutchen, Halstead C. Compton. The meeting then adjourned.

While it was not so stated, it is the intention of the church through its committee on supplies to fill the pulpit with supplies until a pastor is chosen. The committee appointed last evening will undoubtedly hear a number of preachers until the members settle on some one. The one selected will then be asked to preach, after a report is submitted to the congregation. There will be no haste in this matter.

A. G. HOOLEY'S NEW HOME.

Ground Broken for New $10,000 Residence on Rockview Terrace.

Thomas McGann broke ground Tuesday on the southwest side of Rockview terrace, just west of Rockview avenue, for the erection of a handsome residence for Abram G. Hooley to cost $10,000, from plans drawn by Architect A. L. C. Marsh. The lot is a fine large one extending back to the brook.

John Milne has secured the contract for the work. Seaman Williams will do the mason work, Woolston & Buckle the painting and D. J. Galbraith the plumbing and heating. While the house is building, Mr. Hooley and family will reside on Mercer avenue, near Washington.

PATRIOTIC CELEBRATION.

Endeavorers Will Give a Special Meeting July 1.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church is making big preparations for a patriotic celebration next week. It is the intention to invite all the sister societies of Plainfield to participate in a grand union patriotic meeting to be held July 1. Rev. Joseph Sullivan, who occupied the pulpit of the First Baptist church during the absence of Rev. Dr. Yerkes, will deliver an address on the occasion. Arrangements are making for the presentation of a varied programme, consisting of vocal and other interesting features.

Fell Into Hands of Police.

John Francis Vreeland became drunk and disorderly, yesterday, with the result that he fell into the hands of Patrolman Higgins. This morning he was arraigned before Mayor Jenkins in the city court but at Chief Kiely's request he was remanded until tomorrow morning.

Tortures of the Habara.

The married Druse women of Mount Lebanon, in Asia Minor, labor under a distinct species of torture endured under their peculiar head veil. It is attached to a long horn or tambour, usually made of metal, which is fastened to the head by means of a cushion. These habaras are of an infinite variety of colors, embellished with tassels, bands of embroidery and fringes. Underneath this again is worn a face veil of coarse thick net so heavily embroidered that one can scarcely see or breathe through it. This is fastened close to the face and the habara drawn tightly over it. They are so muffled in the folds of these clumsy stuffs that the stranger has to look twice before he can decide whether they are advancing or retreating, and the poor wretches suffer acutely under the weight of their veils.—Detroit Free Press.

How Emery Is Quarried.

Emery comes from the island of Naxos, in the eastern Mediterranean, whence it has been exported for the last two centuries or more. The beds are in the northeast of the island. There are about 300 men engaged in the trade, all of whom have to be married before they are admitted to the fraternity. The material is much too hard to be dug out or even blasted. Great fires are lighted round the blocks till the natural cracks expand with the heat, and levers are then inserted to pry them apart. This system is continued until the blocks are reduced in size to masses of a cubic foot or less, and they are then shipped as if they were coal. There are said to be 20,000,000 tons yet available at Naxos. It is one of the hardest substances known. —St. James Budget.

Shape of the Earth.

The exact shape of the earth is a question which cannot be settled without fresh evidence from the antarctic. For this purpose two at least of the expeditions have been provided with pendulum outfits; by noting the exact length of time occupied by the swing of a pendulum the distance of the place of observation with the earth's center can be determined. It is held that the south pole regions project further from the plane of the equator than does the north pole region; according to one estimate the south pole is slightly more than one-hundredth further from the earth's center than the north pole.—Popular Science Monthly.

Peanut Men Invade London.

The floury potato and baked chestnut stalls are just now at a discount in the East end. It seems now that a few weeks ago an enterprising American firm, mindful of the great success which has attended the street sales of hot peanuts in the United States, established a street oven for the sale of this delicacy at the junction of Bishopsgate with Shoreditch. The youths of the locality soon showed a decided preference for the crisp peanut, and the single oven venture being a most successful one the firm decided to start other stalls, and in several parts of the East end hot peanuts were dispensed in large quantities.—London Express.

Sun-Spots and Droughts in India.

The government of British India, upon the suggestion of the Royal society, has decided to make a magnetic survey of the country. It is thought that this work may throw light upon the question whether, as Sir Norman Lockyer maintains, there is an association between sunspots and Indian droughts. The connection of sunspots with terrestrial magnetism has, in a general way, long been recognized. —Science.

His Gentle Hint.

"How much of a salary do you get?" asked the inquisitive diner.

"Oh, I don't get any salary," replied the obsequious waiter. "The gentlemen that dine here are such perfect gentlemen that I don't need any regular salary or wages."

As the diner reached down into his pocket for a tip he was heard to mutter something about curiosity always being costly.—Chicago Post.

Followers of a Prophet.

At the present day there are 250,000,000 Musselmans in the world. The Christian population is put at 447,000,000; but the increase of Islam is more rapid than that of its sister religion. Never before has there been such devotion to Mohammedanism as in India at this time under British rule.—N. Y. Sun.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 29, "The Father's Care"—Text, Matt. vi, 25-34; Ps. ciii, 13-14.

"Like as a father pitieth children, the Lord pitieth them that fear him."

Many young people have during the past season been studying more closely than ever before flowers and birds, vegetable and animal life. A new and vast world of wondrous fascination has been opened to them of which they have before known almost nothing and which now they have only just begun to explore. Few facts are more interesting in this world of creatures than those connected with their food and houses and clothing. The more closely the habits of the little creatures and lowly forms of life are watched and studied the more wonderful becomes their freedom from worriment and care for the future and their safety in a world swarming with enemies and dangers. Their food is found and eaten by them as needed, but they never look out for the future. It is one meal at a time. The more we think of it the more singular it seems that all things should work together so well. How clearly it all shows a vast plan of deep wisdom and power! There is also to be seen and studied the way plants protect the life of seeds and birds feed and care for their young for awhile until they can care for themselves.

But all of this is far below the care and love, the mercy and compassionate affection, of a human parent. Birds work and will fight hard to defend their little ones. This shows some sense of regard. But how far short it all comes of the great, whole souled love of a father! How a man will work and deny himself to feed and clothe, to give a good home and education to his children. Who can ever describe the heart feelings of a great strong, rough man as he takes in his arms the little helpless bundle of humanity, his first child! He is shy and awkward with it because he never, perhaps, held a baby before—never his own baby. He becomes gentle, the rough voice is subdued, the heavy step grows lighter, and a new nature opens up in him such as he never knew before. He has new views of life, new joys and new hopes. He will work now for that little fellow as he never worked for himself or any one else. How he hurries home from work to see his baby! How he watches every new development day after day, and how glad he is to see the little thing grow! What little fingers gripping his great big fingers! What a helpless little mite! The very littleness and helplessness make him love the more. How tenderly he will carry that baby on his arm hour after hour through the nights of sickness and almost put his own life into the little sick frame!

But such love is only just a faint shadow of God's great affection.

God shows his care for us as creatures by the way he has made the world so we can get food, shelter and clothing as safely and surely as do birds, beasts and plants. But this is not father love. His real affection for us is seen only in Jesus Christ and is shown by his life and death for us. It is realized in soul feelings, of trust, hope and love and not in meat and drink and money. The soul that has come to reverence and love God by full surrender of all its life to loving obedience to and glad appropriation of the divine impulses through the Holy Spirit has begun to understand God as Father and not merely as Creator.

Jesus.

It is difficult, without exhausting superlatives, even to inexpressive and wearisome satiety, to do justice to our intense love, reverence and admiration for the character and teaching of Jesus. We regard Him not as the perfection of the intellectual or philosophical mind, but as the perfection of the spiritual character—as surpassing all men of all times in the closeness and depth of His communion with the Father. In reading His sayings we feel that we are, holding converse with the wisest, purest, noblest Being that ever clothed thought in the poor language of humanity. In studying His life we feel that we are following the footsteps of the highest ideal yet presented to us upon earth. Blessed be God that so much manliness has been lived out and stands there yet a lasting monument to mark how high the tides of divine life have risen in the world of man!—William Rathbone Greg.

Thanking God.

It is no legend, but daily fact, that souls in sorrow and pain are lifted up in the faith there is a God of love, though their lot is hard. A great joy fills the heart out of whose depths may rise the cry, "Thank God, there is God, from whom nothing can separate His children—not persecution nor distress nor peril nor the sword, things present nor things to come!" They who cherish this assurance do make the heaven they hope indeed their home. In such a faith does life find a meaning, a meaning which joins the ends of experience in endless thanksgiving and transports us as if through the air into the midst of light supernal.—Christian Register.

The Missionary Spirit.

What is the missionary spirit? It is the spirit of love, of generosity, of unselfishness. It is the spirit of him who, when he finds something precious, desires to share it.—Rev. Jabez T. Sunderland.

After All.

After all is said and done,
The battle lost or battle won,
Laureled head or heart of pain,
One thought the soul should entertain:
Did I do my level best?
Leave to a righteous Judge the rest;
Recompense belongs to Him.
And kismet is its eponym!
—Lippincott's Magazine.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 29—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—National prosperity.—Prov. xiv, 34; Deut. vi, 10-12.

Never in the history of our country was our national prosperity greater than it is today. Our political domain is more extensive than ever before, and our prestige among the nations of the world has reached its highest point up to the present time. We are in the midst of an industrial prosperity that seems almost like a dream. Egypt's seven years of plenty were not to be compared to the unbounded extent and the unrivaled character of our national industrial condition. Religion, the arts and the sciences are also prosperous in our land, and we can say with genuine enthusiasm, God "hath not dealt so with any other nation." The present is therefore a most opportune moment in which to make a thoughtful and prayerful study of the subject of national prosperity.

The topical references suggest two important facts upon this subject.

1. National prosperity is a blessing from God. God is the God of nations as well as the God of individuals. He raiseth up one and bringeth down another. That the prosperity of a nation is a gift from God is the direct teaching of the Scriptures. It was God who in Canaan was to give the Jewish nation "goodly cities, which thou buildedst not, and houses full of good things, which thou filledest not, and wells digged, which thou diggedst not, vineyards and olive trees, which thou plantedst not." Nor is prosperity less from God because it comes usually indirectly through His blessing upon nature and the works of our own hands. Presumption and pride should not possess us in our hours of national prosperity, but rather humbleness and trust in God, the Giver of all good gifts. As Israel in the day of its prosperity was warned to beware lest it should forget that it was the Lord who brought it out of Egypt and made of the people a great nation, so we should be on our guard "lest we forget."

2. National prosperity can only be continued by fidelity to God and to the righteousness that is pleasing in the sight of God. "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." "The nation that forgets God shall perish." If becoming proud and presumptuous in their prosperity the American people become unjust, immoral, godless, extravagant and reckless, leaving the paths of righteousness, of judgment and of equity, what a crash there will be! Prosperity produced by divine favor will give way to adversity, the result of divine condemnation. We may well wonder what is to be the outcome of the present unparalleled conditions in our country, and in our speculations we may rest assured that just as certainly as night follows day if as a nation we forget God, disregard his laws, trample under foot His day and neglect His house disaster will come. Our prosperity will be swept away in a night, and darkness, disaster and despair will cover the land. The supreme national duty of the hour is to keep close to God. It is to be guided by His wisdom, to practice His laws and to depend upon Him alone as our national guide and preserver.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. vi, 8-10; Neh. ii, 1-5; Ps. xxxiii, 10-22; li, 18; Jer. xxix, 7; Matt. xvii, 24-27; Luke xiii, 34; Rom. ix, 1-5; x, 1; 1 Tim. ii, 1-3; Heb. xi, 8-16.

A Parable.

There is a story of a king who gave a great quantity of thread to some workmen to weave, telling them to be sure to come to him when they had any trouble with it. The day came when all were to bring their work to the king. All the work showed that the threads had been tangled except that of one little girl. Hers was smooth and well finished. She was asked the reason, and her answer was: "I did as the king told me. Whenever I got into the least bit of a tangle, I went to the king, and he helped me." Things about us, and we ourselves sometimes, seem to get into tangles. Like the little girl, let us learn to take all these little tangles to the great King, and He will unravel them for us. He will heal our sorrows, soothe the troubled heart and give us help and comfort. Go and tell Jesus.—Brethren Evangelist.

Prejudice.

Prejudice never reasons, but moves and sways the mind and action from some instinctive or sudden or biased impulse. It has its seat in ignorance, weakness or idleness. It is a blindness of perception and relation which leads to personal and public injury. It acts as a hindrance to truth, knowledge and to progress. It is a neutralizing force that resists and modifies the most cogent arguments, the most powerful discourses, the most moving appeals and the most stirring considerations.—Presbyterian.

If I Can Live.

If I can live
To make some pale face brighter and to give
A second luster to some tear dimmed eye
Or e'en impart
One throb of comfort to an aching heart
Or cheer some way worn soul in passing by;

If I can lend
A strong hand to the fallen or defend
The right against a single envious strain,
My life, though bare,
Perhaps, of much that seemeth dear and fair
To us on earth, will not have been in vain.

The purest joy
Most near to heaven, far from earth's alloy,
Is bidding clouds give way to sun and shine,
And 'twill be well
If on that day of days the angels tell
Of me, "She did her best for one of Thine."

Plainfield Citizens Gladly Testify.

It is testimony like the following that has placed "the little conqueror" so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Plainfield citizen:

Mr. Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for two or three years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp, shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew so stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicine for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after two or three days I felt better. I continued their use until the pain disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Union Avenue from North Avenue to Elizabeth Avenue; Elizabeth Avenue, from Union Avenue to Orange Avenue; and Orange Avenue, from Elizabeth Avenue to South Twelfth Street, all in the Township of Cranford, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, Nineteen Hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee, enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as estimated in advance, is as follows:

4,440 cubic Yards of Excavation.
7,785 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
2,590 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
405 square yards of Resurfacing Macadam, Two inches thick.
5 Culverts to be lowered.
8 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

Plans and Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of the Township Engineer, 25 Dix Building, Elizabeth, N. J.

JACOB L. BAUER,
6-12-15 Township Engineer.

SUMMER NOVELTIES.

Coats and Skirts of Lace—The New Sleeve—A Fashionable Veil.

Sack coats and skirts made of heavy white lace are among the summer novelties.

Many of the new sleeves are immensely big between the elbow and wrist. This pouch is nearly always of some thin material—mousseline over mousseline of another color, lace, etc. The upper part of the sleeve is in the form of a close fitting cap.

Smart negligees are made of three accordion plaited flounces of white nun's veiling. The hems are cut into deep points and edged with narrow chiffon embroidery.

The fashionable veil of the present has a white mesh lightly plaided with black and is decorated with velvet dots which are white on one side and black on the other, so that when turned the veil presents quite a different appearance.

A smart muslin evening gown is shown in the picture. The material is sheer white, and it is figured with a little black dot. The waist has a fichu of plain white organdie, which fastens in front with a big rosette. This fichu is edged with fine black lace, and black lace figures also appear appliqued on the blouse part of the waist. The sleeves are mere pretenses, consisting of latticework made of white ribbon. The belt is of narrow white ribbon. The skirt has a full flounce of the plain white muslin banded with straps of white ribbon. The overskirt has irregular applications of black lace.

CHANGES IN FASHION.

Plain Coats Are No Longer as Smart as Formerly.

The Eton, the bolero and the Russian coat appear to be a long way ahead of all other coats for general wear, although some dressy sack models are being shown, and the Louis coat has its votaries. The plain coat, however, has had its day, and fashionable women pass it by. The large, loose fitting coats are accepted for carriage and evening wear, but capes are almost entirely ignored except by those who require elderly fashions.

The blouse is still in request, though it is by no means as universal as formerly, but bodices are still made blouse fashion.

There is undoubtedly a tendency to return to plain skirts this spring. Many, however, which cannot be termed plain have still the long, unbroken line from waist to hem. Tiny tucks run in horizontal groups and are alternated with lines of baby velvet, braid or lace, and this is a popular fashion for voile.

NET BLOUSE.

The pretty summer blouse in the illustration is made of net, with a yoke and insertion of guipure lace. The fullness below the waist is held in fine tucks. The sleeves have an insertion running through their centers and a cluster of fine tucks. The waist buttons down the back with tiny silk buttons.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright, 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

When the young woman went her way the president stepped to the window and presented the check. Up to that instant he had clung desperately to the hope that some fortunate happening would forestall the catastrophe; now he was determined to give the teller a warning signal, come what might. But on the pinnacle of resolution the robber came closer, and Andrew Galbraith felt the pressure of the pistol muzzle against his side—nay, more; he fancied he could feel the cold chill of the metal strike through and through him.

"Give me currency for that, Johnson," he said, with what composure there was in him.

The teller glanced at the check and then at his superior, not too inquisitively, since it was not his duty to question the president's order.

"How will you have it?" he asked; and it was the younger man who answered.

"Three hundred in fives, tens and twenties, loose, if you please. The remainder in the largest denominations put up in a package."

It was done as he directed, and he followed the teller's count as methodically as if it had been the most commonplace of business transactions. When the money was handed him he stuffed the smaller bills carelessly into his pocket, put the package containing the ninety-nine thousand odd dollars under his arm, nodded to the president, backed away to the door and vanished.

Then it was that Andrew Galbraith suddenly found speech, opening his mouth and pouring forth a torrent of frenzied incoherence which presently got itself translated into a hue and cry; and New Orleans, the unimpetuous, had its sensation ready made.

CHAPTER IV.

If Kenneth Griswold had been neither more nor less than a professional highwayman he would probably have been taken and jailed within the hour, inasmuch as his cast for fortune included no well wrought out plan of escape. But since he was both wiser and less cunning than the journeyman bank robber, and was, moreover, a hungry enthusiast who had argued himself into the belief that his act was merely illegal and not wrong, he threw the police off the scent by doing that which no criminal would have had the nerve to do.

Once safely in the street, with the package of bank notes under his arm, he was moved to do some extravagant thing celebrative of his success. It had proved to be such a simple matter, after all; one bold stroke; a small bloodless tussle with the plutocratic dragon whose hold upon his prey is so easily broken; and presto! the hungry proletary is himself a power in the land, strong to do good or evil as the gods may direct.

This was the prompting to levitation as it might have been set in words; but in Griswold's thought it was but a swift suggestion, followed immediately by another which was much more to the purpose. He was hungry; there was a restaurant next door to the bank. Without a thought of the risk he ran, or of the audacious subtlety of such an expedient at such a critical moment, he went in, sat down at one of the small tables and calmly ordered breakfast.

Now, hunger is a lusty special pleader, and it will make itself heard above any pulpit drum of the higher faculties; hence Griswold thought less of what he had done than of what he was about to eat, until the hue and cry reminded him that the chase had begun. Whereupon, not to be suspiciously incurious, he put on the mask of innocence and asked the waiter concerning the uproar.

The man did not know what had happened, but he would go and find out if M'sieu' so desired. "M'sieu'" said breakfast first and information afterward, by all means. Both came in due season, and Griswold ate while he listened.

Transmuted into the Creole-English of the serving-man, the story of the robbery lost nothing in its sensational features.

"Ha! W'at you t'ink, M'sieu'?" De bank nex' do' is been rob!" and upon this theme excited volubility descants at large. The bank was surrounded by a gang of desperate men and every exit guarded while the leader, a masked giant, armed to the teeth, had compelled the president at the muzzle of a pistol to pay a ransom of fifty—one hundred—five hundred thousand dollars. With the money the gang had vanished, the masked giant firing the pistol at M'sieu' the president as he went. Cross-examined, the waiter could not affirm positively as to the shot. But as for the rest there could be no doubt.

Griswold ordered a second cup of coffee, and while the waiter tarried, conscience—not the enlightened conscience, but the conventional—bent its bow and sped its final arrow. It was suddenly brought home to the enthusiast with sharp emphasis that to all civilized mankind, save and excepting only those few chosen ones who shared his peculiar convictions, he was a common thief, a robber, an outlaw.

Public opinion, potential or expressed, is at best but an intangible thing; but for a few seconds Griswold writhed under the ban of it as if it had been a whip of scorpions. Then he smiled to think how strong are the bonds of custom, and conscience flung away its empty quiver. None the less, the enthusiast was rather thankful for the chastening. It served to remind him afresh of his mission. This money which he had just wrested from the plutocratic dragon should be held as a sacred trust; it should be devoted scrupulously to the cause of the oppressed. Just how it was to be applied he had not yet determined, but that could be decided later.

Meanwhile it was very evident that the dragon did not intend to accept defeat without a struggle, and Griswold set his wits at work upon the problem of escape.

"It's a little queer that I hadn't thought of that part of it," he mused. "I suppose the other fellow, the real robber, would have figured himself safely out of it—or would have thought he had—before he made a move. As I didn't, I've got to do it now, and there isn't much time to throw away. Let me see—" he shut his eyes and went into the inventive trance beloved of the literary craftsman—"the keynote must be originality. I must do something that the other fellow wouldn't think of doing."

He dallied with the second cup of coffee and outlined a plan, basing it upon a further cross-questioning of the waiter. The man had been to the door again, and by this time the street excitement had subsided sufficiently to approach the truth. The rumor of an armed gang guarding the bank doors had been a canard. There had been but one man, and the street gossips were beginning to describe him with discomforting accuracy.

Griswold paid his score and went out with studied nonchalence. He reasoned that, notwithstanding the growing accuracy of the street report, he was in no immediate danger so long as he remained in the immediate vicinity of the bank. It was safe to assume that this was one of the things that the journeyman bank robber would not do. But it was also evident that he must speedily lose his identity if he hoped to escape; and that the lost identity must leave no trace behind it.

Proposals.

Proposals for regulating, grading and macadamizing Walnut Avenue, in the Township of Cranford, from South Avenue to the Lehigh Valley Railroad, will be received by the Township Committee of Cranford Township, at the Township rooms, on the Twenty-sixth day of June, nineteen hundred and two, at eight o'clock p. m.

At the above-named place and hour, the bids will be publicly opened and read, and the award of the contract made to such person or persons, as soon thereafter as practicable, as the Township Committee may elect.

All bids must be made upon the bidding sheet which accompanies the specifications, and all bids must have the prices written in the bids and also stated in figures. The right is expressly reserved by the Township Committee to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the Township.

Each bid must be accompanied by a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with security satisfactory to the Township Committee, with the condition that, in case the Township Committee shall award the work, the successful bidder shall within the time specified by the Township Committee enter into a contract with the Township Committee for the carrying out and completion of the work.

The work to be done, as nearly as can be estimated in advance, is as follows:

3,500 cubic yards of Excavation.
6,756 square yards of Macadam, Six inches thick.
7,404 square yards of Macadam, Four inches thick.
2 Bridges and 2 Culverts to be lowered.
9 Manholes and Flushtanks to be lowered.

Plans and Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of the Township Engineer, 25 Dix Building, Elizabeth, N. J.

JACOB L. BAUER, Township Engineer.

The Peking Mandarin Paper.

By the courtesy of Mr. Hwang Chung-huei, of Peking, for the editors, we have received the first number of the mandarin paper, the inauguration of which we chronicled in this column some days ago. The subjects treated are: Why we are issuing a paper in mandarin not in wenli, Chinese and foreign news, the treaty, the history of Poland, the last hundred years of women in the west, a catechism on the earth, two fables, and concluding with the rules of the paper. The first journal of this kind was issued at Hangchow, and now Peking follows suit. It will be issued once in ten days at ten cents per number. This startling departure we might expect to emanate from foreigners—e. g., missionaries—who are tired of the trammels in which Chinese wenli wraps the human mind and strike off in a new line, aiming at the diffusion of knowledge as against its present concentration in the hands of the select few. But no, it is heathen scholarship which thus dares to cast aside the canons of the past and brave the ridicule of the long-robed crowd by printing—actually printing, mark you—a language understood of the common mass of the people. All honor to those who thus break the ice. May their enterprise be successful.—Shanghai Mercury.

Swedes Make Odor-Proof Paper.

The Swedes, as well as the Germans, have invented some remarkable appliances for paper, among which is a grease-proof paper which is superior to any other so far produced, but which will soon be matched by an equally good, if not better, article made in this country. One of the uses of this grease-proof paper abroad is for the wrapping of butter for shipment. While there is plenty of merely grease-proof paper now made here, that is used extensively for the wrapping of hams, bacon and similar food products, it has not the merit of being odor-proof as well as grease-proof, and butter is so sensitive to odors that this paper would not serve in packing it for shipment. The Swedish grease-proof paper, on the other hand, is absolutely odor-proof as well, and nearly all the vast quantity of butter shipped from Denmark to England is wrapped in it. The butter reaches Great Britain in pound packages closely enveloped in the grease and odor-proof paper—packages that in a sense are hermetically sealed.—N. Y. Sun.

The Glaciers Are Going.

According to Prof. Forel, who has made a special study of the Alpine glaciers during the past 25 years, the day of the glacier is gone. They are deteriorating slowly, but with steady pesistence, and diminution becomes more marked from year to year. There is only one exception to this rule—that of Bovier, in the valley of Entremont, which since 1892 has shown continuous growth. The famous glaciers of the Rhone have shrunk 755 meters since 1874, or an average of 29 meters a year. Many have so changed during the past few years that old tourists after a few seasons of absence have failed to recognize them. Some hotels once standing in the immediate proximity of glaciers are now at a considerable distance from them—to the serious loss of the proprietors. — Pall Mall Gazette.

A Rich Territory.

Western Australia is one of the richest territories in the world, as man counts riches, and its wealth lies in that which mankind has been striving after ever since he made it an article of value—gold. There is gold in abundance in western Australia, scattered in irregular patches all over the state. Some of these patches are 100 miles in length by 30 or 40 in breadth. To-day it is said that the total area of the gold fields of western Australia is over 324,000 square miles, or just one-third of the area of the colony itself.—N. Y. Sun.

An Insinuation.

"Dear me!" said the British belle, "no wonder if those horrid Yankee papers are daring to insinuate that we have large feet." "Why, dear?" asked her friend. "Oh, I was just reading one that said: 'The American shoe has invaded England, and the British ladies are wearing large numbers.'"—Philadelphia Record.

Fond Mother—Oh, I am so glad you came in! I don't know what on earth ails the baby.

Caller—Shall I run for the doctor?

"No, for an interpreter. His French nurse left suddenly to-day, and nobody can understand what he says."—The Wave.

Fatiguing.

"Come on," said Weary Waggles, as he gave his sleeping comrade a kick.

"Naw" replied Willie Wontwalk, "I can't go enny furder; I'm too tired."

"Wot made youse tired?"

"I dreampt I wuz wurkin'," replied Willie.—Ohio State Journal.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The New Market A. C. has been unexpectedly left without a game for next Saturday. They would like to fill the date with some first-class team. Address F. A. Dayton, New Market, N. J.

The game scheduled for Saturday at Westfield with the Marion Field Club, of Jersey City, has been cancelled and the crack Cedars, champions of the Bronx borough of Manhattan, substituted. This team has defeated the Emeralds and Suburbans this season and is considered the equal of Westfield.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I saw your article in Wednesday's Press regarding the team you had picked out to play Westfield. In reply allow me to say that I believe it is not necessary for you to go all the way to Westfield to have the team mentioned beaten as we have a team right here in Scotch Plains that can do the trick to the Queen's taste.

QUOIT CONTEST.

How the Teams Stand in Tournament Being Conducted by Freedom Castle.

The quoit pitching contest now being conducted under the auspices of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, is exciting considerable interest. The games were started June 17 and continued Tuesday evening. Twenty-one points count a game and each team will play fourteen games or a game with every other team. The first prize is a gold emblem of the Knights of the Golden Eagle to each member of the winning team, value $5. The second prize, is also a gold emblem of the order to be presented to each member of the second highest team, value $2.50. The contest will not be decided until the last of July. The committee in charge of the contest is composed of A. C. Hoagland, R. V. Kinney and F. S. Bowman.

The standing of the teams to date is as follows: Carver and Forrestel, 1,000 per cent.; Vail and Kohler, 750; Cranston and Cranston, 750; Bush and Runyon, 750; Day and Martin, 667; Kirch and Hummer, 600; Kinney and Hoagland, 500; Bowman and Randolph, 400; Curren and Voorhees, 333; Allen and Luckey, 250; Niles and Hummer, 000; Disher and Clark, 000; Kenyon and Rosenstiehl, 000.

OPENED COURT HOUSE BIDS

TEN WERE EXAMINED BY FREEHOLDERS' COMMITTEE YESTERDAY.

What Different Contactors Want for Building Union County's New Court House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 26—The bids for the new court house were opened yesterday afternoon at the court house. The entire committee, consisting of Director Hubbard, Freeholders Farrell and Brucklacher and Collector Wood, was present. Ten bids were submitted. Mr. Ackerman, of Ackerman & Ross, and architects, was present to assist the committee.

The first one was from the American Bridge Company, of New York, for the structural steel work for $32,270, and $19,922 for the ornamental iron work, including stair railing and two stair cases, the work to be complete in twenty-four months.

John H. Parker Company, of New York, bid for all work excepting structural steel work, lighting fixtures and furniture, $534,750. The third bid was from Conners Brothers, of Lowell, Mass, with the same exceptions as the Parker Company. The amount of their bid was $555,000.

Alexander Brown, Jr., of New York city, bid with the same exceptions and also omitting the plastering, $540,000. J. C. Vreeland & Co., of New York, bid with same exceptions as the Parker Company, $561,819, and guaranteed the work to be complete in 700 days. For the structural iron work they bid $28,590.

Norcross Bros., New York, bid $617,909 for the entire building excepting the lighting and furniture. The Probst Construction Company, substituting pink granite, bid $539,327.

Moffatt, Hewitt & Norris, New York, bid with the usual exception, $544,980. William T. Kirk Company, of Plainfield, bid with the usual exceptions, $585,990, and for the structural steel work, $32,100.

The last bid was for the iron and steel work only, from the Hinkle Iron Company, for $32,400.

Omitting the Probst Construction Company's bid the bids are apparently arranged in this order: Lowest, John H. Parker Company, $534,750; and J. C. Vreeland Company, $563,340.

Emery Wheel Burst.

By the bursting of an emery wheel and the flying of the fragments in all directions, yesterday afternoon in the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works, Michael Seader, of Pearl street, was severely injured in the left leg just below the knee, by one of the flying particles. Dr. Lufborrow dressed the injured man's wound. Mr. Seader will be laid up for a month or more.

Bridal Couple Known Here.

Francis McGinley, of High Bridge, and Miss Anna Bullman, of Phillipsburg, two young people well known in this city, were married in St. Catherine's church, at the latter place, yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was witnessed by a party of young people from this city.

MASONIC HALL FOR CRANFORD

AZURE LODGE WILL BE MOVED FROM ROSELLE TO THAT PLACE.

Will be the Only Masonic Building in Union County—It Will Cost About $20,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, June 26—Cranford is to have the distinction of having the only Masonic hall building in Union county. Azure Lodge, F. and A. M., for many years located at Roselle, is to move here in the fall, and later will take possession of a handsome new building, costing $20,000.

The building is being erected under the direction of the Masonic Hall Association of Cranford, a corporation formed last winter, with a total capital stock of $25,000 divided into 1,000 shares of a par value of $25 each. The company began business with 450 shares subscribed for. Thomas A. Sperry, of trading stamp fame, took 200 shares; John H. Cromwell, a prominent lawyer of New York city, took forty and Max O. Doering, of Cranford, 200 shares. The property is situated at Union avenue and Alden street, in the centre of the town.

The building will contain four large stores on the ground floor, and a council and a township committee room and a spacious flat of six rooms on the second floor. The third floor will contain the lodge room, ante-rooms, parlors, etc., and the fourth floor will be a large banquet hall. The lodge room will be handsomely decorated with ivory white, deep red and cream colors, and in the centre of the room will be a large dome lighted at night by electricity applied in an original way.

The exterior of the building will be of buff color brick with light gray stone trimmings. The building will be eighty-eight feet front and seventy feet deep. Such a building will not only be a great ornament to the town, but add greatly to the value of real estate in the vicinity. The majority of the members of Azure Lodge are Cranford citizens, and the grand master gave his consent to the removal here. The Masons expect to be in their handsome new home before another year rolls round.

ARM CRUSHED.

D. W. Teller, of Harmony Street, Injured at Safe Works Last Night.

D. W. Teller, of Harmony street, a night employe in the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works, had his elbow and arm badly crushed last night while in the act of coupling up two heads on a pit grinder. The heads came too close together, squeezing Teller's arm in a vice-like grasp. Dr. Lufborrow was called in attendance and dressed the injured member. Mr. Teller's injury will necessitate his abandonment of work for five or six weeks at the least.

QUARTER CENTURY FOR TEMPERANCE WORKERS

Woman's Christian Temperance Union Celebrated Its Anniversary Last Night.

AT VINCENT CHAPEL.

CHIEF SPEAKER WAS MRS. ELLA BOOLE, PRESIDENT OF N. Y. STATE UNION.

Mrs. John French Read a Brief Sketch of Union's Career in Plainfield—Mrs. Bourne, State President, Also Made a Speech.

The completion of its twenty-fifth year as an organization was signalized by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, last evening, with appropriate exercises in Vincent chapel. Many prominent people were among the large assemblage which filled the building and much enthusiasm in the proceedings was manifested.

On the platform were Mrs. E. A. Parse, president of the Union, Honorary Vice President Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. Emma Bourne, of Newark, president of the New Jersey State Union, and Mrs. Ella Boole, of Brooklyn, president of the New York State Union. Following scripture reading by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass and prayer by Rev. John McMurray, the exercises were opened by a brief resume of the Union's career read by Mrs. John French, the present secretary. In this it was stated the women organized first to combat the liquor evil in 1877. The meeting was held in the lecture room of the First Baptist church and the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Dr. Stockbridge; vice president, Mrs. William Scribner; recording secretary, Mrs. H. M. Conroy; corresponding secretary and treasurer, Mrs. James Hayes. The Union continued to grow steadily and at the close of the first year boasted of eighty members. It now has 202. This organization has at various times conducted juvenile temperance organizations such as the Band of Hope and the at present Loyal Temperance Legion which, under the guidance of Miss May Howlett, has become an important institution, and was instrumental in the formation of the Plainfield Reform Club in 1884.

Following Mrs. French's most interesting sketch, Mrs. Bourne was introduced and addressed the members at some length in congratulatory terms. She reviewed briefly the work of the State branch and in closing asserted there were three reasons why the saloons, the W. C. T. U's. greatest enemies, continued to exist. These she declared to be; first, the appetite of the drinker; second, the greed and avarice of the manufacturers and retailers of spirituous liquors; and third, the vast amount of indifference displayed by the greatest majority of people in every community. When this was realized more fully by the members of the local unions, she said, and their campaign conducted on these lines, the White Ribboners would make much more rapid progress. In closing she pleaded for an increased interest in the cause as it needed but activity to succeed.

Following a solo, "I'll Do What You Want Me to Do" by Mrs. Thomas McDonald, Mrs. Boole began her address on the subject, "The Woman in the Case" which dealt with the wives and mothers who had to suffer from the drink curse through the thoughtless folly of men and boys. Referring to the occasion, Mrs. Boole said the cause advocated by the W. C. T. U. was to be congratulated in possessing such a strong local union as that of Plainfield and the community itself was fortunate in being able to lay claim to such an organization. She predicted a still greater growth in proportion for twenty-five years to come than the quarter century just rounded out. Her address in the main was a most convincing argument, well worded and aptly illustrated by means of numerous touching anecdotes.

Before the meeting closed an earnest appeal for recruits in the work was made by Mrs. Tomlinson and the request was not without good results. The exercises closed with benediction pronounced by Rev. Dr. Shaw.

Family Reunion.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, of Westervelt avenue, has been entertaining his brothers, one from Maryland and the other from California. Today Dr. Carroll left for Cape May, where there will be a family reunion at the old family homestead.

SMASHED WAGON.

Sudden Backing of Ice Wagon Carried Destruction to a Road Wagon and Bicycles.

The sudden backing up of a team of horses attached to one of McDonough Brothers' ice wagons, on Park avenue, near Front street, this morning, resulted in a general mix-up of vehicles and bicycles.

A road wagon, in which Mrs. W. S. Smith, of Greenbrook road, was seated, was struck first and raised upward. By a surprisingly quick move Mrs, Smith jumped out and escaped injury, but the wagon was jammed against the curb and made a wreck. It fell among a group of bicycles.

When the tangle was straightened out, it was found one belonging to William Mundy had been almost completely demolished. The driver of the ice wagon, John McDonough, agreed to pay for the damage caused.

DUNELLEN'S FESTIVAL.

Great Crowd Heard Good Music by Dunellen Band and Then It Bought Up Everything.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, June 27—The fact that the lawn festival given last evening by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian chruch was in the borough park was a big drawing card. Another attraction was the presence of the Dunellen brass band. The park was tastefully decorated with bunting and lanterns.

Miss Ella Dunham was supervisor of the whole affair. The committees under her included the candy committee, chairman, Miss Emma Craig, Miss Kate Dunham, Edith Boice and Josie Dealaman. There were three ice cream booths in charge of A. A. Lake, S. Naylor, Miss Mary Teel and Miss Helen Dunham. Waitresses were Misses Lizzie Dunham, Nellie Dodwell, Amy Sampson, Ethel Garretson, Carrie Wyhuskey, Lillian Randolph, Mamie Snyder, Edna Coriell, Edna Baldwin. The peanut stand was in charge of Misses Eva Snyder, Ella Doerling and Jeanneate Lake.

The size of the crowd had not been anticipated and there was not a sufficient supply of anything.

The brass band acquitted itself very creditably under the leadership of David Lawson and many compliments were heard on the excellent playing. The selections were popular and the musical part of the affair could not have been bettered.

SOLD BY SHERIFF.

Two Plainfield Properties Disposed of at Public Sale.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 27—Sheriff Houston, at public sale Wednesday, disposed of two tracts of land in Plainfield, realizing on each $2,000.

The first property sold was that advertised for which John C. Morris was administrator, Henry C. Melick complainant, and Daniel W. Martin defendant. It was bought in by the administrator.

The second sale was that in which John Hull Browning was complainant and Mary L. Smith and others defendants, the property in question being located at Front street and Lincoln avenue.

Neat Sum Realized.

As a result of the lawn festival held at the residence of Mrs. J. R. Hill on Woodland avenue last week for the benefit of a cripple child at the hospital, the sum of $85 was netted. The receipts were $102, but the balance will be necessary for expenses. However, those in charge hope to make the net profit $100.

One of the Nine.

Among the members of the original Ladies' Nine, who met for a social reunion in the Y. M C. A. hall last Tuesday evening was Mrs. Frank T. Clawson, whose name was inadvertently omitted from the list of those present.

Election at Perseverance.

At the regular meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P. to be held this evening, the semi-annual election of officers will take place. Afterward business matters of importance are to be transacted.

Lawn Festival.

The Willing Workers of Trinity Reformed church will hold their lawn party tonight, and not this afternoon as previously announced, at the home of the Misses Lindsay, Mountain avenue

To Preach at Raritan.

Rev. Dr. Halleron, presiding elder of the Elizabeth district, will preach in the M. E. church, Raritan, Sunday morning.

—Neuman Brothers receive fresh, daily, Jersey green and wax beans, peas, lettuce, hothouse cucumbers and tomatoes.

CAME OVER THE SEA TO WIN HIS BRIDE

Trans-Atlantic Romance Culminated in a Marriage in This City Last Evening.

DETAILS OF CEREMONY.

MARRIAGE OF MISS LUCY CLIFTON TO JAMES ARDERN, OF THIS CITY.

Were Schoolmates in English Hamlet—Renewed Acquaintance in Liverpool—Met Here to Wed at Home of Groom's Brother.

A pretty June wedding which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ardern, of South Second street, last evening, was the culmination of a trans-Atlantic romance which began in Liverpool, England, and which ended in this city. The contracting parties were Miss Lucy Clifton, of this city, and James Ardren, formerly of Liverpool but now of Plainfield.

Early in life the two were schoolmates in a little English hamlet, but the removal of Miss Clifton to America resulted in their losing sight of each other until two years ago. Miss Clifton was then on a visit to friends in the great sea port city of England and by chance met the friend of her school days. Their acquaintance was renewed and when Miss Clifton sailed for home she left her heart behind her. Mr. Ardern shortly afterward came to this country and the wedding was set for last evening.

The parlor where the ceremony took place was a mass of crimson roses, artistically arranged, while in one corner was an arch of roses, sweet peas and other flowers, beneath which the young people stood while the words which united them for life were pronounced by Rev. Dr. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

Attending Miss Clifton was Miss Polly Gurran, who acted as bridemaid. The former was becomingly attired in a fawn colored gown of crepe de chine, trimmed with silk applique. In her hand she held a cluster of white carnations. Miss Gurran's gown was of grey crepe de chine with chiffon trimmings. John Clifton, a brother of the bride, acted as best man and the party was completed by the flower girl, Miss Emmeline Foster, and the page, Willie Ardern. The Lohengrin wedding march was played by Walter Foster.

The completion of the ceremony was the signal for congratulations to be showered upon Mr. and Mrs. Ardern, after which the guests partook of a collation. Later in the evening the bride and groom departed for a wedding trip of a week's duration, the destination of which they refused to divulge.

Both young people were generously remembered by their large circle of acquaintances with numerous pretty and costly gifts of silverware, bric-a-brac, pictures and other articles. Among the guests present were many from New York, Brooklyn and Worcester, Mass.

GENEROUS GIFT TO CAMP.

One Citizen Contributes Amount Necessary to Pay for Addition.

A man who does not wish his name to be mentioned in connection with the matter has left at the office of The Daily Press a check for the handsome sum of $275 to be used in defraying the expenses on the addition recently made to the baby camp on the mountain. The camp will be completed throughout Saturday. Further funds are required for the carrying on of the work, and who wishes to contribute may leave the donation at the office of The Daily Press.

Unity Lodge's Officers.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., met last evening and elected officers as follows: Chancellor commander, John M. Hetfield; vice chancellor, George L. VanEmburgh; master of arms, George Radford; prelate, T. C. Smith; master of work, Frank Humpston; inside guard, Amos Andrews; outside guard, George Dean.

Picnic at Koch's Grove.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, the German Lutheran church will hold a picnic at Mrs. J. H. Koch's grove, at Watchung, Thursday, July 10, from 8 o'clock in the morning to 8 at night. The members will be accompanied by many of their friends.

One Candidate Initiated.

At the meeting of the Germania Beneficial Society last evening one candidate was initiated.

NEW EXPRESS FOR COMMUTERS

WILL LEAVE NEW YORK EVERY AFTERNOON AT 5 O'CLOCK.

Other Changes in Jersey Central Schedule to be Made the First of July.

Commencing July 1 a new timetable will go in effect on the New Jersey Central and there will be a few changes to interest Plainfielders.

The management will put into service a new fast express out of New York, leaving the latter place at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Plainfield will be the first stop. This train will carry the club-car Netherwood and is intended to fill in the gap between the 4:40 and 5:30 o'clock express trains from New York to this city. The train is sure to be very popular, as there are many commuters who will be glad of an opportunity to reach home before 6 o'clock, but who cannot take the 4:40 from New York it being too early for them.

The 1 o'clock afternoon train from New York to Philadelphia will stop at Plainfield on signal, as will also the 8 o'clock morning train from New York to Philadelphia and points west of that. It will reach Plainfield about 8:44. The Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington train leaving New York at 10:30 o'clock in the morning will also stop at Plainfield on signal and the 2:11 o'clock afternoon train from Plainfield will connect at Bound Brook for Philadelphia and points west.

FOUND HER POCKETBOOK

EXCITING EXPERIENCE FOR A DUNELLEN SCHOOL TEACHER.

Clerk Pursued Car On His Wheel and Found the Article Where It Had Been Dropped.

Miss Burt, of New Brunswick, a teacher in the Dunellen public school, accompanied by her mother, had an exciting experience yestreday afternoon soon after coming to Plainfield in the trolley.

After leaving the car they went to the carpet department of Woodhull & Martin's store, where they purchased some carpets. Soon after entering the store Miss Burt missed her pocketbook and both she and her mother were frantic for the book contained a large amount of money, besides valuable papers.

John S. Johnston, the manager of the department, happily thought Miss Burt might have dropped the pocketbook in the trolley car and jumping on his wheel started at full speed for the trolley station on Watchung avenue. He arrived there just as the car was pulling out for Netherwood and hastily glancing through the open car found the pocketbook beneath one of the seats. He grabbed it and while returning to the store met Miss Burt, who had also started in pursuit. She was deeply grateful to Mr. Johnston for his assistance. The two then returned to the carpet store, where Miss Burt and her mother made their intended purchases.

PATRIOTIC BALL.

Great Event That is Being Planned at the Hotel Netherwood on the Fourth.

A social event that is looked forward to with more than ordinary interest is the grand patriotic ball to be given at the Hotel Netherwood on the Fourth. A number of invitations have been issued by the management and by the hotel guests to their friends and the affair should prove to be one of the leading functions of the season. A large number have reserved accommodation for friends at the hotel on that date. Decorations for the event will be of a gorgeous variety.

Bride From Bayonne.

Monday evening at the parsonage of the Bergen Point Baptist church, Miss May Louise Taylor, of Dunellen, was married to Gustave Sandberg Abreo, of Bayonne. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles P. MacGregor, pastor of the church. The newly married couple will reside in Bayonne.

—Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet this evening and elect officers.

—The Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the First M. E. church will hold a social in Vincent chapel this evening.

LOCAL TROLLEY LINE HASN'T BEEN SOLD

President Young, of the North Jersey System, Denied Story of a Big Trolley Deal.

MANY RUMORS OF IT.

NORTH JERSEY'S PRESIDENT IN CONSULTATION WITH A. J. CASSATT.

Declared That No Syndidate Had Made Offer for Combined Trolley Systems, and That No Offer Was Now Being Considered.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, June 27—President E. F. C. Young, of the North Jersey Street Railway Company, yesterday afternoon again emphatically denied the rumors in circulation to the effect that the North Jersey system, the Jersey City, Hoboken and Paterson system and the Elizabeth and Plainfield trolley lines were to be sold to a syndicate and to pass entirely out of the hands of the present managers.

A report was spread yesterday to the effect that a great deal had been all but closed whereby a syndicate was to buy the North Jersey and allied interests. It was said that President Young and A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, had had a conference, and had gone to New York to meet representatives of the syndicate.

The rumor said that the only thing that now stands in the way of the deal was the question of price, all the other details having been agreed upon.

Two men officially connected with the North Jersey Street Railroad Company admitted that they believed the rumor regarding the transfer of trolley interests to be true. They intimated that they had received assurances to that effect from reliable sources.

"I have heard the rumors you refer to," said President E. F. C. Young to a reporter, "but there is no truth in them. We have have received no offers to sell. I saw Mr. Cassatt, but, I have not been to New York in a week."

"Did you and Mr. Cassatt discuss a plan for transferring your trolley interests to a syndicate?"

"I do not care to speak of what we discussed, but you may say there is absolutely no truth in the story that we have received offers from a syndicate and are considering them."

ABOVE THE MOON.

Although the incoming of Texas cattle in the early part of the week caused a slight downward tendency in the price of meats—a tendency that failed to bring about any tangible results—the price of beef took another upward shoot this morning. Never since 1882 has the price paid for meat reached such an advanced point as it is today, and the highwater mark does not seem to be yet in view.

In Chicago this week live cattle brought $8.35 per hundred pounds, a price almost unprecedented. Twenty-six cattle were unloaded here in Plainfield yesterday. Good, bad and indifferent must average 12 cents a pound. In this lot there is much beef that cannot bring more than nine cents a pound so that the higher grades of meat, the quality that is more largely consumed in this city, will be advanced considerably. The conditions are such that next week another advance may be expected.

On an Outing.

F. R. Buckalew, of the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A., in charge of a party of fifteen juniors, visited Washington Rock yesterday, where they had lunch. They afterwards visited the local branch of the Y. M. C. A. and enjoyed the luxuries of the swimming pool.

On the Committee.

Charles Place is one of the committee of fifteen appointed to take steps towards securing a new pastor for the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. Mr. Place is one of those selected by the trustees. His name did not appear in the list published yesterday.

Fell From Cherry Tree.

Miss Marion Major, the ten-year-old daughter of Charles Major, of Somerset street, fell from a cherry tree in her father's yard last evening. The fall rendered her unconscious for a time but beyond a bad shaking up she received no injuries.

NEW BUILDINGS.

An Addition Will be Made to Lounsbury's Embossing Works on South Second Street.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane has granted a permit to Charles L. Stanley, of South avenue, for the erection of a new greenhouse, 90 by 6 feet, in the centre of the lots on South avenue, near Leland avenue. One of the old greenhouses will be taken away to make room for the new and more commodious construction. Mr. Stanley was also granted permission to erect an extension to his barn 12x15 feet, and 12 feet in height.

A permit was yesterday issued to Frederick C. Lounsbury, of Plainfield avenue, for the erection of an extension to the embossing works on South Second street. The extension will be a frame building, 40x50 feet and three stories high. Architect, Fred. L. Lancaster; mason, Oscar Moore; carpenter, George Hummer.

FIGHT OVER SEWER.

Jersey Central Objects to Excavations Under Its Tracks Near Elizabethport.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 27—The Jersey Central Railroad and D. J. Shea, of Illinois, the contractor who is building the big $500,000 trunk sewer from the Oranges to tidewater at Elizabethport, are at odds over excavating under a spur from the Long Branch division of the Central at Elizabethport. This spur track runs into the Bowker Fertilizer Works, and also the extentive wire works of Senator William A. Clark, of Montana.

The railroad company yesterday placed a train of frieght cars on the siding, and warned Contractor Shea not to cart any sand or other materials used in his work across this track. The contractor set a gang of men to work excavating under the track, while the other men pushed the cars off the siding.

It is said the railroad company will endeavor to checkmate Contractor Shea today.

COL. GILLMORE APPOINTED.

Named Yesterday as Commander of the Second Brigade.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 27 — Gov. Murphy yesterday appointed Col. Q. O'M. Gillmore brigadier-general to succeed the late Brigadier-General Cooper in command of the Second Brigade.

Col. Gillmore accepted and will be in command at the Sea Girt encampment next month.

This appointment will mean the removal of the Brigadier's headquarters to this city from Camden and that a new brigade staff will be appointed.

The appointment was made by the Governor under a new law enacted by the last Legislature. This law gives the Governor power to appoint when a deadlock arises. Col. Gillmore and Col. Chambers each secured five votes.

Election at Franklin Council.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., elected officers last evening as follows: Councillor, William Young; vice councillor, Russell Hazard; recording secretary, David Bodine; assistant recording secretary, Wesley R. Thorn; financial secretary, Ephraim Compton; treasurer, T. E. Currin, Jr.; trustees, William Young and F. Hartpense.

It is Builder Stewart.

In relating the Stewart-Frederickson wedding, last evening, another local paper stated the groom was James Stewart, of West Fronnt street, the well-known machinist and politician. This is erroneous as the Stewart in question is a builder as was stated in The Daily Press, and an entirely different person.

Another Wheel Gone.

The bicycle thief is again getting in his fine work. Last evening S. S. Swackhamer stepped into his sister's residence on Park avenue leaving his bicycle at the gate. After a two minutes' absence he returned to look for his wheel, only to find that it had suddenly disappeared. The matter has been reported to the police.

For Summer Guests.

The general passenger department of the New Jersey Central has just issued a very attractive book giving a list of hotels and boarding houses along the line of the road, telling the number of people accommodated and the rates of board. A copy can be had at the local railroad station.

Funeral of J. F. Moore.

The funeral of John Franklin Moore, who died suddenly Wednesday evening, will be held from his late home, Chatham street, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., will attend the services in a body. The members will go to the cemetery in special trolley cars.

MANY MINOR CASES BEFORE JUDGE RUNYON

Full House Awaited the City Judge on His Return to Duty at Court This Morning.

NINE OFFENDERS UP.

VREELAND CAUGHT A SCATHING DENUNCIATION FOR ILL TREATING WIFE.

Sentenced to $50 Fine and Fifty Days in Jail—Mayor's Coachman Rode on Sidewalk—Cuff Paid for Calling Names—The Others.

City Judge Runyon found a "full house" awaiting him on his return to court, this morning. Nine offenders were arraigned before him, all charged with minor offenses which were sufficient, however, to result in their arrest.

John Cuff, colored, has a sister whom some body called names, last night, in the rear of French's mill. Miss Cuff's vocabulary isn't as extensive as Brother John's so she made way while he answered back in some choice expletives that attracted the attention of Patrolman Overbaugh. It cost John $3 to take his sister's part.

On his way home from the Pennsylvania coal fields, Herbert Cole, of New York, stopped off at this city, last night, for some liquid refreshments. On returning to the depot he decided a seat in a corner was all he wanted and refused to take his train or leave when Patrolman Overbaugh asked him to do so. He was released with a suspended sentence.

William Higgins, of New York, was found on Park avenue yesterday by Patrolman McCarthy, selling spectacles. Higgins told the court he didn't know he had to have a license and on query he said he knew he didn't know anything about spectacles. He was fined $5 for his attempt to ruin people's eyes.

Thomas Lines took on his semi-annual "jag" last night. He selected the curb at the corner of Front and Somerset streets for his bed and said things when Patrolman McGinley told him he had better look for a softer resting place. He paid $3 in preference to going to jail for ten days.

The most scathing denunciation to which a city court defendant has been subjected to in some time was received in silence by John Francis Vreeland, who was arraigned on a general charge of disorderly conduct and ill treatment to his wife. It was a Runyonization in the strictest sense of the word, the import of which was "You are a perfect loafer and a brute, no good to yourself or the community you live in. As for grade you are as low down as a dog." He was sentenced to $50 and fifty days. It was only a short time ago he was arraigned on a charge of cruelty preferred by his wife but escaped punishment through her reluctance to press the complaint. She is now in a hospital, sent there, the police say, by her husband's treatment.

Michael Kelley was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct preferred by his wife. He was profuse in his promises to refrain from drinking for the rest of his life, although he admitted he had been at it steady for thirteen years. The court thought he had better make a limited start and suspended sentence on condition that he take the pledge for a year.

Lee Booker, driver for Mayor Jenkins, rode his wheel on Crescent avenue sidewalks, last night, and gave Patrolman Moses Quaas the opportunity to make his maiden arrest. He was warned to keep in the road in the future and sentence was suspended.

John Moran and Frank Cotton were arraigned for quarreling and fighting at Park avenue and Second street, last evening. After a maze of contradictory evidence had been offered it developed the quarrel began two weeks ago over a game of "Klondyke," or Manhattan pool, that each felt ill toward the other; that they met last evening and renewed the argument and when Moran, it is said, called Cotton names, the latter struck the first blow. The court decided both had been equally to blame and imposed a fine of $5 in each case.

Columbia Lodge Will Attend.

At the funeral of Henry A. Kliner this afternoon, Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., will attend in a body, the members going to Hillside cemetery in special trolley cars.

—Auctioneer Latourette will sell the stock of the Rockfellow grocery Company tomorrow evening.

H., to be held at Denver, Col., July 15 to 22, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to Denver, Colorado Springs, or Pueblo, Col., from all stations on its lines at rate of single fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold and good going on July 10 to 12, inclusive, and will be good to return leaving Denver, Colorado Springs, or Pueblo not later than August 31. Tickets must be validated for return passage by joint agent at any of the above-mentioned points, for which service a fee of 25 cents will be charged.

For specific rates and conditions, apply to ticket agents.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

TO BE A TENNIS TOURNAMENT

THE FIRST OF A SERIES AT THE CEDAR BROOK TENNIS CLUB.

Will be Held Tomorrow Afternoon To Decide the Ownership of the Officers Cups.

A series of tennis tournaments, the first to be held tomorrow afternoon, have been arranged by the Cedar Brook Tennis Club. The tournaments will be for doubles and open only to club members. To the winning team in the series will be awarded the officers cups, which were given last fall by the officers of the club.

The plan on which these contests are arranged provides for four qualifying tournaments, the winners of which will meet in the semi-finals and the strongest two teams in the finals. The qualifying tournaments will be conducted on the usual plan by rounds but no team can score more than one win. The best two out of three sets will decide each match except the finals which will require the best three out of five.

The first of the qualifying tournaments will be held tomorrow afternoon, the second on the morning of Independence Day, the third on the Saturday afternoon following and the fourth and last on Saturday afternoon, July 12. In case of rain, the tennis committee will arrange for a new date. The dates for the semi-finals and finals will be announced later.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

According to the way in which the young American astrologer and nation's counsellor, of Hoboken, reads the stars, July will prove to be a more than usually eventful month. If he has correctly worked out the problem, the people of New Jersey had better take to cyclone cellars on the first ten days of the month, sleep on fire-escapes from the eleventh to the twentieth, and stay up trees from then until the first of August.—Newark News.

There is the biggest kind of a fight on, in Union county, between the Kean-Voorhees-Rankin-Fowler, etc., factions. The papers—particularly the Democratic papers—in New York and in Paterson and in Trenton and in Camden, are full of description of the hostile camps and of the belligerent activities of both parties. The curious part of it all is that the alleged Kean-Voorhees-Rankin-Fowler, etc., factions don't know anything about the fight, except what they read in the papers referred to. The facts are that there has never been less factional feeling, factional fighting and factions themselves than there are in Union county today.—Elizabeth Journal.

The people of Elizabeth have honored a former Mayor of that city, Dr. William A. M. Mack, by erecting to his memory a bronze statue in the centre of the town.

At the dedication ceremonies ex-Governor Voorhees made an address that should be preserved to be read and studied by future generations, because it portrays the virtue of a man who, in public and private life, was an admirable character.

Dr. Mack set an example which is calculated to benefit mankind if emulated by those who have outlived him. It is a rare spectacle to see a community as a whole singing the praises of a public official.—Trenton State Gazette.

Long Branch is a paradise for owners of automobiles. Nearly eighty miles of hard, level roads afford them better opportunities for the enjoyment of automobiling than are offered by any other resort in the country. Automobiles are a good thing. They are the product of science and progress, and they promote health and give pleasure. Long Branch extends a hearty welcome to all owners of the horseless vehicles who have sufficient sense to recognize the rights of others to the free and safe use of the public streets. Fools with money and not sufficient brains to operate an automobile without endangering the lives of women and children, are not wanted in Long Branch, and they will not be permitted to "hog" the public streets.—Long Branch Record.

Independence Day at Niagara Falls.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad announces the low fare of $9 from Plainfield for the round trip. Tickets on sale July 3 and 4, limited for return to July 6, and will be honored on any train, except the Black Diamond Express. See agents for further particulars. 6 27 3 eod

CHOICE AS GREAT AS IN NEW YORK.

This is a Comfortable Store.

A place where shopping is relieved of many annoyances and of which it may be said, "'Tis truly a pleasant spot to visit at all times"—especially during the heat and humidity of summer

When the plans of this great establishment were drawn, two features of the many appertaining to the interest and comfort of our patrons were paramount—

LIGHT AND AIR

We thonght, we planned, we studied—changed a little here, a little there, and the result of our labors produced for the people of New Jersey, a perfect store in every detail. The intensity of light is modified by a system of reflection so perfect that it reduces its force to a minimum and relieves the eye of that strain which is so noticeable under different conditions. While this is an important feature, the problem of making it a COOL STORE was of greater moment—resorting to artificial means to serve our purposes were comparatively easy, but the perplexing problem of controlling climatic influences by the assistance of nature's methods was indeed hard. The question of cost was not considered—there was but one thought in mind, "How to erect a modern building and make it a cool one." That we have succeeded has been demonstrated ere this, and you may come here with our assurance that the temperature of this building is

15 to 20 Degrees Cooler

WAR AGAINST THE DRUMFISH

IT WILL BE DESCRIBED IN SUNDAY'S NORTH AMERICAN.

The Other Interesting Features of That Well-Known Philadelphia Newspaper.

The war between the drumfish and the citizens of Tuckerton, on the Jersey coast, has reached a critical stage. The very existence of the town is threatened by the ravages of the gigantic oyster eaters. Shoals of the big fish are visiting the oyster beds in Tuckerton Bay and, as the village depends on these for its support, it will, if the beds are swept clean, be blotted from the map. The invaders are rapidly eating the oysters. Investigation shows that they swallow the oyster whole and that as it passes through the gullet on the way to the stomach it comes between a set of powerful grinders where shell and all is mashed to a pulp. The fish swallows the pulp and then eats another oyster.

In order to fight the scourge a meeting was recently called by the Mayor of the town, Mr. Austin. Its purpose was to devise means to fight the big fish and for a whole day the best brains in Tuckerton and its vicinity wrestled with the problem. Besides the Mayor, there were present the Oyster Commission, the owners of the large oyster beds in Tuckerton Bay and a number of prominent engineers.

The plan that was formed at this council of war was of the gravest importance to the whole town, and the citizens and the smaller oyster men heard its announcement with the gravest and most anxious earnestness. It is decided to fight the fish with dynamite. Exit from the bay is to be closed by means of huge nets. Then the drumfish in the bay will be schooled in the inlet and held prisoners there by more nets. When all is ready for action, great charges of dynamite will be exploded in the closed area, and the fish will be killed by the hundreds of thousands.

This programme will be continued until the drumfish are either scared away from Tuckerton Bay or else totally destroyed.

A full account of the war between the men and the fish will be published in the Sunday Magazine of The North American next Sunday, June 29. An accurate and scientific description of the nature and the habits of the fish will be given and a statement of the woes of the oyster men as a result of those habits and characteristics. The article will be illustrated with a series of splendid photographs, showing the fish in its native element and on land. Pictures of the scene of the war and those who will participate in it are also given.

In addition to the above the notable features of the Sunday Magazine will be: "The Real Romance of a First Violin," "The Woman Who Makes Paper Dolls for Little Princesses," "How I Escaped From a Big Python," "The Woman Who Tried on a Dress and Lost Her Health," "$125,000,000 Paid for the Use of J. Pierpont Morgan's Name" a color page showing one of Malcolm Strauss' "Summer Girls" and a page devoted to telling of "New and Cooling Summer Drinks." Besides these splendid special articles there will be the usual magnificant features of interest to everyone in the household, from great-grandparents to great-grandchildren.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Dr. James S. Green, secretary to the managers of the New Jersey Sanatorium for Taberculous Diseases, has sent to the physicians of the State a circular requesting, on behalf of the sanatorium managers, their co-operation in ascertaining, approximately at least, the number of persons in New Jersey afflicted with pulmonary tuberculosis. Blanks for the purpose of entering these statistics accompany the circulars. The blanks read:

"In compliance with your request, I beg to inform you that I have under my care at present....males and ....females suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, of whom....males and ....females are in indigent circumstances. None of the patients are at present inmates of a hospital."

Space for the name and address of the physician has been left at the bottom of the blanks which are to be returned to Dr. Green.

Leads Them All.

"One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says D. Scott Currin, of Loganton, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. L. W. Randolph.

DEWEY ON THE STAND

Tells Story of Manila Battle to Senate Committee.

CITY WAS SURRENDERED TO HIM.

Admiral Denies Ever Having Given So Called Republic Slightest Recognition.—Aguinaldo's July Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Admiral Dewey made a statement before the senate committee on the Philippines during the day concerning the early operations at Manila when he was in command of the American naval forces in Philippine waters. The admiral's statement contributed an important addition to the history of the surrender of the city of Manila.

This consisted of a positive statement by the admiral to the effect that the city had been surrendered to him at the time that the Spanish fleet was sunk and that when the city did surrender it was in pursuance of a definite understanding between himself and the Spanish governor general.

The admiral was questioned by Senator Lodge. He said he had not heard from Aguinaldo and his friends about April 1, 1898, a month before the battle in Manila bay, when it became certain that there was to be war.

The admiral said he had never given the Philippine republic the slightest recognition; that he had no authority to do so and did not consider it an organized government. He said the Spaniards were fearful of the Filipinos entering Manila and therefore surrendered to him in advance. He said there was no need for the loss of a man in the capture of the city. No gun would have been fired but for the desire of the governor, who said his honor demanded that a few shots be fired, so "I had to fire and kill a few people," said the admiral; but the Spaniards did not fire because he (Dewey) had warned them not to do so.

In explanation of his statement that the city of Manila had surrendered on the day of the destruction of the Spanish fleet Admiral Dewey said that during the naval engagement several guns had been fired at him from the shore batteries and that as soon as the Spanish squadron was destroyed he steamed toward the city, sending word to the governor that if another shot was fired from the shore he would fire on the city. "The governor replied," the admiral went on, "that if I did not fire upon the city the shore batteries would remain silent. The Spanish flag was not taken down, but white flags were raised. It was a surrender, and if I had had with me 5,000 troops with which to occupy the city I could have taken it and held it. I anchored my ships under his guns, 2,000 yards, and lay there twenty-four hours. During that time the governor general sent word to me several times that he wanted to surrender to me—to the navy. I could not entertain his proposition of a formal surrender because of the lack of troops to take possession of the city."

The admiral said that after Aguinaldo got his forces organized he occupied Cavite, but when he (Dewey) learned that American troops were expected to arrive soon he asked the Filipinos to retire. They at first demurred, but ultimately consented.

It was after this time, on July 15, that Aguinaldo sent to him from Baccoor his first proclamation of the independence of the Philippines.

"That proclamation," said the admiral, "was the first intimation I had ever received of the aspiration of the Philippine people for an independent government. Aguinaldo had never told me that the independence of his people was his aim, but when the proclamation came I thought nothing of it. Indeed I attached so little importance to it that I did not cable it to Washington, but left its transmittal to the mails."

Small Amount of Hard Coal Shipped.

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—The statement of coal and coke originating on the Pennsylvania railroad lines east of Pittsburg and Erie for the week ending June 21 shows that there was carried only 5,901 tons of anthracite coal as compared with 92,812 tons for the corresponding period of 1901. The shipments of bituminous coal were 548,596 tons as compared with 384,079 tons, and the coke tonnage was 191,841 as against 159,669 tons, the total tonnage amounting to 746,338 tons. Notwithstanding the falling off in the shipment of anthracite coal the total fuel carried was greater than it was in the corresponding week in 1901.

Arkansas Editor Dead.

NOT TOLD TRULY.

Among the stories which have been trotted out by some of the Somerset county papers as arguments against the Greater Plainfield scheme is one concerning the local silk mill and why its new home was built in the borough instead of the city. The facts have been so perverted that it might be well to tell what the real ones are.

To begin with, the owners of the silk mill did not own any property in Plainfield, having leased their quarters, and therefore it was manifestly impossible for them to have been excessively taxed. The location, which they desired, was on the city side of the brook but a restriction made in the deed of the property when it was disposed of made it impossible to secure the land for manufacturing purposes and the silk mill people had to look elsewhere.

It was particularly desired that the silk mill should be located not far from the centre of town and there was no other site available in the city. So the borough was next considered and the location selected on Brook avenue.

All this talk about the silk mill going into the borough to escape the heavy taxes of the city is nonsense. There's not a word of truth to it. Every manufacturer prefers the city when he can get it on account of the superior advantages which come from residence here. Police and fire protection are taken into consideration as are also the city sewer system. The glove factory on Washington avenue would have had no trouble in securing a site in the borough but the owners thereof much preferred to be located within the city limits.

Under its new president, F. W. Underwood, the Erie Railroad Company has begun a generous system of newspaper advertising which shows great foresight, declares the Philadelphia Record. In order to obtain tenants or buyers for vacant houses in the towns along its New Jersey lines (and therefore patrons of the company) the Erie has daily "ads" in the New York newspapers telling people to call on its agents for information about houses. The returns have been satisfactory.

William Mettler, of Somerville, has been the guest of Plainfield friends.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Manager Johnston, of the baseball team, has arranged a drawing card for Saturday afternoon, July 5, when the local team will cross bats with the strong Xaviers, of New York. This team, besides being one of the strongest club about the Metropolitan district, is composed entirely of deaf mutes. The club has gone to considerable expense to arrange this game and there is no doubt the fans will appreciate the fact and attend what will probably be the most interesting game of the season.

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., of Elizabeth, tendered a dance to a number of their friends at Ivamy's pavillion, last night. The trip was made by special trolley. During the evening refreshments were served and it was not until after the midnight hour that the members and their friends abandoned the dance for their return trip home.

Rev. Mr. Glazer, of Orange, will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist church at both services Sunday. The pulpit committee is trying to arrange to have Mr. Glazer as the regular pastor during the indefinite absence of Rev. Mr. Bindenberger.

Frederick K. Clark has sold his handsome team of bay horses to The National Biscuit Company for use at the Newark branch. Mr. Clark expects another consignment of horses within a few days.

Rev. Mr. Bindenberger, who was obliged to resign his charge as pastor of the Methodist church on account of ill health, will remain in town for a short while before taking his vacation.

A large number of the followers of the national game will journey to Dunellen tomorrow afternoon to see the home team cross bats with the Dunellen's.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. KING MUCH IMPROVED

Partakes of Food and Transacts State Business.

HOW "CORONATION DAY" WAS KEPT

Intercessory Services Held Throughout the Country—Crowds Pack London Streets All Night Long. Throngs at Westminster.

LONDON, June 27.—Those around King Edward continue to be astonished at his rapid recovery. Late last night he experienced some pain, yet it is learned that his majesty again took food and was afterward allowed to smoke a cigar.

Mention by the king's doctors of the care with which food is administered to the royal patient and of the return of pain in the wound can safely be taken as merely an earnest of their conscientious intention to make public the slightest adverse symptom, however unimportant.

The king's courage and good temper are remarkable, and yesterday he personally wrote several telegrams and one or two notes.

As evidence of the king's persistent refusal to efface himself from his connection with state affairs and in corroboration of the statement that the physicians are satisfied with their patient's condition it is learned that besides personally opening telegrams King Edward insisted upon a final inspection of the honor list. There was one appointment of considerable importance which had not been definitely decided at that time. The king approved this nomination and gave the final order to the department interested, thus saving one of the recipients of honors from severe disappointment.

The latest reports indicate that King Edward is better in every way. The return of pain in his wound is not accompanied by any appreciable increase of temperature. In fact, King Edward's doctors are inclined to regard the patient's pain and his appetite as healthy symptoms, although with the reserve they have maintained throughout they refrain from commenting thereon.

To these hopes of a favorable issue of the king's illness no less an authority than the queen gives encouragement. Writing to the lord mayor of London, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, to thank him for his expressions of the sympathy of the city of London, Queen Alexandra says, through her secretary, "The queen rejoices to think that the bulletin of this morning gives a favorable report of the king."

Following the expressed desire of the Prince of Wales, the arrangements for illuminating the city, which involved the costly erection of set pieces for electric and gas lights, will be allowed to remain and will be utilized "immediately it is authoritatively announced that the king is out of danger."

By the king's personal desire the royal pardons of offenders in the army will go into effect just as if the coronation had occurred.

The most striking feature of coronation day, as it is still called, was the universal substitution of services of intercession for those of rejoicing. These services occurred throughout the country and on board the great fleet that lies unreviewed in Portsmouth harbor. Yet even these lacked pathetic and dramatic elements. In face of the favorable bulletins tears and litanies were obviously out of place. The crowds that packed the streets of the metropolis until midnight evidently appreciated this. They did not "maffick," but there was a general sense of rejoicing which, even with the most unruly section, failed to become inordinate. All night long the Strand was thronged with crowds of people who usually confined themselves to taking a farewell look at the decorations gradually disappearing from the front of Buckingham palace.

With the favorable progress of the king there is much discussion as to how the coronation will eventually be effected. While nothing has in any way been definitely settled, it appears that King Edward is likely to celebrate this event very quietly and with merely the ceremony that attends the opening of parliament. This consists of a drive direct to Westminster abbey accompanied by a small escort and a speedy return to Buckingham palace, and it is rumored that no foreign princes or envoys will be especially invited for the occasion. All this of course is quite in the air, but it forms one of the chief topics of London's daily conversation.

Hundreds of visitors to London, especially Americans and people from the country, flocked to Westminster abbey yesterday, and until late at night curious and rather awestricken crowds of spectators stood gazing at the place where Edward VII. should have been crowned. The artificial coronation annex, which is one of the few parts of the abbey not hidden by stands, attracted special attention.

At no time has there been any serious suggestion of the establishment of a regency. The most that was done was in the way of pure speculation, a suggestion that the Prince of Wales might act for his father as King Edward (then Prince of Wales) frequently did for Queen Victoria in former days and particularly during her last illness, but without his having formally been appointed regent.

According to the Birmingham Post, immediately after hearing of King Edward's illness Emperor William telegraphed to Prince Henry of Prussia, who was in London, setting forth how he was moved by the news and offering to come immediately to London to see his uncle if there was any immediate danger. Prince Henry is said to have replied with a reassuring message.

The exodus of foreign representatives proceeds apace. Field Marshal Count von Waldersee has left London, as has also the Prince of Monaco, the Prince of Montenegro and the Dutch mission.

Replying to a telegram of sympathy from a body of Aberdonians, General Sir Dighton Probyn, keeper of the privy purse, telegraphed as follows:

"The loyal and kind telegram of your association shall be submitted to the king on his majesty's recovery, which, thank God, we may, I think, now look forward to."

Providing King Edward maintains his present rate of improvement London will soon be emptied of its holiday crowd, and the postponed coronation will be looked forward to as an occasion for sedate thanksgiving, bereft of pageantry.

Sir William Declined a Peerage.

LONDON, June 27.—Previous to making up the list of coronation honors, which was issued Wednesday, King Edward sent a letter to Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, Liberal member of parliament, offering him a peerage. Sir William in his reply expressed his appreciation of this offer, but added that after thirty-four years in the house of commons he was reluctant to change the sphere of his political work and that he therefore declined the honor tendered.

UNCLE SAM LED YACHTS.

American Boat Takes the First Race at Kiel.

KIEL, June 27.—The American yacht Uncle Sam, owned by Francis R. Riggs of New York, won the first of the international special class races here yesterday, the stars and stripes crossing the line eight minutes ahead of all other flags.

Wansee was second, and Tilly was third. Both these yachts are owned by Germans. Cis II., owned by Cecil Quentin of England, was fourth. There are to be three more races in this special class, making four all told, unless the first three contests are won by the same boat.

The breeze was very light. Uncle Sam was handled by J. Hopkins Smith and George B. Reeves, third secretary of the United States embassy at Berlin. The American yacht got a windward position and crossed the line fourth, but she immediately took the lead. The course was twice around a triangle of eight miles, and it took Uncle Sam from noon to 7 o'clock to do sixteen miles. At one time she was fifty-eight minutes ahead of the other yachts, but a breeze sprang up, and her competitors closed in.

Those who observed the race thought that Uncle Sam was admirably managed, and Mr. Smith says that the German style of rigging for boats of her class is better than the American. Francis R. Riggs has not yet arrived here. The next special class races will be held June 28 and 30 and July 3.

Pennsylvania Farms.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The census report on agriculture in Pennsylvania, just issued, shows that the farms of Pennsylvania June 1, 1900, numbered 224,248 and were valued at $898,272,750. Of this amount 64 per cent is the value of the land and improvements other than buildings. The value of farm implements and machinery was $50,917,240 and live stock $102,439,183. These values, added to that of farms, give $1,051,629,173 as the total value of farm property.

Fatalities In Auto Race.

PARIS, June 27.—During the automobile race yesterday from Paris to Vienna there was a serious accident at Louvres. One person was killed and another seriously injured. An enormous crowd witnessed the start of the race in the morning. One hundred and thirty-seven contestants started. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., was the fifty-fifth contestant to reach Belfort. He arrived at 4:21 p. m.

German Crop Outlook.

BERLIN, June 27.—According to a German crop report just issued, there has been a great general improvement in the month ending June 15. The scale of the last report is one point for a perfect crop and five for a failure. Winter wheat during the month gained 2.10 and winter rye 3.10, thus regaining the condition of May 15. Summer wheat has improved 3.10 and summer rye 2.10.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright, 1900, by Francis Lynde.)

Griswold smiled when he remembered how, in fiction of the felon-catching sort—and in real life, for that matter—the lawbreaker always did leave a trace behind him, and determined for once in a way to demonstrate practically that it was quite as easy to create an inerrant fugitive as an infallible detective. Joining the throng on the sidewalk, he made his way leisurely to Canal street, and thence diagonally through the French quarter to the French market. In a narrow alley he found what he was looking for—a dingy, sailors' barber shop. The barber was a negro, fat, unctuous and sleepy looking; and he was alone.

"Yes, sah; shave, boss?" he asked as Griswold entered.

"No; a hair-cut." Griswold produced a silver half-dollar. "Go around the corner and get me a cigar to smoke while you're doing it. Get a good one, if you have to go to Canal street," he added, climbing into the rickety chair.

The negro shuffled out, scenting tips. The moment he was out of sight Griswold snatched the scissors and began to hack recklessly at his beard; recklessly and swiftly, but with thoughtful purpose. The result was a complete metamorphosis speedily wrought. In place of the trim beard and curling mustache there was a rough stubble, stiff and uneven, like that on the face of a man who had neglected to shave for a week or two.

"I think that will answer," he said, standing before the cracked looking-glass to get the general effect. "And it's decently original. I fancy your professional blunderer would have shaved, and the first amateur detective he met would reconstruct the beard on the sunburned lines. Now for an 'uncle,' the more avaricious the better."

He went to the door and looked up and down the alley. The negro was not yet in sight, and he walked swiftly in the direction opposite to that taken by the man. A pawnbroker's shop of the kind he required was not far to seek in that locality, and when it was found Griswold drove a hard bargain with the Portuguese Jew behind the counter. The pledge he offered was the clothes he wore; and the bargain was concluded for a pair of jeans trousers, a calico shirt, a sailor's cap and a red bandanna handkerchief. These, and a trifling sum of ready money, the inconsequence of which Griswold deplored piteously before he would consent to accept it.

The Portuguese, most suspicious of men, suspected everything but the truth, as Griswold had intended, accusing his customer flatly of having stolen the clothes. And when Griswold departed without denying the accusation, suspicion became conviction, and the clothing, which might otherwise have given the police a most important clew, was carefully hidden away until time should have quieted the Jew's apprehensions.

Having thus disguised himself, Griswold made the transformation artistically complete by walking for a quarter of an hour in the dust of a loaded cotton float on the levee. Then he made a tramp's bundle of the manuscript of the dead book, the pistol and the money, in the red handkerchief, and having surveyed himself in the bar mirror of a sailors' pothouse, was minded to test his disguise by going back to the restaurant where he had breakfasted.

The experiment was made forthwith, and was an unqualified success. The proprietor not only failed to recognize him, but drove him forth with revilings in idiomatic French and broken English.

"Bete! Go back to da levee w'ere you belong to go. I'll kip da cafe for zhentlemen. Scelerat! Go!"

Griswold went, smiling between his teeth.

"That settles the question of present safety," he said to himself. "I believe I could walk into the bank and not be recognized."

The idea was so temptingly adventurous that he gave place to it on the spur of the moment. Taking a five-dollar bill from his store, he fouled it in the mud of the gutter and then went in to ask the paying teller to give him silver for it. The teller sniffed at the money, scowled at the man and then turned back to his cashbook. Griswold's smile broke into a laugh when he reached the street.

"The dragon may have teeth and claws, but it can neither see nor smell," he said, contemptuously, bending his steps riverward again. "Now I have only to choose my route and go in peace. How and where are the only remaining questions to be answered."

CHAPTER V.

For an hour after his venturesome return to the bank Griswold tramped up and down the levee, and the end of it found him still undecided as to the manner and direction of his flight.

The hour had not been altogether triumphant. The partition which is the dividing line between a life of semi-vagrancy and a life of crime is tenuous enough; and any hot-hearted one may break through it at will. But to be a vagrant indeed, one must first be a vagrant at heart; and Griswold was far enough from this, now or at any time; so far from it that the claims of his transformed identity were already beginning to gall him. It was to little purpose that he girded at his compunctions, telling himself that one needs must when the devil drives. Custom, habit, or whatsoever it may be which distinguishes the law-abiding from the lawless, would have its say; and from railing bitterly at the social conditions which made his act at once a necessity and a crime, he came presently to loathing the subterfuges to which the crime had driven him.

Moreover, mingled with the loathing was a growing fear that he might not always be able to play consistently the double role whose lines were already becoming intricate and confusing. To be true to his mission, he must continue to be, in utter sincerity, Griswold the brother-loving. To escape the consequences of his act, he must hold himself in instant readiness to be in ruthless earnest what a common thief would be in similar straits—a thing of duplicity and double meanings, alert at any moment to turn and slay in the battle of self-preservation.

YALE WINS VARSITY

Harvard Is Beaten on the Thames by Four Lengths.

FRESHMAN RACE DECIDED A DRAW.

Twenty-five Thousand People Witness the Event—President Roosevelt a Spectator—Crimson Wins Four Oared Contest.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 27.—Rowing within ten seconds of record time the Yale varsity crew yesterday afternoon lowered the colors of the fastest eight that Harvard has yet produced. Yale won by four boat lengths. Yale's time was 20m. 20s., while Harvard's time was 20m. 33s. In the four oared race the colors of Harvard were borne to the front. The Cambridge four won by two and a half lengths.

In the freshman race Yale's crew led over the last mile until within a few feet of the finish, where the Harvard crew, by a magnificent spurt, jumped their shell up even with the blue. The judges were compelled to decide that the race was a draw.

Twenty-five thousand people saw the Elis row to victory in the big varsity race. But, while the crowd was great, it was the presence of President Theodore Roosevelt which made the crowd unique in the history of Yale and Harvard races. The president saw the finish of all three races from aboard the Dolphin, which was anchored just above the finish line. He declined the invitation of the regatta committee to go aboard Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt's launch, the Mirage, preferring, he said, to remain aboard the Dolphin, where he could be with his family. The eyes of 25,000 people meanwhile searched yacht after yacht in the hope of a glimpse of the president.

After a stormy night and a morning which seemed to mean the postponement of the races until Friday, the afternoon became a cloudless day of almost perfect weather for shell racing. The wind blew quartering on the course from the northwest; but, with the exception of the varsity four oared race, the crews could not have had much better water. More yachts than ever before in the quarter of a century of Yale and Harvard races on the broad Thames were anchored along the last mile and a half of the course, forming a solid avenue and filling the river from bank to bank with a glorious tinge of colors which above the blue waters of the Thames made a picture against the cloudless sky which the brush of no artist has ever painted.

No crews have ever had a grander audience. The closeness of the varsity race brought out the greatest crowd of Yale and Harvard graduates and undergraduates that has ever come to New London, while the presence of the president brought to the river the people for many miles around the Thames. Rough water necessitated the postponement of the varsity race from 4 until 6 o'clock. The four oared race was rowed a few minutes before 3 o'clock.

Arkansas Republicans Divided.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 27.—Two separate Republican state conventions were held here yesterday as the result of factional differences. One convention nominated Charles D. Greaves of Hot Springs for governor and protested by resolution against what it terms the "unfair practices and methods of the so called Republican central committee" and the "arbitrary dictation of boss rule, otherwise known as Claytonism." The other convention, called the regular assemblage, met in the afternoon and busied itself in the appointment of committees, later recessing until 8 o'clock. It received a telegram of cordial greeting from General Powell Clayton, embassador to Mexico. Clayton's name was cheered by the regulars. He was re-elected a member at large of the state committee.

Investigating Car Robbery.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 27.—Seven railroad detectives are in the city investigating a case of car robbery which occurred about a mile from Maplewood, in the town of Chill, at the junction of the New York Central, the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad and the Pennsylvania line, either Monday or Tuesday night. According to the report, twelve cars loaded with merchandise were entered by the gang, which is thought to be from Pittsburg, and goods to the value of about $2,000 taken. The thieves evidently worked with wagons.

Russia Leaving Manchuria.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 27.—It is said that the Russian troops have already been withdrawn from Mukden, Manchuria; that Kerin will be evacuated by 1903 and that the Shanhaikwan railroad will be restored to its owners by October. The Manchurian railroad guards will number 30,000 men.

Freight Train Wrecked.

ROANOKE, Va., June 27.—A freight train on the Norfolk and Western railroad was wrecked ten miles west of here by the breaking of a car wheel. Forty box cars were wrecked, and two white tramps who were stealing a ride were killed. They have not been identified. None of the trainmen was hurt.

President Returns to Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Roosevelt arrived in this city from New London, Conn., at 7:30 this morning. Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Roosevelt and the children did not accompany him, but returned to Oyster Bay.

Ice Company Passes Dividends.

NEW YORK, June 27.—President Schoonmaker of the American Ice company has announced the passing of dividends on the stock of the corporation.

THE LAST OF AN OLD LANDMARK

Historic Neal Homestead on West Front Street, Over a Century Old, Has Been Torn Down.

When one recalls historic facts in the annals of Plainfield there is a great deal to interest those who are fond of old landmarks and the early days of this city. To be sure Plainfield is not one of the oldest towns, but it is of sufficient age to excite the curiosity of the history seeker. In the very early days this city was the scene of stirring times and some of the oldest residents love now to recount those incidents, even though they were very young at the time and remember only what has been told them by their ancestors.

Among Plainfield's oldest landmarks was the house on West Front street, better known as the Neal house, of which the accompanying cut is a good picture, and which until this week was located just opposite the residence of S. C. Peck, Jr. There is much of interest about this house, which has just been torn down by L. E. Hart who will soon erect a modern dwelling on the property.

The Old Neal Homestead.

According to reliable authority this old-fashioned house was standing in 1800 and there are good reasons to believe that it was built some time before that. It was originally used as a weaving shop, that trade being extensively plied in those days. The best recollections concerning the occupancy of the house is that Conrad Neil, who was a weaver, lived there and also had his shop at the same place. Mr. Neal was born in Austria and came to this country about 1800 with his wife and two or three children. Soon after that he settled in the old house and lived there for years and continued his work of weaving with much success. In the summer he would weave flax and in the winter woolens. He had a well-equipped shop and his work was pronounced to be of the finest kind.

Mr. Neal would divide his time, working a portion of it at his home and going about the vicinity weaving for various people. After Mr. Neal died, which was about 1846, the property remained in the family, his sons taking it. Thus it was handed down to William Neal, the butcher, a grandson, and the father of Frank Neal, who now lives in West Front street. The latter held the property until quite recently when it passed into the hands of Daniel Manning, of this city. Mr. Hart purchased it from Mr. Manning.

During the occupancy of the house by the original Neal family, a small addition was built to it giving an extra room on the west side which was used for a sleeping room. The house was unusually well built of heavy timber and despite its age when torn down showed a remarkable state of preservation. Of late years the house was occupied on and off by colored people, but for a long time the house stood idle. Year after year the house was a peculiar object of interest to passersby and many sightseers would often stop and look through it.

Of all the landmarks in the city perhaps none have excited more interest than this. Situated within a few blocks of the business part of the city and on very valuable ground, many have wondered how long the house would be permitted to stand. Today a cellar is being dug for a new house, and thus one after another of the oldest homes are being removed to make room for more pretentious dwellings. There is a tradition that Gen. Washington stopped at this house when he passed through the city.

FESTIVAL FOR THE LIBRARY

SCOTCH PLAINS HELD A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR LAST EVENING.

Library Rooms Were Crowded and the Different Booths Did a Rushing Business.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 28—The house committee of the Public Library held a very successful cake and cream sale in the Library Rooms yesterday afternoon from 4 to 10 o'clock. The pleasant event was not only a financial success but a social one as well, being patronized by the elite of Plainfield, Westfield, the borough and village. The rooms were tastefully trimmed with the stars and stripes, ferns and roses, which served as a pretty background to the smiling faces of both the women in charge and the patronesses of the affair. Every foot of space in the several rooms was occupied by the several booths at which candies, fans, cake or cream could be procured.

As one entered the main room they were met by the smiling faces of Miss Jennie Klemser and Miss Minnie Meyers who had charge of the home-made candy. At the side was the cake table in charge of Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Jr., ably assisted by the Misses Alice and Jennie Johnston and Miss Mead. The fan table in charge of Miss Edna Nicholl was located in one corner, where any thing in the line of a fan could be procured. Miss Nicholl did a rushing business.

The cream department in charge of Mrs. DeForest Thomas and Mrs. Thos. J. Nicholl did a rushing business as cream seemed to be in great demand all the evening, and this department was enabled to make a neat profit as a result of its work. The committee in charge was ably assisted in making a success of the sale by the following bevy of pretty girls who acted as waitresses, the Misses Nettie Blank, Elsie Cook, Anna Bruchman, Louise Nicholl and Blanche Mercein. The proceeds from the sale will be turned into the library treasury.

ASKED FOR WATER.

Strangers Then Robbed Home of Conrad Smith, While Owner Ploughed Field Near By.

While Conrad Smith, of Washington Valley, was ploughing in a corn field two strangers advanced towards him and politely asked for a drink of water. The unsuspecting Mr. Smith directed the visitors to the well near his home.

Their absence seeming unwarrantedly long, Mr. Smith went to the house to see what detained them. They were still lingering around and when ordered off the premises made a pretence of going away. Later in the day Mr. Smith discovered that an entrance had been effected to his house through a back window, that the bureau drawers in a room upstairs had been rifled and $40 in money and a gold watch stolen.

The theft is supposed to have been committed by the same gang who have been so active in the horse-stealing business in that vicinity recently.

Only the Back Draught.

A back draught in a chimney of the flat building at Muhlenberg place and South Second street filled the whole structure with smoke, yesterday afternoon. Thinking the place was afire, Harvey Drake, who occupies a store on the first floor, sent in an alarm from box No. 45. The department responded quickly but found nothing to do.

Forty Molders Struck.

Because an employe of the Taylor Iron and Steel Company, of High Bridge, was discharged this week for insubordination, forty union molders quit work. The company refused to reinstate the discharged man.

Sailed for China.

Former Law Student Wm. Sweeney, who has been working in Trenton for several weeks past, sailed Tuesday from Philadelphia on a steamer bound for China. He will in all probability be away for a year.

The family of George A. Strong, of Central avenue, has left town for the summer.

FRANK REINHART WON FROM GOLF CHAMPION

Defeated Travis in Second Round at Morris County Golf Club Tournament.

REINHART IN FINALS.

ALSO DEFEATED BAYARD, FORMER INTERCOLLEGIATE CHAMPION.

Was the First Defeat That National Champion Travis Has Met Since May 1901—Great Playing by the Plainfield Boy.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Morristown, June 28—The second round at match play for the President's and Thomas cups and the first round for the Flagg cup were played yesterday morning in the invitation tournament of the Morris County Golf Club.

Frank Ormond Reinhart, the Princeton freshman, of Plainfield, was the centre of interest, for he gave a beating to the amateur champion, the first Travis has received at match play in a tournament since C. H. Seeley beat him in the M. G. A. semi-finals at Apawamis, in May, 1901; and in the afternoon Reinhart won a nineteen-hole match from Louis P. Bayard, Jr. The winner has been prominent in interscholastic and intercollegiate golfing.

The Plainfield boy held his own with the mighty Travis from the very start, and from the turn he led the champion by one up, being dormie two at the sixteenth and winning at the seventeenth green by 2 up and 1 to play.

This match carried the gallery of the morning. Travis, who could not believe it possible that defeat stared him in the face, kept up his pleasant smile and good natured courage to the finish, but he was very sad after the match and took his defeat very much to heart. It was an unexpected blow for the champion, who was anything but prepared for a defeat.

Travis started off with his usually dashing style and won the first hole in 4 but Reinhart returned the compliment at the second and honors were even. Then the youngster got a 4 on the third hole and Travis did the same on the fourth, and honors were again even. The fifth was halved. Reinhart landed a 4 on the sixth, giving him the lead, and as the next three holes were cleverly halved Reinhart led by 1 up at the turn. The young collegian won the tenth hole in 3 and the eleventh in 4, which gave him the lead by 3 up. Travis won the twelfth with a par 5, and after halving the long thirteenth hole (545 yards) in 6, Travis won the fourteenth in a par 4, which brought the lead of his opponent down to 1 up, with but four more holes to play. The fifteenth hole was halved in 4, but when Reinhart got a par 3 on the sixteenth hole, he changed the complexion of the match, as he then held Travis dormie 2. Halving the seventeenth hole gave Reinhart the victory by 2 up and 1 to play.

Their cards were:

Reinhart:
Out	5	4	4	5	4	4	5	4	5	—40
In	3	4	6	6	5	4	3	4	0	—35—75
Travis:
Out	4	5	6	4	4	5	5	4	5	—42
In	4	5	5	6	4	4	4	4	0	—36—78

In the afternoon the Princeton freshman was opposed to Princeton, '98, in the person of Bayard, also intercollegiate champion of '97. They had a grand match, the twelfth, for instance, being halved in 4 and Reinhart winning the thirteenth in 5. All even on the home green, Reinhart made a sensational finish on the extra hole by winning it in 3, putting out the width of the green. Bayard got a 4. The card for the eighteen holes was:

Bayard	4	5	4	5	4	5	5	4	5	—41
Reinhart	6	4	4	5	4	5	5	5	4	—42
Bayard	4	7	4	5	5	4	4	4	5	—42—83
Reinhart	4	5	4	6	5	3	5	4	5	—41—83

In the final for the President's cup today Reinhart will meet another Princetonian, L. H. Conklin, who put out in turn Tappin and Morgan Smith of Yale.

HOW HYMNS WERE WRITTEN.

Endeavorers Have Received Letters From Composers to be Read.

At the Congregational church, tomorrow evening, the service in charge of the Christian Endeavor Society will be of a novel character. Letters have been written to many of the composers of the favorite songs in Christian Hymns No. 7, and in reply, interesting incidents connected with the origin and use of the hymns have been received. There will be read at the meeting.

YOUNG WOMEN GAVE SOCIAL

PING-PONG AND REFRESHMENTS WERE THE CHIEF FEATURES.

Arranged by Young Ladies' Mission Circle of First M. E. Church in Basement of Church.

Under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the First M. E. church a delightful social and cake sale was held in the basement of the church last evening. Ping-pong was a popular attraction.

Mrs. Harry Gee is president of the circle, and those assisting her were Miss Edith H. Dyer, Miss Alma Dyer, Mrs. Arthur Crone, Mrs. S. H. Tugwell, Mrs. Corss, Miss Elizabeth Stafford, Mrs. Clayton M. Nagle. At the lemonade booth Mrs. William Symons, assisted by Miss Florence Symons, was in charge. The young women also had the assistance of Nelson A. Miller and Harry Gee.

BLEW SAFE OPEN.

But Valuables at Varnish Factory Had Been Removed the Night Before.

Burglars dynamited the safe in the office of the Price-Bond-Woolston varnish factory at West Front street and Rock avenue early this morning. The door and sides were wrecked but in vain as all the valuables had been removed last night.

A clock near the safe stopped at 2:30 and the police believe it was then the explosion occurred. Chief Kiely is of the opinion that it was the work of experienced cracksmen.

TELLS OF TRUST COMPANY.

A Neat Leaflet Just Issued by the Plainfield Trust Company.

The Plainfield Trust Company has just issued a very handsome and complete little booklet, descriptive of the several branches of the business. The outside cover has a fac simile impression of the official seal of the company, finished in red and gold, and green and gold. They are to be given away to those interested and may be secured by applying to the officers of the company or upon request by mail.

As will be seen by the booklet, this institution is rapidly increasing its business and making many friends in the community. The company executes trusts of all kinds, conducts a general banking business, allowing interest on deposit subject to check, and also operates a savings department, paying three per cent. interest on all funds deposited. The officers are O. T. Waring, president; A. V. Heeley, vice president; Henry A. McGee, second vice president; J. Herbert Case, treasurer.

ORPHAN'S COURT CASES.

Yesterday Occupied in Taking Testimony in Hatchett Estate Case.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 28—In the Orphan' Court yesterday Judge Schenck was occupied for a long while in taking testimony on the amended exceptions to the accounts in the estate of Mary Hatchett, colored, of North Plainfield. Geo. Hatchett, of Plainfield, a son of the deceased, is the exceptant and he is represented by Horace Codington, of this place. The matter will be given a further hearing on July 5.

Gilbert Emmons, of Peapack, was appointed a trustee in the estate of Isaiah Cole in place of David M. Todd. This property has been in a trustee's care since 1857.

The application of Frank Kolbeck for a transfer of wholesale license from Gateville to Bound Brook was refused.

There will be no court during July and August, excepting on the last Friday of each of these months.

Put in a Safe Place.

If while you are away this summer you should receive word that your house had been destroyed by fire or visited by burglars, would it not be a relief to know that your valuables were secure in the safe deposit vaults of the First National Bank?

—The official board of the Congregational church will meet after the regular service, tomorrow morning, to confer with any who wish to unite with the church on confession.

MORE DETAILS ABOUT HOPE'S COUNTY FAIR

Fun Will Commence Independence Day Morning at 9 o'Clock and Last All Day.

ATHLETIC SPORTS TOO.

GREAT TIME PLANNED BY YOUNG MEN OF HOPE CHAPEL Y. M. A.

Baseball Games Will be Big Feature—Athletic Events Arranged—Battalion Drill and Sham Battle by Company K—Side Shows.

But a few days more and the Fourth of July will be here and with it one of the most complete celebrations Plainfield has enjoyed in many years. The latter will be due to the enterprise and progressiveness of the Hope Y. M. A., the hustling body of West End young men which is constantly coming to the fore with something new and novel.

Just what their Independence Day "County Fair" on Hope Common is to consist of has already been related in a general way, but at a meeting held last evening, particulars were touched upon and made public. All combined the celebration will be a creditable one and provide amusement for the entire day.

The programme has been arranged to commence at 9 o'clock and will continue without abatement, in some form or other, until late in the evening. Among the principal attractions are the baseball games between the Hope team, at present holding the lead in the City League, and the Decatur A. C., of New York, amateur champions of the Metropolitan district. One will begin at 10 o'clock and the other at 2 in the afternoon.

At 12:30 a series of athletic events in which there have been many entries, will take place in charge of Albert Grieb, George McComb and other of the Y. M. A. gymnasium leaders. All the old time races such as wheelbarrow, potato, sack, obstacle and fat man's races will be seen and also a hundred yard dash, hammer throwing and many others.

In charge of Captain Browning, Plainfield's crack Company K will give a battalion drill on the broad field beyond the baseball diamond and will afterward engage in a thrilling sham battle with a visiting military company as an opponent. As this is something new for Plainfielders having been so long without a military company, it promises to be one of the best features of the celebration. Company K has taken part in several similar affairs and the members are well up in all the tricks of the play and intend to make a hot fight to come out victorious.

Without the usual side show, a county fair would be incomplete and the Hope Y. M. A. has taken particular care to see that it will have one of the best. An entertainment committee, consisting of Thomas Muir, B. C. Firstbrook and Arthur Fritts, will be in charge of a large tent where hourly vaudeville performances of the best character will be given. Among the artists who will appear are Joseph Butler and Theodore Owens, of Elizabeth, recognized leaders in southern singing and dancing; Mack and Mack, inimitable Irish comedians; Shepherd and Hansen, contortionists and slack wire artists; Lusardi and Bowers, champion buck, wing and "wooden" shoe or clog dancers, and others to be announced later.

The red lemonade men, candy butchers, peanut venders, cane racks, knife boards, "hit the baby" and other devices to catch the elusive nickel, will be there galore. This end of the show is to be supervised by M. D. Sweeney, whose reputation has been firmly established through his connection with other enterprises. In addition a brass band will be on the grounds all day and will discourse music, topping off the day with a grand burst of melody in the form of a high class concert.

Other attractions are in preparation and will be in shape before the day arrives. At all events the programme as arranged has been carefully considered and the members feel confident that Plainfielders can come prepared to stay all day as the refreshment end will be no mean feature.

The committee having charge of the entire affair is practically the same as that which conducted the successful minstrel show last spring, consisting fo George E. Firstbrook, chairman, William N. Runyon, D. Brit Martin, Thomas Muir and John H. Cose.

HOW GRETHER WAS CAUGHT

Details of the Capture of the Murderer Who Escaped From Stroudsburg Jail.

CAUGHT AT BELVIDERE.

Grether's Italian Companion Was First Run to Earth—Then Grether Was Found on Hill in Warren County in an Exhausted Condition—Neither Man Resisted.

The local police have just received complete and full details of the recapture of Charles Grether, the murderer who escaped from the Stroudsburg, Pa., jail, with Benny Aiello, another murderer, last week. The department has always been interested in the former's case as it was he who planned and participated in the Demko assault and robbery, claimed to be the most cruel that has been committed in this city in many years. Both men were found in Warren county, this State, and were taken only a few hours apart. Neither put up any fight and simply surrendered when they found the game was up.

The first clue to the whereabouts of the pair was on the Monday following the escape when they stopped at the home of Peter Hunt, a farmer living near Dunfield. They were hungry and asked for something to eat. As Mr. Hunt was entirely alone he did not take the risk of attempting to capture the men unaided. Instead he fed them and later drove to Portland where he asked the operator to notify the sheriff of Monroe county that he believed the men had been at his home. Sheriff Mervine went at once to Warren county and after following the trail for twenty-four hours finally located the men on the Manunkachunk mountain, three miles from Belvidere.

With his posse the sheriff slowly began the work of closing in on the wily Grether and his Italian companion, but because of the small force and the difficult character of the land they found it no easy matter to corral the murderers. About 9 o'clock Thursday morning, however, Aiello was sighted hiding in a clump of bushes on top of the mountain and was taken a prisoner. He was worn out by hard traveling and want of food and made no resistance. He stated that Grether had left him only about an hour before and had started toward Belvidere. The Italian was sent back to the Stroudsburg jail, while the sheriff and a part of his force continued to search the mountain for Grether. The officers at Belvidere were notified to look out for the murderer.

It was about 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Frank C. Shay saw a man seated on the bank of the Pequest creek about five hundred yards from McMurtrie's mill. When the fellow saw that he was observed he held his hat in front of his face but made no effort to move. Mrs. Shay suspected that the man might be the one wanted and she hurried to the mill, where her husband is employed, and told him of what she had seen. He and Mr. McMurtrie started at once up the creek and soon came in sight of the stranger whom Shay recognized as Grether. As they came near, it was seen that the murdered was spreading strips of sticking plaster on his feet which were badly swollen and blistered. Shay asked for a match but Grether made no reply. He then addressed him as "Charley" and the fellow looked up. As he did so both Shay and McMurtrie grabbed him.

He made no effort to fight and told his captors that they need not worry themselves as he was too weak to make any effort to escape. Outside of some berries he had had nothing to eat since leaving the Stroudsburg jail, except the meal he got at Dunfield, and as a result he was thoroughly exhausted. Moreover his feet were so sore and swollen from long tramping that he was hardly able to stand on them. He had no firearms and was penniless.

The captive was taken to the Belvidere jail where he was placed in a strong cell. Sheriff Mervine was notified and he hurried to the county-seat where he had a talk with Grether. The latter refused to return to Pennsylvania without a requisition and application was made for this the next day.

MILLION FOR GOOD ROADS

STATE ROAD COMMISSIONER BUDD SAYS THAT WILL BE SPENT.

His Estimate of Amount New Jersey Will Pay for Good Roads This Year.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 28—Half a million dollars were spent on good roads in the State of New Jersey last year, and nearly double that sum will be expended this year, according to Henry J. Budd, the State commissioner of public roads. Last year more than one hundred miles of new highways were constructed on the most improved principles, and this year it is expected to build nearly two hundred miles more.

So great is the number of new roads applied for in the different counties that the State is finding itself unable to support the necessary funds. The State government has been the leader in the good roads movement in this country, and the increase of $27,000,000 in the value of taxable property within New Jersey's borders is attributed in large part to this tendency.

Commissioner Budd is authority for the statement that there are several localities in New Jersey where the improvement in the roads has been instrumental in attracting from one to four millions of wealth in the last few years. He also asserts that in no other State in the Union can road improvement add so largely to the population, because the largest part of New Jersey's territory is within a short distance of the greatest cities in the Union, and it is frequently said by wealthy men having summer homes in the State that if their neighborhoods had roads such as could be pleasantly travelled in winter the city would have little attraction for them.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

A FIGHT TO A FINISH

Seven Weeks' Strike and End Not Yet In Sight.

SIX UNRULY STRIKERS ARRESTED.

Armed With Clubs and Stones a Band of Miners Attacked Workmen About to Enter the Stanton Colliery.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 28.—Today ends the seventh week of the great anthracite coal mine workers' strike. The lines remain tightly drawn, and neither side shows the slightest disposition to weaken. Excepting President Mitchell's offer to arbitrate, there has been no proposition advanced by either of the parties to the controversy since the strike began, and the prediction that the struggle will be one to a finish still holds good.

While no information can be had on the matter, it is still believed here that some outside party is going over the situation with a view of finding a way to bring the miners and the operators together. If such is being done, it is not likely that any move will be made until after the special national convention of the mine workers next month at Indianapolis. It is not unlikely that the report of Labor Commissioner Carroll D. Wright to President Roosevelt may suggest some way that may lead to a settlement. The publication of the report is eagerly awaited by the strikers.

Considering the great number of men who are idle the strike is a remarkably quiet one. Including those who have been laid off by reason of dull times on account of the suspension, it is estimated that fully 165,000 persons are out of work in this comparatively small section of the state.

Since the publication of his statement last Monday President Mitchell has given out no information on either the anthracite or the West Virginia strike.

There was a disturbance in the vicinity of the Stanton colliery of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company in South Wilkesbarre yesterday which resulted in the arrest of six men on the charge of assault and battery and causing a riot.

Fifteen men armed with clubs and stones set upon a fire boss and an assistant mine foreman as they were about to enter the colliery. As soon as the crowd of men began attacking the two workmen the coal and iron police came to the rescue. Two of the fifteen were arrested, and the others escaped, but an hour later four of them were taken into custody by the city police. The two workmen escaped without serious injury.

There has been considerable trouble at the Stanton colliery since the strike began, a boy having been shot in that vicinity several weeks ago.

The Lehigh and Wilkesbarre company, with the assistance of its fire bosses, yesterday succeeded in starting up the pumps in its Empire colliery at South Wilkesbarre. They were idle for several weeks. Three engineers returned to work at the Boston colliery of the Delaware and Hudson company at Plymouth.

Strikers Arrested.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 28.—Stephen Rapp, a member of the district board, United Mine Workers; Edward Lawlor and John Lyon, all striking miners, have been arrested at the instance of the Delaware and Hudson company for disorderly conduct and rioting. They are charged with being in the crowd of 500 which held up three workmen on Wednesday evening near the Eddy Creek colliery and forced them to turn back.

Miners to Petition the Governor.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 28.—It is understood here that a petition is being circulated by the miners addressed to Governor White urging him to call a special session of the legislature to deny to the state courts the right to issue injunctions in such cases as are now presented in the coalfields.

A National Coal Trust.

KANSAS CITY, June 28.—The Star says all the big coal mines in Missouri are to be absorbed by a syndicate controlled by J. Pierpont Morgan, according to R. G. Rombauer of Kirksville, Mo. Mr. Rombauer asserted that the plan to consolidate the Missouri mines by eastern capitalists is only part of a plan to form a trust to control the coal output of the United States.

Ruhlin Issues a Challenge.

LONDON, June 28.—Gus Ruhlin of Akron, O., who defeated Tom Sharkey of New York in the eleventh round before the National Sporting club last Wednesday, challenges the winner of the approaching Jeffries-Fitzsimmons contest at San Francisco to fight either in England or the United States.

TERMS OF AMNESTY

Cabinet Frames Proclamation to Be Made to Filipinos.

TO BE DECLARED INDEPENDENCE DAY

Document Will Announce Liberty For All Political Offenders In the Islands, Including Aguinaldo and Those Held In Guam.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—At the meeting of the cabinet yesterday the terms of an amnesty proclamation to the Filipinos which it is contemplated to issue on the Fourth of July were agreed upon. The war department for some time past has had under consideration the draft of a proclamation and has found it necessary to make a number of changes in its text. In its modified state it was agreed to by the cabinet yesterday, and Secretary Root will cable it to Acting Governor Wright for his inspection. If it meets the latter's approval, nothing will remain but for the president, if the Philippine civil government bill is a law on that day, as it is now expected it will be, to issue on Independence day a formal proclamation setting forth terms of amnesty for all political offenders in the islands, including Aguinaldo and those held at Guam.

The proclamation is based on the general objects of the Philippine government bill—namely, to restore peace in the archipelago and substitute a civil for a military administration. That bill is now in conference, and the proclamation will not be published until the Philippine government measure has been agreed upon by both houses and the president has affixed his signature to it. The proclamation will declare that a state of peace now exists in the Philippine Islands, save in the parts of the archipelago where the Mindanao or pagan tribes are giving the United States a great amount of trouble, and will declare in effect that with the transfer of the government of the archipelago from a military to a civil status all those arrested and held for political offenses shall be restored to liberty, granted full amnesty and allowed to participate in the civil government that is to be inaugurated on the islands. While the proclamation is subject to changes in text, the general language of the document is pretty well mapped out.

Another subject under discussion at the cabinet meeting yesterday was the negotiations for the purchase of the friars' lands in the Philippines. Secretary Root took with him to the meeting all the correspondence which has passed between himself and Governor Taft while the latter has been carrying on his negotiations at Rome. It is understood that Secretary Root feels great confidence in a successful outcome of Governor Taft's efforts.

The cabinet meeting was held in the president's temporary quarters on Lafayette square and was the first time in eighty-eight years that a regular session of the cabinet had been held outside of the White House.

Good Will Not Taxable.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 28.—The good will of a business cannot be taxed under the Indiana law, according to the decision of the supreme court just made in the Indianapolis News case. The valuation of tangible property as returned for taxation had not been questioned, but the state board had added a large sum for good will and for value of the Associated Press franchise. When the paper refused to pay, the state board sued to collect. While the complaint alleged that the additional assessment was against the good will of the property and the Associated Press franchise, it did not specify how much either was valued at. Attorneys for the newspaper showed that the Indiana law did not provide a method or attempt to provide one for taxing good will and that other newspapers or other property had not been so taxed.

Sought Fun In Train Wrecking.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 28.—Clarence Place, sixteen years old, is under arrest for attempting to wreck the flier on the Ulster and Delaware railroad near South Gilboa, in the Catskills. He placed a spike on the rail on the upper side of a sharp curve on a high embankment. Only the pony trucks of the engine left the rails, when the train was brought to a stop. Place says he wanted to wreck the train "for fun." Railroad men say it is marvelous that the train was not wrecked and hundreds of passengers killed.

The Pen and Pencil Industry.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The census bureau has issued a report on the manufacture of pens and pencils in the United States for 1900. It shows that a total of $3,671,741 was invested in this manufacture in the fifty-five establishments reporting for the United States. The value of the products is returned at $4,222,148; wages, $1,192,405; materials used, mill supplies, freight and fuel, $1,747,852.

Trolley Extension In Oregon.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 28.—The Portland and Oregon City Railroad company will soon expend $5,000,000 upon a new system of trolley roads, the trunk line of which will extend from Portland to Springwater, in Clackamas county, thirty-five miles away, via Gresham and Powell Valley. By July 15 actual construction work will begin.

Sheriff of London Dead.

LONDON, June 28. — Sir James Thomas Ritchie, alderman and sheriff of the city of London, died suddenly as he was entering Lord's cricket grounds yesterday afternoon.

METEOR SAILS WELL.

Kaiser's New American Built Yacht's First Race.

KIEL, June 28.—Emperor William's American built schooner yacht Meteor, with the emperor himself on board and steering most of the time, finished seven minutes and twenty-two seconds ahead of the Cicely in the large schooner race held here yesterday in connection with the regatta. The Cicely is owned by Cecil Quentin of England and was designed by Fife. Under her time allowance, however, the Cicely claims the race by one minute and eleven seconds.

The course was thirty miles, and a moderate breeze was blowing. The Meteor crossed the line almost with the flash of the gun and in the weather berth and soon drew out her lead, with the Cicely under her lee. The first leg was a twelve mile beat to windward. The Cicely was quicker in stays than the Meteor. She soon took the lead and rounded the mark a minute and a half ahead of the emperor's yacht.

The second leg was an easy seven mile reach on the port tack. The Meteor overhauled the Cicely on this leg and rounded the mark two minutes and twenty-five seconds ahead of the Fife boat.

The whole race was a duel between these two yachts, the other boats trailing from three to four minutes behind them. On the long run home the Meteor steadily increased her lead. All the yachts used their spinnakers over part of the course.

When Emperor William was not steering the Meteor, he spent most of his time leaning against the after companion hatch. He wore a blue yachting suit and a white cap. The Kiel regatta is the only occasion in the year when Emperor William is seen in public in civilian dress. As the Meteor crossed the line his majesty was cheered by the crowds on the steamers hovering around the finish.

The Navahoe, formerly owned by Royal Phelps Carroll of the New York Yacht club, and the Comet, recently presented by Emperor William to the German navy, were entered for the race in which the Meteor and the Cicely took part, but as they were yawl rigged the emperor directed that they sail in a separate class.

Patrick Will Declared Invalid.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Surrogate Frank T. Fitzgerald has handed down his formal decision and decree in the litigation over the two alleged wills of the murdered millionaire, William Marsh Rice. The decision admits to probate the will of Sept. 26, 1896, under which the Rice institute of Houston, Tex., is the residuary legatee, and denies probate to the alleged will of June 30, 1900, commonly known as the "Patrick will," under which Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer convicted of murdering Rice, was the residuary legatee.

Warrant Out For Disbrow.

NEW YORK, June 28.—A warrant has been placed in the hands of the sheriff at Southampton, N. Y., for the arrest of Louis Disbrow, who is suspected of complicity in the recent drowning of Clarence Foster and Miss Lawrence at Good Ground, on Long Island. The warrant was issued on circumstantial evidence, the nature of which the authorities refuse to make public at this time.

Fatal Bicycle Accident.

UTICA, N. Y., June 28.—Two boys riding bicycles in opposite directions in Bleecker street, this city, collided. One named Brand was thrown under a passing street car and was decapitated. He was riding on the wrong side of the street.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Manufacturing Operations Increased. Bright Outlook For Agriculturists.

NEW YORK, June 28.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Foreign markets were badly disarranged by the sudden illness of the king, and there was much liquidation prior to the closing of British exchanges from Wednesday afternoon to Monday morning.

Domestic financial conditions are exceptionally satisfactory and trade is well maintained, although low temperature interfered with the distribution of midsummer specialties. Probably this business has only been postponed, however, and sales will be made later in the season. Manufacturing operations have increased in activity, especially in the iron and steel industry and textile production, while the constructive work on new buildings and bridges is very heavy. Labor difficulties have not improved in the anthracite coal region, but numerous settlements have been effected elsewhere.

Most of the blast furnaces that were stopped by the scarcity of anthracite coal have resumed with coke, of which the ovens have established new records of output, and shipments have been still larger owing to the stocks accumulated during the car shortage.

Agricultural prospects are far above the average, and rapid progress is made with winter wheat harvesting. Each day puts much grain beyond the reach of harm and advances other growing crops nearer maturity.

GREEN-GAYNOR CASE.

Attorney General Knox May Take a Hand.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Considerable surprise has been expressed by prominent lawyers in this city with reference to the inaction of the Canadian authorities in regard to the application to extradite Green and Gaynor. The methods resorted to by the friends of the prisoners to resist their surrender to the courts of this country, it is said, have been unusual and extraordinary.

The attention of the attorney general has been called to the fact that some of the principal legal officials in Canada who would have to do with the prosecution of the case are connected professionally with the counsel representing the defendants, and a suggestion has been made to him that the delays in the case should be made the subject of a remonstrance to the Canadian authorities through diplomatic channels.

Minneapolis Police Indicted.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 28.—Three more members of the police force have been indicted by the grand jury and two of them arraigned. Captain John Fitchette is accused of receiving a gratuity of $100 for securing for an applicant a place on the police force. In court he declared that he was too poor to hire an attorney, but the court, calling attention to a diamond studded star and a gold watch and chain he wore, declined to appoint counsel. His bail was fixed at $1,000. Inspector Fred Malone was arraigned for being an accessory after the fact to a felony, the cracking of a safe in a business office.

Blaze In Central Carshops.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28.—The mammoth carshops of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company at West Albany were threatened with destruction last night by a fire which started in the wood working department. Aid was asked from this city, and Chief Higgins and a portion of the apparatus responded. By dint of hard work the blaze was confined to the building in which it started. The damage will not exceed $50,000.

A Shortage of $200,000.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 28.—The examination into the affairs of the Merchants' bank of this city, a state institution, by a commission appointed by Governor Kimball continues, and reports up to the present time indicate a shortage of $200,000. The attempted suicide of Cashier Sherman a week ago was the reason for an accounting. He died on Thursday.

Colorado Forest Fires.

DENVER, June 28.—Not in many years has Colorado been visited by so many forest fires as this summer. Half a dozen big fires are now raging, and numerous smaller ones threaten to denude the state of timber if means cannot be found to check them. A great fire is sweeping along the Medicine Bow range in Wyoming.

East African Rebels Beaten.

LISBON, June 28.—It has been officially announced that Portuguese troops have gained a decisive victory over the rebels in the Upper Zambezi region of Portuguese East Africa. The rebellious chiefs were captured and decapitated, and their heads were salted and conveyed to the capital of the colony.

New Shipbuilding Company.

NORFOLK, Va., June 28.—The Norfolk and Hampton Roads Shipbuilding company has been finally organized and several hundred thousand dollars subscribed to its stock here. The company will build an immense plant on Hampton Roads, having purchased over 700 hundred acres of land.

Destructive Fire at Cape Town.

CAPE TOWN, June 28.—There has been a big fire in the heart of the city, and several large business houses have been destroyed. The loss is very great.

Weather Probabilities.

Increasing cloudiness, followed by rain; fresh west to northwest winds, becoming northeast.

KING GAINS STEADILY

Latest Bulletins From Buckingham Palace Reassuring.

ALREADY CONSIDERED OUT OF DANGER

His Majesty Reads, Converses With His Family and Has an Improved Appetite—Coronation Date Is Likely to Be Fixed Soon.

LONDON, June 28.—The news contained in the latest bulletins relative to King Edward's condition is reassuring. It is to be noted with a sense of satisfaction that his majesty passed a fairly comfortable night and was able to obtain a little rest. Each hour's sleep adds so much to the reserve strength of the patient, and strength above all things is needed to tide over the crisis following surgical operations.

An improvement is also noted in the appetite of his majesty. This, when taken in conjunction with the other favorable symptoms, is regarded as a hopeful sign.

The unanimity among prominent physicians when questioned in relation to the case of King Edward is quite remarkable. All the professional opinions gathered are distinctly favorable and hopeful. The doctors questioned regard the danger of peritonitis to have now almost passed and believe his majesty's recovery to be entirely probable.

Liverpool was illuminated last night in recognition of the good news.

The Daily Mail this morning says that all King Edward's functions are working admirably. The drainage pipe has not yet been removed, says the paper, but the king's general progress is very sure and steady. His diet already includes soup, fish and baked apples. It is probable that next week the number of daily bulletins will be diminished. "It has been informally settled," says the paper, "that as soon as it is safe to do so his majesty will be moved to Cowes and placed on board the royal yacht for his period of convalescence."

Lord Lister is quoted as saying, "His majesty is practically out of danger."

The king reads and converses continually with the queen and the Prince and Princess of Wales.

The government officials expect possibly within a week to fix the approximate date of the coronation, which will probably occur early in the autumn.

Further proof of the king's improvement is found in the fact that Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia leaves London today for Germany.

The Prince and Princess of Wales dined at Buckingham palace last night in company with several foreign royal personages. All the diners returned early to their homes.

The king of Denmark, who intended coming to London today, has been dissuaded from so doing by Queen Alexandra, who telegraphed her father that King Edward is making good progress.

The prospect of the king's rapid recovery has led to a revival of the projects for festivities. It has practically been decided that the Indian and colonial troops here shall be reviewed next Tuesday or Wednesday by the Prince and Princess of Wales on the Horse guards parade. Queen Alexandra attending to take the salute on behalf of the king, as she did recently at Aldershot. This idea was warmly advocated by the colonial premiers in London, and it has been approved by Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary.

It is also likely that as soon as his majesty is pronounced to be out of danger London will indulge in a general illumination. Very few of the illumination devices in the city have been disturbed, their owners awaiting the decision of the Prince of Wales in the matter. The prince has not yet ordered the removal of the devices from Marlborough House.

It is not impossible that the abandonment of the naval review set for June 28 will be reconsidered in the interests of the colonial and Indian visitors, who are greatly disappointed at missing this sight. Other entertainments for the nation's colonial and Indian guests are also being arranged. Thus if there is no setback in his majesty's progress there will be a partial revival of the interrupted festivities.

Teachers Probably Murdered.

MANILA, June 28.—Though there is no positive proof that the four American teachers of Cebu, island of Cebu, who have been missing since June 10, when they started on a day's outing, have been killed, there is little doubt that they were murdered, as members of the constabulary who killed a man for resisting arrest found on his person the revolver, watch and chain which had belonged to Mr. Thomas, one of the teachers referred to.

Twenty-one Guests Poisoned.

OTTUMWA, Ia., June 28.—Hog cholera remedy, eaten by chickens which were served at a neighborhood dinner, poisoned twenty-one persons at Wright. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Switzer and Mrs. Gunsalus may die. Others are very ill, but will recover. The dinner was given by Mrs. Edward Kent. When the guests drank water, the poison became active.

Six Prisoners Break Jail.

JEFFERSON, Wis., June 28.—Six out of nine prisoners broke jail here early yesterday. Three of those who escaped were charged with murder or assault with attempt to kill. The prisoners gained their liberty by working a hole through the roof with a penknife.

Canadian Troops Leave South Africa.

DURBAN, Natal, June 28.—About 1,500 Canadian troops have sailed from here for home. Two thousand additional Canadians will start for home July 2.

WILL VACANCY BE FILLED?

The death of Assemblyman Frederick Miller has not only left a vacancy in the Union county delegation to the lower house of the State Legislature but one as well in the Union county Board of Freeholders. As the Legislature will not meet again until next year, unless Governor Murphy should find some need for a special session which is not at all likely, there will be no attempt to select any one to take his place in the Assembly. As the Freeholders are meeting several times every month, however, it is quite likely that something will be done to fill the vacancy in that board.

Mr. Miller was a member of the Board of Freeholders from the city of Elizabeth and the charter of that city provides that its City Council may fill vacancies "in their discretion" "by the appointment of a suitable person." It is therefore entirely within the province of the Elizabeth Council to select a successor.

It so happens that the political complexion of the Elizabeth Council is Democratic while Mr. Miller was a Republican. The question now arises as to whether the Democratic members of the City Council will insist on selecting one of their own political faith to fill the place or whether they will elect a Republican to succeed a Republican. Mr. Miller's term would have expired with the close of this year. There are now in the board ten Republicans and seven Democrats. An additional Democrat would not change the balance of power but it would make the working majority somewhat smaller than it has been.

Mr. Miller was chairman of the Elizabeth drawbridge and lunacy committees of the board and also a member of the committee on the collector's bond. His death will make it necessary to appoint his successors at the head of the two committees.

Steady effort has told and the local branch of the W. C. T. U. is much stronger and more powerful than it was twenty-five years ago when it was first started. It is now one of the strongest branches that the organization possesses in the State and it is indefatigable in its work against the liquor trade.

Ralph L. Morrow, of East Fifth street, has been entertaining Charles Lefferts, of Paterson.

DUNELLEN.

An incident showing the advisability of keeping things locked up during the present ingress of tramps into this vicinity took place at Lincoln Wednesday, at the home of Fred Dunn. Mrs. Dunn and her small child were asleep up stairs in the afternoon when a tramp came to the door. As he saw nobody within he calmly picked the lock of the wire door, went in and walked off with one of Mr. Dunn's coats and a few other little things that tickled his fancy.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

An exciting runaway accident happened near Berkley Heights early Friday morning. Wm. Riley's hired man started to bring the horse from the stable to the house for the purpose of bringing Mr. Riley to the station at Fanwood. The animal became frightened and started upon a mad run throwing the driver out and bruising him quite severely. The animal was finally captured uninjured but the wagon had not fared so well being nearly an entire wreck.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., nominated the following officers for the ensuing six months at its meeting Thursday evening: Councillor, Wm. Jimerson; vice councillor, Harry Flannery; conductor, Wm. Spicer; warden, John Frazee; corresponding secretary, Horace Hand; financial secretary, George Johnston; treasurer, John Mooney; trustee, Charles Wade. The nominations for inside and outside sentinels were laid over until next meeting.

A number of the Baptist Young People's Union, of the Baptist church are planning to attend the national B. Y. P. U. convention which will be held at Providence, R. I., on July 13. From present indications ten or twelve of the members will enjoy the pleasant outing.

Services at the Baptist church tomorrow will be Sunday-school, 9:30; morning preaching service, subject, "God's Revelation of Himself," 10:45; Baptist Young People's Union meeting, 7; evening service, subject, "Working by Pattern, 7:45."

Miss Louise Robison, one of Greater New York's school teachers and a former efficient member of the corps of local teachers, is enjoying the annual school vacation, her school having closed yesterday.

The Bucket and Engine Company's chemical engine, which has recently been overhauled, was taken out for a wash last night. Both tanks were tested and everything worked satisfactorily.

Miss Nancy Wade, who is teaching at the Mahwah public school, is enjoying her summer vacation, part of which will be spent with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade.

Principal Howard D. White, of the public school, leaves shortly for Carlisle, Pa., where he will spend a portion of his vacation.

Borough Collector Chas. Scheelen has recovered from an illness of several days duration.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A small dog, which had a chain attached to its neck and which was running about the streets during the night, was found about daybreak, yesterday morning, in Harry Hartzel's chicken coop, disturbing the brood. Mr. Hartzel, on lifting the coop to discover the cause of the disturbance, was bitten through the hand by the dog. With two well aimed blows with a club in the hand of Hartzel the animal was killed.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley will preach tomorrow morning on the subject, "Things That Accompany Salvation." The subject of the evening discourse will be "Corner Stones of National Prosperity."

Thomas Linaberry and son spent a part of the night before last bobbing for eels. They were rewarded with a large catch.

Mrs. Joseph Eckert, of Plainfield, has returned home after a short visit with Mrs. T. C. Laing.

Thomas Brantingham received yesterday a box of ferrets from West Virginia.

William Johnson's mother-in-law is confined to the house by illness.

Mrs. Paterson spent today in New York city.

Livery Business Changes Hands.

Andrew Love has sold his livery and boarding stable business, carried on at 115 East Second street, to L. S. Pocock & Co. The new management has made some necessary improvements and has put the stock in such shape that will enable the new firm to give perfect satisfaction to all its patrons. The horses and carriages are new and up-to-date and will be much appreciated by the driving public.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Smalley Brothers, North avenue, have the most attractive butcher shop in the city. For anything in the meat line Smalley's is the place.

Straw hats in every style, rough and fine quality, French palms, West India Panamas, and several other varieties are on sale at J. R. Blair's, Park avenue.

W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, has made a reputation for his store on account of the excellent qualities of the goods always in stock. And the prices at Dunn's are not of the skyey variety.

McDonough Brothers, dealers in ice, are doing a large business this season because they sell the pure article at a reasonable price. This firm will serve you promptly if you desire to trade with them.

Don't cast that old clock away under the supposition that it can't be fixed. Let Brown, the expert, look at it, and it will probably be returned as good as new. Always at home at 128 Watchung avenue.

Have you noticed the list of wonderfully low priced specials that Keenan is offering this week? It pays to watch his ad as he is one of the most careful buyers of groceries in the city and his customers always profit by his experience.

The people who wear a Douglas shoe are always satisfiedfor they are a comfortable shoe and they wear well. A. Willett & Son have the exclusive agency for them in Plainfield, also the celebrated Queen Quality shoe for women. They are great sellers.

Accuracy in compounding prescriptions, pure drugs, as well as prompt service are fixed principles at L. W. Randolph's drug store on West Front street. This is one of the popular pharmacies in the city, and Mr. Randolph's efforts to please have been successful.

Putnam & DeGraw now have the sole agency for May Manton's bazaar glove-fitting patterns which are very popular with all women who have used them. One decided feature of these patterns is that no allowance is made for seams. Already this firm has had a large sale of these patterns.

The display of fresh fruit and vegetables which Neuman Brothers have at present, is one of the finest ever seen at their Watchung avenue store. It consists of strawberries, blackberries, red and black raspberries, huckleberries, muskmelons, peaches and cherries in the fruit line and Jersey green and wax beans, hothouse cucumbers, lettuce and tomatoes in the vegetable way. All are received fresh every morning and Neuman Brothers make a specialty of disposing of them at the lowest city prices.

OLD OFFICERS REMAIN.

Perseverance Lodge Kept the Old Officers in for the First Time.

For the first time in the history of the organization, Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., re-elected its present officers, last evening, by so doing retaining City Judge William N. Runyon at its head. The past six months have been most successful ones for the lodge and the members were reluctant to part with the administration.

As elected the officers will remain as follows: Chancellor commander, William N. Runyon; vice chancellor commander, Charles M. Ulrich; prelate, Harvey L. Patterson; master of work, James Armstrong; master at arms, James J. McGinley; inside guard, Samuel Clouston; outside guard, Peter Strem.

NEW OFICERS.

Chosen at Meeting of Bevevolent Council of Juniors Last Night.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., met last evening and elected the following officers: Councilor, A. D. Honeyman; vice councilor, Walter Fisher; recording secretary, Horace G. Adams; assistant recording secretary, Charles Suhr; financial secretary, T. A. Kurzhals, Jr.; treasurer, J. M. Higgins; conductor, A. Trenchard; warden, R. M. Clark; inside sentinel, F. C. Putnam; outside sentinel, G. S. Martin; trustee, 18 months, I. N. Wyckoff. After the election two candidates were initiated.

MEMORIAL AT AMHERST.

Presented by Col. Mason W. Tyler, of West Seventh Street, This City.

President Harris, of Amherst College, has announced the gift to the library of $25,000 by Col. Mason W. Tyler, of West Seventh street, as a memorial to his father, the late Professor William S. Tyler, for many years professor of Greek at Amherst. The college is to have a new observatory to cost $65,000 and will have four telescopes, one of which will be the largest in New England, having a glass with a diameter of eighteen inches and a tube twenty-five feet long.

Purchased Adjoining Property.

Councilman George P. Mellick, of LaGrande avenue, has purchased of the executor, John Morris, of New Brunswick, sixty acres of the property of the late Henry Melick which adjoins the land upon which his bungalow is situated. Mr. Mellick bought the property with no plans for improving the same. He has no idea at present as to what use he may put it. The land owned by the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was purchased of the same estate.

Mrs. Wm. F. Hueston and daughter, Miss Susie Hueston, of Brooklyn, are visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Rogers, of Highland Farm.

America's Place as a Ship-Building Nation

A New Impetus Given the Industry Because of the Recent Steamship Merger.

The shipping interests of the United States, and in fact those of the whole world, are undergoing such a change at the present time and so much uncertainty previals as to where controlling interests will be centered when affairs have steadied down and the new order of things under the plans of the merger have become established certainties, that to attempt to write of shipbuilding and shipping interests of the United States is a perplexing task, and while stating a condition and position which exists at the time of writing, before the ink has had time to become dry other changes may have taken place which will put an entirely different aspect upon the question. Things are moving so rapidly these days, and the commercial and business world seems to be so largely in a transition stage that the future is full of uncertainties and untold possibilities.

The man who went to bed an ordinary and unknown citizen and awoke in the morning to find himself famous may yet find a countepart in the United States as a shipping and shipbuilding nation, and the $1,894,445,461 of foreign trade carried in foreign ships in 1900, or 90.7 per cent. of the total, may, under the manipulation of a Morgan and the stroke of a pen, come suddenly under the control of the Stars and Stripes and the indomitable spirit of American energy. And with the capturing at one fell swoop of a large part of the shipping interests of the world will undoubtedly come such impetus to the shipbuilding industry of the country as to soon place the United States in the foreground, if not the lead, of the shipbuilding nations of the world.

To-day Great Britain probably builds four-fifths of the world's ocean-going tonnage, while the production of the substantial number of establishments in the United States, equipped with every essential for the construction of ocean-going ships of every type, is strangely limited to the construction of warships and of vessels for our domestic trade, except for the infrequent and spasmodic requirements of a few courageous shipowners who persist in operating American-built ships in foreign trade. All this may soon be changed, and "the Ships that Pass in a Night" may be of American construction.

This anomalous condition of American shipyards, in respect of equipment for and output of ocean-going shipping, has attracted widespread attention and provoked world-wide comment. The demand for vessels in the foreign trade is so great that if it were supplied by American shipyards the average annual construction of these yards would be increased fully one-third in tonnage and probably doubled in value, for the types of vessels engaged in the foreign trade are much more costly than those employed in domestic trade. Precisely what should be done to increase United States shipping in foreign trade is the much discussed and still unsolved American maritime problem.

As we have just intimated the vessels constructed for foreign trade represents but a small proportion of the entire output of the shipyards, for the stability of the industry in the United States has rested almost wholly upon the domestic or coastwise trade, and one remarkable feature of the growth of the industry during the past decade is the fact that the product of merchant vessels has been so largely absorbed and employed in the domestic commerce of the country.

The completeness of the decline of American shipping in the foreign trade may be briefly illustrated by quotations from the statistical history of the growth of the foreign commerce of the United States, showing the share in its carriage taken by American ships in the earlier years compared with the present time. In 1826 American vessels carried 92.5 per cent. of the foreign commerce of the United States, the value of which was $150,331,636, while in 1900 they carried 9.3 per cent., the value of which was $193,083,155, an increase in value of only 29.5 per cent. in 74 years. In 1826 foreign vessels carried 7.5 per cent. of our foreign commerce, valued at $12,238,163, while in 1900 they carried 90.7 per cent., valued at $1,894,445,461, an increase of 15,379.8 per cent. in 74 years. Thus the shipping interests of the country have not kept pace with growth in other directions, and the nation is just beginning to wake up to its needs in this respect.

The domestic, water-borne traffic of the United States is confined to vessels constructed and owned in the United States, and the growth of shipping in the domestic trade seems to be all that can be desired. The recent territorial acquisitions of the United States, extending to the West Indies and the islands of the Pacific, our trade with which must be confined to vessels built in the United States, holds promise to shipbuilders of a demand for ocean-going vessels adapted to the trade requirements and harbor facilities of the ports of these possessions. Moreover, it is likely that the future growth of the navy will afford employment for many shipyards.

During the past decade, 206,771 tons of ships for foreign trade were built in the United States. During the same period 12,077,359 tons of steel steamships were built in the world's shipyards, of which Great Britain built 9,793,426 tons, or 81.1 per cent. In the United States only 742,830 tons of steel vessels were built during the past ten years, 450,089 tons of which were constructed upon the Great Lakes. The remainder, 292,741 tons, or 39.4 per cent. of the total, represents the constructions of the Atlantic and Pacific shipyards for the coastwise and ocean traffic.

The number of establishments engaged in the building and repairing of vessels, boats, masts and spars increased from 953 in 1850 to 1,116 in 1900, or 17.1 per cent., while the capital invested increased from $5,373,139 to $77,362,701, or 1,339.8 per cent. Shipbuilding is carried on in 33 states of the union, of which the following 17 reported either a capital or products of more than $1,000,000 each: California, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin. Of these states, three are located on the Pacific coast, four on the Great Lakes and ten on the Atlantic, although both New York and Pennsylvania have ports on the Great Lakes.

Summarizing the new construction of vessels of all kinds—steam, sailing, barges, and canal boats, both iron and steel and wooden—there were constructed in American shipyards during the year ending May 31, 1900, 2,087 vessels of a total of 687,681 gross tons. Of these, 519, of a total of 286,311 gross tons, were steam; 652, of a total of 80,376 gross tons, were sailing vessels; 844, of a total of 229,560 gross tons, were barges; and 72, of a total of 21,434 gross tons, were canal boats. Of the 2,087 vessels built, 134, of a total of 262,516 gross tons, were of iron and steel, divided as follows: One hundred and twenty-three steam vessels of a total of 237,379 gross tons, six sailing vessels of a total of 21,085 gross tons, and five canal boats of a total of 4,052 gross tons. The wooden vessels numbered 1,958, of a total of 425,165 gross tons, divided as follows: Three hundred and ninety-six steam vessels of a total of 48,932 gross tons, 646 sailing vessels of a total of 59,291 gross tons, 839 barges of a total of 295,508 gross tons, and 72 canal boats of a total of 21,434 gross tons.

What Alligators Eat.

More than once curious things have been found in the stomach of a shark, but never has such an extraordinary collection been found as was discovered recently in the stomach of an alligator. This alligator was killed in the Soudan and was more than 12 feet in length. In its stomach were discovered 83 stones, several bird's claws, two human finger nails and three hoofs of a donkey, to one of which a piece of rope was attached.—St. Louis Republic.

"THINK On THESE THINGS"

A NEWSPAPER girl was sent to obtain an interview from a woman who could draw her check for $1,000,000 and have it honored without having much of a scoop taken out of her pile of pocket money. The interview was by appointment at 12 o'clock. The day was very cold. The reporter was obliged to walk a considerable distance over a snowy, icy road in the wind's teeth. She was chilled through. It was exactly luncheon time when the interview was finished. Then the rich woman rose immediately and in a manner more chilling than the winter wind dismissed the girl reporter, who had a two hours' journey before she could reach her home, without so much as the tender of a cup of tea or even a wafer biscuit.

To the end of her days the girl writer will have a dislike of the ungracious millionaire woman.

The same girl was sent to get a sketch of another lady, a woman far more brilliant and distinguished than the impolite millionairess. The girl wrote the sketch as she did everything else, the best she could, and she herself thought it was really not so bad. When it was printed, she sent copies to the brilliant and distinguished subject of it. Immediately there came back a gracious letter written in that admirable English well bred persons know how to use, thanking the girl sincerely for her story and asking her to appoint an evening when she could dine with the lady. The girl had not time to go and could only send regrets, but to the day of her death this second woman will have a warm friend and newspaper advocate.

The second woman made a faithful friend for life simply through observance of the small and kindly courtesies of common life, in which she had been trained. The other through ignorance and perhaps ill bred snobbishness turned against herself permanently one whose good will would have been well worth having. Human nature is much the same in a newspaper girl as in her millionaire sister. And women reporters no more than men in their profession have things too easy and pleasant in their experiences.

The old world is surely sweeping on toward the kindlier, gentler day. Reciprocity treaties, the great movement among civilized nations to decide differences by international arbitration conferences instead of by armies and navies, is proof of this in the political world. But international harmony must take its root in harmony in the individual family. Each young woman or man that goes from a household whose members were always polite, harmonious and kindly among themselves will go out as the apostle of peace and good will to the great world. The trained, polished courtesy that distinguishes the high bred person from the boor takes its rise in habitual kindly thoughtfulness of others. Lately I heard a woman noted for her high bred manner and bearing say to another:

"Not one of my family would say an unkind or impolite thing to me, nor would I to one of them."

"There isn't one of my family who wouldn't say impolite and unkind things to me," answered the other, but she did not tell whether she ever made ugly remarks to them.

The boy who is trained to open or shut a door for his own sister when she enters or leaves a room, to let her precede him wherever they cannot walk side by side, to raise his hat to her when he meets her on the street, will never be discourteous or brutal to women when he becomes a man. The girl whose mother disciplines her in childhood to abide by the Golden Rule will never in after life be rude, deceitful or grabbingly selfish toward a sister woman.

After people die and kind words or spiteful ones are all the same to them immediately their acquaintances scour the earth to find praises to sound concerning them, how noble they were, how gifted and useful, when perhaps those who are gone actually pined to death because of lack of that sympathy and appreciation that were withheld just a little too long. There is a monstrous old doctrine that it is flattery to tell a person to his face of his good qualities or good looks. Away with such ghastly, wicked teaching! We suffer because pleasant things are not said to us half often enough, the actual pleasant things that may be uttered with perfect truth. You can strew your path with joy to yourself and others by doing as you go little acts of kindness. Rub your eyes open. See what good you can do.

Think of the handsome points in the personal appearance of your sister clubwomen, of the gentle, strong and worthy traits in their characters, and they will respond exactly to your persistent thought of them. It is a positive command to us that we think no evil. On the contrary, "Whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely and of good report, think on these things." JANE STORY.

THE SEPARATE WAISTS.

How They May Be Made Triumphs of Dress.

While shirt waists pure and simple are so much worn it would seem almost unnecessary to speak of anything which might come under that heading, but there are ladies who cannot learn to feel really well dressed in a shirt waist of whatever kind it may be. For them we find a number of extremely pretty garments made in such a way as to suggest that they were never intended to be called shirt waists.

Among these waists, then, the first choice is the tan colored or natural shade pongee and some of the lighter silks. They are made in a manner suggestive of both the negligee shirt waists and the trimmer dress corsage. These last mentioned are mostly all made with a snug boned lining and the outside drawn tightly to the figure at the back with not more than two or four small plaits, and these "run out" at the distance of two inches. The fronts are sometimes simply drawn down snugly to a point and the whole finished with a draped belt of the same material or a folded ribbon to match. The waist generally is trimmed with applications of lace.

Pongee waists are quite the prettiest and most refined of all that I have seen. The back is as I have described, but the front is made in rather more of a bloused effect than is seen in the other kinds of silk, which are mostly figured. There are so many dainty designs in self colored silk embroidery arranged along one side of the pongee in the piece that no one need fail to have a rich and elegant waist if the embroidery is suitably applied. One favorite way is to have the straight edge open from the joining of the shoulders down to the bottom of the waist. This leaves the top open about six inches and brings it to a point at the bottom. There is in this case a vest front of something different from the outside waist, and by this one may achieve actual triumphs.

For instance, a green silk lining with a covering of handsome lace or, in fact, a lining of any preferred color can be used. But until one has seen the deliciously cool and tasteful effect of a tan waist with the green vest covered with lace one should not cry out against it. Green anyhow is so very fashionable this season that it is well worth one's while to have something in that restful color. Green parasols are very much liked. They are summery and certainly beneficial to the eyes, though we will leave the question of complexion out. It is generally conceded that she who can wear anything green next her skin is possessed of a faultless complexion.

To return to our pongee waists. Pongee will wash like calico and is therefore desirable. When there is no embroidered edge to the silk, any arrangement of bertha can be made, so that the points of the bertha come to the bottom of the waist. In the illustration I show a very handsome waist, which can be transformed from a street waist to a home dress by the addition of a belt and bow, with ends of ribbon to match the color in the vest front. When it is desired that this shall be a street waist, the ribbon is removed and the self belt is left only. This waist is made in pongee and also in black china silk. It is difficult to say which is the handsomer. The pongee in this instance had the vest of the same silk, but the lace over it was pure white. When the vest is of a suitable color, the lace is generally ecru or flax. HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright, 1902, by Francis Lynde.)

He had thought that the crisis was past when he had pawned the last of his keepsakes earlier in the day for the money to buy the revolver. But he had yet to learn that there is no crisis in the human span save that which ends it; and all the intermediate duels with fate are mere sub-climaxes once they have been fought—conflicts critical enough at the moment, but likely to be renewed indefinitely if one lives beyond them. And it was another of those sub-climaxes that came in the hour of aimless wandering on the levee. More than once he was tempted to buy back his lost identity at any price; at every price, if need be. Not in any other moment of a well-filled life had he been made to realize what a precious possession is the fearlessness of innocency; weighed against it, the thick packet of bank notes in the red bandanna, and all that it might stand for, was as air-blown bubbles to gold. And yet he would not go back; he could not go back, since to restore the money would be more than a confession of guilt; it would be an abject recantation, a flat denial of every article of his social creed, and a return to primordial chaos in the matter of theories out of which he could emerge only as a criminal in fact.

When the indetermination became blankly insupportable, he put it aside with the resolution which was the strong thread in the loose-twisted warp of his character, and addressed himself afresh to the unsolved problem of flight. The possession of the red bandanna and its holdings made all things possible—in any field save the theoretical—and the choice of dwelling, or hiding-places, seemed infinite. His first thought had been to go back to New York; but there the risk of detection—if risk there were—would be greater than elsewhere; and upon second thought, he decided that there was no good reason why he should incur it.

On the other hand, his inclination began to draw him toward a field in which he might pursue his sociological studies under conditions more favorable than those to be found in a great city. In his mind's eye he saw himself safely sequestered in some small interior town, working and studying among people who were not unindividualized by an artificial environment—a self-centered community in which the money at his command would be more of a controlling influence than it could possibly be in the smallest of circles in New York. The picture pleased him, and he fell in with the suggestion, leaving the geographical detail to arrange itself as chance or subsequent events might determine.

That part of the problem disposed of, there yet remained the choice of a line of retreat; and it was a small thing that finally decided the manner of his going.

He had been loitering opposite the berth of the Belle Julie—an up-river steamer, whose bell gave sonorous warning of the approaching hour of departure—absently watching the ant-like procession of toiling roustabouts hurrying the last of the cargo on board. They were negroes, most of them, but with here and there among the blacks and yellows a paler face so begrimed with sweat and dust as to be scarcely distinguishable from the majority. The sight moved him, as thankless human toil was wont to do, and he fell to contrasting the hard lot of the laborers with that of the group of passengers looking on idly from the comfort and shade of the saloon-deck awning. The thought slipped into compassionate speech:

"Poor devils! They've been told they are free, and perhaps they believe it; but surely no slave of the galleys was ever in bitterer bondage. What condemned felon was ever in worse case than these poor drudges who are free only to bear burdens and to be driven like cattle under the yoke? Oh, good Lord—look at that!"

The ant-procession had attacked the final tier of boxes in the landing, and one of the burden-bearers, a white man, had gone down like a crushed pack animal under a load too heavy for him. Griswold was beside him before he could recover, and was lifting him tenderly out of the way of the others.

"Why didn't you get out from under it and let it drop?" he began, gruffly, as an offset to the womanish tenderness; but when the man gasped for breath and groaned, the mask of gruffness fell away from him. "Where are you hurt?"

The crushed one sat up and spat blood.

"I don't know; inside, somewheres, I guess. I been dyin' on my feet any time for a year back."

"Consumption?" queried Griswold.

"I reckon so."

"Then you've no business in a deck crew."

The man's smile was ghastly.

"Reckon I hain't got any business anywheres out'n a hospital or a hole in the ground. But I kind o' thought

HE TURNED AS ONE SMITTEN.

I'd like to be planted 'longside o' the woman and childer, if I could make out to get there."

"Where?"

The consumptive named a small river town in Iowa.

"And you were going to work your passage?"

"I was allowin' to try it. But I'm done up, now."

Griswold's impulsiveness was easily dominant in any appeal to his sympathy; and his compassion went straight to the mark, as it always did when his pockets were not empty.

"What is the fare by rail to your town?" he inquired.

"I don't know; I never asked. But it's between $20 and $30, I reckon; and that's more money than I've seen sence the woman died."

Griswold hastily counted out $100 from his contingent fund, and thrust the money into the man's hand.

"Take that and change places with me," he said, slipping on the mask of gruffness again. "Pay your fare on the train and I'll take your job on the boat. Don't be a fool," he added, when the man put his face in his hands and began to choke. "It's a fair enough exchange, and I'll get as much out of it one way as you will the other. What is your name? I may have to borrow it."

"John Gavitt."

"All right; off with you," said the liberator; and with that he shouldered the sick man's load and fell into line in the ant-procession.

Once on board the steamer he followed his file-leader aft and made it his first care to find a safe hiding-place for the knotted bandanna. That done, he dropped into line again, and when he went ashore the sick man was gone.

Inured to hard living as he was, Griswold had made no more than a half-dozen rounds between the levee and the after-deck of the Belle Julie in the ant-procession before he was glad to remember that the steamer's lading was all but completed. It was toil of the sharpest, and he drew breath of blessed relief when the last man staggered up the plank with his burden, while the bell clanged its final summons, and the slowly-revolving paddle-wheels took the strain from the mooring lines. Being nearest the bow line, Griswold was one of the two who sprang ashore at the mate's bidding to cast off; and they were in the act when a carriage drove rapidly down to the stage and two tardy passengers hurried aboard. The mate bawled from his station on the hurricane deck:

"Now, then! Take a turn on that spring line out there and get them trunks aboard! Lively!"

The larger of the two trunks fell to the late recruit; and when he had set it down at the door of the designated stateroom he so far forgot himself as to read the card tacked upon it: "Charlotte Farnham, Wahaska, Minnesota."

"Thank you," said a musical voice at his elbow. "May I trouble you to put it inside?"

Griswold turned as one smitten, and was not without embarrassment at having been caught reading the tag. But when he saw the owner of the voice, consternation slew shame, and he was prompted to make a wild dash for liberty. For Miss Farnham was no other than the young woman to whom he had given place at the teller's window in the Bayou bank.

What Shall We Eat
to keep healthy and strong? As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables or grain. Expert doctors on the subject say nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat plenty of meat. Representative Mudd Capitulated.

On a recent occasion a young lady called at the hall of the house of representatives and, presenting to one of the assistant doorkeepers, a card upon which was her name, said: "Please take this to Representative Mudd." The doorkeeper did as directed, and Mr. Mudd, glancing at the card, noticed that the name was prefixed with Miss. "Tell the young lady," said he, "that I have not a single vacant place at my disposal."

The doorkeeper returned to the young lady and informed her of what Mr. Mudd said.

"There must be some mistake about this," said the visitor. "Go back and tell him that I want to see him personally." Again the doorkeeper went into the house, called on Mr. Mudd, and told him what the young lady said, and Mr Mudd replied: "Tell her I am not in the house." Again the doorkeeper performed his mission, and the young woman, who was by this time thoroughly angry, said: "You can go and tell my father that his daughter wants to see him." Mr. Mudd, upon receiving this message, hastily secured his hat and took Miss Mudd down to the house restaurant, where he gave her a nice lunch and asked her to "forget it."—Washington Times.

A Clergyman's Callers.

There are persons with requests for money for queer uses. For example: A woman once wanted to borrow $5, which sum she assured me was sufficient to stock and equip a candy store, the income from which would support herself and three children. There was a man who had long been out of work who wanted to borrow $1 with which to buy a stock of tin horns to sell on the street at profit on the night following election day. But here, again, perhaps the strangest case was that of a man who came to tell me that, as a book agent, he had been canvassing for orders for the Bible. Not having met with success, he explained that the reason was that "the Bible was played out;" he, therefore, wanted to borrow a quarter to invest in some sort of a sample mouse trap, the need for which he thought would be "abiding, permanent, perpetual and perennially recurring."—Independent.

Moltke's Birthday Cake.

The custom of having a birthday cake is widespread in Germany. I know for certain that it is prevalent in the province of Saxony, in Hanover, and the mark of Brandenburg. As many lights as the one whose birthday it is has years are stuck round the cake or the Torte, a thick one in the middle called the Lebenslicht, the light of life. For persons advanced in years one candle must do duty, as otherwise too many would be required; or a skillful lady expresses the exact number of years in Roman figures (XXL, L.). When Moltke completed his seventieth year during the campaign of 1870-71, the Crown Prince Frederick William, later on the Emperor Frederick, presented him with a cake adorned with 70 lights. Only he or she who celebrates his or her birthday may put out the light of life; it is unlucky if done by any other member of the family.—Notes and Queries.

Satisfactorily Explained.

Irate Pa—Cora, that caller of yours did not leave here last night till near midnight.

Cora—I know it, pa; yet he is hardly to blame.

"You don't mean to say you forced him to stay."

"Why, no. You see he comes from the far north, where the nights are very long and he isn't used to our short ones yet."—Chelsea (Mass.) Gazette.

How to Invest.

The man who gets the most out of life is the one who is always looking up, who is determined that everything he does, every investment he makes, shall leave him a little higher up, a little further on. To learn, therefore, how to spend for the higher faculties instead of the lower, so that the manly qualities, rather than the animal, may be developed, is a problem that confronts us.—Succ--

Pauperism in Great Britain.

The cost of pauperism abroad is still going up. The expenditure in England and Wales, including London, rose from £11,286,973 in 1899 to £11,567,649 in 1900; and in London it increased from £3,446,132 in 1899 to £3,594,841 in 1900, a difference of £148,709. In ten years the gross expenditure in London has increased by £1,254,292.—N. Y. Sun.

A New Game.

Tom—Darling, I know that you are going to give me all the kisses I ask for.

Ida—Suppose I fail?

JUNIORS AT GRAVE.

Assisted in Conducting the Funeral Services of Henry L. Kliner Held Yesterday Afternoon.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Henry L. Kliner were conducted at his late residence on Somerset street yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services were afterwards held at the Wilson Memorial chapel, of which Mr. Kliner was a member. Benjamin W. Hand officiating on both occasions.

At the chapel Mr. Hand preached a short sermon, choosing for his text, "I am the resurrection and the life," and dwelling impressively on the uncertainty of life. At the grave the rites of the Jr. O. U. A. M. were conducted under the direction of H. R. Thorn.

Members of Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., Fairview Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Gallia, and Franklin Council, of Plainfield, attended the funeral in a body. There was a profusion of floral wreaths and emblems from relatives, including three large pillows, one from each of the societies named.

The pall-bearers were William Kriney, Willias Demler, John Mobus, Frank Titus, H. R. Thorn and E. Compton.

NO MEETINGS UNTIL FALL.

Young Men's Brotherhood of First M. E. Church Held Last Meeting.

The Young Men's Brotherhood of the First M. E. church held its closing meeting for the season in Vincent chapel, last evening, when various reports were presented. These reports, including the one of Ralph Lane, the treasurer, showing a balance of $15 on hand, all indicated progress in every department.

During the meeting an interesting talk was given by Stephen H. Tugwell, a member, who now lives in Cleveland, and is visiting in Plainfield. One new member, C. K. Shupp, was elected.

Little Boys in Court.

In the city court, this morning, sentence was suspended on John Brown, John Cavanagh, Ellis Grobe and Fred Waldron, all boys, charged with annoying Mrs. Rosa Levine, of South Second street.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, June 28 — William H. Terry, one of Dunellen's best known citizens died at his home at 6 o'clock this morning. Lung trouble caused his death.

Mr. Terry was born in Brooklyn in 1848 and became a successful contractor. In 1880, he retired and came to Dunellen He recently erected on New Market road the finest residence in Dunellen.

He leaves a widow and three children, William E. Terry and Mrs. Annie Abbott, of this place, and Harry L. Terry, a broker of Plainfield. He leaves one brother in Brooklyn and a sister, Mrs. William Dove, of Metuchen.

The funeral services will be held from his late residence, Monday afternoon at 2:30. Interment will be private.

THOMAS KILLED.

Despatch From Manila That Dunellen Boy Teaching School There Was Murdered by Natives.

A despatch from Manila states that the four American school teachers at Cebu, who disappeared after an outing on June 10, were undoubtedly murdered. Among these is named Lewis S. Thomas, who formerly lived in Dunellen and was engaged in newspaper work here. The Ladrone leader, who wore the watch and revolver of Mr. Thomas, was killed.

The latter was a graduate of Leal's School and of Princeton University in 1899.

LAWN PARTY.

Given Under Auspices of the Willing Workers of Trinity Church.

Under the auspices of the Willing Workers of Trinity Reformed church, a successful lawn party was given on the grounds of the Misses Lindsey, Mountain avenue, last evening. The affair was in charge of Miss Lottie Wilson, chairman of the social committee, assisted by the Misses Lindsey.

There were piano solos by Miss Jean Lindsey and Mrs. Coddington and short addresses by Rev. Dr. Schenck and Horace J. Martin. The grounds were illuminated with Chinese lanterns.

DEATH OF ROBT. TINGLEY.

Well-Known Letter-Carrier Passed Away Yesterday Afternoon.

Robert Tingley, favorably known in the borough, as a letter carrier for a number of years, died at his home on Grandview avenue yesterday afternoon. Mr. Tingley had been ill with consumption, and for the past five months was unable to attend to his duties.

Mr. Tingley was married a little over a year ago, but his wife has since passed away. He leaves a mother, a brother, Leslie, and two sisters.

Death of Two Children.

Samuel, the three-months-old son, of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Green, of Arlington avenue, died yesterday. The funeral was held at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

Accidentally Shot.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, June 27—A young man named Harry Walsh was accidentally shot in the abdomen while fishing on the Passaic river, yesterday afternoon, near Berkeley Heights. Young Walsh lies in a precarious condition.

No Substitute Wanted.

No! I did not ask for a bottle any cheaper, or twice as large, or one made by yourselves. I did ask for and will not have any substitute for Perry Davis' Painkiller; I have used it, my father used it, and I would not be surprised if my grandparents did so too; there is no imitation that can equal it. That I am sure of—for stomach ache.

RESULTS OF LEAGUE GAMES.

Y. M. C. A., 5; Hope Y. M. A., 3.
Safe Works, 7; St. Marys, 6.

After taking the lead in the City Baseball League two weeks ago by defeating the St. Marys nine in a hard fought game, the Hope Y. M. A. has been forced to share the honor with the Y. M. C. A. aggregation, which defeated the Hope boys Saturday afternoon in a prettily played contest. The Safe Works contingent won a victory from the St. Marys by a single run and has now tied the latter team for third place.

Both of Saturday afternoon's games were well played and full of those exciting moments that roused the crowd to a high pitch of excitement. The Hope-Y. M. C. A. game attracted a crowd estimated at nearly two thousand while the Safe Works-St. Marys contest was witnessed by a thousand people.

Y. M. C. A.'S VICTORY.

Y. M. C. A. bested the Hope team for the second time, Saturday afternoon. The association men bunched hits, played in good shape, collectively and individually, while the Hope men seemed a trifle bewildered. That was the key to the game. The score was 5 to 3.

Montross was in the box and pitched a better game than his adversary, Dupee, but his support was visibly weak, even his standby backstop, Hartfelder, playing as if he had sand in his eyes and dope in his brain. Shortman, the Hope's new third baseman, was also erratic and several bad plays by the hitherto steady Gordon revealed the fact that he was sick when Mague was substituted in the seventh. Schoonmaker, Moore and Bolsterli played beautifully.

Neither side scored in the first two innings but in the third C. Dupee reached first on Shortman's fumble of a grounder, stole second and crossed the plate on G. Dupee's single. Smith and Schoonmaker flied out while Dupee worked his way to third and made the second run on Bolsterli's hit. The latter also reached home on successive hits by Egan and Moore. The side was retired through a pop fly of Hand's.

The Hopes continued to get ciphers and in the fifth the Y. M. C. A's. sent two more men home. Schoonmaker walked, stole second and galloped home on Bolsterli's hit. Egan flied out. Bolsterli made a steal and scored on Moore's grounder. Moore was caught stealing third and Pond fanned. The side was shut out for the remainder of the game.

A single by Overton and double by Martin in the sixth sent the former round the bases and gave Hope's their first run. In the seventh Feiring scored through his own single and Hartfelder's beautiful triple, while the latter crossed the plate shortly after on Martin's hit. The Hopes had several chances after that to tie the score but lost them all through foolish moves, one of which was made by Gordon after Martin has sacrificed himself between second and third to advance him. A little headwork then would undoubtedly have at least tied the score.

SAFE WORKS DID IT.

That there was a lot of baseball prowess lying latent in the Safe Works team has along been evident to every observer of the league games. The lurking ability came to the surface Saturday when in the eighth inning a streak of heavy batting, four doubles and a single, gave them a victory over St. Mary's on the latter's grounds. It was a game full of uncertainties, well contested and well played by both nines.

It looked at the beginning as if St. Mary's might win. Up to the fourth inning Safe Works went out in one, two, three order, while their opponents were gradually making a small harvest of runs, and the hope of St. Mary's rooters ran high with a correspondingly frigid feeling in the vicinity of the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely benches. But when the latter got the batting nerve of the baseball optic into working trim it was all up with the other side.

St. Mary's was first at the bat. Barry was given a free pass; Keen sacrificed; Scott singled, scoring Barry; Winn sacrificed; Lederer hit out a safe one, bringing in Scott. The inning ended by Taylor going out on Enwright's assist. An error in the field and Winn's single netted another run in the third.

With the score three to nothing Safe Works came to the plate in the last half of the fourth. Enwright led off with a single, was caught on second on a neat double play, Mack's assist off Allen's grounder to Scott, who threw to Winn, catching Allen at first.

MINOR COMPETITIONS AT HILLSIDE CLUB

Most of the Play Was in the Morning to Allow Members to Play With Park Club.

FEW WERE ENTERED.

HOWARD DE P. WRIGHT AND W. L. GLENNEY DIVIDED FIRST HONORS.

In Weekly Play for the President's Cup—Miss Smith and N. P. Rogers, Jr., Scored a Win for the Schoonmaker Cups—Play for Boys Cup.

Owing to the fact that on Saturday the Park Golf Club entertained the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club there were fewer entries than usual in the events scheduled for the Hillside course.

In the morning the weekly competition for the Boys' cup attracted seven contestants. A. D. Beers won first honors. Second honors went to Wickham Corwin, while Arthur Peterson, who now hold the lead with eight points, finished third.

The scores for the Boys' cup are as follows:

A. D. Beers, 92, 27—65; Wickham Corwin, 91, 22—69; Arthur Peterson, 97, 18—79; N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., 82, 0—82; D. O. Rogers, 110, 18—92; W. T. Glenney, 109, 16—93; J. S. Martin, 138, 26—102.

Another event of the morning was the approaching and putting contest, mixed doubles, for the Schoonmaker cups. This competition began at 11:30 o'clock. Miss Smith and N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., won the event with a score of 8. This competition will be resumed during the month of August. The first winners were Miss Gladys Kaufman and D. H. Barrows. At the end of August the eight winners will play off.

The scores in this were as follows: Miss Smith and N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., 8; Miss Daisy Elsberg and Hartley Mellick, 9; Miss vanHerwerden and Owen Fleming, 10; Miss Maude VanBoskerck and D. H. Taylor, 10; Miss Elizabeth Stewart and W. L. Glenney, 10; Mrs. Evarts Tracy and Evarts Tracy, 10; Miss Sarah Schuyler and Jan. vanHerwerden, 11.

In the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup there were only nine contestants, some of them playing in the morning. Howard deP. Wright and W. L. Glenney were tied for first honors, while E. T. Newkirk finished third. Glenney is now in second postiion.

The scores for the Golf Committee cup are as follows:

HILLSIDE DAY AT PARK CLUB

Park Golfers Defeated Hillside Men in a Club Team Match Saturday Afternoon.

OTHER EVENTS HELD.

Team Match Won by Score of 62 to 34—Roberts de S. Newhall, Park, Won Driving Contest—Approaching and Putting Honors to Miss van Herwerden and Mr. Hibbard.

Hillside Day, postponed from the week before, was held with much success on the course of the Park Golf Club, Saturday. While the course was open to the visitors all day, the events were held in the afternoon. All but one of the prizes went to members of the Park Golf Club.

Chief of the events was a team match between the two clubs. The Parks had thirty players ready but only eighteen Hillside men appeared in time to play and the other members of the home club paired off for play in the regular club competition for the President's cup. The team match resulted in an easy victory for the Park Club by a score of 62 to 34. While the best of the Hillside men had no trouble in winning their matches, some of the others were not so fortunate. The event was scratch.

Following was the result of the team match:

First place in the driving contest, which was started from the first tee as the last of the couples in the team match were finishing, went to Roberts De S. Newhall, of the Park Golf Club, with an average of 188 yards. Ralph Schoonmaker, Hillside, was second his three drives averaging 187 yards, 1 foot. William A. Townsend, Park, was third, with an average of 186 yards. N. P. Rogers, Jr., drove over 200 yards each time but all three balls when out of bounds. H. de P. Wright drove three beauties but one was out of bounds and spoiled his average.

Besides those mentioned, the others who competed were Leslie W. Hallock, Dudley H. Barrows, Kerro Knox, Morgan T. Townsend, Eugene A. Moore, H. Reeve Stockton, Morris J. Dumont, W. L. Murray, H. D. Hibbard, H. F. Baker, Olaf Saugstad, Wallace M. Brown, Douglass K. Brown, Dr. A. W. Anderson, Gus W. Faber and Harry Slauson.

Following the driving contest, an approaching and putting contest was held on the ninth green. It was won by Miss Lida van Herwerden, Hillside, and H. D. Hibbard, Park, with a total of nine strokes for holing out three approaches. Mrs. N. P. Rogers and N. P. Rogers, Jr., Hillside and Miss Daisy Elsberg and W. de la R. Anderson, Park, tied for second place with ten each.

The other couples which competed were Mrs. C. W. McGee and Ralph Schoonmaker, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Ackerman, Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, Mrs. E. T. Barrows and D. H. Barrows, Mrs. George D. Hallock and Leslie W. Hallock, Miss Elizabeth Stewart and E. A. Moore, Miss Lydie Loizeaux and Roberts De S. Newhall, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. McCutchen, Miss Mabel Van Deventer and William R. Faber, Miss Saidee Mae Howell and H. Reeve Stockton, Miss Marjorie Fleming and Charles King, Mrs. Wright and H. de P. Wright, and Mrs. Samuel Townsend and William A. Townsend.

During the afternoon an reception was held at the clubhouse which was largely attended by the society folk of city and borough. Those who received were Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, Mrs. Henry A. McGee, Mrs. George P. Dupee, Mrs. William L. Saunders and Mrs. George D. Hallock.

BETTING ON BASEBALL GAMES WAS DENOUNCED

Rev. Mr. McMurray Preached Strong Sermon on Eighth Commandment Last Night.

THE GAMBLING HABIT.

HOW IT THREATENS THE GOOD NAME OF THE LOCAL BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Many Prominent in Church Work Are Reported to be Openly Betting on the Games—Strongly Condemned the Practice.

The practice of wagering amounts of money on the result of the baseball games played by the Plainfield Amateur League, an organization composed of young men identified with Christian bodies, received severe condemnation from Rev. John McMurray, of the Monroe Avenue church, last evening, in a sermon based on the commandment, "Thou Shalt Not Steal." Enthusiasm over the National game has led many young men to back their favorite team with sums exceeding belief until at present the matter is assuming serious proportions. Hitherto it has been looked upon with indifference by those not actually engaged in it and it remained for the West End divine to make the first demand for its suppression.

The League is composed of teams representing St. Mary's R. C. church, Hope chapel, the west end mission of the Crescent Avenue church, the Young Men's Christian Association and the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works, the latter being made up of young men of Christiann characters. The officials of the league are all earnest church workers and wide spread attention was directed to the matter when the clergyman announced through the papers he would preach against the betting habit.

After denouncing the teachings of Prodhon, the French anarchist, regarding the right of property and declaring that "the gambling fever is the cause of more petty larcency and wholesale fraud than any other form of sin." Mr. McMurray said in censuring the local gamblers:

"Baseball in itself is a healthful outdoor sport with no objectionable features. The executive committee of the City League has adopted rules giving clean, honestly played games, but if reports are true, the eighth commandment is being grievously violated and an evil practice has crept in which promises to mar the sport. It is the evil of gambling by betting on results of the series of games. I am informed by reliable persons that there was at least one wager of $100 on the outcome of a recent game between the teams representing Hope chapel and St. Mary's church. The wager was put up by a member of St. Mary's church and was won by a member of Hope chapel. The winner, conscious smitten, afterward returned the money, but the betting was a form of gambling and a direct violation of the law.

"Men are constantly making these wagers on coming games. Bets are now up on the successful winner of the series. It is not uncommon for men with money to go through the crowd of onlookers, seeking those who will place bets on the result of the game. The practice is as reprehensible and illegal as the race track gambling which caused so much agitation a few years ago, or the poolroom or any other form of gambling by play or betting which should be so stigmatized.

"As a baseball enthusiast and lover of all forms of healthy outdoor sports, I protest against the lowering of the tone of this game by the introduction of other elements-financial—than those of pure love of sport and desire to see the best team win the pennant; as a lover of law observance I protest against the open and flagrant infringement of law in this manner so clearly illegal; as a moralist I protest against this form of gambling because it breaks the spirit of the eighth commandment and the canons of sound morality."

In conclusion Mr. McMurray said, "The gambler, whether he wear the broadcloth or corduroy, is a thief in the sight of God and ought therefore to be so in the sight of men. This part of the commandment seems to have practical application at the present time in our own city."

Isaac L. Miller and family, of Watchung avenue, left town today for the summer vacation at their home in Sullivan county, New York.

CITY HIGH SCHOOL'S CRACK NINE HAS CLOSED SEASON

Spring's Record of the Baseball Team Which Represented the Plainfield High School on the Diamond.

With the game against Pingry School June 10 the Plainfield High School baseball club, the members and manager of which are shown in the accompanying cut, ended the season's work on the diamond. The record of the team shows that they engaged in fourteen contests, of which five were lost and nine won. Among the list of clubs with which they crossed bats were the swift Hope chapel nine, the star representatives of Pingry School, Elizabeth, and the fast aggregation from Rutger's Preparatory. Jersey City High School came in for a sound drubbing, and Batton High of Elizabeth, went down in the dust before the Plainfield cracks.

In the early part of the season before Hope chapel started out on their cyclone race for league honors, that team was beaten by the school nine after a hard contest. At a later date the Hopes evened matters up by administering defeat to their former conquerers. In the two games with Pingry school there was likewise an even split. Rutgers Preparatory was the stiffest proposition with which the boys had to deal, having met that combination twice and were the vanquished on each occasion. Several games were played with other aspirants for diamond fame, Newark Academy and Hasbrouck Institute being among the number, all with the exception of that against Vacquers Eating Club, Princeton University, resulting in victories for the home team.

That the High School had this year a sharp and wiry aggregation of ball players, difficult to overcome, was the general verdict at every game. VanAuken in the box was a tower of strength and Moynihan between the catcher's line was always a man to be depended upon. Munro, on third bag, was a terror to base stealers. He is now covering the same position for the Hope Y. M. A. Dyer, at second base, was a little erratic at times, but towards the end of the season, showed up in the best of shape. Thompson, on the initial plate, played his position well. Craig, at short stop, could be reckoned to gather up all hot grounders, while out in the field Walters, Ulrich and Denton could hardly be excelled. Substitutes Bulkley and Martin showed up well when their services were needed.

One weak point in the team was the work with the stick. In some of the games lost it was easily evident that a timely hit would have turned defeat into victory. The standing of batting was far below the work in the field as the averages show: VanAuken, .317; Dyer, .242; Craig, .212; Denton, .190; Moynihan, .181; Ulrich, .166; Thompson, .161; Munroe, .151; Walters, .134.

Plainfield High School Baseball Club.

Following, in the order named, is the record of games played and the scores: P. H. S defeated Pingry, 11 to 7; P. H. S. defeated Newark Academy, 8 to 3; P. H. S. defeated Hope chapel, 7 to 4; Vacquers Eating Club, Princeton, defeated P. H. S., 14 to 9; P. H. S. defeated Hasbrouck Institute, 22 to 8; P. H. S. defeated North Plainfield High School, 12 to 3; P. H. S. defeated Westerly Collegiate Institute, 12 to 5; P. H. S. defeated Jersey City High School, 23 to 9; Rutgers Preparatory defeated P. H. S., 7 to 6; Hope chapel defeated P. H. S., 12 to 1; Rutgers Preparatory defeated P. H. S., 15 to 5; Pingry School defeated P. H. S., 5 to 3.

For next year the prospects are unusually bright. With the sole exception of Denton, the centre fielder, all the members of the team remain in the school. This year's experience on the diamond and the new wrinkles acquired in the next ten months will make the baseball representatives of Plainfield High School dangerous rivals by the time another season opens.

HOW THEY ARE MADE.

Something About Cheap Baking Powders on the Market.

The health department of New York has seized a quantity of so-called cheap baking powder, which it found it that city. Attention was attracted to it by the low price at which it was being sold in the department stores. Samples were taken and the chemist of the health department reported the stuff to be "an alum powder," which analysis showed to be composed chiefly of alum and pulverized rock.

The powder was declared to be dangerous to health and several thousand pounds were carted to the offal dock and destroyed.

It is unsafe to experiment with these so-called "cheap" articles of food. They are sure to be made from alum, rock, or other injurious matter. In baking powders, the high class, cream of tartar brands are the most economical, because they go farther in use and are healthful beyond question.—Paterson Press.

—Delicious raspberries, strawberries, huckleberries, muskmelons and peaches are to be found in abundance at Neuman Brothers.

FOR MELLICK CUP.

Play Continued on Courts of the Hillside Club Saturday.

In the continuation of play at tennis Saturday morning for the Mellick cup on the courts of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, Miss Helen Martin and Mrs. James R. Blake played the best two out of three matches. Mrs. Blake won the first set 7-5, and Miss Martin won the second, 6-3. Miss Loizeaux was to have taken part in the tournament, but she failed to put in an appearance. She will probably play Miss Martin, who was declared the winner on Saturday, sometime during the week.

Must Keep Animals Confined.

In the city court, Saturday, Deacon Spencer Conway and Christopher Columbus Maden were found guilty of allowing their horses to run at large but sentence was suspended on condition that they keep their animals properly confined.

FOURTH AT GROVE.

The Ocean Grove Association Has Planned a Celebration for Independence Day.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, June 30—Official announcement has been made of the exercises which are to be held in the auditorium July 4, under the auspices of the Ocean Grove Association. The affair will be the thirty-second annual celebration of Independence Day at the Grove and it promises to be as successful as any of the previous occasions. Invitations are now being sent out by Rev. Dr. A. E. Ballard, the president.

Bishop J. N. Fitzgerald will preside at the exercises, and the orator of the day is to be Congressman R. Wayne Parker. The Declaration of Independence is to be read by Frederick S. Sheppard, superintendent of the Asbury Park school system.

Among the special guests expected to be present is Governor Murphy. He has made a provisional acceptance if his official duties do not interfere.

In the evening at the auditorium there is to be a concert for which preparations are now in progress. Patriotic selections are to be a feature, and the musical arrangements are in the hands of Professor Morgan.

FEWER FRESHMEN.

Decrease in Size of the Entering Class at Princeton University This Fall Term.

Registrar H. N. Van Dyke, of Princeton University, has given out a statement of the students who took the freshman entrance examinations. For the last seven years there has been an increase each year in the number entered, but this year the incoming class will be at least fourteen less than last year. The report shows that the academic department will have 229 and the scientific 212, a total of 441. Last year there were 247 academic and 208 scientific, a total of 455.

The cities and school which lead in the number of students sent are the following: New York, academic, 33; scientific, 29; Princeton, academic, 28; scientific, 34; Lawrenceville, academic, 20; scientific, 38; Newark, academic, 16; scientific, 17; Philadelphia, academic, 14; scientific, 8; Andover, Mass., academic, 8; scientific, 7; Pittsburg, academic, 2; scientific, 10; Chicago, academic, 3; scientific, 6; Blairstown, N. J., academic, 6; scientific, 3.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oakes, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheefully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. L. W. Randolph.

BRIDGE OPPONENTS AT WORK

MAY ATTEMPT TO TIE UP THE AMBOY BRIDGE BY CERTIORARI.

Former Freeholder Says Proceedings Are Illegal Because County Doesn't Own Approaches.

There is some prospect of work upon the proposed Amboy bridge being tied up by certiorari proceedings, says the New Brunswick Home News. A citizen much interested in county affairs, an ex-Freeholder of Raritan township, has been looking the matter up and declares that the Board of Freeholders has no right to authorize an issue of bonds for a bridge when the county does not own the approaches to the proposed bridge. The construction of a bridge that can be reached only over private ground will not be recognized as a legal expenditure of money, he says. He is opposed to the building of the bridge on the ground that it is not a benefit to Middlesex county, but to Monmouth county and to New York people who want to drive to the shore. He is interesting some others in the matter with a view of carrying the matter to the courts.

As a matter of fact, the county does not own the approaches to the bridge, although a tender of the land has been made. On the Perth Amboy side Cortlandt Parker has offered to dedicate land, for a road to the bridge, to the county. Land owners on the South Amboy side also stand ready to give land, but the transfers have not actually been made as yet. If they are not made before the issue of bonds is authorized the bond issue may be affected.

The matter of the bond issue will come up at the next meeting, July 2, when the finance committee will report a resolution fixing the date of the bonds, the rate of interest, etc.

Advocates of the bridge expect to lose no time in having bids called for and in awarding the contract. They expect to have the bridge completed within a year.

Opponents of the bridge declare that it can't be built for $150,000. They claim that it will only be partially built for that amount. Then a big sum will be included in the budget to help it, and special legislation secured to authorize more bonds, they hold.

LABOR WELL EMPLOYED.

New York Report Shows Decreased Idleness and Better Earnings.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 30.—State Commissioner of Labor John McMackin has issued the following review of the conditions of labor in this state during the first quarter of 1902:

"The amount of idleness among the members of New York labor organizations was far smaller than it has been in the months of January, February and March in any recent year. Heretofore at least 10 per cent of trade unionists have been idle during those months, but this year the proportion has fallen to 6.2 per cent. The average number of days worked by the men increased from 58 in 1897 to a little less than 67 in 1901 and 67.3 in 1902. The average earnings of organized workingmen increased in about the same ratio, having been $155 in the first quarter of 1897, a little less than $183 in 1901 and a little over $184 in 1902.

"Building operations in the first three months of the year, before the interruption occasioned by the usual spring disputes, were very active in all the large cities. The number of labor organizations in this state at the end of March was 1,930, which is an increase of 59 over the number existing last September. The number of new unions recorded was 152, of old unions dissolved 93. The aggregate membership is now 279,950, an increase since September of only 3,809.

"The number of immigrants at the port of New York in January, February and March, 1902, was 104,937, which was 35,154 more than a year ago and 76,829 more than in 1895.

"The total number of accidents in factories reported in the first three months of 1902 was 677, of which 23 were fatal and at least 63 involved permanent disability."

Des Moines Newspapers Merged.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 30.—Mr. George E. Roberts, who came into ownership of the Register today, announces that arrangements have been consummated to consolidate the Des Moines Leader with it and that the consolidated paper will appear tomorrow morning as the Register and Leader. Articles of incorporation were signed Saturday for the organization of the Register and Leader company, with a capital of $300,000. The incorporators are George E. Roberts, Samuel Strauss of the Leader and M. D. O'Connell, solicitor of the treasury department. These men constitute the board of directors. Mr. Roberts is named as president.

Largest Cotton Mill In the World.

KANSAS CITY, June 30.—The largest cotton mill in the world is to be built within twenty miles of Kansas City. Ten million dollars is to be invested. $3,100,000 of which has already been subscribed by eastern and western men. W. B. Smith Whaley, president of the Olympia and Granby Cotton mills of Columbia, S. C., is to be president and general manager of the enterprise. The mill will have 500,000 spindles and 12,000 looms. It will employ 4,000 operatives and have a pay roll of $2,450,000 a year. The capacity of the mill will be 170,000 bales of cotton a year, with an output of 75,000,000 pounds of finished cloth.

Russia Is Disgruntled.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 30.—The fact that no representative of the court or of the ministry has called at the British embassy here to offer the sympathy of Russia in the matter of the illness of King Edward has occasioned much comment and is generally attributed to Russian chagrin on account of the conclusion of peace in South Africa. It is said upon excellent authority that Count Lamsdorf, the minister of foreign affairs, admitted that this peace had upset Russia's calculations, which were based upon a much longer continuance of Great Britain's difficulties in South Africa.

Lake Schooner on the Atlantic.

NEW YORK, June 30.—An unusual arrival in the port of New York is that of a lake built schooner, the Linerla, constructed at Manitowoc, Wis., in 1884 and hailing from Milwaukee. The vessel sailed from Menominee, Mich., on April 28. She brought to this port a cargo of lumber from Three Rivers, Que., and was twenty-four days on the voyage from that port. It is seldom that a sailing vessel of the great lakes comes to the Atlantic. The Linerla is in command of Captain Wilson. She will go from this port to New Orleans.

Johns Hopkins Gets a Million.

BALTIMORE, June 30—President Remsen has announced that the endowment fund of $1,000,000 for which the friends of the Johns Hopkins university have been earnestly working for the past few months has been completed. This puts the university upon an assured financial basis and makes a progressive policy possible.

Forest Fires In California.

SONORA, Cal., June 30.—A serious forest fire is raging in the mountains of Tuolumne county along the Tuolumne river canyon and is traveling fast southeast in the direction of the Merced river and the Tuolumne big trees. The flames are four miles wide and are defying all efforts of a large army of fire fighters.

MAKES STEADY GAIN

Reports From King Edward's Bedside Favorable.

PROGRESS TOWARD RECOVERY SURE.

London Settling Back to Normal Conditions — Prince of Wales to Review the Colonial Troops. Prince Henry Goes Home.

LONDON, June 30.—The latest bulletin posted at Buckingham palace said the king's progress was in every way satisfactory and that the local discomfort had decreased.

The night passed without incident, and there were fewer watchers outside Buckingham palace than on any other night since the operation, the public apparently having accepted the official announcement that King Edward has passed the point of immediate danger.

Sunday was a day of intercessional services for the recovery of King Edward throughout the kingdom. In the morning a vast crowd of the general public gathered at St. Paul's cathedral. Besides these, there were present a representative gathering of government and colonial officials and uniformed colonial officers. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught and their children and Lord and Lady Lansdowne sat under the dome. An impressive service was conducted by the bishop of Stepney, the Right Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, and at its conclusion the whole audience sang "God Save the King."

Queen Alexandra, the Prince of Wales and almost all the other members of the royal family now in London attended a similar morning service in Marlborough House chapel, while there was a large gathering of peers and peeresses at a service held at noon in the chapel royal at St. James palace.

The city is gradually getting back to its normal conditions. The favorable condition of King Edward has made his ultimate recovery practically certain, and everywhere are seen signs of a loosening of the tension under which the city has been suffering.

Upward of 100 warships are still anchored at Portsmouth, but there as yet has been no announcement as to whether or not they will be reviewed. Thousands of persons meanwhile are going down to Portsmouth to view the assemblage of British naval prowess.

The illumination fixtures attached to the fronts of buildings are being generally retained in the expectation that they will be lighted when the announcement of the certainty of King Edward's recovery is issued.

Newcastle and some of the smaller towns in England have been illuminated in celebration of the king's progress toward recovery.

It was definitely decided that the Prince of Wales will inspect the colonial contingent of troops tomorrow on the horse guards' parade. The troops will be under the command of the Duke of Connaught.

Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia and his suit have left London to join the German flagship at Portsmouth.

A Tablet to McKinley's Memory.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—A small tablet of white marble bearing in letters of gold a brief statement of the life and deeds of William McKinley, the tribute of his friend, Judge Thomas H. Anderson, formerly of Ohio, but now a member of the District bench, was unveiled in the Metropolitan M. E. church here yesterday. The unveiling was attended with simple ceremony in the presence of some of those who had helped the dead president execute the will of the people. Well known public men added their tributes to the solemn melodies of the choir in making the occasion a memorable one. President Roosevelt and Secretary Cortelyou were present.

Jerusalem In 1904.

DENVER, Colo., June 30.—Toronto having been selected as the meeting place of the next triennial convention of the International Sunday School association in 1905 the world convention in 1904 will be held at Jerusalem. At the last world convention in London in 1894 the executive committee was empowered to select the next meeting place, a preference being expressed for either Toronto or Geneva. A quorum of the members of that committee are here in attendance upon the international convention, and they have already practically agreed to hold the next world convention at Jerusalem.

Severe Storm In Tennessee.

MILAN, Tenn., June 30.—A severe storm which passed through this section of Gibson county destroyed a number of residences and caused the death of John Richardson, a white man sixty years of age. Fences and crops were ruined by the wind and rain. It is feared complete details of the storm will bring additional reports of loss of life and damage to crops.

Fatal Trolley Car Collision.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 30.—Two Broad Ripple electric suburban cars collided at midnight one mile this side of Broad Ripple and nine miles from the city. A heavy storm, with a driving rain, was raging, and the motormen did not see the danger. The track was single, and the crash came without warning. One killed and nine injured was the result.

Floods In Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 30.—Eastern Nebraska has had four days of almost continuous rainfall, flooding cornfields and delaying the harvesting of small grain. Some damage has been done to wheat in the shock. Country roads are almost impassable. The temperature has ranged in the fifties.

ALBAY ENJOYS PEACE

Governor Bette Sends Good Report From His Province.

COMMERCIAL INTERESTS PROSPER.

High Price For Hemp Brings In Large Sums of Money—Highways and Bridges Being Built—The Spread of Disease Stayed.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The war department made public the following interesting report of Governor A. U. Betts of the province of Albay, Philippine Islands, to Acting Governor Luke E. Wright. The report is dated at Albay, May 12, and says:

"Perfect peace exists throughout the province, and at the present writing there is not a ladrone band on the hills. The work of the constabulary has been exceptionally satisfactory, and as their organization becomes more perfected I expect them to render a still better account of themselves.

"The commercial interests of the province, I am informed by the leading citizens, were never in a more prosperous condition than they are at present. There is plenty of work for all who desire to work, and, in fact, the greatest complaint from the interior of the province is the lack of labor to work the hempfields. The present high price of hemp is bringing enormous sums of money into the province. We have no difficulty whatever in collecting the taxes imposed, and the present revenue is ample to conduct the business of the province on a very limited basis.

"Excellent work is being done by the supervisor's department in the construction of highways and bridges. The end of this month will see completed through the center of the province twenty-two miles of highways that will compare for excellent construction with any highway in the United States. This twenty-two miles of highway is through the heart of the great hemp districts in the province, and over this highway passes nearly one-eighth of the hemp of the entire Philippines.

"Up to the present writing the provincial medical board has succeeded in keeping the epidemic of cholera out of the province. Stringent measures have been adopted to keep the plague from entering the province from neighboring territory.

"The plague of smallpox, which had become almost epidemic in certain portions of the province, has been practically stamped out. A corps of vaccinators have been employed during the past four months, with the result the greater portion of the inhabitants of the province has been successfully vaccinated."

General Davis Ordered to Manila.

MANILA, June 30.—Brigadier General George W. Davis, in command of the American forces at Zamboanga, Mindanao, has been ordered to Manila to take command of the department of the north. Brigadier General Samuel S. Sumner will succeed General Davis at Zamboanga. A detachment of United States marines and a force of the native constabulary have had an engagement with a large body of ladrones in Morong province, Luzon. One marine and seven ladrones were killed.

To Receive Pauncefote's Remains.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 30.—The cruiser Brooklyn, which is to convey the remains of Lord Pauncefote to England, has arrived here. She anchored in the roadstead three miles off the Naval academy. The tug Standish will transfer the casket from the Academy wharf to the Brooklyn. The remains of the late British embassador will arrive from Washington tomorrow. An escort consisting of two companies of marines from the Naval academy and one company of marines and two companies of bluejackets from the Brooklyn will meet the funeral train. There will be no services here. A salute of nineteen guns will be fired as the Standish, with the remains aboard, leaves the wharf. It is expected that the Brooklyn will sail at 6 p. m.

Rich Find of Gold.

LAREDO, Tex., June 30.—A Parral (Mexico) special says that the richest gold and silver strike ever made in the famous Parral district was made on the San Juanica property of the Hidalgo Mining company. At a depth of 200 feet an independent and unexplored vein was discovered carrying $500 a ton in gold and silver. The shaft was opened by the Spaniards years ago, but as the vein only showed two feet of ore the company had postponed working it until recently. This strike eclipses the famous Palmillo, which produced over $3,000,000 in a single year.

Chicago Printers Get an Advance.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The threatened strike of the Chicago job printers has been averted by the Chicago Typothetæ, the employers' organization acceding to the demands of the men. Beginning tomorrow, all union printers employed in the book and job printing offices in Chicago will receive a material advance in wages. This will be the first time in more than twenty years that the job printers of this city have received an increase in pay.

Rathbone Asks Investigation.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Estes G. Rathbone, former director general of posts of Cuba and who was convicted in Cuba on charges involving maladministration of his office, has petitioned congress to order a congressional investigation of all his acts in Cuba. The petition was presented by Senator Teller.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; brisk north to northwest winds, becoming variable.

BATTLE AT CAPE HAITIEN.

General Firmin's Force Dislodged by the Northern Revolutionists.

CAPE HAITIEN, Haiti, June 30.—There has been much fighting here, and great excitement prevails. Admiral Killick, commander of the Haitian fleet, has disembarked an additional detachment of troops and a large quantity of ammunition for the further protection of General Firmin, one of the candidates for the presidency of the republic.

There have been several lively engagements between the men from the fleet and the revolutionists from the north. Several machine guns were set up in a commanding position by General Firmin's forces, and an attempt was made to drive the men from the north from their position. Notwithstanding the fire from the machine guns detachments of the northern revolutionists made several attacks on General Firmin's followers, and the latter were eventually dislodged.

In the meantime the vessels under the command of Admiral Killick were bombarding Cape Haitien. This action was taken without previously having notified the foreign consuls here. There has been a lively rain of shots down the streets of Cape Haitien for several hours.

Deep regret is expressed that no warship of a foreign power is in the harbor at present to afford protection to foreign residents.

Detective King Found Guilty.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 30.—A verdict of guilty has been returned in the case of Detective Nathaniel W. King, indicted on charges of being accessory after the fact to a felony. Another indictment alleging larceny is still pending against the prisoner. King stands convicted of having guilty knowledge of the theft of a diamond from John W. Hooper, in that he knew the thief and aided him to escape justice. It is charged in the remaining bill that the detective retained the stolen gem for his use when it was turned over to him by the original culprit for restoration to the rightful owner. King was chief of detectives under Mayor Ames in a former administration. His conviction has a depressing effect on the other indicted officials, as the evidence against him was not as strong as that which confronts most of those remaining for trial or indictment.

An Unprecedented Rainfall.

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—This city and vicinity is the center of a rainstorm of unprecedented severity that has prevailed almost incessantly since Saturday morning. According to the local weather bureau reports, 5.45 inches of rain has fallen since early Saturday morning. At times the storm equaled a cloudburst in severity. The storm is the most widespread that has been experienced in this country for many years, according to weather bureau officials, extending from the Rocky mountains to the Alleghanies. Five hundred feet of the north wall of the varied industries palace at the world's fair site fell as the result of the storm. Considerable damage in this vicinity, the total estimated at about $250,000, resulted from the wind that accompanied the rain.

Crazed by Love.

NEWARK, N. J., June 30.—Cary J. McAllister, the young man who was arrested while trying to force his way into the White House with a revolver in his pocket two weeks ago and who was placed in an insane asylum at Washington, has been brought to this city by two attendants of the asylum. He was then examined by Drs. Clark and Nevius and committed to the county insane asylum. McAllister is pronounced hopelessly insane as a result of a love affair, it is said. He was engaged to marry a young woman who subsequently married another young man.

Famous Turfman Dead.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 30.—Captain Sam Bryant, one of the best known turfmen in the country, is dead of dropsy at his home in this city after a long illness. Captain Bryant was about seventy years of age and was considered one of the unique characters of the American turf. He was the owner of Uncle Bob, winner of the American Derby in 1890; Proctor Knott, winner of the Futurity and Great Trial stakes at Sheepshead Bay in 1888, and other horses of note.

Historic Site For Public Park.

GROTON, Conn., June 30. — Mrs. Cuthbert Harrison Slocomb, regent of Anna Warener Bailey chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has been notified by the government that Fort Griswold, on Groton heights, has been granted to the state of Connecticut for the purposes of a public park. The property consists of an abandoned fort and earthworks of that name situated directly opposite New London.

To Enlarge National League.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 30.—The Courier-Journal says in substance that plans for increasing the circuit of the National Baseball league to twelve clubs are under way, and it is stated on good authority that Louisville will be one of the clubs in the circuit.

Winner of the Big Auto Race.

VIENNA, June 30.—The Paris-Vienna automobile race was won by Marcel Renault. He covered the distance from Paris to Vienna in 15h. 22m., at an average speed of eighty-two kilometers (about fifty-one miles) an hour.

Russian Students Freed.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 30.—Students who were arrested last March at the time of the student disorders and sentenced to imprisonment for two or three months are now returning to their homes.

A SUNDAY SESSION.

House of Representatives Pays Tribute to Dead Members.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The house of representatives held a session yesterday to pay tribute to the memories of the late Representative Amos J. Cummings (N. Y.) and the late Representative Peter J. Otey (Va.). By special direction of Secretary Moody the Marine band was in attendance in the lobby in the rear of the hall and rendered an appropriate musical programme. The widows and families of the deceased occupied the speaker's pew in the galleries, and delegations from Typographical union No. 6 of New York, the Letter Carriers' association and the New York Pilots' association came here to honor Mr. Cummings' memory. The public galleries were well filled. The eulogies were exceedingly impressive, especially that delivered by Mr. Cannon (Ill.).

Although services have been held in the house on Sunday on previous occasions, notably the death of Henry Winter Davis, this was the first in ninety years that Sunday was made a legislative day, and the house met on the Sabbath, with a speaker, clerks and all the paraphernalia which accompany the actual transaction of legislative business. Frequently in times past the house has been in session on Sunday, especially at the close of a short session, but such sessions always have been continuations of the legislative day of Saturday, and the journal on Monday showed no session on the Sabbath. In this case, however, the journal will be that of a regular legislative day. In order to find a precedent for the session the house managers went back to 1811, when the house held a session on March 2 because of the pressure of public business, two days before the final adjournment, March 4.

Pope's Gift to the President.

ROME, June 30.—The Right Rev. Thomas O'Gorman, bishop of Sioux Falls, S. D., when he returns to the United States will be the bearer of a letter from the pope to President Roosevelt and will take with him the pontiff's magnificent gift to the American president, which consists of a view of the city of Rome from the Vatican studio done in mosaic. The idea of appointing Bishop O'Gorman apostolic delegate in the Philippines appears, for the present at least, to have been abandoned, although the first suggestion of this appointment was uttered by the pope himself when he first received William H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippine Islands.

Mitchell In the West.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 30.—President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers has left for the west. He goes direct to Chicago, where he will hold a conference with prominent labor chiefs. Some of the heads of the railroad brotherhoods may take part in the conference, although no one will vouch for this, it being merely a rumor floating around strike headquarters here. There is no doubt, however, but that the head of the miners' union will confer with the district officers of the United Mine Workers in the bituminous regions all through the west.

Religious Congress Planned.

CHICAGO, June 30.—A gathering of representatives of the many religions and creeds of the world which will rival the congress of religions of the World's fair is planned in connection with the Olympian games in 1904 by Bishop Fallows, chairman of the committee on ethical and religious organizations. The religious feature of the games will be organized on the same broad lines as the games themselves. Every country which is to be invited to send its athletic representatives will be urged to have its religions represented as well.

Quiet In Virginia Coalfields.

ROANOKE, Va., June 30.—Sunday was the quietest day had in the Pocahontas-Flat Top coalfields for over a month. Any loss of miners to the strikers' ranks or the trouble which was anticipated as a consequence of the Saturday half holiday and the idleness of the mines until Monday has not materialized. The loading on Saturday was 400 cars, which is double the amount of coal mined on any previous Saturday since the strike was inaugurated and in excess of what the operators had expected.

Engineer Shaler Dead.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Major Ira A. Shaler is dead at the Presbyterian hospital as a result of injuries received in the rapid transit subway June 17, when a large rock which had been loosened by a blast fell on him and broke his back. Major Shaler was a civil engineer and held a subcontract for building a portion of the tunnel. He was born in New Jersey in 1862, educated at Cornell and became a major in the First United States volunteer engineers.

Prominent Manufacturer Dead.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., June 30.—John D. Blood, a prominent manufacturer of this place, is dead, aged seventy-one years. For many years he owned the largest broom factory in the United States, which in 1895 he sold to the American Broom company. Since that time he has been engaged in the manufacture of knit goods and brooms. He had extensive banking interests in Kansas and Illinois.

Severe Lake Storm.

SANDUSKY, O., June 30.—It is feared that at least six lives were lost in the terrible storm which raged on Lake Erie yesterday. Word has been received here that the steam barge George Dunbar went down in the storm early in the day ten miles east of Kelley's island. The barge carried a crew of ten, and six of the crew are still unaccounted for.

DOINGS OF CONGRESS

Result of the Fifty-seventh's First Session.

IMPORTANT LEGISLATION ENACTED.

Cuban Reciprocity the Only Notable Failure In the Work Mapped Out. Appropriations Reach Nearly the Billion Dollar Mark.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The work of congress is now practically closed, so that it is possible to sum up the record of what has been accomplished during the past seven months, which constitute the first session of the Fifty-seventh congress. The session has been marked by exceptional business activity, with many questions of farreaching general interest engaging attention. With the exception of the Cuban reciprocity bill, most of the larger subjects of general legislation have been enacted as laws or will become such before the session closes. Notable among these larger measures is the Isthmian canal bill, which consummates the efforts of a half century to link together the waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific. Aside from its national and international importance, this bill probably involves a larger sum of money than that covering any other single undertaking by the government outside of war expenditures.

The Philippine civil government bill is another measure of farreaching importance, extending to our remote Pacific possessions a system of internal civil government, together with coinage, currency, banking, corporation, timber and homestead laws. Among the other important general laws enacted are those repealing the war revenue taxes.

By this step the last of the taxes imposed at the beginning of our war with Spain was wiped out. The Philippine tariff act imposes 75 per cent of the Dingley tariff rates on articles coming from the Philippines to the United States and also imposes on articles entering the Philippines from the United States the rates of duties established by the Philippine commission. The oleomargarine act results from several years of agitation. It places a tax of 10 cents a pound on substances colored to imitate butter.

The irrigation act is of special importance to the development of the west.

The Chinese exclusion law continues exclusion "until otherwise provided by law" and also applies the exclusion "to the island territory under the jurisdiction of the United States."

Aside from these important laws there are a number of other measures of general importance which have passed one or both houses, but have not progressed to the final stage. These include the antianarchy legislation, which has passed both branches of congress, but it has been impossible to reach an agreement in conference, so that the subject goes over until next December.

A bill giving statehood to Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma, known as the omnibus statehood bill, passed the house, and the senate has determined to take up the matter early in the next session.

The ship subsidy bill received early attention in the senate, but the end of the session has come without the measure being reported to the house. As it passed the senate the bill grants graded subsidies to steam and sailing vessels of American build. In the house it has been deemed desirable to let the subject go over until the short session, when it is expected that a bill on the subject will be reported and urged to passage.

The bill creating the Appalachian forest reserve, including a vast tract in the Appalachian mountain section of the south, has received favorable attention in both houses, but has gone over for final adjustment of differences.

The bill to establish a cable between the United States, Hawaii and the Philippines was retired by defeat in the house of representatives.

Several other measures have advanced to a certain stage and have then halted, without much prospect for further advancement. These include the bill for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. It passed the house by practically a unanimous vote, but in the senate has received little attention and is not likely to pass.

The amount of appropriations for the session will run unusually high, owing in part to the amount required to build the isthmian canal. When Mr. Cannon submitted a general estimate of appropriations a few weeks ago, he made the total up to that time $891,445,000. Since then the canal bill has passed, carrying a present appropriation of $40,000,000 for the franchise and enough more for the rights of Colombia and for beginning the work to carry the total up to $50,000,000. The entire cost of the undertaking is approximately $184,000,000. Mr. Cannon's estimate also omitted contracts for future expenditure included in the omnibus public building, the omnibus claims and various other bills, aggregating a large amount. This will carry the total for the session, figuring in these future amounts, almost if not quite up to the billion dollar mark.

Street Cars Stoned In Pawtucket.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 30.—Street cars were stoned and obstructions placed on the tracks by sympathizers of the striking motormen and conductors in this city and Central Falls yesterday. The heavy rain had made the police less vigilant than usual, and the attacks were a surprise. Two street railway men were hurt by missiles. After running ten cars during the day the traction company took all off at dusk.

A STRONG TEAM.

Amateur baseball certainly stands higher in the public regard than ever before. The great interest taken not only in the City Baseball League but all other games has fully demonstrated that fact. Saturday's games in the league again brought out large crowds and much enthusiasm was shown. Good ball was played and the people departed from the games fully satisfied with the game itself even if all were not pleased with the result of the contests.

During the spring the nine of the Plainfield High School has come to the fore in remarkable fashion. The local school boys have met the best scholastic teams of this part of Jersey and either beaten or made a creditable showing against them. It was by far the strongest team that has ever represented a local school on the diamond. It is particularly welcome news, therefore, that the same team, with one single exception, will be back in school next year and ready to furnish the excellent record already made.

In today's issue of The Daily Press will be found an excellent picture of the team. Only one man is missing. With it is a brief sketch of the team and its individual members and the records for the past season. The City High School has on other occasions won honors in other branches of athletics. Now baseball seems to be the preeminent feature of school athletics.

THREE DRUNKS.

One Resisted, Another Was a Frequent Visitor, and Third Just Made His Debut.

In the city court, this morning, Benjamin Monroe, colored, was fined $6 for resisting arrest, early yesterday morning. He was taken in custody by Patrolman McCarthy who was aroused from his slumbers by Monroe's cursing in front of his home. He pleaded not guilty but the evidence was against him.

Frazee Connett, a familiar figure in court, was arraigned on the D. and D. charge. He paid $5 in preference to living for twenty days at the county's expense.

Gustav Schroeders was arrested on Park avenue, for drunkenness, Saturday night, by Patrolman Overbaugh. As it was his first offense, sentence was suspended.

—Neuman Brothers receive their vegetables fresh, every morning. Jersey green and wax beans, tomatoes, cucumbers, lettuce and many others.

FUNERAL OF J. F. MOORE.

Services Held at the Home and at Hillside Cemetery.

Funeral services over the remains of John Franklin Moore were held from his late residence, Chatham street, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and afterwards at the grave in Hillside cemetery. Rev. J. O. McKelvey was the officiating clergyman in both places.

A service at the grave was also conducted by Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., the members of which attended the funeral in a body, as did also the union organization of painters.

There was a profusion of floral wreaths from friends of the family, including a large pillow from the painters and one from the members of Central Lodge. The pall-bearers were Wm. Hedden, Everett Marsh, George Bilyeu, Andrew Stiglitz, Wm. Brokaw and Wm. Manning.

Temporary Change.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle, of the Methodist church, exchanged pulpits yesterday morning with Rev. John McMurray, of the Monroe Avenue church, in Plainfield. A small audience greeted Mr. McMurray on account of the rain.

Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, of Plainfield, preached in the Presbyterian church yesterday morning before a small congregation. Rev. Mr. Sproul occupied Mr. Herring's pulpit.

The Dunellen Juniors went to Plainfield Saturday and defeated the junior team from that place by a score of 11 to 6 in ten innings.

The Christian Endeavor Society cleared a considerable sum at its recent lawn festival. The full total has not yet been made out.

From the notices posted the Fourth of July celebration under the auspices of the Epworth League will be well worth attending.

Some good tennis was played in the park Saturday. Some crack players are developing through frequent practice.

The funeral services of the late W. H. Terry will take place this afternoon from his late residence at 2:30.

Thomas Conley, the young son of William Conley, is considerably improved from a recent illness.

W. H. Blair and wife will leave this week for Massachussetts where Mr. Blair has taken a position.

Robert Giddes, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at the home of his parents on North avenue.

Mrs. L. B. Nelson entertained a number of out of town friends yesterday.

Samuel Luckey entertained a number of out of town friends over Sunday.

Lee Keller, of Philadelphia, spent yesterday at the home of James Craig.

John Moynihan's house on North avenue is receiving a coat of paint.

Chas. Stanley, of New York, spent Saturday in town with relatives.

NEW MARKET.

A small congregation was present at all services in the First Baptist church yesterday because of the rain.

The children of Dr. Whitford, who have been ill with scarlet fever, are on the road to recovery.

The local baseball team journeyed to Cranford Saturday and played a team from that place.

It has been definitely decided that there will be no Fourth of July celebration this year.

A number from here attended the league ball games in Plainfield Saturday.

Meyers' tennis court has been put in condition for the summer playing.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

That Scotch Plains has the baseball fever was proven beyond a doubt Saturday afternoon when nearly fifty rooters journeyed to Dunellen to see the locals cross bats with the team of that place. It was unfortunate that the game came to such an abrupt ending but Manager Johnston is to be commended for his action in taking his men off the field.

The Board of Education have engaged Miss Nellie Little, of Cranford, to fill the vacancy in the corps of teachers caused by the resignation of Miss Johnson. Miss Little is a graduate of Trenton Normal School and has had several year's experience teaching in the schools of Morristown and Summit.

The storm of yesterday interfered materially with the attendance at the church services in town. At the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Glazer, of Orange, occupied the pulpit at both services.

"True Exaltation" was the subject discussed by the members of the Baptist Young People's Union at their meeting in the church parlors last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Paff, Sr.

Miss Nellie Hollingsworth led the weekly meeting of the Epworth League in the Methodist church last night.

James Buckley, of Plainfield, was the guest of his mother, Mrs. James Buckley, Sunday.

Samuel Taynor, of Plainfield, was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

William Hamilton has returned home from Perth Amboy, where he spent the day yesterday visiting his mother.

The roadway from South Plainfield to Plainfield has been improved by the addition of a new layer of stone in places.

A number of baseball enthusiasts from this place witnessed the baseball games in Plainfield Saturday afternoon.

The young Americans of South Plainfield are getting ready for some noise Friday.

Miss Linda Rowland, of Bound Brook, spent Saturday and Sunday with her friend, Miss Kizzie Neagle, of Madison avenue.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels, and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." L. W. Randolph.

MARRIED TO A PHYSICIAN

WEDDING OF MISS ALTHEA L. DE CAMP, FORMERLY OF THIS CITY.

Groom Was Dr. Frank M. Stagg, of Passaic—At Bride's Home in Chester, Morris County.

The marriage of Miss Althea L. De Camp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo DeCamp, formerly of Maple avenue, near Greenbrook road, but now of Chester, Morris county, to Dr. Frank Munson Stagg, of Passaic, was a quiet, but charming event today noon. The wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents in Chester in the presence of the immediate relatives and close friends. Rev. C. S. Osborne, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Chester, of which the bride is a member and active worker, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth DeCamp, as maid-of-honor, and Miss Lillian A. Force, of Plainfield, as bridemaid. Fletcher Kilgore, of Passaic, was the best man, and the ushers were C. VanAken DeCamp and Robert L. De Camp, brothers of the bride. Following the ceremony, the happy couple received the best wishes and hearty congratulations of the guests. After a wedding luncheon, they left for a short honeymoon, at the end of which they will go to housekeeping at Passaic.

Mrs. Stagg is a very popular and highly-esteemed young woman. She is well-known both in Chester and in this city, where she has a host of friends who will wish her success and happiness in her married life. Dr. Stagg, who has an established practice in Passaic, stands very high in his profession and his friends are congratulating him in securing such a worthy help-mate, who will undoubtedly win for him as well as herself a great many friends in the new home at Passaic.

The bride was the recipient of a choice collection of valuable and useful presents.

FIFTEEN YEARS AS PASTOR

REV. DR. SCHENCK GAVE HIS CONGREGATION SOME FACTS ABOUT IT.

Reviewed the Work of the Past Fifteen Years, and Told of the Progress.

At Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Schenck, at the close of an excellent sermon on the "Office of the Church," gave his people a pleasant surprise, when incidentally he made reference to the fact that the service marked the fifteenth anniversary of his pastorate.

In this connection he gave a few statistics which were very encouraging to the friends and members of the church. There had been contributed during the fifteen years $18,518 for religious and benevolent objects and $104,343 for congregational purposes, the latter amount including the wiping out of the church debt and the cost of elevating and rebuilding the church a few years ago.

There was received into the membership of the church 350 on confession of faith and 343 by letter, making a total of 693. There were baptized 172 infants and 164 adults. During the fifteen years ninety-seven communicant members died, while the total number of funerals attended by Dr. Schenck was 319.

These figures give one an adequate idea of the work of this church during the fifteen years, under the faithful and efficient leadership of Pastor Schenck. After the service there was a season of congratulation to Dr. Schenck, while the members rejoiced to know that the church is in such an excellent spiritual and financial condition.

NEW REVIEW.

Attractive Innovation Made at the Trinity Reformed Church Sunday-School Yesterday Morning.

Yesterday was review Sunday at the Sunday-school session in Trinity Reformed chruch, and a new and attractive idea was introduced by the superintendent, F. E. Smith, to make the session an interesting one. To each of twelve teachers one of the lessons during the past twelve weeks was assigned, for the purpose of studying the same and giving a five minute talk. These talks on the lessons occupied just one hour and proved to be very helpful.

Mr. Smith stated that he believed that the question of making review Sunday interesting had been solved, that instead of the lesson being taught from the desk, he had found good assistants to help in explaining the lessons and tell the most important points. The new idea worked very successfully.

FIRST TO QUALIFY.

Qualifying Tournament, First Series for Officers' Cups at Cedar Brook.

The first of a series of four tournaments to qualify for the Officers' cups was held on the courts of the Cedar Brook Tennis Club, Saturday afternoon. It was open to club members only. Four teams entered. The first round showed that Fred T. VanAuken and Vincent B. Miner defeated Fred M. Letson and Charles H. Hall 3-6, 6-0, 6-2, and J. Hervey Doane and Harold A. Nomer defeated James A. Stafford and John L. Brower 6-1, 6-0. In the finals, VanAuken and Miner defeated Doane and Nomer 6-1, 6-2. VanAuken and Miner will be one of the four teams to play for the trophies later in the season.

PULPIT SUPPLIES.

Who Will Take Pastor's Place at Trinity Church During August.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck will spend the month of August at Spruceton in the Adirondacks and announcement was made yesterday of the pulpit supplies at Trinity Reformed church during Mr. Schenck's absence. They are as follows: August 3—Rev. John Morris, of Newark; August 10—M. Seymour Peurdy, of Marconnier chapel; August 17—John Morris, of Newark; August 24—Rev. John Hart, of Heshanic. On August 31 the church will be closed for cleaning and repairs. There will be no evening service during August.

THROWN FROM SULKY.

Charles C. Brower Had a Narrow Escape From Serious Injury.

Charles C. Brower, had a narrow escape Saturday afternoon from being seriously injured. He was trotting Peter Neuman's thoroughbred horse on the Plainfield Driving Club's track, when the horse caught a hind foot in a front shoe. This threw the animal with much force on the track and Brower was thrown out of his sulky and he and the rig was mixed up badly. Fortunately, outside of a few bruises, Brower escaped, while the horse also escaped severe injury.

—Robert Romaine, of West Seventh street, leaves tomorrow for Denver, Col., where he will join a hunting party, to remain a month.

MAY BE ANOTHER THOMAS

CHANCE THAT IT WAS NOT DUNELLEN MAN WHO WAS KILLED.

L. A. Thomas, From Providence, R. I., Was Also a Teacher in the Philippines.

There seems to be some grounds for believing that Lewis S. Thomas, formerly of Plainfield, who has been in the Philippines, and who was reported last week as having been murdered, is not dead. The basis for this belief is found in a despatch from Providence, R. I., which states that L. A. Thomas and John E. Wells, who are among the teachers reported killed, are both graduates from Brown University. They taught school in New Jersey after leaving college. They sailed for the Philippines February 20 last with 200 teachers. This means there is another Lewis Thomas.

Lewis S. Thomas has been stationed at Cebu for the last six months. It was learned yesterday that last Thanksgiving a revolver and a watch were sent to Lewis Thomas by his mother, who lives at Dunellen. No word was ever received that the revolver and watch reached their destination and this leads Mrs. Thomas to believe that they got into the hands of a Filipino. This would account for the report that they were found in the hands of Ladrone leader, who was killed. Mrs. Thomas has appealed to the Government for information concerning her son.

GROUND BROKEN.

Lafayette Rosenstiehl is Going to Build Business Block on Somerset Street.

Lafayette Rosenstiehl is one man who has confidence in the future of North Plainfield. He has given out the contract for the erection of a brick building, three story and blind attic, with a front of gray brick and stone, furnished with all modern improvements. The site of the new structure will be that piece of land belonging to the Peter Wooden estate, on Somerset street, opposite Manning avenue.

Ground was broken this morning by Conover & Son, who have the contract for the excavating. John Snyder will do the masonry, and George Hummer has charge of the carpenter work. The new building will be 25 feet front by 55 feet deep, and when completed will be a handsome addition to that section of the borough.

The first floor will probably be occupied as a store, and the upper parts of the building as dwellings. It will cost in the vicinity of $15,000.

BOUGHT OUT COLLIER.

Charles E. Vail Has Purchased the Jewelry Business Conducted for Many Years by Asa Collier.

Charles E. Vail who, for many years has been in the employ of J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, where he has attended to the watch repairing, etc., has purchased the jewelry business of Asa Collier, on the same avenue. Mr. Vail took possession Saturday night. For a few days he will remain with Mr. Doane, until the latter gets some one to take his place.

Mr. Vail has had an extensive experience in the jewelry business and especially in the repair of watches has he established a substantial reputation. His friends predict success for him in his new venture.

Mr. Collier will take a vacation for the balance of the summer and in the fall he will manage the New York office for Freeman, Doughaday & Company, large manufacturers of jewelry at Providence, R. I.

Robert Whittaker, of Belvidere avenue, has returned from Baltimore, where he has been exhibiting with his trick horse. Early next month he will go to St. Paul.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

"The best ever" is what they all say after eating Fowler's ice cream. "Simply delicious" describes it to a nicety.

R. B. VanArsdale, of Central avenue, is an experienced tile setter. He makes a specialty of bath rooms and mantels.

Nothing like a good cigar for an after dinner smoke. When you want to muse in the soft blue veil of the vapor get a dusky beauty at Dobbin's, North avenue.

No man should be without a precise timepiece in this age. For a first class watch, guaranteed as to quality, and at the most reasonable price, call at L. Moraller & Son's, Park avenue.

Cane couches, porch chairs, settees and other out door articles of furniture are to be found in endless variety at Powlison & Jones. Don't let the summer slip by without these comforts.

George Kirch, the grocer, corner Liberty and West Fourth streets, carries the famous "Red Shield" brand of groceries. Their worth constitutes the strongest reason for their use. One trial will convince you.

"Werner, the Clothier" is a broad term because it includes the fact that he is an outfitter and furnisher. Besides one of the fullest lines of clothing in the city, he has an assortment of hats, shirts, ties, umbrellas and other needs of men at prices that cause wonderment.

CALLED TO GRACE.

Call Extended to Rev. John Atkinson, of Trinity Church, Elizabeth.

The vestry of Grace Episcopal church has extended a call to Rev. John Atkinson, of Trinity church, Elizabeth, to become the rector of Grace church. The call was extended last week, but as yet no reply has been received from Mr. Atkinson. The members of Grace church are quite anxious to secure Mr. Atkinson and there seems to be a feeling that he will accept. In case he does he will not enter upon his new duties before next fall.

SERENADED BRIDAL COUPLE.

Friends Remembered Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thorn in Noisy Fashion.

A serenade, somewhat noisy but none the less enthusiastic, was given Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thorn, of Whitewood avenue, Friday evening by thirty friends. The serenaders found it impossible to make din enough with their vocal powers so assisted themselves with horns, drums, and discarded wash boilers. The din continued until the young men were invited in and pacified with refreshments and cigars.

—Harry Lunger, of West Sixth street, has accepted a position at the Pond Tool Works.

—George P. Curtis, of North avenue, has accepted a position at the Hotel Rudolf, Atlantic City.

Gen. Lord Kitchener---England's Hero of the Hour

Something of the Man and the Work He Has Done in Egypt and South Africa.

SHOULD you ask any patriotic Englishman, during these days of British jubilation, who he considered the greatest soldier in the king's army and he might answer "Bobs," but if he did, he would unquestionably add, "and Kitchener."

Lord Roberts, or, as his soldiers have always called him, "Little Bobs," has a place in the hearts of the English people that can scarcely be filled by any other as long as he lives, or for that matter, years after his death, but, for a time at least, he must share that place with Gen. Kitchener—Kitchener, the avenger of the beloved Gordon; Kitchener, the conqueror of the valiant burghers of South Africa; Kitchener, who has brought to England a long-sought peace.

When this same Gen. Lord Herbert Kitchener, first baron of Khartum, was ordered to South Africa as chief of staff to Lord Roberts, after having but just completed an arduous task in the Soudan, the world had almost to stop and ask, "Who is this Kitchener?" To-day the world knows who he is; the world has become familiar with every detail of his life; his name and history are known wherever newspapers are printed. It is not my purpose to merely relate historical facts in the life of this man who is the hero of the hour in England; even though I so desired I could tell nothing that is not already widely known, but I wish rather to present a study as far as my ability—the ability of an admirer—will permit of his methods and personality. Such a study is not the result of either a personal acquaintance or personal observation, but must be taken from a close study of his accomplishments and traits as given in current history, following such fragmentary history as it is possible to secure back to his younger days at the English military school at Woolrich.

LORD KITCHENER.

It would not be doing full justice to either Kitchener's natural ability, nor his soldier ancestors, to attribute his soldierly qualifications entirely to his alma mater. Some of it he inherited from his father, Lieut. Col. H. H. Kitchener, in his day a valued officer in the English army. From his father is attributed the inheritance of that reticence that has made of him a spectral sphynx to the newspaper correspondent anxious to send his paper every detail of plans and accomplishment. His strict censorship of press dispatches have been the cause of many a condemnation upon his head, but—he never talked, save officially.

To Kitchener's ability as an organizer must be credited much of his success as a soldier. Had circumstances placed the same man in commercial life, it is easy to see in him a rival to our own Morgan, but being a soldier we must rather compare him to Grant. His genius as an organizer was never shown to better advantage than when on March 12, 1896, he received orders from England to begin the operations against the Mahdists that resulted in the reconquest of the Egyptian Soudan and the avenging of the death of Gen. Gordon. At that time everything was against him, every obstacle that nature and circumstances could throw in his way to block progress was there. But he had received orders to advance, and advance he did with a speed that astonished the world. The hottest season of the Egyptian year was close at hand, and the Nile, which must furnish much of the means of transportation, was at its lowest. Not an English regiment was numbered among the garrisons of the frontier posts. Under such conditions an organizer was necessary, and he was at hand.

Kitchener was familiar with all the conditions of Soudan warfare. He knew the resources at his command; he knew the transportation facilities that he could utilize, meager as they were; and he knew the qualities of the troops he was to command, and he knew the enemy. Every available boat that could navigate the lower Nile as far as Assuuan was pressed into the service of the army, and on them he transported the available English troops at Cairo, as well as supplies for the Soudanese troops already at the frontier posts. He utilized existing railroads as far as they went, and seized material then in Egypt for the building of a new line between Girgeh and Luxor, and carried it by railway, boat and caravan to Sarras, 800 miles south of Cairo. In this way he began the building of the railway that was to become the connecting link between the army in the field and the base of supplies at Cairo. With a rapidity that was astonishing, considering the difficulties to be overcome, the advance guard of his army was pushed forward into the enemy's country. Close behind them came the railway battalion, splicing together the steel rails that connected them with the necessities of a campaign in such a country.

To follow all the details of organization that resulted in the downfall of the Mahdi in the Soudan would fill many columns. It was a campaign of details, a campaign in which thorough organization and preparation meant more toward ultimate success than did bravery on the line of battle, though of the latter there were hundreds upon hundreds of remarkable instances. Probably in no other modern war has a commanding officer been called upon to solve more serious difficulties than was Kitchener in the campaign that ended with the bloody battle of Omdurman and the complete destruction of Dervish rule in the Soudan. But the commanding general seemed to anticipate and prepare for every difficulty before it was reached, and it was only his thorough system of organization and arrangement of detail that made the end possible.

Fresh from the conquests of the Soudan Kitchener was hurried to South Africa, where England was then losing ground rapidly. As chief of staff to Lord Roberts it fell to him to master the details. What he found was a disorganized, widely scattered and practically defeated army. The scene of operations hundreds of miles from any possible base of supplies; the railroads crippled by the Boer forces; reinforcements, remounts, provisions and equipments of all kinds needed at once. Gen. Roberts had scarcely reached the front before all that was needed was being pushed rapidly forward to him. Under the hand of this master soldier-organizer the railroads were put into shape to handle trains for the conveyance of men and munitions of war to the front, and both were being sent forward without delay. Lord Roberts fought the battle that sent Gen. Cronje to St. Helena; he pushed on to Blomfontein, to Johannesburg, to Pretoria; he retrieved the failing fortunes of England, but back of his success was the perfected details of organization and equipment as mastered by his chief of staff.

With the fall of Pretoria, and the great battles over, but with the Boer army yet to be conquered, Gen. Roberts returned to England and left to Kitchener the task of dealing with the hard problem yet before the nation, and it is to Kitchener's organizing abilities that must be credited the attainment of England's desired end—peace with British victory. Like Grant, he laid down a line of action, and along that line he determined to fight it out if it took not only one summer, but a dozen summers, and he followed that line to the end.

FASHIONABLE MATERIALS.

Voile and Eolienne Are Popular For Dressy Wear.

Serge cloth and the lighter makes of frieze are popular for summer tailor mades, and as the warmer days arrive more and more gowns of veiling and eolienne will be worn. Voile will be one of if not the most fashionable materials for the summer season, and those who only know it as the coarse woolen type have no idea of its charm in a combination of silk and wool, while all silk voile is really exquisite.

Fashionable modistes are making a good many skirts without lining to wear over slips of taffeta and satin. The bands are made separately, too, in order that more than one skirt may be worn over the same slip. This is a most convenient fashion and one commendable on the score of economy. There are many smart ways of trimming these overskirts, as they are called. The newest have inlets of lace in medallion form alternated with velvet or silk. Others quite as effective, but less elaborate, have bands or pointed trimmings of lace insertion, and the voile is cut away from the back of the lace so that a colored or white slip shows prettily through the openings.

The picture hat shown is of black satin straw, trimmed with pale pink roses and black velvet ribbon.

Medallion Trimmings—Red Wash Dresses.

A series of medallions of graduated size running upward, tunic fashion, is smart and uncommon, and these are linked together by means of strappings of silk or velvet, which wander side by side and then part to outline the medallion and so to make a graceful border.

A particular shade of scarlet, better known as brick red, is forming many wash waists and skirts which are often toned down by a tie and deep belt of black and an all black hat. Whatever vagaries fashion takes, it always demands that we should possess at least one all black hat. It is certainly far smarter to have a toning down touch of black on a bright colored frock than to have a touch of color on an all black costume.

All black and all white costumes are to be all the rage this summer.

This pretty evening gown can be worn either with or without a transparent yoke. It is made of tinted net over white taffeta, and it is trimmed with perpendicular bands of heavy ecru lace. Starting a little below the knees to the bottom of the skirt there are several rows of ruffles cut so as to simulate petals and edged with the tiniest white satin ribbon. The sleeves are particularly stylish, being full and transparent. They are gathered into a cuff of the lace.

WOMEN'S CLUB-HOUSES

THE greatest benefit the woman's club has conferred on the sex is one seldom mentioned. It is the knowledge, to some extent at least, of financiering and the economics of organized bodies. At first the idea of quitting themselves like clubmen and getting permanent headquarters of their own was terrifying to women club members, and they were content with the hired hospitality of men's lodgerooms. After some years of this a few of the bravest in the west and middle west, of course, walked out from under the fixed glare of the painted Masonic eye and bought or built club homes.

The first clubhouse for women in this country is the Athenæum of Milwaukee, opened in December, 1887. It is a handsome stone house. But the same month the Ladies' Literary club of Grand Rapids, Mich., dedicated a house which still remains one of the prettiest buildings of its kind. The Grand Rapids society grew out of a small but enthusiastic history class into a powerful organization with several hundred members.

Women will become excellent financiers when they wake up to it. They have learned as they went along. The money to build or buy the club homes has been procured in various ways. For the construction of the Milwaukee Athenæum a stock company was formed, which paid the money, took shares in the concern and controls and manages all financial affairs. The Grand Rapids house was built from club dues and from subscriptions. Sometimes wealthy men who do not fear that women's clubs will break up the home life have donated noble sums toward building a house for a ladies' organization. In Denison, Tex., where the only women's clubhouse in the south is situate, a rich bachelor, who did not have any home life to break up and consequently was not afraid, gave the ladies of the XXI. club $4,000 and a plot of ground, on which they erected a twelve thousand dollar home. Its appurtenances include a public library, in consequence of which Andrew Carnegie donated $1,700 to lift the last mortgage from the XXI.'s.

The true and real clubhouse with restaurant, studios and living apartments that may be rented to members is not yet anywhere among women's organizations. The nearest to it is the home of the women's Twentieth Century club of Buffalo, erected at a cost of $150,000. Its general assembly hall contains a stage and scenery for theatrical performances and entertainments. Attractive wall decorations are part of its adornment, and a noble marble staircase leads from the front entrance to the second floor. The Buffalo Twentieth Century appears to be the first woman's club that has had enterprise enough to provide some sleeping rooms for members. Buffalo is undoubtedly the banner city of women's clubhouses. The Women's Educational and Industrial union there has been from the beginning so strong in good works that large sums of money have been given to it from time to time by philanthropists, so that it, too, has a home of its own, worth $100,000.

The ladies of the New Century club of Wilmington, Del., have a neat home which they constructed on the plan of having each member take one share of stock or quit. Then there is the beautiful Propylæum of Indianapolis, a mutual home for various feminine organizations. It cost $30,000 and was erected largely through the efforts of that energetic clubwoman, May Wright Sewall. The great city of New York has no woman's clubhouse, while little Peoria and Decatur, Ill., have each one that cost $40,000. Los Angeles has two—one the Ebell club home, patterned after a Greek temple and the gift of Mrs. Robert Burdette; the other the house of the Friday Morning club, of old Spanish mission style in its architecture. The Friday Morning club has 500 members. The Arundel club of Baltimore has a pretty home.

Finally, Boston women are going to erect a two hundred thousand dollar clubhouse, eclipsing anything of the kind in the land, so it is said.

KATE SHARP.

A Knave of Conscience

By FRANCIS LYNDE.

(Copyright, 1901, by Francis Lynde.)

She saw his confusion, divined the first cause of it and smiled. Then he met her gaze fairly and became sane again when he made sure that she did not recognize him—became sane, and snatched off his cap and dropped the trunk into the stateroom, after which he went to his place with a great thankfulness throbbing in his heart and an incoherent resolve shaping itself in his brain.

Late that night, when the Belle Julie was well on her way to the northward, he flung himself down upon the freight on the engine-room guard to snatch a little rest between landings, and the resolve became sufficiently cosmic to formulate itself in words.

"I'll call it an oracle," he said. "One place is as good as another, so it be small enough; and I am sure I have never heard of Wahaska."

Now Griswold the proletary was, before all things else, Griswold the imaginative craftsman; and no sooner was the question of his destination settled than he began to prefigure the place and its probable lacks and havings. This process brought him by easy gradations to pleasant idealizings of Miss Farnham, who was, thus far, the only thing tangible connected with the destination dream. Whereupon her personality laid hold upon him and the idealizings became purely literary.

"By Jove! but she is a magnificently strong type," he mused, lying flat on his back and staring absently at the flittering shadows among the deck beams overhead. "Her face is as readable as only the face of a woman instinctively good and pure in heart can be. Any man who can put her between the covers of a book may put anything else he pleases in it and snap his fingers at the world. If I am going to live in the same town with her I ought to jot her down in words before I lose the keen edge of the first impression."

He considered it for a moment, and then got up and went in quest of a pencil and a scrap of paper. The dozing night clerk gave him both, with a sleepy malediction thrown in; and he went back to his engine-room and scribbled his word-picture by the light of the swinging lantern, thus:

"Character-study: Young woman of the type Western-Creole—not the daughter of aliens, but born in the West of parents who have migrated from one of the older States. (I'll hazard that much as a guess.) Details: Titian blonde, with hair like spun bronze; the complexion that neither freckles nor tans; cool, gray eyes with an under-depth in them that no man but her lover may ever quite fathom; a figure which would be statuesque if it were not altogether human and womanly; features cast in the Puritan mold, with the lines of character well emphasized; lips that would be passionate but for—no, lips that will be passionate when the hour and the man arrive. A soul strong in the strength of purity, which would send her to the stake for a principle, or to the Isle of Lepers with her lover. A typical heroine for a story in which the hero is a man who might need to borrow a conscience."

He read it over thoughtfully when it was finished, changing a word here and a phrase there with a craftsman's fidelity to the exactnesses. Then he shook his head regretfully and tore the scrap of paper into tiny squares, scattering them upon the brown flood surging past the engine-room gangway.

"It won't do," he confessed, reluctantly, as one who sacrifices good literary material to an overweening sense of the fitness of things. "It's nothing less than cold-blooded sacrilege. I can't make copy out of her if I write no more while the world stands."

CHAPTER VI.

Charlotte Farnham's friends were wont to say of her that she was as sensible as she was beautiful. She was, as Griswold had guessed, of New England lineage. Her parents had migrated for the health of the wife, but the migration had been postponed too long. The mother died in the early Minnesota days, but the daughter lived to grow up unspoiled and beautiful.

She had been spending the winter at Pass Christian with her aunt, who was an invalid; and for the invalid's sake the return passage was taken on the "Belle Julie." On the morning of the second day out, when the New Orleans papers came aboard, the two of them were sitting in the shade of the hurricane deck aft. Charlotte bought a paper and read the account of the bank robbery with a little gasp of belated horror.

"What is it, Charlotte?" asked the invalid.

Charlotte read the reporter's story.

"Dear me! How shockingly bold!" commented Miss Gilman.

"Yes; but that wasn't what made me gasp. The paper says: 'A young lady was at the teller's window'—Aunt Fanny, I was the 'young lady.'"

"You? Horrors!" ejaculated the invalid.

"It's true. And I had no more idea—why, it seems incredible."

"I should think it would."

"There wasn't anything about it to suggest a robbery," Charlotte went on. "The man was smiling, and he had a good face—a face that one would trust almost intuitively."

"Charlotte!" exclaimed her aunt. "I do hope they can't trace you by your father's draft."

"What if they could?"

"Don't you see! You'd be dragged into court to identify the robber. And that would be simply dreadful."

"I shouldn't want to be dragged. It would be a simple duty to go willingly. More than that, I think I ought to write to Mr. Galbraith and give him my name and address."

But at this the invalid protested with what authority there was in her, and Charlotte agreed finally to wait until the matter of duty had been submitted to her father.

Here the subject was dropped, and Charlotte went to her stateroom to get a book for herself and a magazine for the invalid. It was a full hour later, and Miss Gilman was deep in the last installment of the magazine serial, when Charlotte gave up the struggle with the book. Do what she could, the scene in the bank would thrust itself between; and at length she let the thought have its will of her.

From where she was sitting she could see the steamer's yawl swinging from its tackle on the stern-staff. In the midst of the reminiscent thought, she saw that the ropes were working loose; that the yawl would presently fall. When she rose to go and tell some one, a man came aft to make the tackle fast, and she stepped aside to let him pass.

It was Griswold. She saw his face as he passed, and there was something strangely familiar in it. When he had fastened the rope and was returning, she had a fair look at him and for an instant was fain to grip the back of her chair to keep from crying out. For in that instant she recognized him.

Now, this young woman was wise beyond her years, and she knew what she had to do. None the less, she was a true woman, with a heart full of tenderness and pity. So it is not wonderful that for a moment conscience turned traitor, and was dumb. But it was only for a moment. The simple and obvious thing to do was to go at once and tell the captain what she had discovered; and she was deterred from so doing only by the reflection that a less terrible alternative would be the sending of a letter to the New Orleans bank people.

This she determined upon, telling her aunt nothing of her discovery, but merely saying that upon second thought she felt that she must write to Mr. Galbraith at once. Miss Gilman withdrew her objections reluctantly.

"If you must, Charlotte. But it seems like a very dreadful thing for you to have to do."

"It is very dreadful," said Charlotte, with a sob in her voice. Nevertheless, she went away quickly to write the letter which should set the machinery of the law in motion.

A Squirrel Afloat.

That gray squirrels are fast and long-distance swimmers was proved one day last fall to the entire satisfaction of a ferryman at Middle Haddam, Conn. He heard two gray squarrels scolding on a tree near the bank of the river. Suddenly a fierce fight began, which was terminated by the larger squirrel leaping from the tree into the river. The ferryman saw the dive taken, and watched for the squirrel's reappearance with great interest. The squirrel, instead of striking out for the near-by shore, started for the opposite side. A strong current was running, and although the waves ran high, the little animal breasted them like a veteran. The man followed in his boat. When the middle of the river was reached and he had gained on the squirrel he quickened his stroke, but the squirrel forged ahead, and gained the shore 15 or 20 feet ahead of his would-be captor.—Youth's Companion.

The Pressure of Light.

The idea that the waves of light produce a mechanical push, or pressure, was advanced years ago by Clerk Maxwell, but he could only offer a theoretical proof. Recently Prof. Lebedew, of Moscow, has made an experimental demonstration of the "pressure of light." He employs a radiometer resembling the familiar Crookes radiometers with their revolving vanes, but uses a larger and more completely exhausted bulb, from which the heating effect that is the principal agent in moving the Crookes vanes is excluded. When the light falls upon the vanes they are driven before it, and the intensity of the pressure thus revealed comes within ten per cent. of that calculated by Maxwell. The effect is independent of the color of the light, and directly proportional to its energy.—Science.

Winter Swimmers in Boston.

No matter what the temperature of the Atlantic ocean, or how full Boston harbor be of ice, the faithful few who for years have bathed right through the calendar at L street go to the city bathhouse for their dip and after warming in their glass sunhouse on the beach. One day lately ten bathers took the plunge in water 35 degrees above zero, and it is a good average number for any week day of the winter season. A pleasant Sunday or holiday, of course, brings crowds to the beach; as many as 40, for instance, went in last Sunday. This represents pretty well the winter bathers of Boston and its surrounding towns.—Boston Journal.

What's in a Name.

Bobbie was wearing his first trousers and was as proud as a boy has the right to be under such circumstances. He felt himself a man indeed and was very anxious to be acknowledged as such. But his elders were unappreciative. Uncle Harry had poked fun at him in a quiet way, even going so far as to inquire what "those things" were. So Bobbie went to Aunt Helen for consolation.

"Why, Bobbie," she exclaimed when she caught sight of him, "how grand you look! I never saw you dressed like that before."

"I ain't dwessed," retorted the boy, indignantly. "Vese are pants."—Brooklyn Life.

Rush for Public Office.

The people of New York do not, as a rule, have to be dragged into public office. The municipal civil service records prove this. There are at present on the various eligible lists for positions in the competitive schedules about 4,500 names, and on the registration lists for positions in the labor schedule, 3,542 names. In addition to the above the commission has on hand the applications of 13,194 persons who have applied for positions in the competitive class, and 26,879 of the labor class. Over 10,000 of these latter applications are for jobs in the street cleaning department.—N. Y. Sun.

Women Physicians in India.

In the memory of people not yet venerable great changes have taken place in the status of Oriental women, and not the least important are to be found in India. Hospitals for women have been built by native princes, while subscriptions of well-to-do Hindoos, Mahometans and Parsees have made such institutions possible in many centers of population. Women physicians are officially appointed and maintained, and the number is steadily increasing.—N. Y. Tribune.

King Edward as Brewer.

King Edward lately paid a visit to Bass' brewery at Burton-on-Trent. Accompanied by Lord Burton the party of guests inspected the process of brewing and the king himself mashed a brew of strong ale, which will be stored for 20 or 30 years and used on some royal occasion.—N. Y. Sun.

MAJ. OGDEN'S GRAVE.

It Marks the Geographical Center of the United States.

Shaft Erected to the Memory of a Brave Army Officer Is Proof of the Fact That Truth Is Stranger Than Fiction.

The geographical center of the United States is on a high point of land in the public reservation at Fort Riley, Kan. It is marked by a large monument, erected in memory of an officer in the regular army, Maj. Edmund Ogden, U. S. A., who died near this fort.

The monument was erected by Joseph O. Sawyer, the father of Dr. E. O. Sawyer, now a resident of Pico Heights, Los Angeles, who was named for the major several years prior to his death.

Between Maj. Ogden and J. O. Sawyer there existed a warm friendship which lasted through many years. Back in the '50's Mr. Sawyer, who was a noted civil engineer, had a contract with the government to build a wagon road between Fort Riley and Santa Fe, N. M. Maj. Ogden was in command of the government troops commissioned to guard the road builders, for Indians were plentiful and hostile to the whites in those days, but a far more to be dreaded enemy was soon with them, for the cholera broke out in their camp and Maj. Ogden was one of the first to succumb to the disease. After his death the army surgeons became panic stricken and ran away. All of the commissioned officers and their wives died and at one time the death rate reached as high as 60 in one day. Mr. Sawyer took complete charge of the expedition, becoming doctor, nurse and commander of the troops, some of which had already mutinied. Very little was known in those days about the treatment of the disease; about all they could do was to deal out quinine; and after a long fight the scourge died out, leaving but a mere handful of men to return to the fort.

In the year 1856 Mr. Sawyer determined to mark his friend's last resting place and a shaft of Kansas graystone was erected. It is 28 feet high and has a seven-foot base, and bears the following inscription:

Sacred to the Memory of MAJOR EDMUND OGDEN. Erected by His Friend, Joseph O. Sawyer.

It will be recollected that several years ago the government sent out surveying parties to find the geographical center of the United States. These parties, coming in from different directions, met at the grave of Maj. Ogden, and the monument marked the exact spot they were looking for. Truly, "Truth is stranger than fiction."

It is situated on an elevation which can be seen for many miles, and it seems fitting that the center of this great country should be marked by the last resting place of one who gave up his life for it and was a promising pioneer officer of the frontier army service.

Dr. E. O. Sawyer, says the Los Angeles Herald, has in his possession a silver mug presented to him by the major when he was named for him, and also a gold-headed cane which was once the property of the major and which was presented by his widow to J. O. Sawyer at the time the monument was erected.

Snakes Sent to Patti.

Patti had a terrible shock this week at Paris. Some one sent her from Mentone a box containing three snakes, each about a yard long. She thought she was getting a nice present, and on opening the box and seeing nothing but dry grass, confidently ran her hand to the bottom into a cold, slimy, wriggling mass. She uttered a cry and ran into another room, and was hysterical for two hours. The snakes escaped and crawled about under the furniture until finally they were killed. On examination it was found that they were not poisonous reptiles.

JOHN W. KIRKNER WEDDED

MARRIAGE TOOK PLACE AT ST. JAMES' CHURCH, NEW YORK, SATURDAY.

Bride Was Miss Margaret R. Colyer, of New York—Members of the Bridal Party.

The marriage of John W. Kirkner, of West Eighth street, to Miss Margaret R. Colyer, of East Seventy-sixth street, New York, took place Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at St. James's Episcopal church, corner Seventy-first street and Madison avenue, New York, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Rollins. Miss Ethel Colyer, sister of the bride, was the only bridemaid. Lambert H. Fish, formerly of Painfield, but now of New York, was the best man. The ushers were Frank Hazlett Moss, Frederick Hanover Cone and Richard O. Johnson, of New York, and Allan B. Laing, of Plainfield.

Mr. Kirkner is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kirkner, of West Eighth street and is well-known and popular. He is of the firm of J. Kirkner & Company, stock brokers, New York. The couple will reside in Plainfield.

PLAINFELD'S SMART SET TURNED OUT IN FORCE.

Ball Rooms Thronged With Guests From Hotel and Plainfield—Concert Last Night.

The muse of the many-twinkling feet again held sway at the Hotel Netherwood Saturday evening. The second of the series of summer hops was an event highly appreciated and thoroughly enjoyed, transcending in brilliancy and attendance the auspicious opening function of the previous week. That these weekly gatherings are growing in popularity and are already eagerly anticipated was amply evident from the large assemblage Saturday evening. Plainfield's smart set turned out in strength and to the number of two hundred or more graced the halls and piazza with their presence. The hotel guests also fell a willing prey to the seductive charms of Orpheus and the nimble nymph of the fantastic foot.

Thronged with men and women in evening dress the brilliantly lighted ball room presented a gay and animated scene. Not until nearly midnight did the music cease and the assembly disperse. The Netherwood orchestra, under the direction of Frederick H. Landolt, rendered the music for the occasion, and on every side superlative encomiums were heard for the excellency of their programme.

Last evening the hours were whiled away listening to a sacred concert by the orchestra. Vocal and instrumental solos interspersed the programme. The next function at the Netherwood will be the grand patriotic ball on the Fourth of July. Elaborate preparations are being made for the event.

LIVERYMAN WEDDED.

John C. Lynch Married Miss Lizette F. English, of Westfield.

John C. Lynch, of Elizabeth street, the well known liveryman, was quietly married, yesterday, to Miss Lizette F. English, of Westfield, who has a large circle of acquaintances in this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Glennon, of Jersey City, a schoolmate of the groom's who was recentlly ordained.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch have left on a honeymoon which will be spent in the White Mountains. On retruning they will reside on Elizabeth street.

Leased Campbell's.

H. G. McElwaine, of Richmond, Ky., has leased the exhibition stables and the Campbell Clubhouse on Park avenue, where he will exhibit a number of fancy thoroughbred horses. Mr. McElwaine has had much experience in handling horses and next fall he expects to bring about fifty horses to Plainfield. At present Mr. and Mrs. Blasbell, of Richmond, are in charge of the place. They are both experienced horseback riders.

Farewell Gift.

Miss Etta Raybert, who has been singing in the Second Reformed church, New Brunswick, sang in that church yesterday for the last time, she having accepted a position at the Congregational church, this city. She received yesterday from the Christian Endeavor Society of the New Brunswick church a handsome solid gold brooch as a token of esteem.

Death of D. R. Morse.

David Randolph Morse, son of the late Nehemiah Morse, of this city, died at his home in Brooklyn, Saturday. He leaves two sisters in this city, one of whom is Mrs. DeWitt, of Madison avenue. The funeral services will be held at Evergreen cemetery, this city, tomorrow afternoon at 1:15.

Y. M. C. A. WON FROM HOPES

Franklin walked, Siegfried negotiated a safe bang, advancing Franklin, and Burns followed with a two-bagger, scoring both. Burns reached home, ending the tallying for that inning and leaving the teams tie at three.

Neither side scored in the fifth and sixth. In the seventh Lederer got a base on balls, stole second and came home on Keefe's safe rap. Winn got to first in the eighth, and added another run by scoring on Keefe's two-bagger.

With the score five to three Safe Works came to the benches in the eighth. Enwright went to first, hit by pitched ball; Allen followed with a two-bagger, advancing Enwright to third; Franklin's single scored both. Franklin was caught at second and Seigfried died before reaching the pan. Two out and the score tie once more, Burns advanced to the plate, gave the stick a confident twirl, and then lambasted the sphere away out in lone territory for two clean bases; Symons duplicated the performance, and Fish immediately repeated the same trick. Johnson fanned, ending the fun, leaving Fish on second. St. Mary's could only make a single run in the ninth, and the game ended with Safe Works one in the lead.

Burns for the Safe Works pitched a star game, striking out nine men, and only allowing a few scattered safe hits. His work at the bat practically won the game. In the middle of the seventh inning Keefe relieved Doyle in the box for St. Mary's. Scott at second base and Mack at short base did strong work for their team, the latter making six clean assists, one of them responsible for a double play, Enwright put up good ball and ran bases like a string colt.

CAME TO BLOWS.

Kick Over Umpire's Decision Resulted in Blows and Withdrawl of the 'Plains Team From Field.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, June 30—What promised to be an exciting agme between the local team and the Scotch Plains nine was broken up at the beginning of the third inning. The score was 2 to 2.

Harry Montross, of Plainfield, was umpiring the bases. Ashcroft, of Scotch Plains, sent an infield grounder which was fielded to first. The runner was declared safe. Smith, captain of Dunellen, protested the decision. Ettinger, Dunellen's pitcher, exchanged a few words and blows with the umpire. Each man claims that the other called him a foul name.

Manager Johnston, of Scotch Plains, withdrew his team from the field on Dunllen's refusal to play without Ettinger.

DEATH OF MISS LEARY.

Assistant Telegraph Operator at Plainfield Station Died Friday.

Miss Laura Leavy, who for some time past was the assistant telegraph operator at the Western Union Telegraph office at the North Avenue station, died at her home in Cranford Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Death was due to consumption with which Miss Leavy had been ill for some time past. The funeral services will be held from the Catholic church at Roselle, her former home, tomorrow afternoon.
